Federal Energy Officials To Permit Gasoline Redistribution In Maryland

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Federal energy officials will permit Maryland to redistribute all gasoline allocated to stations that are closed due to the state's gas station divestiture law, Gov. Harry Hughes announced Tuesday.

The decision should quiet fears that the controversial divestiture law, which requires oil companies to surrender operational control of stations, would result in a loss of gasoline to the state.

The new federal rule, promulgated late last week by the Economic Regulatory Administration, could avert the possible loss of more than 2.5 million barrels of gas, or almost 107 million gallons, a year.

Before the rule was adopted, that gasoline — nearly 5.3 percent of the state's supply for 1978 — might have been lost to other states if any of the 74 stations that have not complied with the divestiture law closed their operations in Maryland.

Under the rule, however, gas allocated to stations that close due to the divestiture law could be redistributed elsewhere by the state energy office, the agency Hughes will most likely designate.

Marvin Bond, spokesman for comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, said Goldstein, the attorney general's office and state energy officials have been jointly working on guidelines to control such redistribution.

Goldstein, who has fought off numerous attempts to modify or rescind the 1974 divestiture law, called the decision "a victory for the state."

The announcement came just days before expiration of an October 1 deadline extension granted to 54 stations that had not complied with the law when it took effect July 13.

Twenty other stations are litigating the divestiture law, but Bond said gas allocated to them would also be covered by the new federal ruling if they ultimately close.

The divestiture law was enacted by the 1974 General Assembly after it became obvious during the 1973-74 Arab boycott that independent gas stations could not obtain fuel supplies in quantities equal to the supplies shipped to stations operated by oil companies.

The law, aimed at making gas equally available at all stations and which was opposed by the oil companies, was deemed constitutional by the Supreme Court in 1978.

Maryland To Receive $191 Million From Government

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Federal officials flocked to the state capital Tuesday to announce that Maryland will soon receive millions of dollars in federal grants that the state would have received even if the visit had never been made.

Presidential aide Jack Watson, who headed the federal delegation and who joined Gov. Harry Hughes at an afternoon State House news conference, said the highly-visible appearance of the federal officials was not politically motivated.

But he said, "If the question is, 'Are we eager to have the political support of Gov. Harry Hughes and others in the state of Maryland?', the answer is, 'Yes.'"

Hughes, who again sidestepped an opportunity to publicly endorse Carter, said he did not believe the visit by Watson and the Mid-Atlantic Federal Regional Council was motivated by a desire to gain his political support.

"I don't have any feeling that what is being done is being done for that purpose," he said. "It is not as politically motivated as you might think."

Hughes, nevertheless, said of the $191 million in federal grants that Watson announced would be awarded to Maryland, "Obviously, most of that money would have come to Maryland anyway — but it wouldn't have come as early as it has."

Hughes said the timing was important because the earlier the state receives federal money, the more time it has to allocate it without fear of having it withdrawn.

Watson, Carter's assistant for intergovernmental relations, said the emphasis of the federal visit was to cut the red tape that often keeps states from receiving available federal program funds.

He said about $32 million of the $191 million in grants had been earned by Maryland in competition with other states for "discretionary" funds, and Hughes said the visit was worthwhile.

"You're more apt to get good results when you sit down eyeball-to-eyeball with federal officials," he said.

Included in the grant money was $113 million from the Environmental Protection Agency for the construction of sewerage treatment plants and about $45 million in Housing and Urban Development Grants for low and moderate income housing.

Other grants were earmarked to pay for new energy conservation technology, for development of six county parks and for several health programs.

A grant of $660,000 — the largest National Maritime Preservation Grant ever awarded for a single project — was given to Maryland for restoration of the U.S.F. Constellation, the historic square-rigger frigate docked in the port of Baltimore.

Chessie System To Recall Workers

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Chessie System Inc. will immediately recall many of the employees laid off when officials were expecting General Motors to be struck by the United Auto Workers.

Union officials said 250 workers in Baltimore had been laid off. Chessie System officials would not say how many persons were laid off or how many would be recalled.

A Chessie System Spokesman would only say a "considerable number" of employees were involved.

Marylanders Plan For Resettlement Of Boat People

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Maryland resettlement groups, expecting more than 5,000 Indochinese refugees next year, are pooling efforts in hopes making it easier for the immigrants to adjust to life here.

Joseph Zarefsky, planning director for the Maryland Health and Welfare Council, said the council plans meetings next month aimed at forming a consortium of refugee groups.

He said past efforts to resettle the "boat people" have been hampered by a lack of communication between resettlement groups.

Both the Associated Catholic and Jewish Charities, two groups that have played a major role in finding homes for refugees, plan to work with the consortium, spokesmen said.

Paul Samuels, spokesman for Sen. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., said state officials expect to admit about three percent of the 168,000 refugees who will come to this country next year.

The increased influx of refugees - Maryland will take in about 10 times as many Asians as it did last year - is part of President Carter's plan to ease the plight of the "boat people" by admitting 14,000 refugees a month.

Officials said about 4,000 Asians now live in Maryland.

Joel Daner, of the Associated Jewish Charities, said his group is working with the health council and that group efforts should be more successful than fragmented programs.

Howard Eichmiller, coordinator of the Catholic Charities' Indochina Center, said his group plans to find sponsors for Asians before they arrive. He said that is sometimes hard because sponsors usually spend more than $5,000 to help an Asian family get started.

Zarefsky said he thinks group efforts will help make the cultural transition easier for refugees. He said Indochinese usually have more trouble learning the language and the culture than they do supporting themselves.

Zarefsky said the council hopes to set up a central Asian Service Center where refugees would be able to discuss their problems with other Indochinese and resettlement workers.

Official Proposes 20 Percent Cut In Insurance Rate

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Maryland residents could save up to $9 million annually on credit life and health insurance under proposals to cut the cost of the insurance by 20 percent.

Lower rates would be achieved by restricting the amount of commission for selling the insurance, which is sold by loan companies to ensure they are repaid if the borrower dies or becomes ill before his note is paid.

Insurers collect between 40 and 45 percent commission on a sale, said Sidney Green, an assistant insurance commissioner.

Insurance Commissioner Ed Birrane has proposed a 31 percent ceiling on commissions with an additional 4 percent for the insurance agent handling the policy, Green said.

The proposal follows a bill passed last year permitting the insurance commissioner to limit sales commission on the insurance. The regulations will take effect Jan. 1 unless changed by Birrane.

Public hearings on the regulations begin in October. Firms now selling the insurance had no comment on the plan.

Twelve Counties Declared Federal Disaster Areas

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Federal officials have apparently decided not to declare any other areas of Maryland as federal disaster areas following tropical storm David, an aide to Gov. Harry Hughes said Tuesday.

Assistant press secretary Ginny Friedlander said that federal officials had instead designated 12 Maryland counties as areas in which storm victims will be eligible for low-interest Small Business Administration loans.

They include the counties of Carroll, Howard, Montgomery, Prince George's, Charles, St. Mary's, Harford, Kent, Queen Anne's, Dorchester, Talbot and Washington.

Previously, Baltimore and four counties, Frederick, Anne Arundel, Baltimore and Calvert, were declared presidential disaster areas, making residents eligible for a wide range of federal services, loans and grants for both public and private property damage.

"Yankee Racehorse" To Be Refurbished

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The square-rigged frigate U.S.S. Constellation — once so swift it was nicknamed the "Yankee Racehorse" — will be refurbished with funds from a $660,000 federal grant, it was announced Tuesday.

Authorized for construction by George Washington in 1794, the Constellation was launched on Sept. 7, 1797 — the first ship ever commissioned by the U.S. Navy.

The National Maritime Preservation Grant from the Department of the Interior is the largest grant of its type for a single project ever awarded, said Jack Watson, assistant to President Carter for intergovernmental relations.

The money will be used to revitalize the 164-foot-long, three-masted ship that now sits at anchor in the port of Baltimore as a tourist attraction, but was once one of the U.S. Navy's most feared warships.

Designed and built by Maj. David Stodderd, the Constellation defeated and captured 22 ships and was used to blockade the slave trade off the west coast of Africa in the mid-1850s.

During the Civil War, the tall sailing vessel saw duty in the Mediterranean and later helped to blockage New Orleans and Mobile Bay.

It was the first American Man-of-War to enter the inland waters of China in 1840 and, 40 years later, carried food to Cork, Ireland, to help relieve the famine there.

The Constellation was towed to Boston in 1947 to be scrapped, but was saved and the city of Baltimore acquired it in the early 1950s through an act of Congress.

The ship's sail plan was designed by Thomas Truxton, a resident of the city's Fells Point area.

Watson said the grant amounts to 10 percent of the National Maritime Preservation fund for the year.

Coal Freighters Biding Time At Curtis Bay

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Coal freighters are still waiting to leave the Curtis Bay loading pier that reopened Sunday after being washed out by tropical storm David, a Chessie System Inc. official said.

Officials said nine freighters were waiting to load more than one half million tons of coal either at or enroute to the pier. Some ship that had loaded had not left the pier as of early Tuesday, officials said.

Officials estimate that it costs $7,000 for every day a freighter is idle. The pier had been shut down for 10 days.

Grantsville Ford Dealers Talk Over Old Times

GRANTSVILLE FORD OWNERS FROM 1922 TO 1979 — Fifty-seven years of dealers for Grantsville Ford met to talk over old times at the Avilton Inn Wednesday, September 5. Previous owners and current owners of Grantsville Ford who shared in the talk of the changes over the years were, left to right, front row, Harvey Gortner and Floyd Diehl, original owners; second row, Delos Carpenter, Art Butler, Bob Diehl, and Dale Kinsinger.

The car industry has certainly changed over the years and if you don't believe it you should have been at the Avilton Inn Wednesday, September 5. That was the day Grantsville Ford brought all its dealers together for a special dinner — all fifty-seven years worth of them.

The talk centered around one main topic — the changes of the auto industry and of Grantsville Ford over the years.

Harvey Gortner started the conversation by telling about the early days at Grantsville Ford. He and Floyd Diehl opened up business at the Ford garage in 1922. They were the first franchised car dealers in town. Mr. Gortner said that a Ford Model T Roadster sold for $380 then, and a touring car sold for $400.

All the cars that were sold at Grantsville Ford had to be driven out of Pittsburgh. This meant Mr. Gortner and Mr. Diehl would have to leave Grantsville at 4:00 a.m. with a carload of drivers in order to drive the cars back.

Mr. Gortner said they traded anything a man had to trade. Mr. Diehl built a stable to house all the trade-ins. Floyd Diehl said they had a lot, where the shirt factory is now, where they kept the wagons traded in. He said they traded horses, cattle, sheep, goats and sometimes dogs. He also mentioned a time when they traded a gallon of moonshine from a Mr. Fazenbaker in quart jars and split it. Mr. Diehl is now 95, Mr. Gortner is 86.

In 1934, Floyd Diehl sold his half of the business to his partner who operated until July 1, 1958 when he sold out to Robert Diehl and Dale Kinsinger. By 1964, Bob had bought Dale Kinsinger out and relocated to the present site of Grantsville Ford where he operated until 1972. At that time, Arthur Butler and Delos Carpenter acquired the business.

Del Carpenter, the current owner, says today the business has to pay more social security on an employee than what the men made in the earlier days. The insurance premium expense today amounts to more than the original garage made on the sale of 225 cars they sold. Mr. Carpenter noted that today the business is developing over 31 acres of land and has over 34,000 square feet under roof.

Cystic Fibrosis Fund Raiser Now Underway

Doris Goldsborough, Garrett County Chairman of the Cystic Fibrosis Campaign, announced that Baby-Smile-A-Thon posters have been placed on display throughout Garrett County.

The posters, with a background of a happy "smiley" face, have mounts of five or six snapshots of area children entered in the Smile-A-Thon. Along with their name is a caption with each picture. The poster also has a smaller poster of Gabriel Kaplon, National Cystic Fibrosis Chairman, shown with the poster child of the year who suffers from cystic fibrosis wearing a mask used to inhale medications in order that he may breathe. A coin collection box is also attached.

The poster campaign is based on the idea that "if people see the picture of a happy, healthy child, they may be inspired to donate money so that all children would have a chance for a happy, healthy life." This fund raiser is taking the place of the usual door-to-door campaign.

The posters have been placed at the following locations: Par-Matt Bowling Alley, H-P Store, Youthland, Martin's Store, Ben Franklin Store, Oakland Farmer's Market, Heck's, Starlite, Revco, Englander's, Gregg's, Family Shoe Store, Clipper Ship, El Lobo Restaurant, Fratz Red & White Grocery, Miller's, Garrett Co. Health Center, Richfood, Stuart's Grocery, with several more yet to be placed.

After several weeks, a random drawing will be held and the ten children whose names have been drawn will receive prizes donated by local merchants. This contest is sponsored by Crabtree Photography, that made copies of each snapshot submitted. Each child will be featured on a poster in three different businesses. There were 39 entries.

Two of the Smile-A-Thon mothers, Mrs. David Blythe, and Mrs. Michael Fulmer, along with Mrs. Doug Ellis — a long time volunteer for cystic fibrosis, distributed balloons and received $27.24 in donations at Browning's Foodland this past Friday evening.

Mrs. Goldsborough said, "The financial support we will receive from this endeavor will help buy time through care and give hope through research to children and young adults for whom time is running out. Each contribution helps to find a cure — to buy time before it is too late." Goldsborough further stated, "When the Cystic Fibrosis was established in 1955, few children with Cystic Fibrosis survived to school age. Today with early diagnosis and comprehensive treatment, a child with Cystic Fibrosis has a 50 percent chance of living past age 19. Cystic Fibrosis is the most serious of all lung damaging diseases. Inherited by one in every 1600 American children, it is incurable and ultimately fatal. Through contributions to this campaign we will see a day in which lung damaging diseases, including Cystic Fibrosis no longer take more children's lives than any other disease except cancer."

Mrs. Goldsborough concluded by saying that during the closing weeks of this campaign contributions can be made either by donating in the coin box attached to the Smile-A-Thon posters, or to her at P.O. Box 309, Oakland.

Federal Energy Officials To Permit Gasoline Redistribution In Maryland

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Federal energy officials will permit Maryland to redistribute all gasoline allocated to stations that are closed due to the state's gas station divestiture law, Gov. Harry Hughes announced Tuesday.

"Yankee Racehorse" To Be Refurbished

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The square-rigged frigate U.S.S. Constellation — once so swift it was nicknamed the "Yankee Racehorse" — will be refurbished with funds from a $660,000 federal grant, it was announced Tuesday.

Authorized for construction by George Washington in 1794, the Constellation was launched on Sept. 7, 1797 — the first ship ever commissioned by the U.S. Navy.

The National Maritime Preservation Grant from the Department of the Interior is the largest grant of its type for a single project ever awarded, said Jack Watson, assistant to President Carter for intergovernmental relations.

The money will be used to revitalize the 164-foot-long, three-masted ship that now sits at anchor in the port of Baltimore as a tourist attraction, but was once one of the U.S. Navy's most feared warships.

Designed and built by Maj. David Stodderd, the Constellation defeated and captured 22 ships and was used to blockade the slave trade off the west coast of Africa in the mid-1850s.

During the Civil War, the tall sailing vessel saw duty in the Mediterranean and later helped to blockage New Orleans and Mobile Bay.

It was the first American Man-of-War to enter the inland waters of China in 1840 and, 40 years later, carried food to Cork, Ireland, to help relieve the famine there.

The Constellation was towed to Boston in 1947 to be scrapped, but was saved and the city of Baltimore acquired it in the early 1950s through an act of Congress.

The ship's sail plan was designed by Thomas Truxton, a resident of the city's Fells Point area.

Watson said the grant amounts to 10 percent of the National Maritime Preservation fund for the year.

Maryland To Receive $191 Million From Government

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Federal officials flocked to the state capital Tuesday to announce that Maryland will soon receive millions of dollars in federal grants that the state would have received even if the visit had never been made.

Presidential aide Jack Watson, who headed the federal delegation and who joined Gov. Harry Hughes at an afternoon State House news conference, said the highly-visible appearance of the federal officials was not politically motivated.

But he said, "If the question is, 'Are we eager to have the political support of Gov. Harry Hughes and others in the state of Maryland?', the answer is, 'Yes.' "

Hughes, who again sidestepped an opportunity to publicly endorse Carter, said he did not believe the visit by Watson and the Mid-Atlantic Federal Regional Council was motivated by a desire to gain his political support.

"I don't have any feeling that what is being done is being done for that purpose," he said. "It is not as politically motivated as you might think."

Hughes, nevertheless, said of the $191 million in federal grants that Watson announced would be awarded to Maryland, "Obviously, most of that money would have come to Maryland anyway — but it wouldn't have come as early as it has."

Hughes said the timing was important because the earlier the state receives federal money, the more time it has to allocate it without fear of having it withdrawn.

Watson, Carter's assistant for intergovernmental relations, said the emphasis of the federal visit was to cut the red tape that often keeps states from receiving available federal program funds.

He said about $32 million of the $191 million in grants had been earned by Maryland in competition with other states for "discretionary" funds, and Hughes said the visit was worthwhile.

"You're more apt to get good results when you sit down eyeball-to-eyeball with federal officials," he said.

Included in the grant money was $113 million from the Environmental Protection Agency for the construction of sewerage treatment plants and about $45 million in Housing and Urban Development Grants for low and moderate income housing.

Other grants were earmarked to pay for new energy conservation technology, for development of six county parks and for several health programs.

A grant of $660,000 — the largest National Maritime Preservation Grant ever awarded for a single project — was given to Maryland for restoration of the U.S.F. Constellation, the historic square-rigger frigate docked in the port of Baltimore.

Zarefsky said the council hopes to set up a central Asian Service Center where refugees would be able to discuss their problems with other Indochinese and resettlement workers.

Official Proposes 20 Percent Cut In Insurance Rate

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Maryland residents could save up to $9 million annually on credit life and health insurance under proposals to cut the cost of the insurance by 20 percent.

Lower rates would be achieved by restricting the amount of commission for selling the insurance, which is sold by loan companies to ensure they are repaid if the borrower dies or becomes ill before his note is paid.

Insurers collect between 40 and 45 percent commission on a sale, said Sidney Green, an assistant insurance commissioner.

Insurance Commissioner Ed Birrane has proposed a 31 percent ceiling on commissions with an additional 4 percent for the insurance agent handling the policy, Green said.

The proposal follows a bill passed last year permitting the insurance commissioner to limit sales commission on the insurance. The regulations will take effect Jan. 1 unless changed by Birrane.

Public hearings on the regulations begin in October. Firms now selling the insurance had no comment on the plan.

Twelve Counties Declared Federal Disaster Areas

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Federal officials have apparently decided not to declare any other areas of Maryland as federal disaster areas following tropical storm David, an aide to Gov. Harry Hughes said Tuesday.

Assistant press secretary Ginny Friedlander said that federal officials had instead designated 12 Maryland counties as areas in which storm victims will be eligible for low-interest Small Business Administration loans.

They include the counties of Carroll, Howard, Montgomery, Prince George's, Charles, St. Mary's, Harford, Kent, Queen Anne's, Dorchester, Talbot and Washington.

Previously, Baltimore and four counties, Frederick, Anne Arundel, Baltimore and Calvert, were declared presidential disaster areas, making residents eligible for a wide range of federal services, loans and grants for both public and private property damage.

Chessie System

To Recall Workers

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Chessie System Inc. will immediately recall many of the employees laid off when officials were expecting General Motors to be struck by the United Auto Workers.

Union officials said 250 workers in Baltimore had been laid off. Chessie System officials would not say how many persons were laid off or how many would be recalled.

A Chessie System Spokesman would only say a "considerable number" of employees were involved.

Grantsville Ford Dealers Talk Over Old Times

GRANTSVILLE FORD OWNERS FROM 1922 TO 1979 — Fifty-seven years of dealers for Grantsville Ford met to talk over old times at the Avilton Inn Wednesday, September 5. Previous owners and current owners of Grantsville Ford who shared in the talk of the changes over the years were, left to right, front row, Harvey Gortner and Floyd Diehl, original owners; second row, Delos Carpenter, Art Butler, Bob Diehl, and Dale Kinsinger.

The car industry has certainly changed over the years and if you don't believe it you should have been at the Avilton Inn Wednesday, September 5. That was the day Grantsville Ford brought all its dealers together for a special dinner — all fifty-seven years worth of them.

The talk centered around one main topic — the changes of the auto industry and of Grantsville Ford over the years.

Harvey Gortner started the conversation by telling about the early days at Grantsville Ford. He and Floyd Diehl opened up business at the Ford garage in 1922. They were the first franchised car dealers in town. Mr. Gortner said that a Ford Model T Roadster sold for $380 then, and a touring car sold for $400.

All the cars that were sold at Grantsville Ford had to be driven out of Pittsburgh. This meant Mr. Gortner and Mr. Diehl would have to leave Grantsville at 4:00 a.m. with a carload of drivers in order to drive the cars back.

Mr. Gortner said they traded anything a man had to trade. Mr. Diehl built a stable to house all the trade-ins. Floyd Diehl said they had a lot, where the shirt factory is now, where they kept the wagons traded in. He said they traded horses, cattle, sheep, goats and sometimes dogs. He also mentioned a time when they traded a gallon of moonshine from a Mr. Fazenbaker in quart jars and split it. Mr. Diehl is now 95, Mr. Gortner is 86.

In 1934, Floyd Diehl sold his half of the business to his partner who operated until July 1, 1958 when he sold out to Robert Diehl and Dale Kinsinger. By 1964, Bob had bought Dale Kinsinger out and relocated to the present site of Grantsville Ford where he operated until 1972. At that time, Arthur Butler and Delos Carpenter acquired the business.

Del Carpenter, the current owner, says today the business has to pay more social security on an employee than what the men made in the earlier days. The insurance premium expense today amounts to more than the original garage made on the sale of 225 cars they sold. Mr. Carpenter noted that today the business is developing over 31 acres of land and has over 34,000 square feet under roof.

Cystic Fibrosis Fund Raiser Now Underway

Doris Goldsborough, Garrett County Chairman of the Cystic Fibrosis Campaign, announced that Baby-Smile-A-Thon posters have been placed on display throughout Garrett County.

The posters, with a background of a happy "smiley" face, have mounts of five or six snapshots of area children entered in the Smile-A-Thon. Along with their name is a caption with each picture. The poster also has a smaller poster of Gabriel Kaplon, National Cystic Fibrosis Chairman, shown with the poster child of the year who suffers from cystic fibrosis wearing a mask used to inhale medications in order that he may breathe. A coin collection box is also attached.

The poster campaign is based on the idea that "if people see the picture of a happy, healthy child, they may be inspired to donate money so that all children would have a chance for a happy, healthy life." This fund raiser is taking the place of the usual door-to-door campaign.

The posters have been placed at the following locations: Par-Matt Bowling Alley, H-P Store, Youthland, Martin's Store, Ben Franklin Store, Oakland Farmer's Market, Heck's, Starlite, Revco, Englander's, Gregg's, Family Shoe Store, Clipper Ship, El Lobo Restaurant, Fratz Red & White Grocery, Miller's, Garrett Co. Health Center, Richfood, Stuart's Grocery, with several more yet to be placed.

After several weeks, a random drawing will be held and the ten children whose names have been drawn will receive prizes donated by local merchants. This contest is sponsored by Crabtree Photography, that made copies of each snapshot submitted. Each child will be featured on a poster in three different businesses. There were 39 entries.

Two of the Smile-A-Thon mothers, Mrs. David Blythe, and Mrs. Michael Fulmer, along with Mrs. Doug Ellis — a long time volunteer for cystic fibrosis, distributed balloons and received $27.24 in donations at Browning's Foodland this past Friday evening.

Mrs. Goldsborough said, "The financial support we will receive from this endeavor will help buy time through care and give hope through research to children and young adults for whom time is running out. Each contribution helps to find a cure — to buy time before it is too late." Goldsborough further stated, "When the Cystic Fibrosis was established in 1955, few children with Cystic Fibrosis survived to school age. Today with early diagnosis and comprehensive treatment, a child with Cystic Fibrosis has a 50 percent chance of living past age 19. Cystic Fibrosis is the most serious of all lung damaging diseases. Inherited by one in every 1600 American children, it is incurable and ultimately fatal. Through contributions to this campaign we will see a day in which lung damaging diseases, including Cystic Fibrosis no longer take more children's lives than any other disease except cancer."

Mrs. Goldsborough concluded by saying that during the closing weeks of this campaign contributions can be made either by donating in the coin box attached to the Smile-A-Thon posters, or to her at P.O. Box 309, Oakland.

HUSKIES MAUL TYGARTS VALLEY — Northern running back Galen Kamp, #32, at right, is upended by a defender from Tygarts Valley in last Friday's contest in which the Huskies recorded their second win of the season with no defeats, 21-6. Kamp rushed for 114 yards while teammate Darrell Schrock gained 106 yards. Also identifiable in the photo from Northern is #72, William "Pork" Wilt. See story.

Huskies Stay Unbeaten By Thrashing Tygarts Valley

by Todd Liller

Galen Kamp and Darrell Schrock both rushed for over 100 yards and Kamp added two scores as the Northern Huskies rolled to their second win in as many outings, a 21-6 thrashing of Tygarts Valley last Friday night at Northern. Kamp garnered 114 yards on 22 carries, while Schrock contributed 106 yards on 18 totes.

RAMS WHIP CENTRAL PRESTON — Southern High quarterback Delbert Liller, #5, hands off to freshman running back, Ron Bosley, in Friday's contest with Central Preston. Bosley came into the game in the fourth quarter after Paul Cornish, the area's leading rusher, left the game with a knee injury. The freshman scored his first Southern High touchdown on a 25-yard run from scrimmage to put the icing on the cake for a 28-12 Southern High win. Also identifiable in the photo from Southern is #52, John Sanders. See story.

Northern drew first blood as Kamp edged over from the one in the first period. Gary Bauman added the extra point. An eight-yard run by Kamp in the second stanza and another Bauman conversion gave the Huskies a 14-0 bulge at halftime.

Coach Jack Settle's Huskies put the game on ice in the fourth period as Schrock scored from eight yards out and Bauman added his third conversion. Tygarts Valley avoided a shutout when quarterback Scott Ross hit Haines with an eight-yard scoring aerial.

Kamp also led the Northern defensive effort with nine unassisted tackles. William Wilt, Gary Bowser, outside linebackers Ed Stanton and Mark Diehl, and Schrock also stood out defensively.

Settle said, "That was a big win for us. We took what they gave us on defense. The offensive line is steadily improving, and Greg Carr is showing a lot of improvement at quarterback. Our specialty teams also did a super job."

SCOUTING REPORT

Northern's next opponent will be the Valley Black Knights. Valley brings a 1-1 record into the 8:00 contest on the Huskies' field. Settle commented, "Valley has an excellent defense. Moving Joe Lewis from tight end to fullback certainly has helped their offense. They still have several players left over from the squad that won the state championship two years ago. They will be a tough test for our players."

HUSKIE HIGHLIGHTS

The offensive line of Gary Sisler, Dave Durst, Bowser, Wilt, Stanton and Diehl continue to do an excellent job. They have opened up holes that have produced two 100-yard games for Kamp and one for Schrock. The joint 100-yard efforts by Kamp and Schrock marked the first since Settle took over at Northern that two backs gained 100 yards in the same game . . . Bauman has hit all six of his extra point attempts this year. Bauman's strong leg could prove to be a lifesaver should the Huskies be involved in a tight contest . . . Northern has already matched last year's win total of two games.

Cornish Suffers Knee Injury

SHS Rams Ram Central Preston For Second Win

by Todd Liller

The Paul Cornish Show was in full gear again last Friday night at Southern High School. Cornish, who was named "Player of the Week" by the Cumberland Times for his effort against Beall, bolted for 176 yards and two touchdowns in three periods of play to propel the Rams to a 28-12 victory over the previously unbeaten Central Preston Cavaliers. Cornish scored on runs of two and 48 yards as Southern improved its record to 2-0.

The Yardstick

4-27	Punts-Average	4-34
3-1	Fumbles-Lost	3-2
280	Total Offense	129

Southern wasted no time in getting on the board. Following a Ted Wolf fumble recovery, Cornish capped a 43-yard drive by plunging over from the two. Later in the first quarter, quarterback Delbert Liller hit Doug Devlin for a 43-yard scoring strike. Cornish ran for the two point conversion. The only score of the second period saw Central's Kenny Barnett score from two yards out.

Devlin returned the second half kickoff to the Cavaliers' 48-yard line. On the first play of the half, Cornish swept around left end and found paydirt 48 yards later. He followed his touchdown with another conversion. On his last carry of the third quarter though, Cornish sprained a ligament in his knee and had to sit out the final stanza. Following the injury to Cornish, William Wheeler picked off a Liller pass and returned it to the Southern five. John Sanders quickly ended Central's touchdown bid by intercepting a Rocky Metheny pass on the very next play.

Cornish's replacement, freshman Ronnie Bosley, answered a 22-yard Barnett fourth period touchdown run with his own 25-yard scamper as the Rams rolled up 229 yards on the ground.

Linebacker George Corliss keyed a Ram defensive surge that held the Cavaliers to only 129 yards total offense. Corliss was credited with 17 tackles, while Rick Edwards, Sanders, Devlin and Liller also sparkled on defense.

Southern head coach Tom Woods said, "I thought this was one of our best blocking games ever as a team. The offensive line made tremendous improvement over last week. I also thought we did a super job defensively."

SCOUTING REPORT

The Bruce Bulldogs will invade the Rams' gridiron Friday night in an 8:00 encounter. Bruce returns only five starters from last year's team. The Bulldogs will bring a 1-1 mark into the contest. Woods said, "They have a wide open offense and will try anything to move the ball. We'll have to be ready for anything they throw at us."

RAM RAMBLINGS

The extent of the Cornish knee injury is not serious. Barring any tenderness in the knee, Woods listed Cornish as "probable" for the Bruce game . . . After two games, Cornish has already amassed 436 yards rushing . . . For a freshman in his first varsity game as a running back, Bosley gained 32 yards in a more than adequate back-up role . . . In the first two games, Southern's defense forced opponents into six turnovers . . . The Ram winning streak now stands at seven in a row including the last five games from last year . . . Closing thought: Wouldn't it be something if the November 9 contest at Accident saw both Garrett County high schools go into the game with perfect 9-0 records?

Southern Cheerleaders Win Award Of Excellence

The Southern High School Varsity cheerleaders recently returned from a National Cheerleaders Association summer workshop where they received top recognition as the best cheerleader squad at the camp. The workshop was held at Duquesne University and attracted over 500 cheerleaders from a five-state area.

The "Award of Excellence" was presented to the cheerleaders on behalf of National Cheerleaders Association at each of the 300 NCA workshops held across the United States. The Southern cheerleaders were selected for this award over all of the cheerleaders at the workshop on the basis of their cheerleading technique, unity, friendliness, cooperation, leadership, and sportsmanship to the other squads attending.

The presentation of the NCA "Award of Excellence" came at the completion of a full workshop of training on cheerleading techniques, cheers, chants, jumps, partner stunts, and pep rallies; as well as leadership seminars on sportsmanship, crowd participation, responsibilities, organization, and dedication. The National Cheerleaders Association has been conducting summer workshops for the past 30 years, teaching nearly 100,000 students each year on the art of cheerleading.

In addition to the Award of Excellence, the Southern squad won four Superior ribbons, a Super Star ribbon, three Spirit Sticks and an Advisor Award.

Charges of possession of a controlled dangerous substance with intent to distribute and possession of a controlled dangerous substance will be held for Circuit Court action against Franklin Paul Polce, 42.

Polce was arrested by Raymond Guy, assistant chief of the Luke Police Department, who charged he found a quarter-pound of marijuana in the defendant's pickup truck.

District Court Decision Upheld In Circuit Court

A District Court decision was upheld in the Garrett County Circuit Court this week when Judge Fred A. Thayer found Ernest R. Foglepole guilty of battery and confirmed the previously determined sentence.

Foglepole had appealed his case from District Court after being convicted on the charge of battery against Susan Yost Wiley, fined $100, and sentenced to a 30-day jail sentence. His jail sentence had been suspended and he had been placed on a 12-month supervised probation period.

In another Circuit Court case this week, Judge Thayer convicted James R. Riggleman for the charges of receiving stolen goods and false pretenses. He was found not guilty of the charge of larceny of a 1977 Chevrolet Blazer.

Bail was posted at $5,000 pending a presentence investigation.

Teachers Still Striking Nationwide

Officials Provide Alternate Education Methods

United Press International

With or without teachers, San Francisco is planning to start the school year for elementary students. Detroit is getting ready to start the school year with or without schools.

The teachers' strikes in San Francisco and Detroit appeared far from resolution today. And there were scores of other strikes still in progress.

The National Education Association reported walkouts involving 38,500 teachers and affecting 825,000 students — 213,000 in Detroit — remained to be settled in 11 states.

In Pennsylvania alone, there were 17 districts affected, and 13 in Michigan.

In Detroit, where talks aimed at ending the 10-day teachers' strike broke down again Tuesday, school officials have announced a home-study program for idle schoolchildren.

Superintendent Arthur Jefferson said educational materials would be distributed to parents and educational programs on public radio and television increased.

The district is confronting a potentially costly problem. Michigan officials warned strike-bound districts they face a loss of $71 million in state aid due Oct. 1 — more than $50 million of it in Detroit — if students are out of school on the last Friday of this month. That's the day children are counted to determine aid distribution.

In San Francisco, 72 elementary schools serving 24,000 youngsters were set to open Thursday, staffed by supervisors and substitute teachers. The city's junior and senior high schools were to remain closed, however.

"You can't run schools by hiring scabs or babysitters," said Jim Ballard, head of the teachers' union.

Striking teachers in 35 Bakersfield, Calif., elementary schools were in their classrooms Tuesday, having ratified a new contract Monday night. About 80 percent of the 626 teachers had been on strike.

Representatives of the Indianapolis school district and striking teachers stayed at the bargaining table until late Tuesday under orders from Marion County Circuit Court Judge Frank Huse. The walkout was in its 12th school day today.

Huse also had police bring into court 28 teachers arrested for defying his order barring picketing. Huse fined them $25 each and their union, the Indianapolis Education Association, was slapped with a $1,500 fine.

"Our position has remained unchanged — no contract, no work," said union member Shirley Carter.

No talks were scheduled in the 16-day-old strike in Jefferson Parish, La. — the nation's longest teacher walkout this year. Members of the Concerned Parents Organization planned to meet today with Gov. Edwin Edwards to request state money to help meet the teachers' salary requests.

Historian Discovers Eisenhower Diary

HOUSTON (UPI) — A Rice University historian has discovered a one-of-a-kind transcript of a diary that contains Dwight D. Eisenhower's most candid thoughts about the highest echelons of the U.S. military command early in World War II.

Dr. Francis L. Loewenheim made the rare find while searching through 9 million documents that have been received at the Dwight D. Eisenhower Library at Abilene, Kan., since the former president's death.

Loewenheim's account of the transcript, found in an envelope and published in a copyright series by the Houston Chronicle, revealed Eisenhower considered Gen. Douglas MacArthur a temperamental "baby" and suggested the U.S. chief of naval operations, Adm. Ernest King, should be shot because of his rude manner and lack of cooperation.

Eisenhower never let the diary out of his possession and never allowed authors or historians to view the unexpurgated version, Loewenheim said, although he theorized the former general probably knew this version would someday be found.

Eisenhower ordered the other existing transcript of the diary destroyed in 1945 when he learned Navy Capt. Harry C. Butcher, his friend of 20 years, planned to use portions of it in his book, "My Three Years with Eisenhower," Loewenheim said.

"If the identity of the typist of the complete diary remains a mystery, even a cursory glance at its contents is sufficient to suggest why, in the flush of final victory in Europe, Eisenhower had ordered the material destroyed," Loewenheim said.

"... The newly available entries describe personal differences, hostility and ill-feeling at the top of the U.S. high command in an unprecedentedly candid fashion.

"One thing that might help win this war is to get someone to shoot King," Eisenhower wrote in a March 1942 entry. "He's the antithesis of cooperation — a deliberately rude person — which means he's a mental bully."

Eisenhower characterized King as an "arbitrary, stubborn type, with too much brains and a tendency toward bullying his juniors!"

The diary revealed Eisenhower's impatience and disenchantment with MacArthur in the Pacific front, while recognizing MacArthur's successes.

"In many ways, MacArthur is as big a baby as ever," Eisenhower wrote on Jan. 19, 1942. "But we've got to keep him fighting."

Four days later, when MacArthur had named Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland to be his successor in the event of his death, Eisenhower wrote: "He picked Sutherland, showing he still likes his boot-lickers."

When MacArthur proposed a possible evacuation plan for President Quezon of the Philippines in the event of the fall of Bataan, Eisenhower's diary showed his reaction: "Looks like MacArthur is losing his nerve. I'm hoping that his yelps are just his way of spurring us on, but he is always an uncertain factor."

"Eisenhower kept this stuff with him apparently all his life," Loewenheim said. "He never let this out of his possession ...."

Nuns Go To Court To Force Company To Release Records

By United Press International

An order of nuns based in Loretto, Ky., and active in social issues planned to go to court today in Delaware in an effort to force the Blue Diamond Coal Co. to release its corporate records.

The Sisters of Loretto are among 13 groups trying to certify their positions as stockholders in the Knoxville-based firm, which is incorporated in Delaware.

Public corporations with more than 500 stockholders must make detailed financial reports to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Blue Diamond's operations and safety record have been under attack by various groups including the United Mine Workers of America since a series of explosions in 1976 left 26 miners dead at its Scotia mine in Letcher County, Ky.

Blue Diamond has challenged the self-described "social investors" by demanding they swear they have purchased Blue Diamond stock with their own money and aren't participating in a "conspiracy" to obtain stockholder information.

A member of the religious order's investment committee, Sister Mary Luke Tobin, said the nuns had purchased Blue Diamond stock "out of a concern for justice."

But Blue Diamond had charged the Loretto sisters with trying to "punish" the firm for its role in an unsuccessful UMW representation drive at its Justus mine in McCreary County, Ky.

Ralph Dye, vice president of Blue Diamond, said the stock buying activities of the Loretto sisters and others "would appear to ba contination of a pattern of harassment initiated by the UMWA during the strike at the Justus mine."

Pentagon To Recruit High School Dropouts For Volunteer Army

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon, which hasn't recruited enough people to staff the all-volunteer Army, has decided to take high school dropouts with less than 10th-grade educations.

Recruits from the lower educational sector will be accepted as of Oct. 1 as long as they score a minimum of 31 on the Armed Forces Qualification Test and conform to a Military Applicant Profile.

The profile is equivalent to an additional screening device to predict the likelihood the applicant will complete his enlistment.

The new standard, announced Tuesday, will apply to all male applicants and later apply to female recruits.

Nuclear Plant Shut Down In Tennessee

ERWIN, Tenn. (UPI) — An undisclosed amount of enriched uranium apparently is missing from a trouble-plagued nuclear fuel processing plant and Nuclear Regulatory Commission officials ordered it shut down Tuesday.

The order issued by Robert Burnett, director of the NRC's division of safeguards, was the first of its kind, officials said. They said there was no danger of a health hazard.

Nuclear Fuel Services Inc., which processes atomic fuel pellets for the Navy's fleet of atomic submarines, could not account for all its stockpile during a routine inventory, NRC officials said.

An NRC spokesman at the plant said inspection teams from Atlanta and Washington have been dispatched to begin a reinventory of the fuel at the plant.

"An intensive review of accounting methods is under way, said NRC spokesman Frank Ingram in Washington. "This will be followed by a detailed materials reinventory."

"It is an orderly shutdown," said Frank Gillepsie, NRC regional chief of materials control and accounting. "They (company officials) are simply ceasing the input of material into the manufacturing process."

Officials declined to reveal how much fuel was missing, but NRC rules call for the shutdown of a plant if its inventories, made every two months, turn up a discrepancy of more than nine kilograms of highly enriched uranium.

Gillepsie said he was not in a position to speculate on the missing fuel but said "we have no suspicions at the present time."

Gillepsie said the missing fuel was not of a high radiation level and is not considered a health hazard.

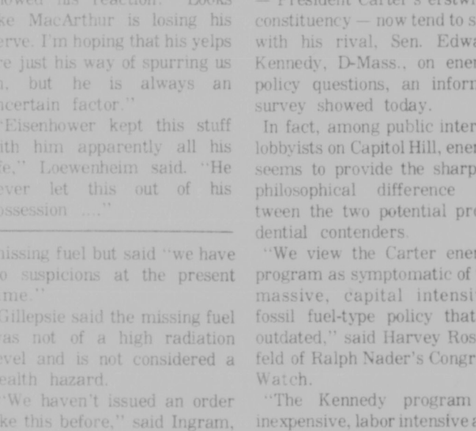
"We haven't issued an order like this before," said Ingram, who described inventory descrepancies as common. "We thought it was prudent in this case."

The Union of Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers went on strike at NFS April 14 and stayed out until Aug. 4, when the company agreed to a $2.45 an hour raise.

NFS is licensed to possess 4,250 kilograms of uranium enriched to 20 percent or more. The inventory discrepancy that triggered Burnett's closure order was reported to the NRC Monday on the basis of an inventory completed Aug. 14, 10 days after the strike ended.

The same week the strike ended, the NRC investigated an "unscheduled release" of radioactive material from the same plant's smoke stacks. The NRC said about 300 grams of uranium hexafluoride were inadvertently released into the atmosphere.

Plant spokesmen said gauges did not register the release.



Adorable Adoptables

STEP ASIDE Laurel and Hardy, Abbott and Costello! This unique duo, both a beagle-poodle mix, say they can be as much fun as any of their human comedian counterparts. All they need is what any fresh young entertainer wants—a lucky break! Both pups are just eight weeks old each; one is male, the other female. They are available at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, 334-3553, on the Oakland-Sang Run Road. Last week's Adorable Adoptables are still homeless, but hopefully waiting for that special someone to give them a home.

Carter, Kennedy Sharply Differ On Energy Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers and environmentalists — President Carter's erstwhile constituency — now tend to side with his rival, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., on energy policy questions, an informal survey showed today.

In fact, among public interest lobbyists on Capitol Hill, energy seems to provide the sharpest philosophical difference between the two potential presidential contenders.

"We view the Carter energy program as symptomatic of the massive, capital intensive, fossil fuel-type policy that is outdated," said Harvey Rosenfeld of Ralph Nader's Congress Watch.

"The Kennedy program is inexpensive, labor intensive and recognizes what study after study has shown — that conservation is where the future lies," he said.

The Carter energy plan, designed to cut oil imports 4.5 million barrels a day by 1990, is getting priority treatment in Congress while Kennedy's 10-year plan to cut daily imports by 4 million barrels has been largely ignored.

The Carter plan is unpopular with groups such as Environmental Action, Congress Watch and the Consumer Federation of America because of its heavy stress on environmentally harmful synthetic fuel development and its production incentives to the oil industry.

Officials of the same groups praise the Kennedy plan as a way to wean the nation away from dwindling supplies of fossil fuels — including synthetics — to limitless energy sources of the future like fusion and solar power.

The plan by Kennedy relies solely on conservation and energy efficiency to save imported oil, would cost the country $58 billion compared to the $140 billion price tag on Carter's program.

It calls for low-interest loans to commercial property owners and developers and direct taxable grants of as much as $750 to apartment dwellers and homeowners for conservation measures like insulation.

About $8.4 billion would be available in loans to industries investing in increased energy efficiency.

Talbott Smith, energy policy director for the Chamber of Commerce, conceded Kennedy's $15 rebate to industry for every barrel of oil it could save is attractive.

But he said the plan misleads the public because "it doesn't produce any energy."

"We don't like it," said Smith, whose group believes synfuel development must accompany conservation. "Who's going to pay for it?"

But Smith's group also has attacked the windfall profits tax and energy security corporation, two key elements of the Carter plan.

FAA Orders DC-9 Inspection

By United Press International

The Federal Aviation Administration today ordered immediate inspections of all DC-9s "having in excess of 15,000 landings" after the tail cone of an Air Canada jet broke off and plunged into the Atlantic Ocean Monday.

An FAA spokesman said in Washington the "airworthiness directive" was issued at 4 a.m. EDT today "on all operators of McDonnell Douglas DC-9 series throughout the country."

While the order does not ground planes, it directs all airlines flying the DC-9 to have each craft inspected within 10 landings after receiving the order.

Spokesman Dick Stafford said the directive requires visual inspections for cracks in the aft pressure bulkhead emergency exit doorjamb in bulkhead skin.

"All airplanes having in excess of 15,000 landings" must be inspected, Stafford said. He said he did not know how many planes would be affected by the order.

The manufacturer the DC-9s said Tuesday all DC-9 operators were warned three years ago to look for the type of stress crack that caused the tail cone of an Air Canada passenger jet to plunge into the Atlantic Ocean.

Senate Proposes Fund Increase For U.S. Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an move that could improve the chances for ratification of SALT II, the Senate proposes to add $25 billion to U.S. defense spending over the next three years.

The action, taken during debate Tuesday on the 1980 federal budget, includes a $3.2 billion increase recommended by President Carter in 1980 defense spending over the amount proposed by the Senate Budget Committee.

This brought the Senate's total proposal for 1980 federal spending to $546.3 billion, with a $31.6 billion deficit.

The Senate's actions would provide a 3 percent "real" increase in defense spending in 1980 after allowing for inflation and 5 percent real increases in the two subsequent years.

Today the Senate turned its attention to proposals for tax cuts in the 1980 budget, which the House was considering its own resolution — for a $548.7 billion budget with a $29.2 billion deficit.

Carter recommended the 1980 defense increase after a number of senators indicated their votes for the arms limitation treaty might hinge on approval of higher defense spending.

The increase was opposed by Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Budget Committee, who told the Senate it would increase the federal deficit and make it harder to fight inflation.

"The greatest threat to our national security is inflation," Muskie said.

Other senators disagreed and said the United States is falling behind the Soviet Union in military power.

"We're no longer the No. 1 military power in the world," said Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., "We're No. 2 and not a very good No. 2 at that."

In contrast to its action on defense, the Senate voted earlier Tuesday to order seven of its committees to make $3.6 billion in cuts in their spending plans for 1980. All but $100 million of these cuts would be in domestic programs, although the committees can choose which programs to trim.

Carter Supporters Impatient For Re-election Announcement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter appears to be resisting appeals by some supporters to step up the timing of his re-election announcement, but a top aide says he cannot imagine "any doubt in anyone's mind" Carter is running.

So far, sources said Tuesday, Carter still plans to make the announcement later in the fall, but before a filing deadline in mid-December.

"The decision has been made," said press secretary Jody Powell on whether Carter would seek re-election, adding the president has not yet decided when to formally announce his plans.

A group of Carter supporters urged the president to make the announcement earlier because of a possible challenge from Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

But Powell said Carter is reluctant to move up the date because, "we want to do everything we can to avoid a premature injection of politics" into national issues.

Asked if Carter really will run, Powell said, "I cannot announce" for him, "but I can't imagine any doubt in anyone's mind."

He said if the race for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination turned out to be a Carter-Kennedy fight, the president would do what he could to avoid a party split.

"For our part, if there is a Carter-Kennedy race, we'll do everything within our power to avoid a party-splitting race, which would damage the party and help the Republicans ... if for no other reason than the president will be the candidate," he said.

Powell said a Monday night meeting of 25 Carter supporters at the Watergate home of presidential adviser Robert Strauss was a "discussion of plans for the next four to six weeks. ... The focus of the meeting was what steps people could be involved in."

He said with a grin that one or two of the guests said "they thought there was still some doubt around the country that the president was going to run."

It was learned that New York's Lt. Gov. Mario Cuomo urged Carter to speed up his announcement and others, including Detroit's Mayor Coleman Young and Democratic Chairman John White agreed. But others thought it best for Carter to hold off awhile.

Robert Keefe, former campaign manager for Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., told UPI he believes Carter "will prevail" over Kennedy for the nomination. As for the president's dramatically low standing in the polls, he said, "I don't think he's as bad off as he was four years ago" when he ran as an unknown for the presidency.

"Everyone agreed that Carter was right on the issues but that he wasn't getting his message across," other sources said. "There was plenty of blame to go around ... for his advisers and the media."

Pope Paul To Be Busy During Tour

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul will rise shortly after dawn and keep busy every day with masses, meetings and major addresses almost until midnight during his nine-day visit to Ireland and the United States.

But the gruelling 18-hour days of his Sept. 29-Oct. 7 trip will be somewhat familiar to the 59-year-old pontiff who visited Latin America and his native Poland earlier this year.

The official itinerary, released by the Vatican Tuesday, shows the pontiff will visit ancient battlefields in Ireland and travel from the slums of New York City to the cornfields of Iowa.

The leader of the world's 600 million Roman Catholics also will deliver a major address at the the United Nations in New York and meet President Carter at the White House.

The official itinerary includes masses at New York's Yankee and Shea stadiums, at Chicago's Grant Park, the Boston Common and the Washington Mall, where more than 1 million people are expected to congregate in the largest religous gathering in U.S. history.

John Paul begins his journey early Sept. 29 when he leaves Rome aboard an Irish Aer Lingus 747 jumbo jet for Dublin for a four-day visit to Ireland. On arrival, he will say mass in Dublin, helicopter to the city of Drogheda for a major address and fly back to Dublin to meet political leaders and church officials.

Over the next two days, John Paul will celebrate three major masses and meet with six separate groups in four other cities before flying to the United States Oct. 1.

In Boston, his first U.S. stop, he will be greeted by a delegation of officials chosen by Carter, then immediately go to Boston Common to celebrate a mass.

Oct. 2, he flies to New York for what the Vatican considers the central address of his entire trip — an appeal for world peace at the United Nations.

The pope is to tour Harlem and the South Bronx before celebrating an evening mass at Yankee Stadium as the late Pope Paul VI did on the first papal trip to the United States in 1965.

John Paul next goes to Philadelphia and Des Moines, Iowa, before a two-day stop at Chicago, home of the largest Polish population outside of Warsaw, to address the U.S. Roman Catholic Bishops' Conference, meet religious delegations from his homeland and say mass at Grant Park.

On Oct. 6, the pope flies to Washington where he will be met by first lady Roslynn Carter. He will spend much of the day at the White House talking privately with Carter and meeting with government and congressional leaders. He then meets representatives from Latin American nations at the headquarters of the Organization of American States.

The mass on the Washington Mall Oct. 7 is the conclusion ot the papal trip.

Congress Wrestles With Question Of Raise In Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today faced the politically painful issue of whether Congress should get a pay raise this year.

The possibilities ranged from a 12.9 percent increase to no raise at all, thus freezing the members' annual salary at $57,500.

The issue came up as part of the continuing resolution for the fiscal year 1980, a measure that provides funds for agencies that have not yet gotten their budgets through Congress.

The House Appropriations Committee sent a bill to the House providing for a 5.5 percent pay increase for Congress and its staff — but the committee planned to offer an amendment to provide a 7 percent increase.

Rep. George O'Brien, R-Ill., said if the 7 percent amendment is rejected, he would offer an amendment to freeze Congress' pay at the present level.

The 12.9 percent increase would go into effect Oct.1 if Congress takes no action.

Under the present arrangement, Congress automatically receives annual pay increases based on what the president recommends for the rest of the federal government.

Last year, Congress deferred its recommended pay increase, but that raise would take effect Oct. 1 — along with this year's increase — for a total of 12.9 percent unless the members vote to change it.

Congress last gave itself a pay increase in early 1977 when it allowed a $13,500 increase to go into effect automatically.

O'Brien, leading the fight against an increase, has said Congress should only raise its pay if the increase does not take effect until after the next election, when members would have gotten the voters' judgment on the issue.

The pay issue came up in the House in June when the legislative appropriations bill came to the floor. That bill proposed a 7 percent increase, but it was amended on the floor to provide for a 5.5 increase.

Amid some apparent confusion over what they had approved, the members then voted down the overall bill when it came to a final vote and the pay issue was put off for three months.

They will practice all day both days and present a concert Friday night which is open to the public. The girls will be performing five or six pieces, which include one in Latin and one in Greek. High school students from all over the state will participate.

Senior Class Officers Selected

Law Officers To Attend Seminar

Personal security techniques and crime prevention for older persons will be the focus of a one-day training seminar for law enforcement officers to be held on September 17 at the Funkstown American Legion. Approximately 60 law enforcement officers from Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, and Washington Counties will be in attendance.

The training is part of an overall State-wide crime prevention program known as Maryland Crime Watch which is a joint effort of the major law enforcement agencies in the State, the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice, and the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services.

During the first half of the day, the officers will receive information on the prevention of personal assaults and security techniques that can be utilized to lesson the likelihood of such assaults.

The second half of the day will be devoted to instruction on crime prevention for older persons. Information presented during this part of the training will include facts about the process of aging; the types of crimes committed most often against older persons; the psychological and social impact of crimes against older persons; and communicating with the elderly.

The seminar is the second in a series of regional crime prevention training seminars for law enforcement officers sponsored by the Maryland Crime Watch program. A series on burglary prevention was held in late April.

In addition to training, the Maryland Crime Watch program offers technical assistance to law enforcement agencies in implementing crime prevention programs, as well as printed crime prevention materials for public distribution. During the personal security and crime prevention for older persons phase of the program, law enforcement agencies will be distributing to the public two Maryland Crime Watch booklets "Be on the Safe Side" and "Outsmarting Crime: An Older Person's Guide to Safer Living."

A mass media campaign is also being undertaken by Maryland Crime Watch including television and radio spots, billboards, and newspaper ads.

Other components of Maryland Crime Watch to be introduced during the coming year will be commercial security and rural crime.

What a disappointment! You had a tremendous drive, the perfect chip shot, and a brilliant putt; then your ball stopped a hairsbreadth from the edge of the cup. The birdie you thought was yours didn't materialize.

Of course, it's only a game; it doesn't really matter. But blighted hopes are not always so trivial. What if something really big passes you by? Suppose you don't get that promotion, your son's scholarship is given to someone else, an important client changes his mind, or the stock market wipes out your investment? Where do you turn? Where do you find strength to meet life's disillusionments?

Spiritual values are constant. Fortunes may shift and change but your Church stands firm. The truths and inspiration you find there give meaning, purpose, and stability to your life.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TEACH THE FAITH!

Lesson for September 23, 1979

Background Scripture: 1 Thessalonians 1; Titus
Devotional Reading: 1 Timothy 4:6-16

The familiar admonition today is, "Keep the faith!"

But it is hard to "keep" the faith if "keeping" means to hang on to something. Like many other things in life, the faith can only be "kept," if we are willing to give it away in some manner. Often, we retain something only when we are willing to share it. So, if we are to "keep the faith," we will need also to share the faith.

Rev. Althouse

SOUND DOCTRINE

In Paul's letter to Titus, he counsels him, "teach what befits sound doctrine" (2:1). These words might easily lead us to envision a classroom setting with a teacher lecturing to students on the various theological propositions of Christianity. "Teaching" suggests to us a thoroughly academic experience.

If we continue further in this passage, however, it is obvious that when Paul says "teach," he means to teach by example, not by scholastic techniques: "Bid the older men be temperate, serious, sensible, sound in faith, in love, and in steadfastness" (2:3). Paul is not talking about teaching ideas, but of witnessing through daily living what Christianity is all about.

This was also the heart of Paul's ministry. To be sure, he was a powerful preacher and teacher and his mind was a brilliant one. But Paul did not rely solely upon his powers of oral persuasion. Like his master, Paul taught mostly by example: "You know what kind of men we proved to be among you" (1 Thessalonians 1:5). His deepest impression on the people of Thessalonica was dependent, not upon his eloquent speech, but his conduct in their midst.

Be Imitators Of Us!

Nor was Paul simply trying to earn the admiration of the Thessalonians; to the contrary, he was attempting to give them a style of living that they could imitate. "And you became imitators of us and of the Lord" (1:6). It was not a case of "Do as I say, not as I do," for Paul wanted them to copy him as he believed that he copied Christ. As the old saying goes: "What you are speaks so loudly that I can't hear you."

The beautiful thing about this kind of imitation is that, once set in motion, it can become contagious. The people at Thessalonica witnessed Paul's conduct and copied him. In turn, their behaviour became a powerful teaching thrust to other Christians beyond the city limits of Thessalonica: "you became an example to all the believers in Macedonia and in Achaia" (1:6).

The gift of words is a wonderful gift to the person who would preach or teach to others. Words can stir and inspire us—they can even change our lives. But for the most part, the best and most effective teaching of the faith is the faith that is demonstrated in lives that consciously attempt to imitate our Lord.

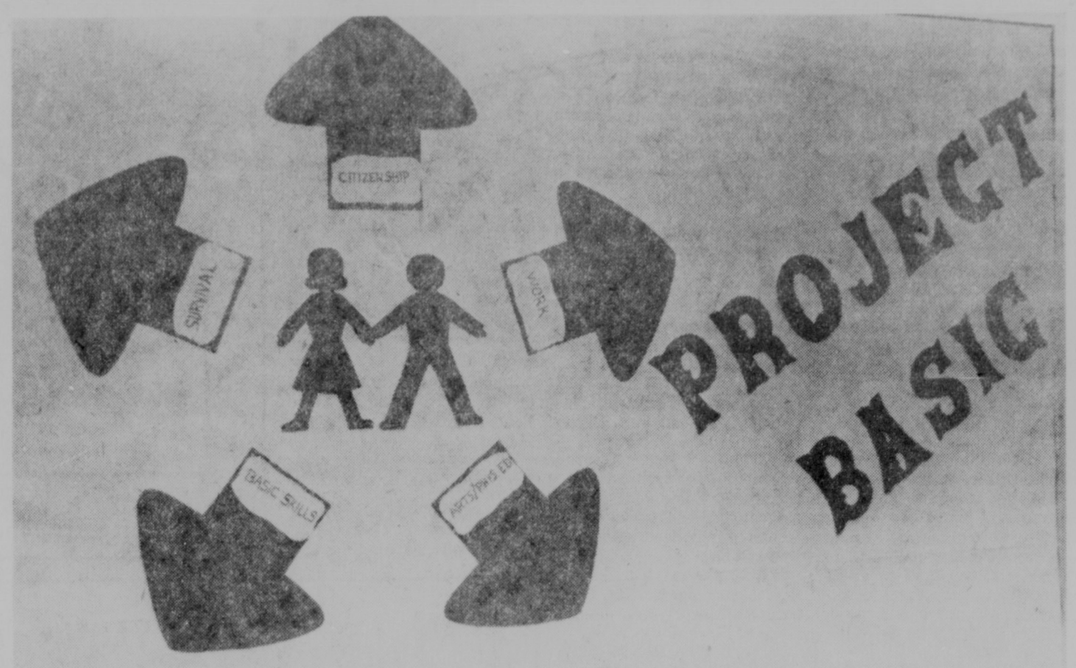
Maryland Schools Heading Back To Basics

By Beverly J. Sincell



THE FIVE BASICS — A bulletin board at Broad Ford Elementary School displays the symbol for Project Basic. Each arrow represents the five areas that compose the competency based program: basic skills, survival skills, citizenship skills, world of work skills, and physical education and the arts skills.

This may come as a surprise, but Garrett County has been in the forefront of an educational trend in Maryland and, says Albert Ringer, assistant superintendent of curriculum development, it happened purely by accident.

It all happened when the state school board decided schools should emphasize the basics of education — readin', 'ritin and 'rithmetic. While the rest of the counties began work to shape up their school curriculums, Garrett County innocently announced it had never stopped teaching the basics and would have little trouble meeting state requirements.

Since the county's curriculum very nearly matched the requirements of the new state program, called Project Basic, it became a tool for other counties to review in developing their own curriculums. County curriculum developer, Albert Ringer, also was in the forefront of the development of the comprehensive state plan for Project Basic. "I'm the project's greatest Devil's Advocate," he stated. "I'm also the project's greatest supporter." Officials down state acknowledge the valuable contributions Mr. Ringer has made to the statewide project.

The project itself originated in response to demands from citizens, employers and educators nationwide to teach the basics to the young. Employers were distressed they had to teach new employees skills which should have been learned in school. Citizens were concerned that some of their youth were unable to read, to communicate, to calculate and therefore were unable to compete in the adult world.

Four years have passed since the idea for Project Basic germinated. Now the state is ready for implementation. But they are going to take it slowly. This first year will involve at least one school per county selected by each county. They will be pilot schools, guinea pigs. In Garrett County the pilot school is Broad Ford Elementary. There are 30 pilot schools in the state, five are elementary schools.

In these pilot schools the Project Basic theories will be tried to determine what is feasible and what is not. They will be a "working laboratory" for finding successful procedures in the implementation of Project Basic. Different counties will discover different problems with the state planned curriculum, but then the state emphasizes the curriculum can be adjusted to suit each county, as long as certain basic requirements are met.

Those basic requirements are more than just teaching reading, writing and arithmetic. There are five areas included in the basic requirements: basic skills, survival skills, world of work skills, physical education and the arts skills, and citizenship skills. These areas have been termed "minimum competencies for graduation." In order for a student to graduate from a Maryland school beginning in 1982, that student must master minimum competencies in all five areas.

Those five areas were first introduced in a pamphlet written in 1977 by David W. Hornbeck, who assumed duties as the Maryland State Superintendent of Schools fours years ago. The pamphlet, The Mission of Schooling, was a policy statement of the state board of education. In it Hornbeck wrote, "To be effective and satisfied as an adult requires a fundamental ability to cope with oneself and others in a variety of settings . . . Schooling must, therefore, lead to competency in at least five areas of human activity." He went on to point out that although these five areas are important "there are other dimensions of an effective and satisfying life." He indicated that the basics would be emphasized but that the students' education would consist of more than the minimum skills.

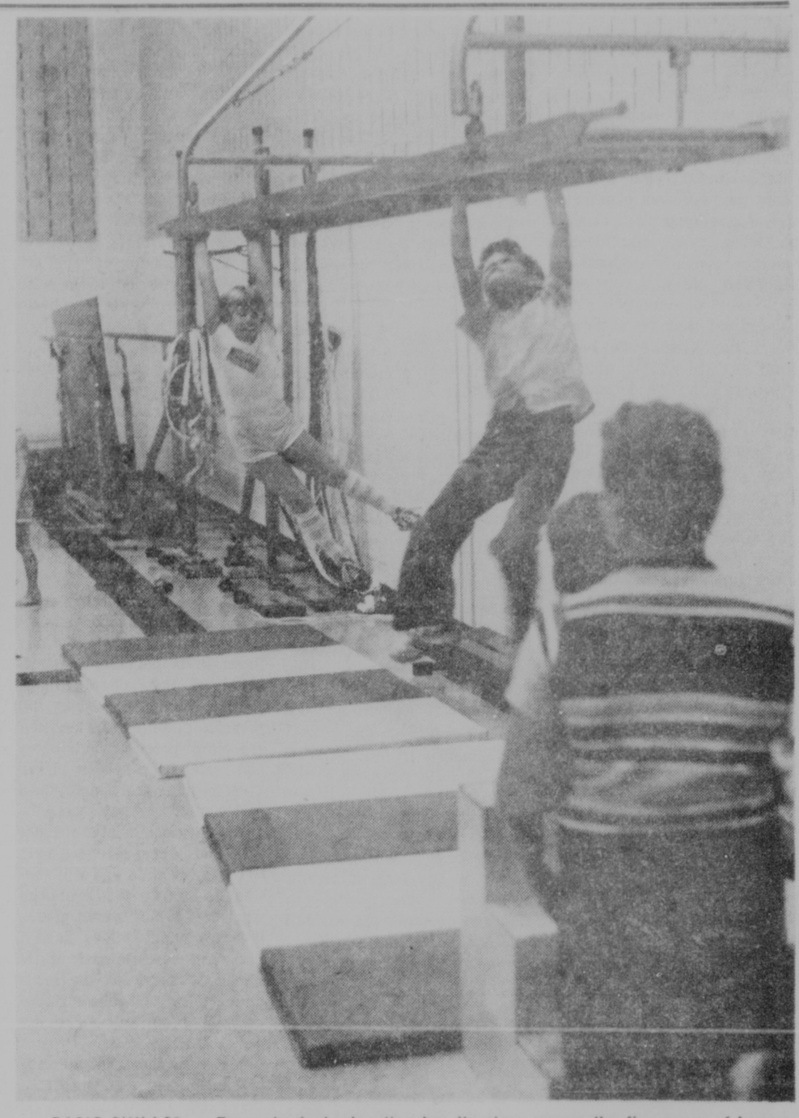
What the five areas entail is this: Basic skills simply means the basic skills — the ability to read, write and calculate; Survival Skills means fundamental skills: consumer, parenting, interpersonal, mechanical, and financial; world of work skills means introducing students to options and opportunities of the world of work without racial or sexual bias; physical education and the arts means providing students the opportunity for involvement in creative and healthful lifetime activities; citizenship means discussing the importance of involvement in the electoral process, participation in local civic affairs, and understanding the system of justice.

If broken down, the five areas contain a total of 143 objectives. For example, one of the goals in mathematics is that a student be able to use mathematical reasoning and processes to meet personal and societal needs; one competency to be learned to meet this goal is solving personal or societal problems; one objective is that the student will be able to solve mathematical problems concerning addition or subtraction of money.

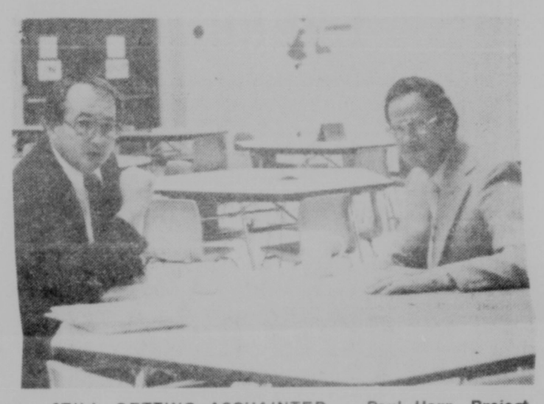
In developing Project Basic, Maryland officials went to 36 other states in the nation, which already had similar projects, for advice and to learn from their mistakes. They learned much from the mistakes of Florida's board of education which faced a legal suit for testing students for skills they could not prove they had taught. Maryland's group developed a comprehensive outline from kindergarten through twelfth grade showing the grade level a skill is to be introduced and the subsequent grades in which that skill will be mastered. It is a safety valve, but it is also an outline aimed to make teachers more aware of what they should be teaching. It also lends an air of organization, of coordination of the curriculum among grade levels.

Judy Upole, media aide at Broad Ford Elementary, says she has already noted a change in thinking at the pilot school. "I am more aware now," she said. "When I teach a certain skill I ask myself, ' Is this a basic?' "Judy will be responsible for introducing many of the basic skills, especially those in which students learn to use resource material and to follow directions. Judy also will be responsible for securing resources for teachers to use in teaching some of the basic skills. Broad Ford will not have to buy new textbooks for Project Basic since it has those required by the state. Funds have been provided to supply supplemental resources in the school's media center. The pilot schools will be the only schools to receive this funding.

Full implementation of Project Basic will occur in 1982. Al Ringer says it will be fully implemented in Garrett County by 1980; he is talking about the instruction side of Project Basic. The testing of students will be phased in more slowly. "It will be slow and methodical," said Paul Harr, Project Basic facilitator for Garrett County. He has the job of guiding Broad Ford Elementary through its pilot year.



BASIC SKILLS? — Even physical education has its place among the five areas of human activity required in Project Basic. The idea behind requiring skills in this area is to help the student be involved in more creative and healthful lifetime activities.



STILL GETTING ACQUAINTED — Paul Harr, Project Basic Facilitator, discusses an aspect of Project Basic with Broad Ford Elementary Principal Wayne Johnson. As principal of the pilot school, Mr. Johnson must monitor the progress of the project and act as a representative for his teachers. Paul Harr as facilitator will help to guide the pilot school through the year.

Next year he will be concerned with the rest of the county schools, guiding and monitoring them. He is the liaison between the schools and the county and between the county and the state.

The state has set deadlines for complete implementation of testing the basic areas. By 1982, all grade levels will be required to be tested for reading and by 1984, all will be tested for mathematics. Only the survival skills will not be tested. "How can you assess survival skills?" Mr. Ringer asked.

Officials in the state board of education view Project Basic as a partnership between the state and each county. The state will provide coordination, resources and products necessary for implementation. It already has provided the basic guideline for instruction at all grade levels. It will also be the information gatherer, analyzer and distributor. Throughout the pilot year, it will closely monitor each county's progress. It will distribute forms, questionnaires, tests and then collect them. From these, it will detect unanticipated problems and try to correct them.

Counties will implement the project and administer assessment measures. They will, as Mr. Ringer describes it, "Put the meat on the skeletal framework provided by the state." In other words, they will provide the teachers the method of instruction, the materials for instruction and the assessment of instruction. The teachers will determine which parts of the project are inapplicable to their unique situations. They will be the ones to fill out those forms, questionnaires and tests. They will be the ones to incorporate changes into the project.

The paperwork this year will be voluminous. The paperwork is one of Mr. Ringer's major sorepoints with the project. He calls it part of the "Monstrous state bureaucracy." He reassured the teachers of the pilot school that they would have the minimal share of the paperwork. "Teachers are going to teach," he said. "You are not going to spend time with records and paperwork."

He and Mr. Harr will take on the major load of the paperwork. Others who will receive an ample load are Rosetta Rodeheaver, curriculum coordinator, and Charleen E. Thomas, instructional supervisor (K-5).

Paperwork is not the only criticism Mr. Ringer has for the project. He pointed out that regardless of an instructional program 80% of the students will learn the material. Besides that 80% there will always be 10% who will require remedial training and another 10% who will not learn the material at all. The money, says Ringer, would have been better spent on programs di-

KEY TEACHER — Keith Harvey, fifth grade teacher, was one of six persons from Garrett County who attended conferences this summer to become familiar with Project Basic and to help design the school implementation plan. To him, Project Basic "will be a beneficial program throughout the county."

PROJECT BASIC will not only utilize books as resource material to teach children basic skills but it will also utilize audio-visual equipment, film strips, posters, and, well . . . is there a limit?

MEDIA CENTERS in all schools are important to Project Basic because in them will be found many supplemental resources for the teaching of basic skills. Judy Upole, media aide at Broad Ford Elementary School, says she will be introducing many of the basic skills herself, especially skills relating to using reference materials.

Maryland Schools

rected towards those in the 20% rather than the entire student population.

Mr. Ringer also worries about the precedent of a statewide educational plan. True, it provides an educational equality for all students in Maryland, but it is very near to a stated dictated policy. He pointed out that the state will select the basic texts to be used in all public schools which, to him, is a decision on a state level about what students in a given county should be taught. On the other hand state publications concerning Project Basic stress the importance of local development, implementation and supervision of the program.

Reactions of the teachers and Broad Ford principal Wayne Johnson is generally favorable.

"We've always taught the basics," stated Emily Nock, third grade teacher. She pointed out that there were several areas not emphasized before in county schools. "We are aware of some areas we haven't been aware of before," she commented. "We've found out how important the life skills are."

None of the teachers believe they will have to do much to adjust to Project Basic, a point both Mr. Ringer and Mr. Harr emphasized. "If teachers in Garrett County teach as they have always taught using the county curriculum, they will have taught Project Basic," says Mr. Ringer.

Judy Upole believes if all teachers had taught according to the county curriculum there would be no need for Project Basic. She also believes that if teachers don't take the time to evaluate their own teaching and try to follow the project guidelines, the project will fail. In addition she thinks Project Basic will affect some change in Garrett County schools. "Teachers are already looking for things to make their instruction better," she said. Of herself, she says she is striving to improve her own instruction.

"I'm very excited about Project Basic," said Keith Harvey, fifth grade teacher. Keith was one of six who attended conferences this summer to become more familiar with the project and to help develop the school implementation plan. He went with Paul Harr, Emily Nock, Elsie Brady — a kindergarten teacher, Wayne Johnson and Rosetta Rodeheaver.

Awareness of what is being taught is the biggest benefit noted by teachers. Rosetta Rodeheaver hopes parents and students will also become more aware. She commented that once parents and students become aware of the competencies and realize a student must exhibit a mastery of them to receive a high school diploma, perhaps they will become more involved in the educational process.

Project Basic is, after all, for the students. It was designed to provide them with the necessary skills to cope in the adult world. Administrators and teachers can only go so far in providing information and instruction, the rest is primarily up to the student.

Perhaps state superintendent Hornbeck summarizes the mission of schooling best when in his pamphlet, written two years ago, he stated, "we reassert that schooling in the responsibility of self, family, neighborhood, church, community and the many institutions which impact on our lives. It is not the responsibility of the school alone. Neither competency nor the personal qualities to which the schooling process contributes can result from schools alone. They require the support and involvement of many others."

For Garrett County, Project Basic has always been a part of the curriculum and will continue to be a part. It is not the whole of the curriculum, nor is it a revolutionary idea. It is a program of minimal skills meant to serve as the foundation of a well-rounded educational program. As many have described it, "Project Basic is the floor, not the ceiling, for student achievement."

For Broad Ford Elementary, the next year will mean a little more paper work and a challenge for creativity in introducing those skills which have not been taught previously, such as the survival skills.

For employers and the community, Project Basic may mean a better breed of young people graduating from public schools.

The ultimate success or failure lies in the hands of all involved — not just teachers, not just administrators, but everyone. The fact that it has been an integral part of Garrett County's curriculum all these years indicates it is a timeless base for a quality education. Project Basic really is nothing new to anyone, it just makes everyone a little more aware of what skills are necessary to cope in today's world. Perhaps that is the best facet of Project Basic, because through more awareness of the basics maybe teachers will teach better, administrators will monitor the educational process more carefully, and students and parents will participate in the educational process more actively.

More information on the specifics of Project Basic are available in the offices of Paul Harr or Albert Ringer, Board of Education, at Broad Ford Elementary School.

Why some actors to do their own stunts

By ANNE THAYER

An actor who says, "I insist on doing my own stunts," can usually count on its getting him a couple of laudatory paragraphs in the newspapers.

Does he deserve the applause? Is it courage? Is it an ego need for the spotlight? Or is he a natural daredevil who is willing to risk not just his life and limb but the production schedule of his television show or movie for thrills? Or, in the occasional case of a skilled hobbyist, does an actor insist because he believes he can do the stunt as well as — or maybe better than — a hired double?

In his recently produced movie, Cliff Robertson, who owns a fine collection of antique airplanes, insisted on doing his own flying. Christopher Reeve, now entering the post-"Superman" phase of his career, has said that, like Robertson, he wants to fly the 1926 plane that is a feature of the forthcoming film, "Illusions." In fact, he more than "wants." He insists. Unless he personally is at the controls of that plane, it's no deal.

Mac Davis, as the quarterback in "North Dallas Forty," proved a more reasonable man. He willingly undertook one health risk to get the role by gaining 20 pounds in one month (which he has since dieted off). But he didn't fight the insurance company's regulations decreeing that a double must take over for Mac in the rough and tumble contact scenes. Davis did, however, personally throw that highlight pass to Nick Nolte that comes off so well on film and fulfills any Walter Mitty childhood dreams of glory about being a football player that might have floated through Mac's head.

Roger Moore, is an eminently reasonable man, too, and as he told Merv Griffin, when Merv did a "Moonraker" premier TV interview, he doesn't insist on a double, but at the point where a director says a professional stuntman is needed, Roger smiles and bows out.

During filming of "Space 1999" four years ago, Martin Landau was doing a scene that would include a fiery explosion. Out of the corner of his eye he realized it was happening too soon, and made his dash for safety. But he did it so smoothly that the scene was useable. As with Roger Moore's "James Bond" films, "Space: 1999" depended heavily for its excitment on special effects. And though there are occasional risks for actors, his stunts are so carefully choreographed that the risks are minimal in science-fiction spectaculars — far less, in fact, than run-of-the-mill action shows.

In the most tragic of film accidents, Erick Fleming lost his life doing a river-crossing scene with horses in South America. At the time of Fleming's death, Charlton Heston was the president of the Screen Actors' Guild and went on record stating that Fleming should have exercised greater caution. But certainly Fleming, who for six years co-starred with Clint Eastwood in the "Rawhide" series, was no stranger to rough segments in rugged terrain.

One of the most daring stunts on television this past season, fortunately, came off just fine. And for co-participant Valerie Perrine the applause she got on CBS's "Annual Circus of the Stars" in May was well deserved.

She had to stand perfectly still with two balloons in her hands, one on her head and one between her teeth as champion archer Bob Markworth took aim with his bow and arrow and annihilated the balloons. Markworth says one reason he has never had an accident with the stunt is that he "blocks out of mind, the fact that there is a human behind the balloon." He adds that his study of Zen Buddhism helped give him the mental mastery essential to archery.

Lightning."

The first is an MTM production focusing on the staff of a resort — girl-happy but normal student, science grind, class snob and class animal. There also is an Oriental chef who won't admit he speaks English, and a runaway wife hired as a pastry chef. Her only qualification — she's flakier than a pie crust.

MTM wants to turn "The Last Resort" into a "WKRP" of the kitchen, but that will take work.

Last, and maybe least, comes "Struck By Lightning," in which a young man named Stein inherits an inn, only to find his great-great-grandfather was Dr. Frankenstein, and the current caretaker was one of the doctor's creations.

Jack Elam turns in a beautifully comic performance as Frank, the caretaker nee monster, who wants Stein to keep him alive and whip up a wife in his carefully preserved test tubes.

The trouble with the show is its one-joke premise — these Transylvanian tales don't travel well.

Mrs. R's Daughter To Air Tonight

By Joan Hanauer
UPI Television Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is a nightmare that haunts mothers of daughters and for a few of them, their fears become reality.

Cloris Leachman plays such a mother in "Mrs. R's Daughter," a television movie to be seen on NBC September 19, 9-11 p.m., Eastern time.

In this dramatization of a real-life tragedy, Miss Leachman plays the mother of a girl who is beaten and raped. Grimly pursuing vengeance, she forces a reluctant criminal justice system to punish the culprit — a man who had beaten and raped before.

Warning: when actress Season Hubley as the daughter testifies at a pre-trial hearing, her tensely dramatic and harrowing performance provides one of the most explicit descriptions of rape ever to be broadcast. It is not for young people — or for the squeamish of any age.

Less dramatic but almost as frightening as the crime itself is the manner in which the law and the courts would allow a violent criminal his freedom — to repeat his crimes, probably until they wound up in murder.

The subject matter will insure "Mrs. R's Daughter" an audience; the cast adds depth and dimension. This Cloris Leachman is a woman with a will of iron, her face harsh with purpose. She won't remind anyone of "Phyllis."

For less adult fare — in every sense of the word — in the same time slot CBS offers "Sex and the Single Parent." Susan Saint James and Mike Farrell play consenting adults — both divorced — who have an affair and then fall in love (remember when it used to be the other way around?). The children complicate matters.

Surely "The Brady Bunch" didn't start out this way.

The most attractive elements of the show are the charming performances of Farrell and Miss Saint James, and that of Dori Brenner as another marital loser. They manage to fight off the script and give their characters charm.

Two new half-hour comedy series also premier on CBS September 19 — "The Last Resort" at 8 p.m. Eastern time, followed by "Struck By

James Earl Jones is adjusting to life in the fast lane of episodic television, although he admits to a enemies of television during the early filming of the new dramatic series "Paris."

In the series, Jones plays Woody Paris, a captain of detectives on a metropolitan police force who also moon lights as a professor of criminology at a local university.

"My main problem," says Jones, "was adapting the larger-than-life techniques" required for Broadway to those for the small screen. It became a matter of speech response. "And why not a series? Television is no threat. A superb film can be developed rapidly. And television reaches more people in a single evening than you could possibly reach in the longest Broadway run. And television teaches more advantage particularly in its treatment of important issues.

"Why not television?" is his sister's cancer.

"I'm a novice, really, in television, but I'm learning all the time. It states which seems contagious coming from a man generally acknowledged to be one of the country's finest actors. "Television also demands a different level of energy."

On the set of "Paris," which premieres Saturday, Sept. 29, on CBS, Jones has a part answer to those who question the fact that he is doing episodic television at this stage of his career.

TV TATTLE

Big guy Joe Don Baker, star of NBC's new "Eischied" series, is a cat lover, but not all of his cats return the affection. "I used to have three cats but now I have only two," says Baker. "One night I was watching myself on a TV show and I picked up my favorite cat and held her to the screen so she could see me. The next day she took off and I haven't seen her since."

Attention, "WKRP In Cincinnati." Now it's WKRP in Dallas. Dallas, Ga., that is.

An AM radio station in this small Georgia town was recently granted the call letters of the popular vid series by the FCC despite a request from MTM Enterprises that the letters be withheld through 1980.

The producer's request was to protect its skein, but the FCC ruled that only a bona fide broadcaster can claim exclusive rights to its call letters.

Burt Reynolds and Tim Conway will star along with two teams of celebrity players on ABC's "Celebrity Comedy Football Classic," to air later this fall.

Thirty-two players, both men and women, will be divided into two squads to play eight-person flag football. Among those who agreed to play are Beau Bridges, LeVar Burton, Stockard Channing, Billy Crystal, Charo, Sally Field, Ken Howard, Cheryl Ladd, John Ritter, William Shatner and Hal Linden.

All proceeds from ticket sales and a $25,000 donation from the show's budget go to the Hollywood Boys Club.

What is believed to be the biggest single prize in the history of TV game shows, $250,000 in cash and merchandise, will go to the winner of the third annual "Tournament of Champions" on "The Joker's Wild."

Competing is defending champion Frank Dillon, a 42-year-old Cleveland newspaper reporter, who in 1977 collected $50,000 in prizes and $100,000 the following year. Should Dillon again emerge the winner, he will have won a total of $425,000 in cash and prizes in three years.

Like the proverbial bird let out of its cage, Lydia Aspen is desperate for experience, any and all experience. And in the course of pursuing it, she ensnares the hearts of four young men, traumatized by "Love for Lydia," the new "Masterpiece Theatre" series which begins on PBS Sunday, Sept. 23.

Chaperones were out, fast cars were in. So was American jazz, and going places and doing things. Lydia (Mel Martin) is anything but solemn as she plays with the hearts of four young men. Pleasure-bent, Lydia becomes the heedless, hedonistic leader of a tragedy-bound group of small town revelers in this British import.

The first episode of the dramatization of H.E. Bates' novel will run for 90 minutes. The remaining 11 will be one-hour segments in the standard format of "Masterpiece Theatre." Alistair Cooke, of course, is host.

Service Industries Show Big Jump From 1972-77

Data from the 1977 Census of Service Industries show that Maryland's 32,897 establishments in the "selected" service industries had receipts totaling $3.4 billion, an increase of 52.3 percent over receipts reported in 1972, according to the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce. This initial report is confined to those "selected" service industries included in the 1972 census. A later report will cover additional service industries included for the first time in 1977.

Among the kinds of business for which data are presented for the State, the percentage change in receipts ranged from an increase of 267.4 percent for motion picture production, distribution, and services to a decrease of 1.3 percent for barber shops.

Measured in dollar volume of receipts, engineering, architectural, and surveying services was the largest of the selected service industries in the State with 1977 receipts of $375.7 million, followed by computer and data processing services with $339.6 million, and legal services with $302.3 million. These three industries accounted for 30.3 percent of total receipts of the covered industries.

The 1977 payroll of covered establishments in the State amounted to $1.2 billion up 48.4 percent from 1972. Portrait photographic studios showed the largest increase in payroll, with an increase of 185.1 percent.

There were 131,981 paid employees (full and part-time) engaged in the covered industries in the State as of mid-March 1977. Services to dwellings and other buildings were the largest employers with 11,857 employees, followed by engineering, architectural, and surveying services with 11,627 employees, and computer and data processing services with 10,402 employees.

Montgomery County led the counties in the State, accounting for 32.5 percent of total receipts of selected service industries. Baltimore had the largest receipts among the cities in the State, accounting for 21.6 percent.

The statistics in this release come from the Maryland Geographic Area Statistics report, SC77-A-21, 1977 Census of Service Industries. The complete report, to be issued shortly, will present data for five major kind-of-business groups for all counties and for incorporated cities of 2,500 inhabitants or more in the State.

Data compiled on service industries covered for the first time in the 1977 census will be published later in one consolidated Geographic Area Statistics report. Detailed information by kind of business or operation will be presented for the United States, individual States, the District of Columbia, and SMSA's. The amount of detail by kind of business or operation will vary according to the number of establishments in the area.

The newly covered service industries include health services, social services, selected educational services, and many other service industries operated on a "not-for-profit" basis as well as those operated on a "for profit" basis.

Announcements containing descriptions and publication dates of the various publications in the 1977 Census of Service Industries, and an order form for purchasing them, can be obtained from the Subscriber Services Section (Publications), Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C. 20233.

Wholesalers Increase Sales 65.5 Percent

Data from the 1977 Census of Wholesale Trade show that 5,019 wholesale establishments had sales totaling $16.9 billion, an increase of 65.5 percent over sales reported in 1972 when the last such census was taken, according to the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Among the kinds of business for which data are presented for the State, the percentage change in sales ranged from an increase of 143.7 percent for chemicals and allied products wholesalers to an increase of 4.2 percent for sporting, recreational, photographic, and hobby goods, toys, and supplies wholesalers.

Measured in dollar volume of sales, motor vehicles and automotive parts and supplies wholesalers were the largest wholesalers in the State with 1977 sales of $3.4 billion, followed by machinery, equipment, and supplies wholesalers with $2.4 billion. These two kinds of business accounted for 34.2 percent of the State's total sales by wholesalers.

The 1977 payroll of wholesale establishments in the State amounted to $902 million, up 55.5 percent from 1972. Chemicals and allied products wholesalers showed the largest increase in payroll, with an increase of 115.0 percent.

There were 67,121 paid employees (full and part-time) engaged in wholesale trade in the State as of mid-March 1977. Machinery, equipment, and supplies wholesalers were the largest employers with 14,670 employees, followed by groceries and related products wholesalers with 8,352 employees.

Baltimore had the largest sales among the cities in the State, accounting for 29.1 percent of total sales by wholesalers.

The statistics in this release come from the Maryland Geographic Area Statistics report, WC77-A-21, 1977 Census of Wholesale Trade. The complete report, to be issued shortly, will present wholesale totals for all counties and data for 20 major kind-of-business groups for counties with 200 establishments or more in the State. More detailed kind-of-business information will be presented for major areas — the State, standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's), and counties and cities with 500 establishments or more. The amount of kind-of-business detail will vary according to the number of establishments in an area. (The geographic area reports will be issued for each State, the District of Columbia, and the United States).

Announcements containing descriptions and publication dates of the various publications in the 1977 Census of Wholesale Trade, and an order form for purchasing them, can be obtained from the Subscriber Services Section (Publications), Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C. 20233.

Other band members receiving special recognition for their efforts were Larry Smith, Vernon Leighton, Frank Custer, Anita Mahaffey and Bill Mott, each of whom received a tee shirt of their choice from the T-Shirt Shack in Oakland.

Soybean Growers To Vote On Investment Program November 27

Maryland soybean producers will vote November 27 to create a Maryland Soybean Grower Investment Program. The referendum has been authorized by the Maryland Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with the "Annotated Code of Maryland," Title 10, "Promotion and identification of Agricultural Products."

All funds collected through a one cent per bushel investment at the first point of sale on soybeans produced in the state of Maryland must be used for market development, research and education. The grower investment will help maintain, develop and expand markets for soybeans and soybean products as well as to assist in funding research to increase yields and reduce losses from weeds, diseases, pests and harvesting. The program will be managed by the Maryland Soybean Board composed of nine growers representing the entire state and three ex-officio representatives, one each from the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, Maryland Department of Agriculture and industry. The board will contract with existing institutions or agencies to carry out the prescribed programs.

All owners, tenants or sharecroppers of a soybean producing unit or farm are eligible to vote from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at their county extension office. Eligible voters in Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties will vote at the Frederick County Extension Office. Absentee ballots will be available 14 days vefore the vote at all county extension offices. Absentee ballots must be returned to the county extension office by 4 p.m. November 27.

Producers not wishing to participate in the self-help program can receive a refund upon written request to the treasurer of the Maryland Soybean Board within 30 days from the date of collection. The amount of the assessment can be changed only after five years when this assessment period ends and then only after another referendum. At the present time there are similar self-help programs in 20 states involving 410,000 soybean growers who produce 85 percent of the total U. S. soybean crop.

Soybeans are the number two cash crop and the number one farm export in Maryland. The crop has a total value of $72 million, or about $16,000 for the average Maryland producer.

Energy Tip — If you have a fireplace or wood stove and lots of old newspapers, this tip will interest you. Use your old newspapers by making them into paper logs. Roll up the paper in round log-like shapes, tie them with string and let them soak in water until fully wet. Let them dry out in the house — this moisture will help fight winter dryness. Once dry, paper logs burn almost like wood and keep a good fire going for quite some time.

Handling Stress— The many pressures in today's world contribute widely to the feelings of stress in individuals. Stress can definitely have an influence on one's life. Following are ten suggestions which doctors have come up with on how to live with stress:

1. WORK OFF STRESS — Physical activity is an outlet for mental stress, so if you are angry or upset, try to blow off steam through activities such as running, playing tennis or gardening. Taking a walk can also help.

2. TALK OUT YOUR WORRIES — It helps to share worries with someone you trust and respect. This may be a friend, family member, clergyman, teacher, or counselor. Sometimes another person can help you see a new side to your problem and possibly a new solution. If you find yourself becoming preoccupied with emotional problems, it might be wise to seek a professional listener, like a guidance counselor or psychologist. This is not admitting defeat, just that you are an intelligent human being who knows when to ask for assistance.

3. LEARN TO ACCEPT WHAT YOU CANNOT CHANGE — If the problem is beyond your control at this time, try your best to accept it until you can change it.

4. AVOID SELF-MEDICATION — Although there are many chemicals, including alcohol, that can mask stress systoms, they do not help you adjust to the stress itself. Many are habit-forming, so the decision to use them should belong to your doctor. The ability to handle stress comes from within you, not from outside.

5. GET ENOUGH SLEEP AND REST — Lack of sleep can lessen your ability to deal with stress by making you more irritable. Most people need at least seven to eight hours of sleep out of every 24. If stress continually prevents you from sleeping you should inform your doctor.

6. BALANCE WORK AND RECREATION — Schedule time for recreation to relax your mind. Although inactivity can cause boredom, a little loafing can ease stress. This should not be a constant escape, but you do deserve a break, ocasionally.

7. DO SOMETHING FOR OTHERS — Sometimes when you are distressed, you concentrate too much on yourself and your situation. When this happens, it is wise to do something for someone else, and get your mind off of yourself. There is an extra bonus here — it helps make friends.

8. TAKE ONE THING AT A TIME — It is defeating to tackle all your tasks at once. Instead, set some aside and work on the most urgent.

9. GIVE IN ONCE IN A WHILE — If you find that the source of your stress is other people, try giving in instead of fighting and insisting you are always right. You may find that others will begin to give in also.

10. MAKE YOURSELF AVAILABLE — When you are bored and feel left out, go where the action is! Sitting alone will just make you feel more frustrated. Instead of withdrawing and feeling sorry for yourself, get involved in some type of activities, perhaps in the community.

FOOD NOTES

Chicken is an economical meat, quite nutritious and contains fewer unwanted calories than most popular meats. Here's a chicken recipe I'm sure you will enjoy:

CHICKEN WITH BROCCOLI

2 Whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, skinned, boned, cut in 1 inch pieces
1 T. cornstarch
2 T. vegetable oil, divided
3 T. soy sauce
1/8 tsp. freshly ground pepper
1 lb. fresh broccoli, cut in 1½ inch pieces
½ lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
6 green onions, bias cut into 1-inch pieces
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges

Mix together cornstarch, 1 T. oil, soy sauce and pepper. Add chicken; toss to coat well. Let stand several hours or overnight in the refrigerator.

Heat remaining oil in wok or large skillet. Add chicken and stir-fry until brown, about 5 minutes. Remove chicken, add broccoli; stir-fry 2 minutes. Add mushrooms and onion; cook until tender-crisp, about 3 minutes. Return chicken to pan; add tomatoes; cover and cook 2 minutes. Makes 4 servings, approximately 228 calories per serving.

Bat Rabies On Increase In Maryland

Bats have bitten sixty-six persons in Maryland in the first eight months of this year surpassing the 1946 record year when sixty-nine bat bites were reported for the entire year, the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene announced this week. About half of these people had to receive costly anti-rabies treatments.

During the next 60 days millions of bats will be migrating over Maryland on their way South for the winter, representing a potential public health threat for some residents unprepared for bat invasions of their homes or bites from bats.

Dr. Kenneth L. Crawford, Chief of the Department's Division of Veterinary Medicine Division, said that the significance of this annual migration relates to the number of humans and pet animals which will be bitten by rabid or suspect rabid bats. Reliable estimates of the percentages of the migrating and local bat population which may be rabid cannot be made because of the difficulties of mass sampling.

However, a significant percentage of the resident bat population must be presumed to be rabid based on yearly testing records. Dr. Crawford said that 32 rabid bats have been diagnosed in Maryland laboratories to date. With the exception of 1976 when 46 rabid bats were reported, this is the highest number of confirmed cases in the past 25 years. Twelve of these laboratory confirmations were made during August. The number of August confirmations is particularly significant because the migration period, when more bites may be expected, will not reach maximum until October, Dr. Crawford said. Such migrations are caused by cold weather which reduces the insect population on which bats feed. Marylanders will experience a dramatic rise in the number of bats in the region which are seeking food while they continue migrating to the South.

If a person is bitten by a bat it is extremely important for him to attempt to kill the bat and have it promptly tested for rabies. If a negative test is obtained, the 43-day course of anti-rabies treatment, which may cost in excess of 1,000 dollars, can be avoided. Nevertheless, the 30-35,000 rabies treatments administered annually save hundreds of lives in the United States.

Dr. Crawford believes that Maryland's primary line of defense against bat rabies is avoiding being bitten by a bat. Consequently, bats must never be handled by persons who do not have pre-exposure rabies vaccination. However, it is extremely important that a bat bite victim must prevent a suspect bat from escaping in order to have the bat available for testing.

Care must be used in capturing a bat because some species of bats in Maryland can bite through a leather glove. If a bat must be collected it should be first killed with a broom or some other similar weapon which will not mutilate the specimen. Push the specimen into a paper, plastic or glass container and then promptly submit it to the local health department for testing. Moreover, if there is any possibility that a bat has bitten a pet, then the bat should also be killed and tested.

It is important that the summer storm damage to homes be repaired as soon as possible. It is known that attic and basement screens and windows as well as wooden siding are often separated from their usual alignment in walls and roofs. Such openings, three-eighths (3/8) of an inch or larger, may allow bats to enter these dwellings and work their way into the living quarters of the home.

In the event that the anti-rabies treatment must be administered, physicians and hospitals throughout the state can call upon their local health department for these biologics. These biologics are available on a 24-hour basis. During the past several years, the Maryland State Police have assisted local health departments delivering these biologics in emergencies when health departments were closed.

SHOULD YOU USE VINYL IN YOUR KITCHEN?

"Which is better, carpet or vinyl for my kitchen?" ask many housewives. "Would I be happier with vinyl?" Well, that's something only you can decide, but let's consider some factors which might influence your choice. First of all, what kind of cook are you? I don't mean good, gourmet, or the burned offerings type, but do you fry a lot so that grease pops out? Do the kids get underfoot and spill the ketchup, or do you tend to drop the potato peels, etc., between the counter and the garbage?

If so, you'll appreciate the ease of just wiping up a spill from the marvelous no-wax vinyls now available. There's nothing easier than running a damp mop over a shiny, slick vinyl surface to have a clean, sparkling kitchen with time to spare for more interesting pursuits. That's another plus for the no-wax surface, too, no arduous waxing for a mother-in-law shine.

However, if you're a very neat cook who never makes a mess, then the choice is up to you - what look you like, whether the softness of carpet or the high shine of vinyl.

Come in, and talk over your kitchen needs with us and let us assist you in making a happy decision.

Each week we will tell you more about vinyl for your home. Watch for these columns.

"A Welcome Change Of Scenery"

Dr. Albert Einstein At Deep Creek Lake

By Beverly J. Sincell

Memories have been stirred this year across the United States and throughout the world of the life and contributions of Dr. Albert Einstein during the nationwide centennial celebration of Dr. Einstein's birth.

Garrett County also has memories of Dr. Einstein who spent a two-week vacation at Deep Creek Lake in September 1946.

His vacation was the result of an invitation by John B. Steiding. Dr. Einstein stayed in the cottage of Dr. Frank M. Wilson, a Cumberland physician.

Dr. Einstein's hosts guaranteed him complete privacy. He was protected from reporters and had few contacts with county residents other than during his occasional walks along the lake and visits to Oakland.

The Repulican carried little concerning Dr. Einstein's visit, proving the promise of privacy was well-kept. One story did appear on the front page of the paper September 26, 1946 issue. The following is a reprint of the full story:

Einstein Visits Here

"A gentleman walked over the streets of Oakland yesterday who caused more than the usual attention. His VanDyke beard and set of his hair alone did not cause all the disturbance. They were just a part of Albert Einstein, noted scientist and wizard on atomic energy, who happened to be a guest at a Deep Creek cottage this week.

"Mr. Einstein is visiting Dr. Frank Wilson at his summer home at Turkey Neck."

Until this year, little had been written of Dr. Einstein's vacation. Now, thirty-three years later, another account has been written of his visit to the county which appeared in the Summer 1979 issue of the Luke Mill Report, a publication of the Westvaco Luke Mill.

A reprint of that article appears this week, by permission of Westvaco, along with an article describing Dr. Einstein's life, written by Linda Browning of Garrett Community College.

During Dr. Albert Einstein's two-week vacation visit to Deep Creek Lake in September 1946, Western Marylanders got only brief glimpses of him.

A number of Garrett Countians saw him in Oakland, but not expecting a man of his renown in their town, few recognized him. To most of them he looked like just another gracious, soft-spoken, pipe-smoking grandfather who would enjoy whittling wood to while away the hours.

It was a false perception. The mountain retreat was nothing more than a welcome change of scenery for this great humanitarian whose erudite theories had revolutionized man's understanding of physics. His fertile brain remained active at Deep Creek Lake in the continuing interest of mankind.

Dr. Albert Einstein

It is known that Dr. Einstein spent the later years of his life seeking a theory to unify the science of physics. It's quite likely he was probing this mystery while at Deep Creek Lake because his unified field theory was published in 1950 and 1953, the latter publication coming out two years before his death.

No one, other than members of his own vacation party, was able to observe Dr. Einstein's routine at Deep Creek Lake better than Blair Thompson. A resident of Cumberland, Thompson was employed as an attendant by Dr. Frank M. Wilson at whose Garrett County summer haven the Einstein party stayed. This cottage is now owned by Paul and Betty Roderick, Westernport.

Dr. Wilson had given Blair specific orders on the treatment to be accorded Professor Einstein during his two-week visit. "You are to make sure Dr. Einstein has everything he needs," stated the Cumberland surgeon. "He's our guest and he's something special."

It wasn't until later that Thompson, then 26, realized just how special Dr. Einstein was. "But I felt at ease all the time I was around him," said Blair, who worked ten years for Dr. Wilson and is currently employed as a tile-setter. "Mr. Einstein was a real nice man."

Avid Reader. The Professor enjoyed the serenity of the lake but, according to Thompson, spent most of his time reading. "He brought a suitcase full of books with him but he also read the New York Times and Christian Science Monitor every day. He'd read the Cumberland daily papers and the Oakland weekly paper, too."

Dr. Einstein, recalled Thompson, generally arose about 7:30 or 8 a.m. "He'd drink a glass of orange juice and, if the weather was reasonably warm, he'd sit on the porch overlooking the lake until breakfast was ready. It appeared that he was looking beyond anything I could see. I figured he had to be thinking."

Judging by Thompson's observations, the eminent physicist had a bigger appetite for knowledge than food. "He wasn't a big eater," said Blair. "For breakfast, he generally had a poached egg, hot cereal and fruit. And for brunch, between noon and 1 p.m., he'd have something light. Then for dinner he'd have either a small portion of meat or fish, along with some vegetables. His favorite was Garrett County corn on the cob."

Blair also saw to it that there would be plenty of lemonade for him in the refrigerator and every night he'd place a glass of milk on a table by the Professor's bed. "He'd drink a lot of water during the day, too," Blair remembered.

A reflection Thompson said he'll always remember is Einstein sitting alone with his thoughts in front of the fireplace at the Wilson cottage. "He was fond of that fireplace on chilly evenings and Dr. Wilson instructed me to keep plenty of logs on the fire," Blair averred.

"The Professor wore a sweater during the day," Blair explained, "but when the temperature dropped at night, he'd also put on a coat."

While some of the photographs taken of Dr. Einstein in a sweater are classics, he wasn't without other apparel in the wardrobe he took to Deep Creek Lake. He had a black suit but Thompson said he saw him wear it only twice — when he arrived and the day he left.

Privacy Respected. It wasn't necessary to post a "No Trespassing" sign on the lake front property because the word had been put out by Dr. Wilson that under no circumstances was Professor Einstein's privacy to be invaded. There were, however, several "VIPs" who visited him on invitation.

Thompson, who, in essence, was Dr. Wilson's "Man Friday," said there was a handful of visitors each week. "As I recall, the first week Gov. (H.G.) Kump of West Virginia, Dr. (Arthur) Hawkins, Mr. Bill Gunter and an official from the Allegheny Power Company were there."

The second week, he said, found Wallace McKaig, Judge D. Lindley Sloan and Dr. William Gracie at the cottage. The only other time Dr. Einstein had visitors, according to Thompson, was when a car bearing New York tags pulled up to the cottage. "A man, his wife and two children visited him briefly, then drove away."

But, added Thompson, "Mister Einstein enjoyed people. I'd see him stop and chat with strangers while he was walking his dog along the lakefront. I'd see him, too, observing the birds, squirrels and other things of nature. He'd watch the birds through binoculars."

On several occasions Thompson detected Dr. Einstein sitting on the dock with a fishing pole. "But I don't remember of him catching anything."

One of Thompson's duties was to mail letters and other material dictated by Dr. Einstein to his secretary, Helen Dukas. He'd take back to the cottage from Oakland anything the Einstein entourage might need. "I remember one time I had to buy a bottle of ink and some stationery for Mister Einstein," Blair declared.

Lost Autograph. When Dr. Einstein left the Deep Creek cottage, he handed Thompson an envelope with a $50 bill inside. "I saved that envelope for years," he confided, "Because Mr. Einstein had written his name in the upper lefthand corner and I wanted to keep it as a souvenir," Blair noted. "But now I'm unable to find it."

Dr. Wilson's "Man Friday," while able to recall with remarkable clarity many of the details of that momentous visit, says he never expected to be interviewed about it 33 years later. "It's like a dream," he emphasized.

Even today when Blair Thompson sits through an electrical storm, he thinks of Professor Einstein. "He had a saying about a rain storm. I can't remember it exactly but it had something to do with the storm cleaning the air."

In that respect, Dr. Albert Einstein was like an electrical storm. He cleaned the air for humanity.

Apart from his creation of the special and general theory of relativity, Albert Einstein made great contributions to scientific thought.

Born on March 14, 1879 at Ulm, Germany, Einstein's family soon moved to Munich where his father started a small factory and he began his education. While the school instruction bored him, his uncle aroused his interest in mathematics. At the age of 12 he became acquainted with Euclidean geometry and thereafter read so avidly in the fields of mathematics and science that at the age of 16 he had a good, if informal understanding of mathematics up to the calculus and most of what was then classical physics.

In 1900 he received his diploma from the Swiss Federal Polytechnic School in Zurich. He later received his Ph.D. degree in 1905 from the University of Zurich. He searched in vain for an academic position and finally took a post with the patent office in Berne, where his main duty was the preliminary examination of patent applications. His job left him with ample time to contemplate the fundamental problems in physics.

In 1905 the world saw the appearance of four of Einstein's important papers. Each contained a great discovery in physics; the creation of the special theory of relativity; the establishment of the mass-energy equivalence; the creation of the theory of Brownian motion and the foundations of the photon theory of light. These papers charted the three main directions in physics to which Einstein contributed the most; the theory of relativity, statistical mechanics and the quantum theory of radiation.

Dr. Einstein became a professor at the University of Zurich in 1909; he joined the German University in Prague (then part of the Austrian-Hungarian empire) and returning in 1912 to Zurich as a professor at the Swiss Federal Polytechnic school. Finally, in 1913 he became a professor at the University of Berlin, became the director of the Kaiser Wilhelm institute, and a member of the Prussian Academy of Sciences.

At this time Einstein came to the conclusion that the correct generalization of the special theory must also furnish a theory of gravitation. His efforts were finally successful, and after several preliminary versions he published in 1916 his paper on the general theory of relativity. He also contributed to the problems of the theory of radiation, and to problems in statistical mechanics.

DR. ALBERT EINSTEIN, right, talks with Dr. Frank M. Wilson, a Cumberland surgeon. Dr. Einstein stayed at the surgeon's summer residence on Deep Creek Lake on a two-week vacation in September, 1946. This photograph is believed to be one of the few ever taken that shows Dr. Einstein smiling.

Against his will, as his fame mounted, he became an important public figure. After his appointment to the Intellectual Cooperation organization of the League of Nations in 1922, his interest in social problems, his fame and his way of speaking resulted in his appearing many times in public either to draw attention to social problems or to discuss the recent theories of physics. His travels took him to Europe, the United States and Asia. In 1921 he visited the United States to support the Zionist movement.

In 1922 Dr. Einstein received the 1921 Nobel prize in physics "for the photoelectric law and his work in the domain for theoretical physics." The photoelectric laws was contained in his 1905 paper on the photon.

Einstein's approach in the 1920's to the unsolved problems of physics became increasingly divergent from the main developments in physics.

He believed the proper development of physics should lie in the reduction of many of the laws of physics to geometrical propositions. For this reason he embarked upon the construction of the so-called unified field theories. For the rest of his life Einstein's main interest in physics was in that direction.

During the late 1920's the political situation in Germany deteriorated and when Einstein left Berlin in 1932 for a visit to California, he was already aware that the Nazi party and Adolf Hitler would soon be in power. Einstein returned to Europe, though not to Germany, and resigned his positions he held in Berlin and prepared for his emigration to the United States.

Einstein joined the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N. J. during the winter of 1933. In 1940 he became a U. S. citizen.

In 1939 two German physicists, Otto Hahn and Lise Meitner, announced they had discovered the fission of uranium. Enrico Fermi, an Italian physicist, became aware of the fact that if the fission could be made into a self-perpetuating chain reaction, enormous quantities of energy could be released. Fermi and the Hungarian physicist, Leo Szilard, realizing the important military implications, decided to point this out to the U. S. government. Szilard and Eugene Wigner, another Hungarian physicist, asked Einstein, whom they had known in Berlin, to appeal directly to the president (Franklin D. Roosevelt), pointing out the dangers if Germany succeeded in developing a bomb based on these principles. Einstein's famous letter to President Roosevelt resulted in the Manhattan project and in the development of the atom bomb.

In 1945 Einstein retired from his position at the institute but continued to work there until his death in Princeton in 1955.

GCC Displays Einstein Exhibit

During the centennial celebration of Albert Einstein, Garrett Community College currently has on display in the college library an 18-panel exhibit on non-scientific and scientific materials of Einstein's life and an exhibit showing the new Albert Einstein Stamp, courtesy of Westvaco.

The exhibit is produced by the American Physics Institute under the sponsorship of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N.J., and funded from a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The exhibit will be on display in the college library through October 1. Library hours are Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon; and Sunday, 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. A 45-minute film entitled "Einstein: Education of a Genius", produced by Harold Mantell, will be shown periodically. More information can be obtained by calling the Dean of Students Office, GCC, 387-6666.

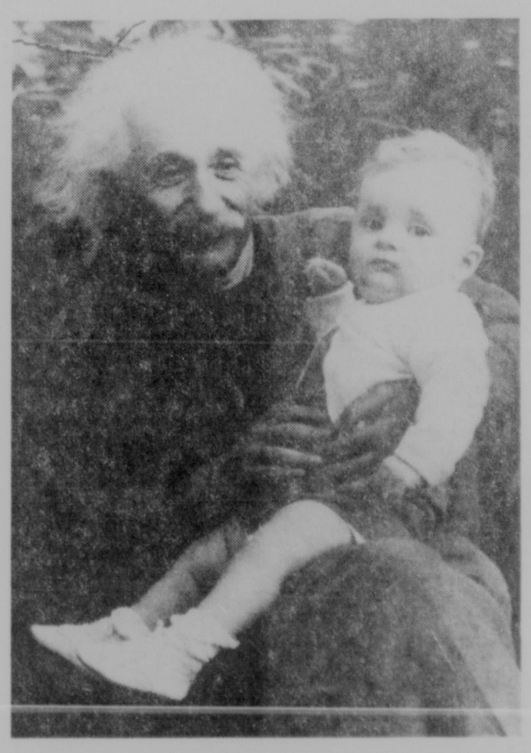
Firemen's Auxiliary To Hold Conference

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Maryland State Firemen's Association will hold its fall conference on Thursday, September 27, at The National Guard Armory, Brown Avenue, Cumberland.

Mrs. Catherine Ware, of Baltimore Pike, is serving as president of the Ladies Auxiliary for 1979-1980.

Serving on committees from Garrett County is Frances Comp, Deer Park.

MAR-JO-LODGE, summer home of Dr. Frank Wilson, was the vacation spot for Dr. Albert Einstein in 1946. The lodge, located in the Turkey Neck section of Deep Creek Lake, is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roderick of Westernport.



Sitting on Dr. Albert Einstein's knee is John R. Steiding, then nine months old. John is the son of Mrs. Virginia Steiding and the late John B. Steiding, Midland. Dr. Einstein's vacation at Deep Creek Lake was a result of the late Mr. Steiding's invitation.

Mathias Introduces Tax Package To Aid The Elderly

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) recently introduced three amendments to the U.S. Tax Code which are aimed at providing significant tax relief for elderly Americans.

One bill provides that the first $5,000 of income, including pension income, received by persons over the age of 65 is to be exempt from federal taxation. Married couples would be entitled to a $10,000 exclusion.

"Our present elderly tax credit, subject to limitations and marital discriminations, does not provide the elderly with the assurances they deserve after a lifetime of paying full taxes, of a minimum income unencumbered by taxation," Mathias said.

In addition to the tax credit amendment, Mathias introduced bills adjusting sickpay exclusions for everyone. One bill incorporates a gross income test, which phases out sickpay exclusions for individuals with annual incomes of more than $15,000. The second extends the effective date of the sickpay exclusion enacted in 1976 to give Congress more time to study it more carefully.

"The Tax Reform Act of 1976 changed the old law, so that today everyone must pay taxes on sickpay," Mathias said. "I do not believe we should turn out backs on taxpayers, whether under or over 65, whose illness forces them to stop working temporarily and probably foot sizeable doctor's bills."

Mathias said he expects to introduce a fourth amendment aimed at helping "out senior citizens and others who sell a house or stock they have owned for a long time." The bill ties the capital gains tax to the nation's rate of inflation.

"Although inflation eats away at everyone's savings, it is especially hard on the elderly," Mathias said. "They have usually scrimped, saved and invested over a long period of time with the result that they get hit hardest on capital gains taxes." He added that his bill to index the tax on capital gains to the inflation rate will be "an important part of the effort to guard against unfair tax burdens on the elderly."

The provision would work as follows: If an individual bought $15,000 worth of stock in 1967 and sold it for $25,000 in 1979, the profit on paper is $10,000. Under today's tax law no tax need be paid on 60 percent of the gain — or $6,000. The remaining $4,000, however, must be added to taxable income. But since the value of the dollar has been cut in half since 1967, the original $15,000 investment is worth $30,000 in today's economy. Thus, in terms of real dollars, the purchaser actually lost $5,000 on the 1979 sale. Under this bill, the taxpayer would not have to pay a capital gains tax on the capital loss, a needed aid for individuals who have planned ahead for their fixed-income retirement years. The bill would also help an elderly couple who sold their home in order to move into an apartment. They would only be taxed on the real profit they make, if any, not on the inflation-caused paper gain.

Intern Serving Bittinger Parish

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish announced this week that Miss Julie Beck, Worthington, Minn., is serving the parish as a pastoral intern for a period of one year. Miss Beck's internship became effective September 1.

Miss Beck was raised in Worthington, attended Golden Valley Lutheran College for two years and St. Cloud State University for two years. For the past two years she has been attending the Lutheran Northwestern Seminary in St. Paul, Minn.

Her year's service in Bittinger as a pastoral intern will complete her seminary training. She will assist the pastor at Bittinger, the Rev. James Mitchell, with all of his duties and responsibilities.

Farmers Expect Record Corn And Soybean Yields

Maryland farmers are expected to harvest the third largest corn crop on record, according to the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service. If conditions, as of September 1, continue through harvest, production should reach 56.8 million bushels, 1 percent less than last year's crop and 2 percent below the 1976 record production. Yield per acre is expected to reach 98 bushels per acre, topping the record of 97 bushels set last year. Acreage for harvest as grain, at 580,000, is 50,000 below the 1976 record acreage.

Soybean production in Maryland is forecast at a record high 12.7 million bushels, 15 percent above last year's previous record. A record high acreage and yield are responsible for the high production. Acreage for harvest is forecast at an all time high 385,000 acres. Yield per acre, at 33 bushels, exceeds the previous record of 32 set last year.

Summer potato production is forecast at 225,000 hundredweight, the same as last year. Sweet Potato production, at 231,000 hundredweight, is 3 percent above the previous year.

Veteran Pension Rates Increased

A recent increase of nearly ten percent in some Veterans Administration pension rates may prompt some Maryland veterans to take another look at the "improved" VA pension plan passed last year by Congress.

VA Regional Director John W. Rue said the rate increase under the newest veterans pension program is tied directly to a recent 9.9 percent increase in Social Security payments.

Nearly 432,000 veterans nationwide have asked the VA to switch their pension to the improved plan.

Mr. Rue reminded eligible veterans who haven't made up their minds whether to "stay put" or switch that they have only until October 1 to qualify for retroactive benefits.

The improved plan offers substantially higher pension rates than the old program, but changes in some income counted under the new plan may make it advisable for certain veterans to remain under their current plan.

In establishing the improved pension plan, Congress stipulated that veterans may switch to it at any time, but must do so before October 1 if they wish the higher rates it provides to take effect retroactively to January 1, 1979.

VA pensions are based on income and to eligible wartime veterans who are permanently and totally disabled from causes not traceable to their service, and who are in financial need.

Pensions are also paid to certain needy survivors of wartime veterans.

Under the new pension rates, a single veteran may receive a maximum pension of $3,902 a year, up from $2,364.

Because certain income that is ignored under the old plan is counted in computing eligibility for the improved plan, VA said some veterans will be better off not to switch plans.

In cases where it is not to the veteran's advantage to elect the new program, VA has been advising them to remain under the old pension program.

Surplus Of Dentists Expected By 1985

By 1985 the State of Maryland will have an oversupply of dentists to take care of its four million residents according to a dental manpower survey just completed by the Maryland State Dental Association.

Dr. Don-N Brotman, President of the (301-837-5852) MSDA said the survey will be one of the important subjects discussed at the 96th Annual Meeting of the group in Ocean City October 4-8 at Convention Hall and the Fontainebleu Hotel.

By 1985 it is estimated there will be 2700 general practitioners and specialists in the Free State with 2200 expected to be members of the MSDA according to Dr. Brotman.

An analysis of the survey indicates that at present there is an adequate number of dentists to provide services for all patients. However Dr. Brotman asserted "there is a maldistribution of these dentists many being located in areas where the demand for dental services is low and not enough dentists working in the sparsely settled sections of the state where the need for dental care is much greater."

Dr. Brotman said the five day meeting will include many workshops.

The President of the American Dental Association Dr. Joseph A. Cappuccio a former President of the Maryland Dental Association and Professor of Surgery at the University of Maryland College of Dentistry will be a principal speaker at the meeting.

The Maryland State Dental Association is made up of nine component chapters throughout the state. There are 2,000 members in the organization.

A brief meeting was held prior to the scheduled annual hayride and weiner roast. Due to the rainy night the hayride was brief and another ride was held on Sunday afternoon.

Pledges were led by Mike Tichnell and Tim Gordon.

The tractor and wagon were furnished by Earl Frazee, driver. Mrs. Evelyn Wildesen brought her electric grill to fix the hotdogs for the group.

Doug Frazee and Larry Tichnell motored to the State Fair to bring home the fair booth.

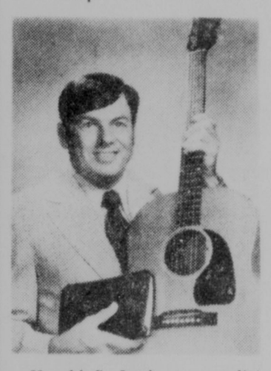
Harold S. Leake To Conduct Services At Baptist Church



Harold S. Leake, evangelist from North Carolina, will be preaching and singing at the Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church, 1005 Broad Ford Road, from October 1-7, at 7:30 p.m. each evening. He will present a series of original songs, accompanying himself on the guitar.

Evangelist Leake entered into the ministry as a teenager, conducting services in his early ministry in jails, tents, rest homes and on the street. He has served as a youth director in Sunday School and choir ministries and has been a pastor for nearly ten years in a growing missionary Baptist church in central North Carolina. He has also conducted radio broadcasts and offered services in more than 500 churches in 25 states. He is assisted in many meetings by his wife, Brenda, and their two children, Tom and Jenny.

John B. Schrimshire, pastor of Mt. Lake Independent Baptist Church, extends an invitation to the public.

This regular column provides citizens the opportunity to ask Congresswoman Byron any questions that happen to be on their mind. Inquiries should be sent, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Room 1216 LHOB, Washington, D. C. 20515.

How did you vote on the Foreign Aid Bill recently passed by the House?

I voted AGAINST the bill to appropriate $7.7 billion for foreign aid programs in fiscal 1980. I also voted to bar the use of any funds (direct or indirect) for Angola, Cambodia, Laos, Vietnam and Nicaragua.

What can be done to help small businesses overcome mountains of paperwork resulting from government regulations?

I thoroughly agree that there is still a need for greater government flexibility in dealing with small businesses, which is why I have introduced legislation which would apply federal regulations based on the size of business affected. Under the measure government agencies would be required to analyze the impact of any proposed rule on small firms. Depending on the findings small businesses might be exempted from particular regulations or have less burdensome standards applied to them. Small businessmen in Western and Central Maryland continually express their concerns to me about needless federal regulations and their inability to keep up with those that affect their operation. In most cases small companies are hindered in responding to federal rulings simply because they do not have the personnel or expertise to handle growth of bureaucratic red tape. The concept of regulatory flexibility is not new. Congress has long exempted certain small firms from the minimum wage and even OSHA treats large and small firms differently. The purpose of this bill is to require all federal agencies to exercise the same type of flexibility.

Why do you think Western Maryland would make a good site for a Synthetic Fuel Plant?

There are many reasons. Western Maryland has substantial coal reserves and is located in close proximity to additional supplies of coal in West Virginia. Excellent rail transportation access is available, as are adequate amounts of water. Furthermore, Allegany and Garrett Counties are both labor surplus areas and have sufficient resources of skilled manpower, housing, and other community services to support the development that would accompany a synthetic fuels plant.

Please explain your reasoning for supporting a curb on the export of cattle hides?

Our domestic leather goods industries are in jeopardy because our current export policy permits the overseas sale of 80 percent of our hide supply, resulting in a trade deficit in leather of $2.5 billion. Leather industries in our state are particularly hard hit. In Western Maryland there are at least a half-dozen leather-related industries — a tannery, shoe manufacturers and shoe retailers. Several of these plants have already experienced layoffs due to the competition from imports and many face extinction with the loss of several thousand jobs. I find it unconscionable that we continue an export policy that contributes to our trade deficit and our inflation rate. Because of it, the U. S., the world's major producer of cattle hides, is losing its domestic leather industries and will be forced to rely upon foreign suppliers of leather products.

State Delegation To Congress Said To Be Liberal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A national conservative organization has rated Maryland's congressional delegation as more liberal than the national average, while a conservation group says the same legislators have supported most energy and envirnmental matters.

The American Conservative Union's congressional ratings for votes taken between January and June show a spread within Maryland's delegation from Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., who scored a perfect 100 on the conservative chart, to Sen Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., who scored zero.

Overall, the delegation was given an average 43 percent rating — nearly 4 percentage points more liberal than the national delegation average of almost 47 percent.

In addition to Bauman, who is the American Conservative Union chairman, Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md., scored 96 percent, while the state's senior senator, Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., was rated for voting only 12 percent of the time on the conservative side.

Meanwhile, the League of Conservation Voters, a Washington-based environmental lobbying group, gave Maryland representative and senators a 66 rating on votes on environmental and energy issues. That's above the group's average rating of 49 for all delegations.

The League rated members on 30 different issues ranging from parks, dams and pollution to nuclear power.

According to the report, Maryland's voting pattern followed that of other Mid-Atlantic and Northeastern states, which the League said led the nation in voting on the conservation side of the envirnmental and energy issues.

New England delegation, for instance, averaged a rating of 69, while delegations from the Southwest averaged a rating of only 18.

The steering committee for the League is composed of leaders from national environmental organizations such as the Sierra Club, Environmental Policy Center, Friends of the Earth and the Natural Resources Defense Council.

The American Conservative Union is a citizens' lobby that claims membership of "hundreds of thousands of political conservatives throughout the nation."

It rated congress on votes on issues such as federal budget cuts, tax reduction, gas rationing, the creation of separate Department of Education, the implementation of the Panama Canal treaties, and lifting of sanctions against Rhodesia.

Alcohol probably affects in a harmful way more Americans than any other chemical substance known to man. Nearly 25,000 people are killed annually just in highway accidents involving the use of alcohol. In two years, that is equivalent to all the American soldiers who died in Vietnam for the entire duration of the war! It is considered by many to be one of the most dangerous drugs available today.

Between nine and 13 million Americans have such a serious problem with alcohol that they are said to have alcoholism. Alcoholism is defined as "a chronic disorder in which the individual is unable, for physical or psychological reasons, or both, to refrain from frequent consumption of alcohol in quantities sufficient to produce intoxication and, ultimately, injury to health and functioning."

Dr. E. M. Jollinek describes what appears to be a typical pattern for the development of alcoholism. The first phase is the "social drinking" phase. Drinking is at first infrequent but the effects of alcohol are significant. The person feels much better after a drink and soon begins to find more and more reasons to drink with increasing frequency. The next phase occurs when short memory lapses begin to occur. The alcoholic cannot remember an event which occurred the previous day. This occurs in the absence of extreme intoxication and does not involve the loss of consciousness. This phase may last several months to several years. Guilt over drinking develops but drinking more helps relieve this and a vicious cycle is started.

The next phase is a crucial one. The person drinks now until he is quite intoxicated and is too sick to drink any more. Episodes like this begin to repeat themselves and the person's spouse, friends, and employers begin to abandon the alcoholic. The person may attempt to gain control of his drinking but finds he cannot do it. Physical damage begins to result.

The last phase is the chronic phase. The addiction is now firmly established. The absence of alcohol is intolerable. Emotional response is abnormal and thinking processes are severely distorted. Hallucinations are common and physical damage is highly evident.

If you find yourself in any of these stages, get professional help. While treatment is often difficult, there are many methods available to help the alcoholic. But the first step must be taken by the person himself or by those who are close to him.

Columbia Gas To Begin Requiring Cash Deposits

Columbia Gas of Maryland will begin requiring cash deposits from applicants for gas service in this area October 1, according to a release from the company.

W.C. Deems, Lonaconing, area manager for the gas company, said any new customer or applicant who has established credit or who obtains a cosigner to guarantee payment of two months service will not be asked to make a cash deposit.

Mr. Deems pointed out that when a utility customer vacates his residence without paying his gas bill, or if a customer refuses to pay for service received, it doesn't mean the charges go uncollected. The company and independent collection agencies actively pursue the collection of these accounts.

"Historically," he said, "uncollected debt is included in the cost-of-service portion of all basic utility rates. That means the vast majority of Columbia customers who do take care of their obligations eventually pay about $3.75 per year for those who do not or cannot pay."

The manager said last year uncollectible debt from residential and commercial customers totaled more than $107,802. That was an increase of 78.8 percent over the 1977 figure. He said recent Public Service Commissioner-imposed moratoriums on winter shut-offs permit some customers to run up gas bills they never pay.

"To protect the vast majority of our customers who meet their obligations, we will require cash deposits equal to the cost of two months' average estimated annual gas consumption from new residential, commercial or industrial customers or applicants who do not have established credit," the manager said.

Deposits will be refunded, with interest, after 12 consecutive months of prompt gas-service payments. The deposits will earn six percent interest from the time the deposit is accepted by the company until returned to the customer, provided the deposit remains on file 90 days or longer.

The deposit procedure has been approved by the Maryland Public Service Commission.

Byron Seeking Synthetic Fuel Plant For Area

Rep. Beverly Byron confirmed this week that she has contacted the Energy Department (DOE) and the White House urging that Western Maryland be given full consideration as a potential site for a synthetic fuel plant.

"Western Maryland possesses outstanding assets for synthetic fuel development and I want DOE to cooperate with any local officials who are investigating the possibilities for such a plant in this area," Byron said.

"That is one of the reasons I sponsored congressional measures earlier this year to increase the production of coal and to get a program of synthetic fuel development underway," she said.

The 6th District Congresswoman indicated to federal officials that "Western Maryland has substantial coal reserves and is located in close proximity to additional supplies of coal in West Virginia."

"I also noted that excellent rail transportation access is available, as are adequate amounts of water.

"Furthermore, this is a labor surplus area with sufficient resources of skilled manpower and community services to support the immediate development of a project plant," she pointed out.

Byron said that she has been in contact with State Comptroller Louis Goldstein who first mentioned the idea and that she will continue to offer assistance to state and local government officials and "help cut through bureaucratic red tape if needed."

PET POINTERS

by jim willis

Intestinal parasites are a chronic problem with many pets, and worm medicines are some of the most common non-prescription pet medicines sold. These medicines may be more beneficial if pet owners understand some basic information about parasites and their control.

First, you should know that pets usually acquire worms from fecal material containing worm eggs, and from fleas carrying immature worms. Puppies may even be born with worms that migrated into the mother's womb. Pets do not automatically develop worms from eating sweets, milk or certain other foods.

Second, the symptoms of worm infestation can vary greatly, depending upon the type of parasite and the age of your dog or cat. Some pets with worms lose weight, become anemic and have dull coats or potbellies. Others show few signs, if any. Generally, young animals are more susceptible to the effects of internal parasites than older pets, which may develop some resistance to parasitic attacks.

Any pet that harbors a large number of parasites runs the risk of serious physical injury. Worms that travel from one organ to another damage tissues and interfere with the proper functioning of the body's systems. With heavy infestation, a critical amount of blood may be o[illegible] and young animals may die. Those that survive may be [illegible]ermanently stunted. Adult animals may become sluggish, [illegible]ave diarrhea and generally appear ill.

Your veterinarian can det[illegible]mine if worms are present by examining a fecal sample und[illegible] a microscope. He or she may also examine the area aroun[illegible] the pet's anus for rice-like particles that are tapeworm segments.

Worms are controlled b[illegible] medications given by mouth or by injection. Generally, two o[illegible] more doses are given, two to three weeks apart. The first tre[illegible]ment will kill the adult worms; the others will eliminate th[illegible] young worms that hatch from remaining eggs.

If you decide to tr[illegible]t the pet yourself, remember that a worm medicine is not [illegible] cure-all. Too many pet owners turn to this medication at the [illegible]rst sign of any sickness in their pets. A definite diagnosis of [illegible] worm problem is necessary if the medicine is to be effec[illegible]e. Vague symptoms such as fever or diarrhea are not p[illegible]itive signs of worm infections. Many individuals worsen t[illegible] situation by overdosing, or worming a pet that is sick for ano[illegible]er reason.

The common [illegible]ternal parasites found in pets include roundworms, hookwor[illegible]s, and tapeworms. These worms reside in the intestinal tract [illegible]nd rob cats and dogs of vital nutrients by feeding on in[illegible]stinal contents or drawing blood from the mucous mem[illegible]nes lining the intestinal walls.

Successfu[illegible] worm control procedures combine the use of a worming age[illegible] with a thorough cleaning of the animal's living quarters. C[illegible]k with your veterinarian regarding a disinfectant suitable fo[illegible]se in kennels and other pet areas. To help prevent reinfection[illegible] your pet, plan on regular removal of waste from litter pan[illegible] and runs, plus a flea control program.

Becau[illegible]e your pet can become infected with a wide variety of intern[illegible] parasites, and because identification of the parasite is necce[illegible]ary before treatment, I strongly suggest you consult your [illegible]eterinarian in order to establish a worming program for your [illegible] or dog.

BE SMART FROM THE START
A homeowner has a big investment. When the time comes to sell that home, it's mighty, mighty important that you sell right . . . to make sure the investment has been a good one.
If pocketing a broker's commission tempts you, ask yourself if you can afford to let an amateur manage a transaction that involves thousands of dollars: Your dollars! When you want a job done well, you call a specialist. This is standard practice for successful businessmen . . . why buck success?
Some people try to sell their own property, fail and then list it with a Realtor. In the meantime, they've let the best prospects slip through their fingers.
Believe me. List your home with a Realtor from the start and you'll realize as much if not more profit and fewer problems from the sale than if you try to do it on your own. Statistics have proven this over and over again.

Byron Co-Sponsors Tax Reform Bill

Rep. Beverly Byron has joined Rep. James Jones (D-Okla.) in introducing tax reform legislation which would stimulate additional growth investments by American industry and, in the process, create an estimated one million new jobs over the next five years.

Under the measure, current tax codes would be revamped to provide a streamlined and simplified system of rapid depreciation allowing businesses to take a 10-year writeoff for buildings, a 5-year writeoff for equipment and a 3-year writeoff for cars and trucks.

"Very simply, this bill will encourage business growth and expansion because the present depreciation laws are so complex that many small businessmen do not take advantage of them. As a result, they tie up their money in debt financing and have less funds available to purchase better and more efficient plant equipment," Byron said.

"Ultimately, this legislation will increase productivity and real wages, as well as establishing an estimated million new jobs by 1985.

"I want to stress that this is not an overnight solution to our stagnant economy, but rather, a long range attempt to stimulate capital investment and make the U. S. more competitive in world markets.

"Our nation's tax policies have discouraged new investments by American industry and this is one of the reasons we have sagging production rates, outdated production capacity and equipment, and have been unable to compete in many areas with other countries.

"In short, this measure will encourage increased production to meet demand, which will in turn create new employment opportunities," Byron concluded.

Loans Available For High-Moisture Corn, Sorgham

As part of a continuing program to help farmers save both energy and money, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) will make loans to farmers on corn and sorghum either acid-treated or stored in wet storage facilities.

Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland State ASCS Committee, said farmers no longer have to dry the grain to become eligible for farm-stored loans. "Any producer in compliance with feed grain program provisions will be eligible to apply for such corn and sorghum loans," he stated. The loans will be issued at a rate of 2.18 per bushel.

High-moisture corn and sorghum loans were first made available last fall in 10 states and 28 counties as part of a pilot program, according to Crowl. Farm fuel shortages and higher costs prompted the agency to expand the program nationwide.

"This program eliminates the drying requirement, resulting in an alternate technology that uses less energy but still preserves the crop for the feed use intended," Crowl said. Drying grain with liquid petroleum and natural gas requires large amounts of energy. Since much of the corn and sorghum stored on farms is fed to livestock, drying of these grains is not essential as moisture does not adversely affect the commodities for feed purposes.

Farmers interested in obtaining high-moisture corn and sorghum loans should call or visit the local County ASCS Office.

The SMITE Singers appear regularly with Jerry Falwell on the nationwide "Old-Time Gospel Hour" television broadcast, originating from Thomas Road Baptist Church in Lynchburg.

The concert will feature music, unique multi-media and audio-visual presentation. There is no admission charge and the public is invited. Refreshments will be served and a time of fellowship will follow the service.

Assessment Answers

Questions or letters of general interest on assessments and the property tax should be addressed to ASSESSMENT ANSWERS — JAMES BURLEY in care of this newspaer. They will be answered through this column to the extent that space allows.

Tax Credits Are Catching On

Q. What are the odds in receiving a homeowner's tax credit?

A. The odds are highly favorable, and they improve each year.

Better than eight of every ten homeowners who applied for a tax credit last year under the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program received some kind of a credit. The average dollar amount for those over sixty was $281.

This year, though complete figures are not available, it looks as though as many as nine out of ten will benefit in some way, and more people are applying.

Although the deadline was extended from September 1, 1979, to June 1, 1980, applications from homeowners in Baltimore City alone already exceed by 25 percent those for the entire past year.

The average City credit is considerably higher at $346, up $65 over last year's average. This can slice a sizeable chunk from an average $600 tax bill.

Benefits for the under sixty homeowners were made equal to the over sixty group and this, no doubt, accounts for the substantially higher credit amount this year. Moreover, there has been an extensive distribution of the applications through banks, libraries — even the supermarkets. And, more people are aware of the program.

The counties are also showing increases in the numbers applying and the credits, though more modest than those for the City, are larger. Applications are running about ten percent heavier in Baltimore and about seven percent greater in Montgomery. Throughout the rest of the State, they are averaging about six percent greater than last year.

No county is receiving fewer applications, but in Prince George's the number is not much larger than last year. This is probably accountable to the fact that the tax rate dropped dramatically. The credit program is engineered to protect homeowners from overly burdensome property taxes, and when the tax bill actually drops or remains the same, so does the credit, all other things being equal. When the tax bill increases, the credit, likewise, increases to offset this. This is how the program got its popular name, "Circuit Breaker."

So, homeowners who apply for a tax credit are getting one by a ratio of roughly eight to one. These odds are hard to beat. Remember this year the filing deadline has been extended from September 1, 1979, to June 1, 1980, but why postpone a good thing?

The 15% Homestead Credit Continues Through July, 1982

Q. Is the 15% cap on assessments still in effect?

A. The credit program for homesteads incurring an annual assessment increase greater than 15% was established as and continues to be a tax credit program. The popular interpretation of this law is that it is a cap on assessments. This is not so. It was never intended to be a lid on the assessment, as tempting as this approach might be.

The credit route was taken because it was believed that the uniformity of assessments provision of the Maryland Constitution limits the Legislature in imposing a statutory ceiling on assessments. Basically, the requirement is that assessments be uniform — the Constitution — and that they reflect true cash value — the Law.

Even the credit approach was under some question from the standpoint of constitutionality, but the legal opinion was that a credit program of limited duration would withstand any challenge. The feeling was that five years would not be excessive, but any further extension would be considered unconstitutional.

The law, as originally enacted in 1977, replaced the old 36% phase-in program for assessments and provided a 15% limitation for assessments used in county tax billing for the property tax years 1977/78 and 1978/79.

In 1978, the 15% credit program was extended for the 1979/80 year.

And, in 1979, the program was again extended for the 1980/81 and 1981/82 taxable years. Property tax years run from July through the following June to coincide with normal governmental fiscal years.

The law is sound to the extent that the formula upon which the credit is based protects homeowners who regularly receive annual assessment increases exceeding 15%.

The formula, as written, can result in an increase greater than 15% and explains the occasional "38% or 53%" occurrence. Such a situation results when there have been two, smaller, preceding assessment increases followed by a significant (greater than 15%) increase. But, even in these cases — rare in a time of constantly rising property values — the taxable increase would amount to no more than 15% on a prorated basis. The disadvantage is that it hits the homeowner all at once.

Maryland has shifted to a triennial cycle of reassessment which encompasses both a three-year phase in any increase and a limitation of the overall increase in full cash value. The effect of this will be to reduce annual increases in assessments and should largely negate the need for the 15% credit program since annual increases be considerably less than 15% from now on.

An Assessment Can Change Even If The Property Does Not Question:

When neither the property nor the neighborhood has changed, what justifies an increase in the assessment?

Answer:

To understand how the value of property and ultimately the assessment on it may change from year to year when there has been no ostensible change to the property itself nor to the neighborhood, one must consider the various elements necessary for value to exist.

In real estate, as in most any commodity — food, clothing, oil — it is generally agreed that three elements must be present for value to exist. These include utility, scarcity, and purchasing power. Without all three present to some degree, real estate does not have value in the monetary sense.

Utility means usefulness. Can the property be used for anything? All property has utility to a greater or lesser extent, and not coincidentally, all property has value to some extent.

Scarcity is also essential for value to exist. An object can have a high degree of utility, but if it exists in abundance, it will have very little monetary value. Oxygen, like water, has the greatest utility imaginable to life, but as long as it remains easily obtainable, it will not possess value in the sense that someone will pay out a sum of cash for it. Although a property possesses utility and is relatively scarce, it still does not have value until there is someone available with the ability to buy it. This is purchase power — the third element.

These three elements then are present in real estate and in any object which has value because the object can arouse a desire (utility) which is not freely obtained (scarcity) by someone who has the resources to acquire it (purchasing power).

Another ingredient, desire, is sometimes considered a fourth necessary element even though it is really present in the definitions of the three specified here.

The balance between the three elements is constantly changing for your property in relationship to the entire housing market. Therefore, the value of your property will also be in a constant state of flux. Your home possesses some degree of utility — bath, bedrooms, kitchen, carport — which creates desire in the minds of potential purchasers in accordance with its degree of scarcity (How many other similar homes are being offered?). If by some coincidence other owners of similar homes refuse to sell their homes at any price, the value of yours would increase drastically, even though you had not done a thing!

Value is not determined solely by what you do to your property, and neither is the assessment.

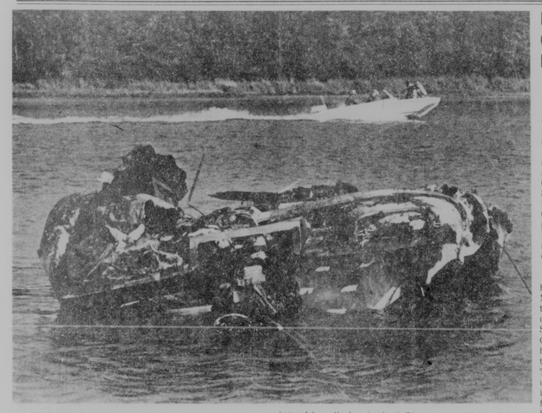
VOLUME 102 — OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1979 — PER COPY 25c



CHARRED REMAINS of the boat owned by Ibdawi I. Farraj rest close to shore after the fatal mishap which occurred Sunday near the Penn Point area of Deep Creek Lake. Mr. Farraj was believed drowned after he and his son, Michael, jumped from the burning boat. Divers are continuing efforts to locate the body of the 42-year-old Greensburg, Pa., man. See story.

Deep Creek Divers Continue Search For Missing Body

Scuba divers from the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company continued the search today for the body of a 42-year old Greensburg, Pa. man believed drowned in a boating accident Sunday at Deep Creek Lake.

Divers from the Maryland State Police left the county after ending their search at 6:00 p.m. Tuesday. Paul Sanders, 1st Sgt. of the Maryland State Police division in Garrett County, stated they expect the body to surface today. If not, state police divers will return Thursday to resume efforts to locate the body.

According to a police report Ibdawi Ibraham Farraj and his twenty-year old son Michael Ibdawi were fishing on the lake in the Holy Cross area off the Penn Point and Boy Scout Roads from a 29-foot Crestliner, Sunday, when the boat caught fire forcing the two to jump into the water. The son was able to stay afloat until he was rescued by a passing boat. By that time his father, who could not swim, had disappeared.

Divers from the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department began the search for the father Sunday evening. They were joined Monday in the search by the state police divers.

First Sergeant Sanders stated one problem in locating the man's body is the inability to pinpoint the exact location in the lake of the mishap.

Farraj's boat reportedly caught fire while he was in the cabin preparing a meal. His son, who was on the deck, later said his first indication of trouble was when his father came running from the cabin with his shirt in flames. Both men jumped overboard before the boat exploded and burst into flames.

The son tried to hold his father up in the water but the man started struggling and escaped his son's grasp.

The son was taken by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He was treated for first degree burns of the face and hands and released.

The boat, which was gutted by fire, broke apart in the water.

Besides the Deep Creek divers, others who responded to the scene Sunday were the Deer Park volunteer firemen, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, Robert H. Shimer; the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, and Department of Natural Resources police. The Maryland State Police also joined in the investigation and recovery attempts.

TELL ME WHERE IT HURTS — When members of the Southern Rescue Squad visited Broad Ford Elementary School recently, this young lady was enthralled by the intricacies of an ambulance. Pictured, EMT Barbara Swiger explains safety precautions, and how not to require the services of an ambulance.

Garrett Crossroads Completes Land Acquisition For Group Home

The Board of Directors of Garrett Crossroads, Inc. recently announced that the State of Maryland has completed its purchase of land, which has been earmarked for the construction of the first group home for mentally rewarded adults in Garrett County. Crossroads, Inc. had been designated by the Mental Retardation Administration as the private, non-profit corporation to operate the group home. The Board of Public Works approved this project in June, 1979, and the State Attorney General's office appointed W. Dwight Stover, a local attorney, to complete the land acquisition process.

With input and recommendations from Crossroads, Inc. the General Services administration has drawn up the building specifications for the project; which will be a stick built, barrier-free structure, encompassing passive solar energy features. The 2.66 acre site is located on Broad Ford Road within the town limits of Mountain Lake Park.

The facility will be a positive step towards decreasing the placement in institutions of mentally retarded Garrett County citizens who have no alternative living arrangement. The group home will be occupied by eight individuals; four persons currently residing in Garrett County and four Garrett Countians currently institutionalized. The home will be staffed by full time houseparents. Criteria established by the Mental Retardation administration requires each resident to be involved in either an employment, training, or educational program on a full time basis.

Several issues to be addressed by the Board of Directors are the definition of personnel policy, the establishment of admission, and the review of criteria and completion of the budget for furnishing the home. Garrett Crossroads, Inc. will participate in the bid selection for the project, and persons interested in receiving a bid packet containing the project's information should contact Marvin Terry, General Services Administration, 383-3190.

For further information regarding Garrett Crossroads, Inc., interested persons may write to: P. O. Box 6, Mountain Lake Park, MD 21550.

Noon Hour Blaze Guts Part of Barn On Jennings Road

The Bittinger and Grantsville Volunteer Fire Departments responded to a barn fire at approximately 12:20 p.m. Friday, September 21, on the Jennings Road.

Firemen had the fire under control within fifteen minutes after their arrival to the scene.

Dale Hill, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, reported that the cause of the fire was still under investigation.

Manor Mart Has Third Theft In Two Months

The Manor Mart in Mt. Lake Park was vandalized for the third time in two months this past Saturday, but this time thieves raided the hardware store taking $10,000 worth of guns and sporting goods.

Employees of the Manor Builder Supply, Inc. discovered the disappearance of the guns and sporting equipment and evidence of a breaking and entering Sunday at 10:00 a.m. when they reported for work. Thieves had apparently entered the store sometime after 9 p.m. Saturday night by breaking through a rear wall.

Maryland State Police, who responded to the scene, reported they are distributing serial numbers of the stolen guns throughout the state and neighboring states in an attempt to trace the guns and the thieves.

Previous larcenies at the Manor Mart had occurred in the Richfood store, adjacent to the Manor Building Supply Inc. which is owned by Edward and Kate Hanley.

Two Week Deadline Passes With No Word Of County Budget

The time has come and passed when county commissioners Lester Hunter and Truman Paugh stated they would have a final composite budget combining their ideas and those put forth by Commissioner Gregg, with still no mention of their final plan.

During their regular weekly meeting, September 11, the commissioners told department heads they would have a final budget within two weeks. This week, two weeks later, no mention of the budget was made during their Tuesday meeting, according to Commissioner Ernest Gregg. He noted that he was given three weeks to prepare his proposed budget and the other two commissioners have had his proposal three weeks.

The two commissioners could not be reached for comment.

Business that was discussed included a meeting with Herb McCrobie, administrator of the county roads, to discuss various road problems. He announced that the Casselman River Bridge Restoration Project will be completed within the next two weeks. Work had begun late in the summer of 1978 to restore the bridge. The project had been initiated by request of the state Historical Trust who obtained $223,000 in state funds and $80,000 in federal matching funds to restore the historic bridge.

Mr. McCrobie also told the commissioners that the new Bear Creek Bridge near Friendsville will be open to traffic Thursday, September 27.

Other matters discussed included the deteriorating condition of the bridge on the Chet Kelly Road. He noted that due to the lack of funds, the bridge, built in the 1920's, will be temporarily repaired.

The commissioners awarded the annual salt and ice bid to Cargill Salt Company. Mr. McCrobie later commented the county was fortunate to have a bid for the contract because neighboring counties had not received bids. He attributed the problem to the salt shortage in the United States caused by strikes, transportation problems and groups hoarding supplies.

In other business, the commissioners met with the board of trustees of the St. Paul's United Methodist Church to renegotiate rental of the church's parking space. No final action was taken in this matter.

Clerk's Office To Begin Move To New Annex

Offices of the Clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court will be moved to a new location next Tuesday - Thursday, October 2-4.

With the help of professional movers, the Circuit Court personnel will relocate furniture, equipment and 107 years of county records to an office space on the first floor of the new addition at the rear of the courthouse.

Clifford DeWitt, Circuit Court Clerk, stated the office will maintain regular office hours during the move.

The County Treasurer's office is scheduled to begin relocation Friday, October 5.

SMITH & ROBERTS, with Dusty Brown on bass, will be performing during the 12th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. The local group will appear at the Southern High School Gymnasium on Saturday, October 13, with Stella Parton. Two shows are scheduled with the first to begin at 7:00 p.m., and the second at 9:30 p.m. The music of Rob Smith and Keith Roberts is a combination of acoustic, country, bluegrass and rock 'n roll. They are best known locally for their original songs "Garrett County Grapevine" and "Garrett County Times" which aired over local radio stations. For tickets and information persons should contact Festival Headquarters at the Courthouse, Oakland, 334-3888.

Friends Aware Awarded Grant

Friends Aware has been awarded a $31,250 grant from the Maryland Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

The grant is designed to benefit the Western Maryland members of Wes-Pen-Mar, which is a consortium of sheltered workshops in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Workshops directly served will be Friends Aware's Work Development Program, Appalachian Adult Workshop, Garrett County; Hagerstown Goodwill Industries, Inc., and its branch, Cumberland Goodwill Industries.

These shops train and employ handicapped residents of Western Maryland.

The goals of the grant are to increase the work available for each employee and to increase the cooperation among the four participating agencies. In order to accomplish this, a consultant and work contract procurement specialist will be hired by Friends Aware in consultation with Wes-Pen-Mar. The specialist will be based at Friends Aware, but will serve the four workshops equally.

Presently the following agencies are active members of the Wes-Pen-Mar Consortium: Hagerstown Goodwill Industries, Inc. and its branch, Cumberland Goodwill Industries; Friends Aware, Inc. and the Work Development Project in Cumberland; the Appalachian Adult Activities Center in Oakland; the Eastern Panhandle Training Center in Martinsburg; the Randolph County Sheltered Workshop, Elkins; Preston County Sheltered Workshop, Kingwood; and the Potomac Valley Sheltered Workshop, Keyser.

During the past year the consortium has sponsored seminars in wage and hour administration as well as potential employment opportunities available through the National Industries for the Severely Handicapped.

State Trooper Nabs Escapee

An Oakland man who had escaped from Oakland Police last week while enroute to the Allegany County Jail was apprehended by Maryland State Police Friday.

Police said Danny Stemple, 25, had been charged with an alleged narcotics violation and, while being transported to Cumberland, had escaped from Oakland town policeman Frank Wilkins.

Police added the subject was reportedly seen in the Big Savage area Friday. Tfc. Daniel E. Tharp, Maryland State Police, was called to the area and apprehended Stemple while he was walking eastbound along Rt. 48.

Man Found Guilty Of Three Charges In District Court

Judge Lewis R. Jones ordered a presentence investigation of an Alexandria, Virginia man who was found guilty on three charges in the Garrett County District Court Tuesday, September 18.

Joseph A. Pannuty pleaded not guilty to the charges of battery, assault, and possession of a deadly weapon but was convicted on all three. Pannuty had been arrested July 31, approximately two weeks after Clarence Mellinger, Sr., Oakland, reported he had been the victim of an assault and battery by Pannuty on July 8.

In other court cases, the charge of false pretenses - bad check against Mary Kisner, Mt. Lake Park, were nolle prosequi. The charge had been filed by Sylvia Moore, Crellin.

During a preliminary hearing Judge Jones found there was probable cause to believe that John Miller, Mt. Lake Park, was guilty of two charges made by Deputy Martin Van Evans. Miller will be tried for the charges of first degree rape and first degree sex offense.

Civil Defense Looks Out For Country's Safety

CIVIL DEFENSE DAY PROCLAIMED — George Comp, Civil Defense director in Garrett County, and County Commissioner Ernie Gregg attended an emergency preparedness seminar September 13-14, in Pikesville. During that seminar they received a proclamation for the county by Maryland Governor Harry Hughes designating September 14 as Civil Defense Day.

By Beverly J. Sincell

Someone is looking out for the welfare of Garrett County citizens in ways seldom considered. That someone is Civil Defense director George Comp.

Mr. Comp was looking out for the county when Skylab entered the earth's atmosphere — there was actually a time when experts thought it would land in this part of the world. Mr. Comp was looking out for Garrett County when Hurricane David was wrecking the east coast. And, Mr. Comp was looking out for Garrett County when radiation leaked out of the Three Mile Island nuclear plant. In all three instances, Garrett County passed through the crisis fairly unscathed, but if the county had not been so lucky what would have happened?

These types of concerns are all a part of Mr. Comp's job. When a catastrophe, either manmade or natural, strikes the county endangering the lives of the residents, he is the one trained to direct activity, to make sure all efforts to handle the crisis are organized and effective. But his job was not always like this.

Civil Defense was first recognized as a legitimate governmental function in the 1950's in the wake of World War II and the waging of the Cold War. Actually, Mr. Comp says civil defense was first instituted in the United States when the early settlers set up the first stockades for protection against Indian attacks. Until the 1960's, Civil Defense personnel were to be concerned only with preparing communities for nuclear attacks. As Mr. Comp says they were military-minded. During the presidency's of Richard Nixon and Gerald Ford, Civil Defense took on a new direction. Civil Defense personnel were to become more involved in emergency preparedness for all types of disasters. To Mr. Comp, Civil Defense became "closer to the people and closer to reality." Under President Carter, Civil Defense has been grouped with five other agencies under the title of Public Service. Some of the other agencies are the Farmers' Home Administration, the Fire Protection Association and Housing and Urban Development.

Civil Defense, says Mr. Comp, is better described as a coordinating and training agency. In the event of a major disaster, Mr. Comp coordinates such groups as the rescue squads, fire departments and police for more effective handling of the situation. In all, he would alert and assemble 34 different departments in the county.

His department also sponsors training programs, such as the three classes in radiological monitoring to be offered this fall. Mr. Comp has a department of one, himself, in Garrett County but he receives much help from volunteers through the county. For instance, there are 20 stations set up in the county for radiological monitoring which are manned by volunteers. Mr. Comp tries to have four people close to each location. Though there is no need to monitor radiation daily, those persons do maintain a regular schedule of checks. These persons also participate in a yearly staged statewide emergency.

Civil Defense has been involved in providing the county with rescue equipment. The county snowblowers were obtained through Civil Defense. Mr. Comp stated there are 39 active pieces of equipment used throughout the county by rescue squads and fire departments. Civil Defense has also helped to supply seven federal sirens in the county.

Civil Defense, says Mr. Comp, could not be successful without volunteers. "Civil Defense is people," he said. But, he also says that Civil Defense is a hard idea to sell. "You can't sell anything to people when they can't believe in it."

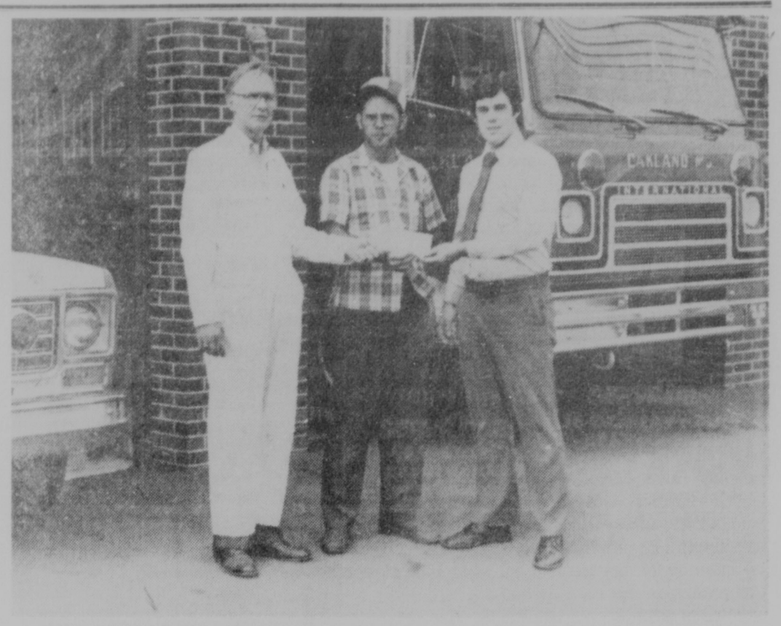
People in Garrett County never seem to become too excited when disaster threatens nearby areas, stated Mr. Comp. He talked about the lack of excitement over Skylab or Three Mile Island. He indicated that isolation of Garrett County tends to breed a feeling of immunity from certain threats.

Yet, Garrett County could be very vulnerable. The county would not be a prime target area in a time of war, Mr. Comp explained, but Pittsburgh would. If a — megaton bomb were dropped on Pittsburgh and if weather conditions were right, radiation fallout could begin to filter into the county in three hours — it could spread across the entire county in five hours. Emergency measures, would have to be well plotted in advance to cope with that type of emergency quickly.

And Mr. Comp does have emergency plans for the county, not just in the event of a nuclear attack but also in the event of a severe winter blizzard. He was even involved in emergency measures taken during the gasoline shortage in 1973. His concern is "100 percent public safety and welfare."

In an effort to honor Mr. Comp and others like him, Governor Harry Hughes proclaimed September 14 as Civil Defense Day. In his proclamation, he commended the Maryland Department of Civil Defense and Disaster Preparedness Organization for performing its "mission in an outstanding manner." The organization "has performed valuable services for citizens of Maryland through timely and effective coordination of emergency response in threatening situations throughout the state."

For George Comp, Civil Defense is a mission of emergency preparedness to safeguard the health and safety of people; for the people, Civil Defense is similar to having a guardian angel.



MEATY DONATION — Browning's Foodland Inc., recently donated two halves of beef to two local service organizations. One half went to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the other was awarded to the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Both organizations will use the donations for fund raising projects. Davis Couple Celebrates 65th

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd F. Winters, Davis, W. Va., was the scene of a family reunion Sunday, September 2. The highlight of the day was a renewal of their wedding vows by Mr. and Mrs. Winters in honor of their 65th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Winters, a native of Miller, and Mrs. Winters, the former Margaret L. Lewis of Frostburg, were married on September 6, 1914 in Frostburg by the late Rev. Lewis George, pastor of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Winters were treated to a drive around Davis in the volunteer fire truck.

Those in attendance from Garrett County were: Mr. and Mrs. Vane Iden, Larry Iden, fiance Dorian Friend and children, Rebecca and James Iden, all of Deer Park; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Iden and children, Gregory and Kelli, McHenry; Mr. and Mrs. Stanely Martin and children, Cristy and Jason, Mt. Games People Play . . .

Most people like to play games - board games, card games, word games, guessing games, athletic games, party games - all of which are fun and usually harmless. However, a few people like to play other little games that, to them, may seem fun and harmless, but can create a dangerous situation for a lot of innocent people.

Last evening Garrett Central Alarm received a call from the latter such game player who stated that there was an auto accident at the intersection of U. S. Routes 219 and 50 at Red House and that the car was in flames. Garrett Central immediately dispatched two vehicles and crews from the Southern Rescue Squad and a pumper and crew from the Oakland Fire Department. State and county police were also sent to the scene.

When fire and rescue personnel arrived however, there was no sign of an accident. The call was a malicious false alarm.

The number of persons unknowingly involved in the devious little game was probably in the neighborhood of three dozen. The instigator probably never thought that the outcome of his game could have been a tragedy. Fortunately, in this case, it was not.

The possibility of accidents is always increased considerably when persons must rush to respond to an emergency situation. Fire personnel in particular are most subject to severe injury, just in responding to an alarm.

Besides the possibility of injury, there are many other ugly side effects of this type of game. It creates a terrible waste of valuable time and money. It causes unwarranted, unnecessary anxiety, not only for those responding to the alleged accident, but also for those persons who hear about the alarm and may know of family or friends who could possibly be involved in the accident. Finally, such a game is against the law and the penalty for breaking this law is severe. Unfortunately, it is extremely difficult to apprehend the person responsible.

Playing games with people's lives rates among the lowest forms of activity.

Letters to the Editor

REMINDER— Anonymous letters to the editor will not be printed. However, requests to have names withheld will be honored. Letters should not exceed 300 words. Only the first 300 words of letters exceeding that limit will be printed.

Editor:

First, I want to tell the people who read this letter that regardless of statements appearing in this paper last week, I haven't talked with Commissioner Gregg, even once, during the past three months, and if I had it would make no difference. Commissioner Gregg is acting on his own initiative. I believe this is not the case with the other two Commissioners.

It is plain to any observer that Gregg's Court House enemies are trying to hold on to their high salaries and their power. They feel that Gregg is a threat to them and they would like to get rid of him.

They are searching for some kind of a fish story that might distract the people's attention from their Court House Caper, their lobbying before the Commissioners, their waste of public money for foolish feasibility studies, their land speculations, etc.

The job holders and the lobbyists have all been invited to appear before Paugh and Hunter and state their objections again, and again, to any tax reductions. In most cases their services are not vital to the county and we would be better off if they were to resign.

In the meantime, several weeks have passed since the Court ordered the Commissioners to make up another budget that would meet the requirements of the Constant Tax Yield Law. Commissioner Gregg did prepare a budget that might meet the requirements. Paugh and Hunter, however seem to lack the competence and the resolution to make any decisions unless, and until, the Hamilton appointed bureaucrats tell them what to do. They did file an appeal which is paramount to a law suit against the taxpayers.

I presume that in spite of the Court order they are continuing to operate on a budget that is unlawful, making unlawful payments therefrom.

Clifford Friend,
Accident

Editor:

School has begun, (more or less). Fall is here and this being the last week of September every person in Preston County knows that it is time for that gala event known as the Buckwheat Festival. Parades, rides, exhibits and buckwheat cakes draw thousands every year. But, as time will tell, those parades could turn into riots, exhibits into exhibitions, and oh yes, those famous buckwheat cakes may not even be baked if that flour from New York doesn't arrive in time. And by the way, I think extra parking space should be considered in case the Pegan Motorcycle Gang decides to make another appearance in the county, but this time only to help these Prestonians instead of hindering them (Such tasks would probably consist of escorting dignitaries and taking care of funds). In case, they will probably need a place to stay, so why not let them camp on the new Civic Center floor (After all, it should be good for something!).

So, possibly Mr. Chairman, this week in your fair (or unfair) city, I suggest that a sign should be erected simply stating:

Enter At Your Own Risk!

Thank you,
A concerned citizen of Preston County

Dear Mr. Sincell:

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County appreciates the continuing concern The Republican has shown for the county's budget problems and its willingness to publish citizens' concerns. The article about our meeting with the Commissioners did, however, contain a major error. The League has no consensus position and has done no study on the Development Corporation. Our study of the problems of county growth resulted in a consensus position which supports planning and zoning for the orderly development of Garrett County.

The question raised in connection with the Development Corporation asked how the Commissioners could justify eliminating an agency designed to bring jobs to Garrett County when other counties are being so successful in this type of activity and when Garrett County has a high rate of unemployment.

It was pointed out several times at the meeting that a tax cut this year may result in larger increases in later years when neglected necessary services must be brought up to standard.

Most of the questions and discussion pointed to the difficulty of finding places to cut the budget without cutting needed services. Unfortunately, all citizens want lower taxes, but we also want good schools and roads, clean water, and many other things to which county government contributes.

Each decision needs to be made with consideration of its ultimate effect on the citizens of the county. Open and frank public discussions of county needs will lead to a more informed citizenry and to input from citizens with a variety of views. We hope that this will be a continuing process not reserved for times of crisis.

Dorothy B. Leighton
President, League of Women Voters of Garrett County

Dear Editor:

As a concerned citizen of this county, I am disgusted at what I hear and read about local politics. A good example of my disgust is found in last week's (Sept. 19th) "Letters to the Editor."

Mr. Sines attempted to discredit someone's opinion by labeling him a "Johnny-come-lately," inferring that lifelong residence in the county was a prerequisite for intelligent participation in local politics.

Mr. Friend referred to a local college professor, and by association to the whole college, as "excessive dead weight on the taxpayers." Does this line of reasoning mean that all public institutions of higher education are unnecessary? The very fabric of American democracy is built upon the principle of an informed, intelligent citizenry.

The Archer's base remark about the "leeches that have infested Garrett County" is the oldest tactic in the dirty politics book — name calling when you are unable to support a rational argument.

Then we read the response to Ex-Senator Friend's previous letter by the distinguished members of the Development Corporation who claim a gross distortion of facts about who was responsible for attracting Bausch and Lomb to Garrett County. Who's right?

Also, Mr. Carstens tell us that Mr. Gregg "told the judge he knew his actions were illegal" with regard to work on the budget process. Of course we all remember the opinion rendered by Judge Thayer on the tax increase, also illegal.

What a messy, shabby affair all this has been from the start. And what has the name calling, in-fighting, power mongering, and myoptic reasoning gotten the citizens of Garrett County? How about chaos, dissention, a few dollars less in taxes and someone from Howard County. I, for one, am entirely willing to pay extra tax dollars if it would get rid of the other three.

George R. Dailey

KEYNOTE SPEAKER — John Ryor, immediate past president of the 1.8 million member National Education Association, was the keynote speaker last Friday evening at the Allegany County Teacher's Association Leadership Training Workshop held at the Village Inn, McHenry. As president and previously as a member of the NEA Constitutional Revision Committee and of the NEA Executive Committee, Ryor was a major political force in redirecting policies and procedures of the nation's largest professional association. He was the first NEA President elected to a two-year term in 1975, and the first to be re-elected to the office in 1977. Several Garrett County teachers attended the program at the invitation of the Allegany County Teachers' Association.

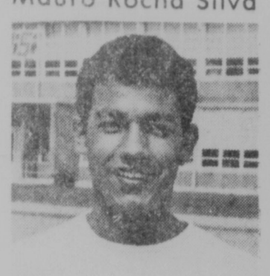
Earl Clark Family Hosts AFS Student, Mauro Rocha Silva

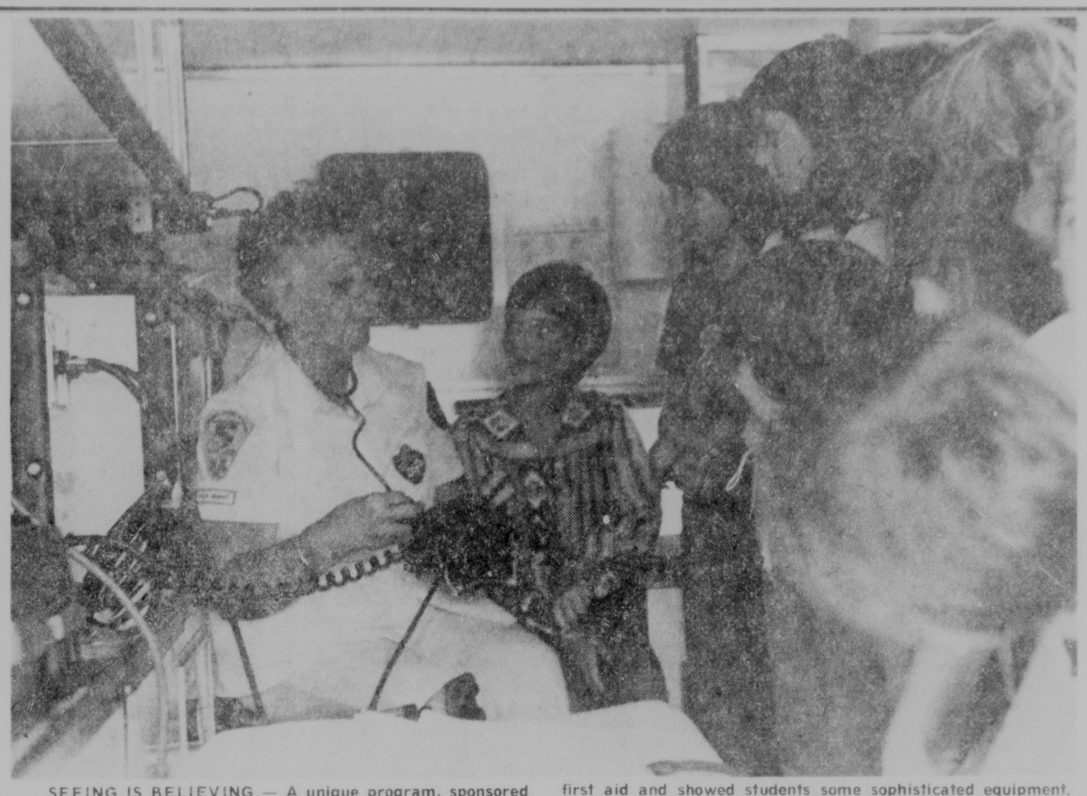


Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clark and family, Red House, are hosting a student from Brazil this year as part of the American Field Services program, foreign exchange service based in New York City.

Mauro Rocha Silva, 17, met his host family in the Pittsburgh bus station Friday, August 31. He had flown by plane from Brazil to New York City and after a brief orientation period, rode a bus to Pittsburgh.

The two daughters and three sons of Earl Clark will be Mauro's American brothers and sisters during his one-year stay in Garrett County. In his Brazilian family, in Sao Paulo, Mauro is the youngest of eight children.

Mauro is attending Southern High School this year as a senior student; two of his classes are in English.



SEEING IS BELIEVING — A unique program, sponsored by the Broad Ford Elementary School PTA, brought in local county agencies and allowed students to have a hands-on experience while hearing important safety tips "straight from the horse's mouth." On September 12 the Garrett County Sheriff's Department paid the children a visit. Later, Southern Rescue Squad came in on September 18 and explained basic first aid and showed students some sophisticated equipment. The next day, the Oakland Fire Department conducted a program. As a result of the safety programs, a slogan and poster contest is being sponsored. Pictured above, Barbara Swiger, an EMT, explains how a blood pressure cuff operates. Below, Southern Rescue Squad president, Frank Eberly, explains first aid to a gang of attentive youngsters.

Annual Road Rally Slated

The Garrett Organization for Retarded Citizens will sponsor the Second Annual Autumn Glory Road Rally on Sunday, October 14. The Road Rally will be limited to the first 52 cars registered. Registration will be from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the Southern High School parking lot. A nominal registration fee will be charged and the first car will be sent off at 11 a.m. The theme for this year's Road Rally is a "Poker Rally."

Each registered car, with both a driver and a navigator, will be issued a set of instructions that will direct the Rally participants from the starting point, through three checkpoints, and to the final destination point. At each of these locations, the Road Rally participants will draw one card from a deck of playing cards. The three winning cars will be the holders of the best poker hand at the end of the Rally.

Gift certificates for gasoline will be presented to the first three placed cars. Charlotte Griffith, Road Rally Chairperson, explains that the Road Rally route encompasses both scenic and historic areas of the county, and that parents are encouraged to allow their children to participate with them.

The Garrett Organization for Retarded Citizens will again be emphasizing that road and automobile safety rules and procedures be observed by the Road Rally participants.

According to Charlotte Griffith, all the proceeds from the Road Rally will be used by the Garrett Organization for Retarded Citizens to fund its activities in assisting the mentally impaired citizens of Garrett County to receive services that will help them become more productive members of society and to lessen the severity of their handicap.

Persons desiring more information about the Road Rally, or those interested in working with the rally, should contact Ms. Griffith at 334-8111 or 895-5050.

BELL DEDICATED — The congregation of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland held a brief service Sunday prior to regular worship to dedicate the brass bell which was hung in a tower on the front lawn of the church last week. The bell had hung in the old church building of St. Mark's from 1906 until the building was razed in 1977. Restoration work on the bell, which amounted to several hundred hours of labor, was performed and donated by George Scheffel, of Allegany Machine Welding. Mr. Scheffel is pictured above ringing the bell during the dedication service.

After Six Years West Virginia Man Arrested Saturday

A man wanted by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department for the past six years was arrested last Saturday evening at the Hill Tavern, Rt. 39.

The Sheriff's department received a call Saturday that Claude Franklin Rodeheaver of Corinth, W. Va. was at the bar. Deputy Donald Tucker, Tfc. William Rice and Tfc. Larry Smith arrested Rodeheaver with a six-year-old warrant charging him with assault and battery and tampering with a motor vehicle.

The alleged offenses for which the 28-year-old Rodeheaver had been charged occurred in 1973. The tampering with a motor vehicle was said to have been committed on August 14, 1973 and the assault and battery on August 14, 1973.

Youth Charged With Larceny Is Acquitted

A 16-year-old Friendsville boy was acquitted of larceny after a trial in Allegany County Juvenile Court Thursday.

The boy was accused of the theft of $300 from the pants pocket of a man who was trying on a new suit in Heinrich's Store in LaVale Plaza.

After the state's case was presented by Robert W. Hamilton, deputy state's attorney, Ralph M. Burnett, the boy's attorney moved for judgment of acquittal, which was granted by Associate Judge James S. Getty. Witnesses said the boy was in the LaVale store with his parents on August 24, but no evidence was presented concerning the actual theft.

Governing Body Of HSA Meets

The Governing Body of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland met on September 19 at the Sheraton Motor Inn, Hagerstown. Dr. J. Steven Skupas, Chairman, presided.

The Governing Body accepted its State and Federal Certification Advisory Committee's recommendation for approval of Cumberland Memorial Hospital's Application for Certificate of Need, with the following condition: that the Hospital agrees to consider modification of its project in accordance with the findings of the HSAWM Task Forces on Shared Services and Acute Care Bed Needs, provided that those findings are reported to and accepted by the HSAWM Governing Body prior to completion of the project design/development phase.

Cumberland Memorial Hospital's Expansion and Renovation project is for modernization of the existing facility, including replacement of nearly all of the original building; and construction of a new patient tower and an ancillary services building on the present hospital site, as well as a new 330 space parking garage on adjacent land. It will result in an overall decrease of 1 bed from the current capacity of 274. The estimated cost of the project is $39,944,000.

William B. Landis, Executive Director of the Maryland Health Planning and Development Agency in Baltimore, described to the Governing Body the Certificate of Need (CON) project process and the concept of the hospital revenue goal.

Other advisory committee activities approved by the Governing Body included: the resignation of Mr. Carl V. Strayhorn, Executive Director; the Risk Reduction Education Project submitted by the Health Education Center of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (cost-$260,503); the State Plan for Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants, and Children submitted by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (cost-$12,406,564); and the Appalachian Adult Activity Center Grant Application submitted by the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. (Cost-$40,977).

Dr. Steven Skupas, Chairman, stressed the need for additional consumer members to serve on the Body's advisory committee from each of the four counties.

The next Governing Body meeting will be held on October 17 at 1 p.m. at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

Those members present from Garrett County were Mrs. Marilyn J. Filemyr, Mr. Edgar H. Harman, Mr. Ross B. James and Mrs. Pamela J. Nelson.

Oakland Firemen Respond To Two False Alarms

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department responded to two false alarms in Loch Lynn Tuesday called in by residents who were more than a little worried about a great quantity of smoke rolling into their homes.

The department was called at 11:20 a.m. to H. E. Rhodes' home on First Avenue and at 4:45 p.m. to a trailer owned by Etta Jones on Shenandoah Avenue.

Charles Tressler, Loch Lynn's mayor, stated the alarm was unfounded. He said the smoke was part of a test conducted Tuesday to detect leakage points in the community's sewer system.

He explained the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc. had forewarned residents of the test by either talking directly to them or leaving a note at their homes.

The smoke test is one way to detect unwanted drainage into a sewer system. Holes are detected in a system by sending smoke through the sewer lines. Points of smoke seepage are considered holes or cracks in the sewer line. The reason the smoke had filled some of the homes was because it had found a direct hole in the sewer — an uncovered drainage pipe.

Oakland firefighters were also called at 1:57 p.m. to Third Street at the town hall after a county roads pickup truck caught fire. The truck sustained minor damage.

District Court Judge Fines Oakland Woman $50 In Theft Case

Judge Lewis R. Jones found an Oakland woman guilty of theft in Garrett County District Court Tuesday, September 25.

Ethel Grace Glotfelty was fined $50 plus court costs. She had been arrested August 11 at Brownings Foodland after Detective Linda J. Conn, complainant, observed her attempting to leave the store with stolen items.

Also in District Court Tuesday, Judge Jones found Michael O. Davis, Rawlings, not guilty of two charges, battery and trespass — wanton, filed by Howard L. Davis, Swanton.

The charge of malicious destruction of the property of another against Regina Kaseluris, Friendsville, was nolle prosequi. Complainant was Christina Capel, Friendsville.

The charge of battery made by Lisa R. Neratka, Oakland, against Stanley Neratka, Jr., Oakland, was nolle prosequi.

Huskies Suffer First Loss, Stopped By Valley, 2-0

By Todd Liller

Question: Which of the following sports did Valley and Northern play last Saturday at Northern? a) Baseball b) Soccer c) Football.

Answer: That's right. Northern and Valley did play football, and the Black Knights squeaked by the Huskies 2-0, a score more indicative of a baseball game or soccer match. The game's only score came in the fourth period when Vic Clark tackled Huskie quarterback Greg Carr in the end zone for a safety.

Neither team could generate much offense, although Northern led in total offense 135 yards to 98. In fact, the Huskies mounted the only two serious scoring threats in the game.

In the second frame, Northern drove the ball to the Valley two, but a missed field goal nullified the drive. Then in the third quarter, Coach Jack Settle's Huskies marched to the one-foot line, but they fumbled and Valley recovered.

In the fourth period, Valley's Joe Lewis unleashed a 60-yard punt to Northern's two yard line. On the next play, Clark blitzed through the line and tackled Carr for the game's only points.

Northern's Galen Kamp led all ball carriers with 84 yards on 23 carries.

The Huskies and Black Knights both show identical 2-1 ledgers now.

Settle said, "It was disheartening for our boys to outplay them and lose. Valley blitzed a lot and we just couldn't break the long one. We did everything right except win. I'm sure the kids won't let the loss destroy them for the Bruce game."

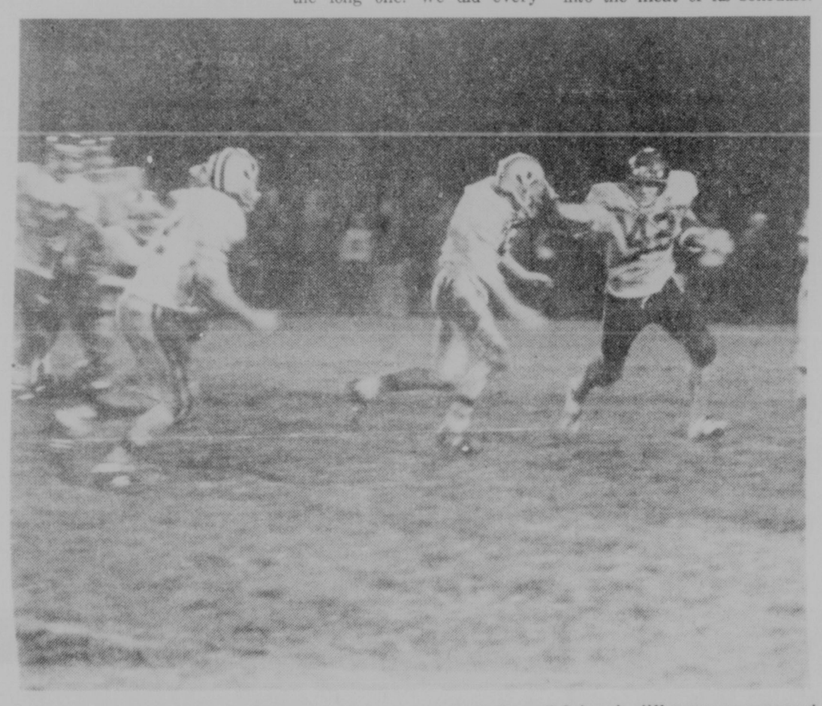
SCOUTING REPORT

Northern will take to the road for the first of six consecutive away games when they travel to Westernport Friday night to play the Bruce Bulldogs (1-2) in a 7:30 clash. After a season opening 10-0 win over Elk Garden, Bruce has fallen on hard times of late, losing to Keyser 48-0 and Southern 46-7. Settle said, "We look for Bruce to show a new offensive look, possibly running out of the I-formation."

HUSKIE HIGHLIGHTS

Kamp failed in his bid for his third straight 100 yard game. None-the-less, he has rushed for 327 yards and five touchdowns so far this year . . . Against Valley, Gary Bauman averaged 47 yards on seven punts, including a boot of 66 yards . . . The Huskie defensive wall and linebackers did an exceptional job in stopping the Black Knight offense . . . After Bruce, Northern runs into the meat of its schedule. They will face Shade, Beall, Central Preston, and Meyersdale in succession.



OUT OF MY WAY! — Northern Huskie running back Darrell Schrock stiff arms an opponent from Valley of Lonaconing in Saturday night's game as the Huskies suffered their first loss of the season, 2-0. Also identifiable in the photo for Northern is #52, Mark Diehl. See story.

TOUCHDOWN! — Oakland Jet Joey Matthews, of the Mt. Top Youth Football League, drags three defenders across the goal line during a Sunday afternoon contest between the Jets and the Terra Alta Dolphins on the Southern High field. The Jets won the game, 21-13. Also identifiable in the photo are, for the Jets, #37 Dave Smith and #33 Anthony Andrews. Members of the Dolphins which are identifiable are #12 Mike Feather, #30 Clinton Bolyard, and #60 Eugene Paugh.

Youth Football League Summary

The Oakland Raiders remain in first place in the Mt. Top Youth Football League with a 3-0 record. Tied for second are the Grantsville Colts, the Oakland Jets and the Friendsville Steelers, all with records of — 1-1. The Terra Alta Dolphins are last in the standings with a 0-3 record.

In league action Sunday on the Southern High field the Raiders scored a narrow victory over the Colts, 7-6, and the Jets defeated the Dolphins, 20-13.

Games scheduled for this Sunday at the Northern High field will pit the Dolphins against the Steelers and the Jets against the Colts. The first game will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Punt, Pass, Kick Competition Set

The annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition, sponsored by Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc., will be held this Saturday, September 29, at 9 a.m., at the Southern High field.

Youth from age 8-13, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may still register for the competition at Shaffer Ford in Oakland.

Southern JVs Whip Bulldogs

Wade Dever rushed for an incredible 212 yards to lead the Southern JV team to an 18-8 victory over their hosts, the Bruce Bulldogs Monday afternoon. One of Dever's carries was good for a 73-yard score.

Roy Upole and Todd Lewis scored on runs from scrimmage of seven yards and one yard, respectively, to account for the remainder of the Rams scoring.

B. B. Ludwig tallied the only TD for Bruce on a 54-yard r from scrimmage and a pa play from Brian Cueva Ludwig was good for the tw point conversion.

GCC Adds Women's Volleyball

This year a new intercollegiate sport for women athletes has been added to the Athletic Program of Garrett Community College. This 1979 season will mark the first time that Women's Intercollegiate Volleyball has been available at a Western Maryland Community College.

In view of the rising participation in Volleyball on the high school level in Garrett and Allegany Counties, this new sports offering will significantly broaden the athletic opportunities available to lady athletes in the area. The addition of Women's Volleyball at Garrett rounds out a complete Intercollegiate Sports Program already consisting of Men's Basketball and Baseball, and Women's Basketball.

The team is coached by Mike Friend, a graduate student at Frostburg State College and Director of the local Campus Life Program. While Friend admits that, "it's hard to be real optimistic about our prospects for a winning season this year, it is very encouraging to work with the dedicated athletes who are part of this year's team." He also believes a foundation will be established upon which a successful program can be built.

Friend also notes that "Garrett has not softened its scheduling of opponents to try to acquire more wins. The only way to build a quality program is to compete against quality opponents, and Garrett will do just that."

As a member of Region XX of the NJCAA, Garrett will compete against other Community Colleges as well as against four-year institutions. As an example, Friend points out that "during the first week of the season, we will compete against Frostburg State, Alderson-Broaddus, Potomac State, Anne Arundel Community College, and Dundalk Community College."

The team roster consists of four freshmen and five sophomores. The freshmen are Maureen McCormick, Charleroi, PA; Kim Trickett, a graduate of Southern High; Sharon Lipscomb, a graduate of Northern High; and Chris Shaffer, a Southern High graduate and captain of this year's team. Sharon, Kim, and Chris, were all honored with the MVP award for their high school performance in volleyball.

Friend sums up his outlook for the season by saying, "Our biggest problem is a lack of depth on the team, along with a lack of height in our spikers, and a general lack of experience as a team. However, as the season progresses, we could surprise a lot of people if we get a few breaks and a lot of good luck. Certainly we will have a solid and very talented group of returning players next year, and if we are able to recruit a good number of the area athletes available from high school we will begin to establish a winning outlook relatively early in our building phase."

Local Garrett fans are encouraged to support this newest aspect of the Athletic Program.

Potomac Edison Now Offers A Uniform Monthly Payment Plan
For All Residential Customers
Pay eleven equal monthly electric bills with year-end adjustment

The majority of our customers are billed every other month for their electricity and pay the total amount of that bill when it is received.

However, all residential customers may now choose to be billed under our monthly "Uniform Payment Plan."

Under this plan, we estimate the total annual charges for your electric service and determine from this your "monthly payment" amount. You then receive an electric bill for the same amount every month, thus leveling out seasonally high bills.

If at the end of a twelve month period, your charges for electric service actually used total to less than you have paid, we will either credit your account or, if you prefer, refund the difference to you. Should these charges be more than you have paid, we will bill you for the difference.

To get more information about our uniform payment plan, just call or stop in at your nearest Potomac Edison office.

Rams Capture Third Win By Crushing Bruce, 46-7

By Todd Liller

Five different players scored touchdowns and Southern amassed 427 yards total offense as the Rams rolled to their third consecutive victory, a 46-7 whitewashing of Bruce last Saturday at Southern. Jeff Hinebaugh, Doug Devlin, Wayne Scott, Steve Bolding, and Ron Bosley all reached paydirt, with Hinebaugh crossing the goal line twice.

The Yardstick

Bosley, who started at tailback for the injured Paul Cornish, opened the scoring with a 50-yard run in the first quarter. Bolding followed with a 55-yard touchdown gallop in the second quarter and then Delbert Liller hit Devlin with a 13-yard scoring strike, also in the second quarter. The Liller to Devlin combination was good for two conversions that put the Rams ahead 22-0 at the half.

Scott took a 45-yard pass from Liller in the third stanza for Southern's fourth touchdown. Hinebaugh closed the Rams' heavy offensive arsenal with runs of eight and 45 yards. Liller connected for three more two-point conversions, two to Devlin, and one to George Scheffel.

Bruce avoided a shutout when Chris Metcalfe scampered 13 yards late in the fourth period.

Bosley gained 127 yards on 17 carries, Hinebaugh 91 on 10, and Bolding 88 on 10 totes. Southern's aerial circus featured Liller hitting on 10 of 14 passes for 96 yards.

Dave Goldsborough, Ted Wolf, and Hinebaugh were the mainstays of the defense that limited Bruce to 84 yards rushing on 31 carries.

Coach Tom Woods said, "We were very well pleased with Delbert's passing and the yardage Jeff Hinebaugh piled up as fullback. We proved to ourselves that we could play without Paul (Cornish)."

SCOUTING REPORT

Southern travels to Musselman Friday night for their first away game of the year, the Appleman hosting the Rams at 8:00. Musselman (2-1) returns seven starters on offense and six on defense from last year's squad. They also return a kicker who made first team All-State last year. Woods said, "This might be our toughest game to date. They will be a real test for our kids."

RAM RAMBLINGS

Liller continues to perform brilliantly at quarterback. In three games, he has completed 17 of 27 passes for 200 yards. . . The Rams are averaging just under 31 points per game while limiting the opposition to less than seven per game. . . With Cornish sidelined, Bosley (freshman) and Bolding (sophomore) have gained valuable game experience . . . The Cornish knee injury is a day-to-day situation. Ram brass said a decision will be made Friday as to whether he'll play against Musselman. . . Even though playing conditions were horrendous for the Bruce game, there was only one fumble the whole night.

Jack Nichlaus has won the Masters Tournament five times.

Sheila R. Dunham

A Mountain Lake Park girl is among about 15,000 high school seniors across the United States who are semi-finalists in the 25th annual National Merit Scholarship Corporation competition.

Sheila R. Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Neil Dunham, entered the competition by taking the 1978 preliminary scholastic aptitude test/national merit scholarship qualifying test as a high school junior. Finalists in the competition will be announced next spring and will be awarded merit scholarships. About 4,300 of the 15,000 will be named finalists.

A senior at Southern High School Ms. Dunham is among approximately 300 Maryland high school seniors included in the semi-finalist list. Semi-finalists are the students who scored highest in their respective states and who represented less than half of one percent of each state's secondary school seniors.

In order to qualify as a finalist, the semi-finalists must achieve or surpass their 1978 preliminary test scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, which will be administered this November.

Ms. Dunham is president of the school chapter of the American Field Service, a member of the Girls' Athletic Association, Highlander yearbook staff photographer, member of the Coin Club and Quill and Scroll.

She is listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students and Society of Distinguished American High School Students. Last year she was her school's delegate to the Maryland Junior Science and Humanities Symposium in Baltimore.

Ms. Dunham hopes to pursue a career in computer systems work by majoring in computer science in either Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh or Cornell University in Ithaica, N.Y.

An Oakland man became the victim of a hit and run accident Sunday, September 16 on the Elkins-Oakland Rd.

James A. Finch was southbound on U.S. Rt. 219 in a Ford F-150 truck when an unidentified vehicle sideswiped the truck forcing it into a culvert on the southbound shoulder. The truck continued moving and struck several guardrails along the road.

The back left tire, the right side and the undercarriage was damaged on the truck which was towed to Walt's Amoco.

Finch was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by a passing motorist where he was treated for injuries. He was released from the hospital two days later.

Vandals Strip Light Bar Off Town Police Car

The Oakland Police were reminded they weren't immune from vandalism this weekend when they discovered a light bar had been stolen off of their spare police car.

The light bar, valued at $440, was stolen sometime Saturday night off of the vehicle which was parked at the C&M Pontiac Garage. Police are investigating the incident.

The Oakland Police also received the report of a missing dog belonging to Fred Thayer, Oakland. The dog, a black and white beagle with brown in its face, was discovered to be missing Tuesday morning by sons of Goble Jessup, Oakland, who are caring for the dogs while the Thayers are out-of-town. Police determined the rope which had tied the dog in its pen had been cut.

County Jobless Rate Increases

The state unemployment rate experienced a slight rise from 5.8 percent in June to 5.9 percent in July, according to the most recent figures released by the Maryland Department of Human Resources.

DHR's statistics show that the increase in the unemployment rate, which is comparable to last July's rate of 5.8 percent, was due primarily to vacation layoffs and to normal seasonal declines in trade and government employment.

The jobless rate in Western Maryland, which is composed of Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington Counties, jumped from 7.1 to 8.2 percent. Garrett County's rate increased from 9.2 to 10.3 percent, with 1,193 persons unemployed out of a total work force of 11,553. Garrett County's rate is the third highest among the 23 counties and Baltimore City.

The unemployment rate for the Baltimore Metropolitan area also remained virtually the same as last month. In July the rate was 6.4 percent of the labor force, a climb of only one tenth of one percent from June's 6.2 percent.

Sheriff's Department Investigates Thefts, Property Destruction

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is investigating four larcenies and five destruction of property cases reported this past week.

A vehicle, stolen on the night of September 22, was found the following afternoon stripped of two front tires, the left front tire hub, the CB radio, and 8-track tape player and destroyed by fire. The vehicle, a Chevrolet Blazer, had been parked on Mt. Zion and Sharpless Road by owner Mark Duckworth, Swanton on his way to work. When Duckworth returned the next morning at 1:30 a.m., his vehicle was gone. The Blazer was later found at the Limestone Quarry near Swanton.

The Sheriff's Department also received a report of a breaking and entering and larceny of Southern States in Grantsville on the Springs Road during the night of Friday 21. Entry had been gained into the store by forcing the front door open with a type of prying tool. Items missing from the store were a Stihl saw and several watches. The approximate loss value was $193.

Two related larcenies occurred sometime between the night of September 18 and early morning of the 19th on a strip mine at Blooming Rose. Several batteries, with an estimated value of $255, were taken from equipment of the Smeltzer Augering Service. Also taken was a five gallon gas can full of fuel oil, property of the Bare Coal Company. Damage was done to a 100 foot section of six inch rubber water hose also belonging to Bare Coal Company. Estimated loss value was $263.

Sandra Thomas, Accident, reported a breaking and entering and larceny which occurred in her home sometime on September 21. Missing was a diamond necklace valued at $300. Apparently entry had been gained through an unlocked window.

An attempted robbery and destruction of property occurred September 22 at the Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop in the gas station office. Three white males had been spotted in the vicinity close to the time of the offense. Vandals had broken the glass in the front door of the station and attempted entry into the cash register.

Destruction of Property reports included a broken glass in a door at the Highlander Center in Accident which happened September 22. Nothing had been disturbed inside the building.

Asplundh Tree Expert Company reported a side window had been broken out of a company vehicle parked in Loch Lynn, sometime during the night of September 17 or early morning of the 18th.

Douglas Rausch reported a destruction of property to his mailbox along Rt. 219 near Sand Flat. Loss value was at $17.

Another destruction of property involved damage to a hayfield, belonging to Harold Bittinger, on the Fairview Church Road. Apparently someone had driven a motor vehicle in the field September 21.

County Planning Board To Meet Next Wednesday

A new policy regarding use of the Deep Creek State Park boat ramp is among items to be on the agenda during the Garrett County Planning Commission meeting Wednesday, October 3, at 2:00 p.m. in the commission's meeting room, 323 East Oak Street, Oakland.

The policy instituted at the state park this past summer had been questioned by the planning commission in June because it restricted use of the park's boat ramp to registered campers. The commission believed the policy violated the original intention of the boat ramp which was to allow area residents free use of the ramp. The Maryland Park Service had set the policy in response to concerns of lake businessmen that the state was competing with them.

The commission plans to hear testimony from George Brodak, his lawyer, and a planning expert concerning his request to rezone.

Others matters to be on the commission's agenda include the Department of Natural Resources' interest in a discussion of the Department of Natural Resources' interest in a land acquisition on Backbone Mountain.

A progress report on the concession facility for Herrington Manor State Park will be made.

The commission will discuss a draft of the revised county grading ordinance.

Another item of business will be continuation of the commission's work to revise the county plan.

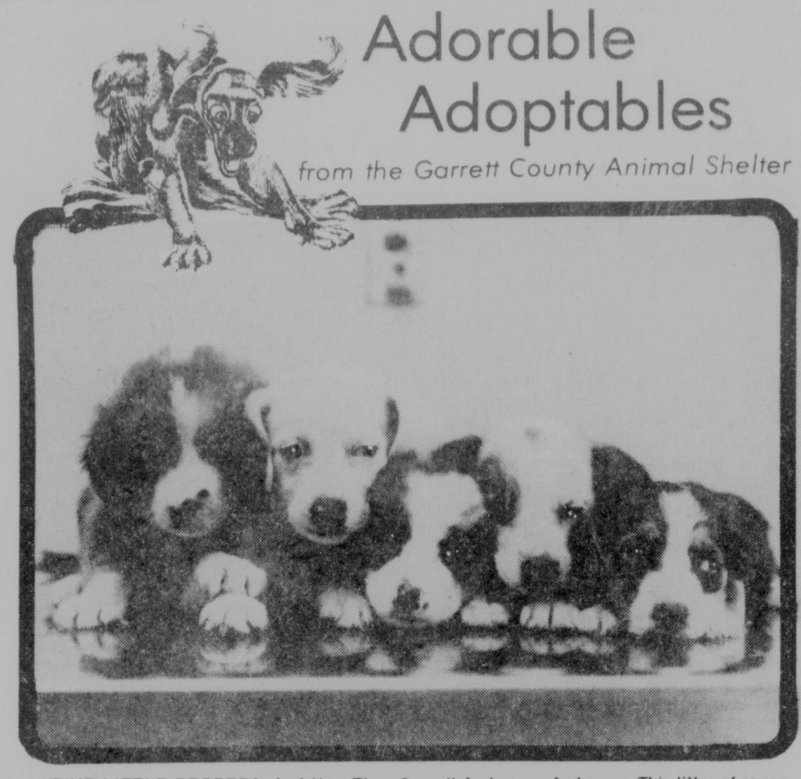
Adorable Adoptables

from the Garrett County Animal Shelter



"FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS, And How They Grew." And grew. And grew. This litter of seven-week-old Collie-Beagle mixtures lines up for inspection at the county Animal Shelter. While their form is a little erratic, they certainly can't be faulted on cuteness. In case you have trouble deliberating among the three males and two females, just remember that five can live as cheaply as one. The pups are available at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, 334-3553. Last week's Adorable Adoptable went to Connie Rohrbaugh.

THE STEEPLEJACK

Look closely . . . in this picture a man is risking his life!

An old and respected trade is his. It had its beginning centuries ago when Christianity first began to express its devotion in unique forms of architecture. How could Christians proclaim constantly their faith in Christ? How could they lift the eyes of others to behold the Lord of Life?

Soon, over gabled village roofs rose gleaming spires. And men who tilled the fields, and men who trod the lanes, rejoiced to behold the symbol of Faith.

Then one day cities replaced villages . . . skyscrapers dwarfed the spires of God. And so, on the day this picture was taken, ten thousand people passed by and never raised their eyes. Only a few looked upward and thought in mild surprise, "Why, isn't that a man way up there on the steeple?"

Yes. A MAN. One of hundreds of millions whose skill and courage continue to be needed as the Church fulfills its mission.

Maybe your church doesn't have a steeple. But it has a task to challenge your skills . . . your courage.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

STRANGE VISIONS

Lesson for September 30, 1979

Background Scripture: Daniel 7 through 8; Revelation 4
Devotional Reading: Revelation 21:1-7

The ancient Hebrews saw God revealed in the events of their national history. Jesus used simple stories to reveal the most profound truths about God and his Kingdom. Sometimes, in the Bible, however, we find still another medium of revelation that is difficult to understand and subject to great confusion and controversy. This kind of writing is called "apocalyptic."

Rev. Althouse

There are two books in the Bible which are apocalyptic writing, Daniel and Revelation. It is often assumed that these books were intended to be mysterious puzzles that can be deciphered only by those most enlightened. Both have been the battlegrounds of countless speculations and disputes. Regarding these books as too obscure and esoteric, many Christians avoid them.

The Dreams Of Daniel

Actually, however, the term apocalypse means "revelation," indicating that the purpose of this type of literature is not to hide or confuse, but to revplain. The problem is that the language employed in these books seems to be quite beyond the comprehension of the common reader, Hardheaded and pragmatic as most of us are, the apocalyptic visions leave us baffled.

If, however, we realize that the language of the apocalyptic books is very much like the imagery of our dreams, then we can begin to understand how these visions can speak to us today. Not only are these images like our dreams, but the writer of Daniel tells us plainly: "In the first year of Belshazzar . . ., Daniel had a dream and visions of his head as he lay in his bed. Then he wrote down the dream, and told the sum of the matter" (7:1).

From our study of the interpretation of dreams we have found that if we would understand the meaning of a dream, we must look behind the confusing imagery to find the message. If, for example, we dream that we are running down a sidewalk that goes nowhere, we know that the dream is about neither sidewalks or running, but about our unconscious feeling that we are "going nowhere in life." If we get too hung-up on the images, we may miss the dream's message.

For Ever And Ever

So it may be with apocalypses in the Bible: the message is often clear enough if we do not get hung-up on the images. If we read them with that in mind, it becomes evident that both are messages of hope to people who are in the midst of dark times. They are dreamlike messages that would help us to see beyond the horizon of the present and behold the ultimate victory of God. As Daniel puts it, "the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom for ever, for ever and ever" (7:18).

The language of the Bible's apocalyptic books may not be everyone's cup of tea, but the message behind those visions is one of assurance for all who would trust and persevere in God.

YOUR PHYSICIAN KNOWS BEST

Because you know a physician has to spend so many years at a medical school and internship in a hospital that he has knowledge about diseases and their treatment that you could not know. Because, when everyone but a physician selects a medicine to take, they usually do not treat the cause of the trouble but only try to stop the pain or discomfort.

Similar symptoms are often present in differing medical problems. A physician, aided by new diagnostic techniques, x-rays, urinalysis, etc., can find out what is causing your trouble and prescribe the one particular medicine he decides is best for you. That is why, if self-treatments do not help immediately, it is wise to go to a physician before a possible serious disease can develop.

BROWN BAG LUNCH SAFETY

Beware of the "brown bag blues." If you carry perishable food in your lunch and do not refrigerate it prior to consumption, you could get a case of foodborne illness. The critical time which such food can go without refrigeration is two hours. Perishable food held unrefrigerated beyond two hours may possess large numbers of harmful bacteria.

Consuming the mishandled food can result in headaches, cramps, nausea, diarrhea and fever. Symptoms usually develop within 12-24 hours and last two or more days.

This potential problem is spreading as more persons carry their lunch in a brown bag or lunch box to save money. Major items of concern are: meat, poultry and fish products, as well as potato, macaroni and egg salad. All of these items should be stored in a refrigerator until eaten.

Here are some tips to follow in helping to prevent food spoilage and possible sickness from brown bag lunches:

*Use thermos bottles to keep hot foods hot or cold foods cold.

*Carry a frozen bag or can of water or chemicals in your lunch pail to keep meat and salads cold.

*Thoroughly cook all meat and poultry and refrigerate after preparation.

*Clean hands, countertops and utensils when preparing lunches.

*Use foods such as hard cheese, peanut butter and hard cooked eggs which do not spoil quickly in packed lunches.

*Place your lunch in a refrigerator at your place of work if at all possible.

FOOD NOTES

The price of meat is so high that thoughts of a sizzling steak from your charcoal grill may only seem like a dream. Actually, it can become a reality if you try an economical USDA Prime or Choice Blade Chuck Steak.

Blade Chuck is an economical steak that varies in tenderness. The "first cut" is the most tender, but contains more waste. It lies next to the rib cuts and contains some of the tender rib eye muscle. This "first cut" has a long, straight, narrow fat bone.

If a blade chuck cut has a short bone (shaped like a number 7 backwards), the chuck is less tender, because that cut comes from near the neck and shoulder muscles that get more exercise causing the meat to be less tender.

When preparing the blade chuck, you will get much better results if you start with a nice thick steak. Use your chuck blade steak with the following delicious steak:

ZIPPY BLADE STEAK

1 beef blade steak, cut ¾ inch thick
3 T. soy sauce
3 T. vinegar
2 T. salad oil
2 T. catsup
1 clove garlic

Combine soy sauce, vinegar, oil, catsup, and garlic. Place in utility dish or plastic bag and pour marinade over it, turning to coat. Cover dish or tie bag securly and marinate in refrigerator 6 hours or overnight, turn at least once. Remove steak from marinade and place on rack in broiler pan or on grill over ash-covered coals, so surface of meat is 4 inches from heat. Broil 7-10 minutes on each side, depending upon degree of doneness desired (rare or medium), brushing occasionally with marinade.

Serves 2 to 4.

ONE IN THE SPIRIT will appear at the Laurel Run Church of God, Friendsville, this Sunday, September 30, at 6:30 p.m. The trio has been conducting revivals, concerts and providing music for youth rallies and conventions for almost four years. The public is invited to this special service.

Bolden On Reagan Committee

The formation of the Maryland Reagan for President Committee was announced Monday in Baltimore by Maryland Reagan Chairman Don Devine, 1978 Republican nominee for Maryland Comptroller.

Stressing Ronald Reagan's electability, Devine noted, "Governor Reagan runs strongest against all potential Democratic opponents. And he has increased his margin over time." Devine added that Reagan leads his closest Republican active competitor by 28 percentage points.

Devine told reporters and a group of Reagan supporters that the Maryland Reagan for President Steering Committee consists of well over one hundred Maryland Republicans. Included are Delegates DeCorsey E. Bolden, Thomas W. Chamberlain, Sr., and Ellen R. Saurbrey, State's Attorneys Thomas E. Hickman and Basil Wadkovsky, and fully one quarter of the Republican Party Central Committee.

Devine explained that a major effort will be made in Maryland by the Reagan campaign. He emphasized the broad-based Republican support for Reagan in Maryland, and released a leadership list showing the depth of the organization, which is already organized at the county and legislative district level.

Reagan's official announcement will occur before the end of 1979. His national committee is headed by Senator Paul Laxalt of Nevada.

Size Of Welfare Checks May Double

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Monthly checks for welfare recipients in Maryland could nearly double if the state decides to base the standard of need formula on yearly family budget figures listed in a recent report.

A consultant's report to the Governor's Commission on Welfare Grants lists annual low income budgets for a family of four in Baltimore between $7,752 to $9,912.

Welfare payments in the state are based on a $3,768 a year budget. Monthly payments for a family of four are $294.

The commission has until November 1 to upgrade the standard of need formula to compute welfare payments. The consultant's report offered no recommendations about changes.

The current welfare standard, set in 1972, is based on the 1969 poverty level even though the Consumer Price Index has doubled since then.

Maryland Recycled Paper Purchasing Program Successful

The State of Maryland has recently purchased 100,000 reams of recycled bond paper, containing 80% post-consumer waste. This is the largest purchase of high content recycled paper by any government on any level, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

This purchase, combined with the 36,000 reams of recycled bond paper purchased in Fiscal Year 1978, and the 123,000 reams purchased in Fiscal 1979, brings the total purchase to 259,200 reams since the passage of House Bill 153 in 1977. These purchases have saved approximately 22 billion BTU's of energy, or enough to heat about 196 homes. Additionally about 648 tons of waste paper have been removed from the solid waste stream, and about 11,000 trees have become available for use in housing, or as an energy source. Further, the recycled paper has been less expensive than #1 bond, saving the state nearly $17,000. There has been no loss of quality; the recycled bond has been used for typing, duplicating and print shop work.

In addition to the state program, nine local governments in Maryland are also using recycled paper in their operations. They are Howard County, Anne Arundel County, Baltimore County, Prince George's County, Montgomery County, Annapolis, Berlin, Denton and St. Michaels.

Band Uniform Fund Remains Short Of Goal

The Southern Highlander Marching Band is still approximately $6,000 short of its goal for the purchase of new uniforms, according to Ben Ridder, chairman of the New Uniform committee for the Southern Band Boosters. The Boosters have been conducting various fund raising projects over the past several months in an effort to make this goal. Total cost of the new uniforms is approximately $21,000.

In an effort to help reduce the $6,000 deficit, Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy plans to donate 10% of all cash sales on Sunday, September 30, to the Band Boosters.

Mr. Ridder also stated that chance tickets for an Hawaiian vacation for two are still available for $10 each and may be purchased from any band or Band Booster member. He also stated that the annual Band Calendar campaign is also underway. Listings on the calendars may be purchased for $.25 each and calendars are $1.25. Advertising space may also be purchased.

PET PCINTERS

Why should a pet be vaccinated?

Basically, vaccination is one method of preventing disease. The pet receiving a particular type of vaccination is protected against developing a specific disease for a period of time, and temporarily cannot pass that particular infection to other animals. Vaccination provides some degree of protection to the entire pet population by reducing the numbers of animals that can spread a disease.

There are several major canine diseases — rabies, distemper, hepatitis, leptospirosis, and kennel cough — that can be controlled by vaccination. Rabies is the most serious from a public health point of view, because it is a potentially fatal disease that is transmissable to human beings. All warm-blooded pets are susceptible. Your dog can contract rabies from an infected pet or a number of wild animals, including rats, raccoons or skunks.

Direct pet-to-pet contact isn't required for the transmission of all infectious pet diseases. Some, such as distemper or hepatitis, can be spread by virus particles present in the air or urine. Once established, these two diseases are very difficult to treat. As viral infections, they do not respond to antibiotics, and may open the way for secondary infections.

Cat owners sometimes mistakenly believe that indoor living will protect their pets from contamination. Unfortunately, the organisms that cause major feline diseases can easily float through the air and into the home. Feline distemper virus, for instance, is remarkably resistant, and may survive for as long as a year at room temperature. The recommended method of protecting cats against respiratory infections, rabies and distemper is annual vaccination.

As alternatives to vaccination that protect pets against viral diseases are limited, more pets are being vaccinated each year. Veterinary research has developed combination vaccines to reduce the number of injections a pet must receive during one year. Dogs routinely receive distemper, hepatitis and leptospirosis protection in the same injection. More complete protection is provided by new products that include kennel cough and parainfluenza coverage.

One bonus of a regular vaccination program for your pet is the temporary protection provided to puppies or kittens born of a vaccinated female. If a pregnant pet has an up-to-date vaccination at the time of delivery, she transfers her maternal immunity to her offspring, protecting them for approximately six weeks. At that time, the transferred protection against distemper and other disease begins to fade, and you should discuss an ongoing vaccination program for the puppies or kittens with your veterinarian.

ABC Dominates Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI) — ABC raced to an early lead in the 1979-80 television season — which isn't surprising since the network was the only one out of the starting gate.

The No. 1 network got a week's jump on its rivals by premiering shows starting September 10, while CBS and NBC began their premiers September 17 — except for a few early starters.

The result was ABC shows took 10 of the top 11 places in the ratings (there was a tie for tenth place, so this week it's the top 11 instead of the top 10).

While ABC is expected to continue in the top spot, its margin of victory should be cut when competing against something besides reruns (including a disappointing showing for "Holocaust" on NBC) and the occasional special.

The only non-ABC show in the top 11 was CBS's "60 Minutes" in 9th place, and even that wasn't great news for CBS because ABC's news magazine, "20-20," came in fourth. "20-20" last week was devoted to Geraldo Rivera's investigative reporting on the death of Elvis Presley.

Best news for ABC was provided by "Benson," the "Soap" spinoff starring Robert Guillaume, which came in sixth. Bad news for the network was "Out of the Blue," which came in last on a list of 57 shows, and "New Kind of Family," which tied for 53rd. CBS was right down there, too, in 55th with its new "Working Stiffs" and 56th with "Bad News Bears," the networks double entry for Saturday night.

If the nation's television critics are getting too big for their typewriters, the audience cut them down to size, too. On Sunday night, viewers chose to watch the almost universally panned "The 10th Month" on CBS, rather than "Annie Hall" on ABC or "Bob Hope: The Road to China" on NBC.

For NBC, the bad news was that it could not air a program that ranked higher than 24th in the ratings. The good news was that despite being blanked in the first 23 slots, it scored respectably with "Real People" in 24th, which garnered a 31 percent share of the audience in its time period. "Real People" is a show NBC chief Fred Silverman has been boosting.

"Different Strokes," another Silverman product, came in 29th but managed a 32 percent share of the audience.

TV PEOPLE

Robert Guillaume

Robert Guillaume, the keen-witted butler named Benson on ABC's "Soap," has graduated to starring in his own comedy series, "Benson," also on ABC. It's a natural progression for the talented Guillaume, whose portrayal of Benson as the only thoroughly sane adult in the entire Tate household has endeared him to millions of TV viewers.

This week Guillaume stars as a washed-up second baseman who sells refreshments in the stands to be near the game, in a re-make of the 1953 classic, "The Kid From Left Field." His son, played with verve by Gary Colman, guides the San Diego Padres from a disastrous season to the World Series. The NBC special, to air Sunday, Sept. 30, was filmed on location at the San Diego Stadium.

Born and raised in St. Louis, Mo., Guillaume received his first musical influences when serving as an altar boy.

He dabbled in musical productions in high school, but when he entered St. Louis University he decided on a career in business administration. It wasn't until he transferred to Washington University that he met his first important career influence, voice teacher Leslie Chabay.

Chabay saw in Guillaume an important classical singer and was instrumental in arranging a scholarship for him to a music festival in Aspen, Colo. In Aspen Guillaume was heard by Russell and Rowena Jelliffe, founders of the Karamu Theater in Cleveland. He apprenticed at Karamu and performed in operas and musicals. When Guillaume made his debut as Billy Bigelow in "Carousel," he was applauded by none other than Oscar Hammerstein. Guillaume has been performing steadily ever since.

Guillaume received a Tony Award nomination as best actor in a musical for his role as Nathan Detroit in "Guys and Dolls." Among his other Broadway roles were the leads in "Purlie" and "Golden Boy." He has appeared in many other stage plays, including "Kwamina," "Tambourines to Glory," "Othello," "Porgy and Bess," "Finians's Rainbow," and "Jacques Brel." He also appeared in "Don Juan" at the Goodman Theatre in Chicago.

Television credits include "Dinah," "Mel and Susan Together," "Rich Little's Washington Follies," "Mike Douglas," "Jim Nabors," "Merv Griffin," "All in the Family," "Sanford and Son," "The Jeffersons," "Marcus Welby, M.D." and "S'Wonderful, S'Marvelous, S'Gershwin."

Guillaume is the father of two sons, Kevin and Jacques.

He has a home in New York and, when in California, lives in the Hollywood hills in a Spanish-style house.

His hobbies include playing the piano, the guitar and writing.

Hobbies become habit for Hollywood folk

By ANNE THAYER

Some show-folk have hobbies that they are turning into what could almost be called second careers.

Needlepoint and cooking both rate high. Since celebrities have famous names going for them, as well as energy, some have already spun off a how-to book or two. Publishers are waving contracts at the holdouts.

Among the nimble-fingered needle-workers, who have also had their names displayed on book racks are Sylvia Sidney, Mary Martin and Rosey Grier, the ex-football player.

Ms. Martin — who will star in her first TV drama later this year — is also a painter and has a deal with a major fabric firm to design lively florals for sheets.

Hollywood's most publicized cook, of course, is Danny Kaye. The caliber of his Chinese meals is so professional he has won praise from the Guide Michelin people.

Tom "Billy Jack" Laughlin's wife, actress Delores Taylor, is the prize cook of her pal group. She says, "Tom couldn't understand why I wanted two stoves. Everybody else out our way just has electricity. I wanted gas, too. Well wouldn't you know it? The very day we moved in there was a blackout." So when Tom called from the studio, Dody's way of saying, "I told you so," was to ask, "Guess which family will have dinner on the table tonight?"

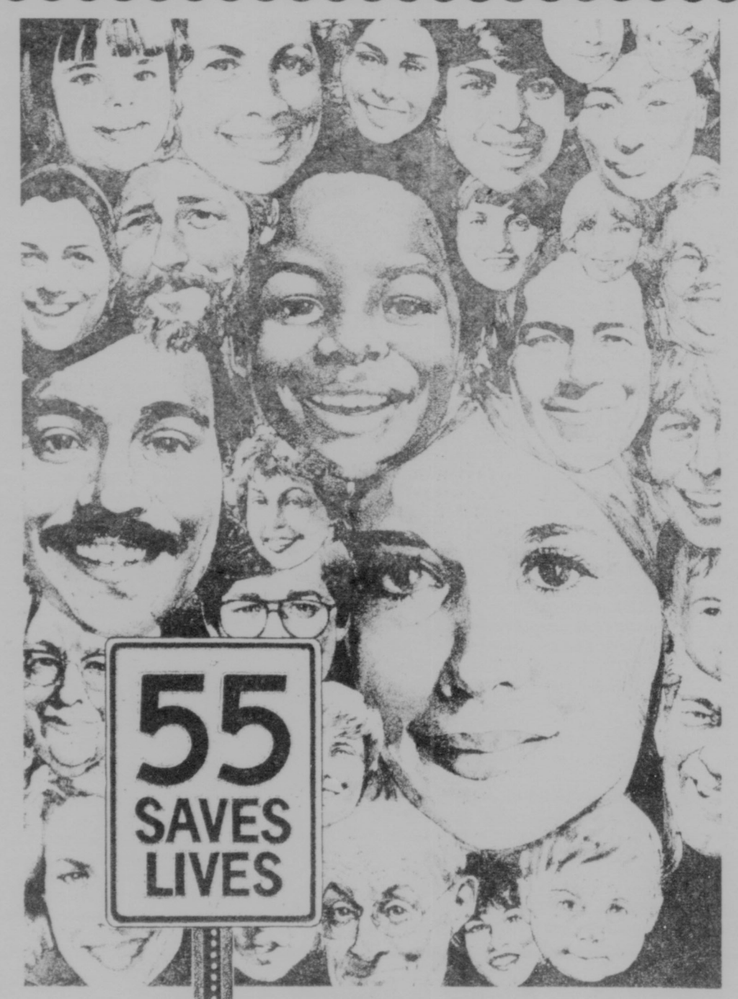
Harvey Korman is reported doing swell enough financially to turn down Carol Burnett's get-the-old-gang-together summer series. But that doesn't mean life is without nettles. As he analyzed it a few months ago, he's not looking for a three-star rating for his recipes. But, besides being edible, "Cooking is cheaper than a therapist's couch. It's the way I vent my pent-up frustrations."

According to Betty White, Dinah Shore, however, might well rate three stars. Betty adds that she has no intention of competing with Dinah. When Betty and her husband Allen Ludden reciprocate Dinah's invitations, "We might set out a platter of hors d'oeuvres. Then we take her to a restaurant. Yes, I CAN cook. But not like Dinah. She loves it."

Dinah's own comment: "I do love to cook. Unfortunately, I also like to eat. But I'm learning not to urge second helpings on my guests ... or myself."

Striking a specialized line is Jane Alexander, so memorable as Eleanor Roosevelt in "Eleanor and Franklin." Last season she was in demand for cooking demonstrations in department stores that also stocked her book, "The Bluefish Cookbook."

Carol Lawrence will probably have her book ready by Christmas and it's geared to "busy ladies" like herself, who turn to their freezers for short order meals, but like something fancy once in a while. For this category, she's going to share some of grandma's best recipes from Italy.



It works!

Since 1974, the year the 55MPH speed limit began, it's been the single biggest factor in reducing highway deaths...by more than 36,000. And don't forget, 55 saves gas. Driving at 55 rather than 70 can improve gas mileage up to 39%. So keep up the good work. Keep your speed at 55. It works—for all of us.

CINDY SAYS

Cultural activities thrive in Emerald Isle

By CINDY ADAMS

DUBLIN — New York State's number one human, the Gov himself, Hugh Carey, is the biggest thing in Ireland since Barry Fitzgerald. His call for all sides to come together for a meeting in New York dominated the front pages from Galway to downtown Ballybristol. Not Tip O'Neill, Paul O'Dwyer, Robert F. Wagner nor non-candidate Ted Kennedy grabbed space like Carey.

In one of those joyous singing pubs, a colleen in Irish tweed grinned, "If ever Oi met 'im Oi'd kiss 'im all over."

Politics aside, I loved Ireland. My first morning the Shelbourne served orange juice, a bowl of thick porridge with cream and butter, steaming haddock with boiled potatoes in their jackets, bacon and eggs, brick-sized slabs of soda bread plus jams, jellies and marmalades.

Entertainment-rich Dublin has the National Theatre, the Abbey (where we saw one of J. M. Synge's works about death and blindness), the century-old Gaiety and Jury's cabaret spothlighting the typical tenor gargling "Danny Boy," the traditional harpist, jig and stand-up comic.

Through sheep, cattle and emerald green pastures we drove "The Cork road" to Cork. On one-lane highways where horsecarts have the right of way, few roads have numbers — just names. In Cork we enjoyed The Everyman Theatre, an operation of semi-professionals onstage and friendly housewives pushing coffee and pastries offstage.

We visited the arts festival in Kilkenny, the Rose of Tralee festival in Tralee and had more potatoes and soda bread in a Kildare pub.

We saw the ballet in Killarney and slept in the Great Southern Hotel and spent roughly two and a half dollars a gallon for petrol to tool along The Ring of Kerry and stay in a wee country inn on Carragh Lake. We made it to Shannon and Cashel and Ennis and to a medieval banquet at Bonratty Castle complete with a jug of mead, fireplace, 11th century costumes on the ladies who served us and only a dagger (translation: steak-knife) with which to shovel up the eats.

The people of the Emerald Isle were outgoing, loving and apologetic about their neighbors to the north and my only complaint was that I never set eyes on even one plate of corned beef and cabbage.

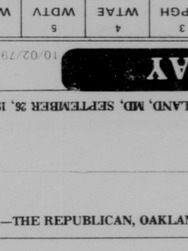
Balsam joins Bunker; can he help 'Family'?



O'Connor & Balsam

Martin Balsam, whose impressive Oscar- and Tony-winning presence has been added to one of America's all-time popular comedies, does battle on every possible front with the nation's favorite bigot.

In his co-starring role as a liberal Jewish Democrat on "Archie Bunker's Place," which debuted Sept. 23 on CBS, Balsam takes on the role of nemesis, a role filled in the past by son-in-law Mike, cousin Maude, the Jeffersons next door and, finally, Edith.

"We're the most unlikely twosome in the world," Balsam says. "We have no common interest except our partnership in Archie's bar. Anything I stand for, he can't put up with."

While Balsam and O'Connor do battle, "Archie Bunker's Place" will have a tough fight of its own. Placed opposite "Mork and Mindy," "All In the Family" regularly lost the ratings game during the summer. Now with Edith gone, many experts speculate on the program's future vitality.

Will viewers see "Archie Bunker's Place" as a spin-off in its own right or only a truncated version of its former self? The answer should be clear in the next few weeks.

Balsam is regarded as one of the finest character actors around, with credits that include an Oscar for "A Thousand Clowns," a Tony for "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" and an Obie for "Cold Storage." His films include "On the Waterfront," "Psycho," "Breakfast at Tiffany's" and "Murder on the Orient Express."

A telephone call from Carrol O'Connor drew Balsam into "Archie Bunker's Place," which marks his first regular television series role. The two had worked together in a 1960 television dramatization of the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

"I took the job because of my faith in Carroll as a performer and besides, I love the series," says Balsam. "We get the scripts and talk, argue, rehearse. It's a marvelous collective effort."

Balsam lives in New York City, and while he was working this summer his wife and two children made frequent visits to the West Coast. Now that school has started, he flies home for long weekends. Of his new role as Archie's partner, business-man Murray Klein, he declares:

"I prefer doing comedy because we're having fun saying something important. That's what makes this show so successful."

Meanwhile, the popularity of the original series has never been higher. Viacom Enterprises, feeling left out in all the recent publicity over the record off-network prices being harvested by D.L. Taffner's "Three's Company" and Paramount's "Laverne & Shirley," reports that its "All In the Family" has chalked up $87 million in gross sales from the 80 stations that have bought it in syndication, making "Family" the biggest money-making comedy series in television history.

TV TATTLE

With the momentum it's gain a following, ABC's new lineup of Tuesday night series playing against returns, are more likely to find an immediate audience.

Most of ABC's new series have been placed in slots that follow established hits, thus giving these new entries the benefit of an inherited audience. "The Lazarus Syndrome," once On Tuesdays for example, has been slotted after "Taxi."

"Benson" comes after "Soap" on Saturdays, "Hart to Hart" follows "Love Boat." And so on.

Sit back and watch the tube to see if the ABC geniuses were right again.

The BBC and Time-Life TV have more than 80 hours of co-productions, representing an investment of $38 million.

That sum was typified by ABC's decision to open the season a week earlier than CBS and NBC. The head start increased the opportunities for new shows to be checked out by curious viewers. Since programs have to be examined before they can hope to have been placed in slots that have been successful, the most successful will be moved to better time periods.

Their fortunes are based on much on the quality of the network's programming, as on the strategic placement of the shows and the skill with which ABC programmers have introduced them to audiences.

Beef Referendum Comments Due By October 9

Beef producers and other interested persons have until October 9 to submit written comments to the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) concerning proposed amendments to beef referendum regulations.

Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said the proposed amendments will require confidential voting and expedite the referendum procedure.

The proposal provides that producers vote by secret ballot. The registration and voting periods would be 4 days instead of 12. The time would be reduced for challenging a producer's eligibilty to register and vote, and also for the County ASCS Executive Director to make a determination on the challenges.

Under the Beef Research and Information Act, beef producers may vote to authorize a national program where they may assess themselves a fixed amount from each cattle sale to be used for research and promotional purposes. "The proposed amendments in no way obligate the Secretary of Agriculture to hold a referendum," The ASCS official said.

Comments must be received no later than October 9 and sent to the Hearing Clerk, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250. For more information, contact Robert Cook, Emergency and Indemnity Programs Division, ASCS USDA, Room 4095-A, Washington, D. C. 20013, Phone: (202) 447-7997.

IO

This satellite of Jupiter is the closest of the Galilean satellites to the planet. It is 422,000 kilometers (262,300 miles) from the planet and is 3640 kilometers (5857 miles) in diameter (about the size of our moon). The surface is bright; colored yellow, orange, and red. Active volcanoes have been observed by Voyager I. The lava expelled from these may explain the smooth surface and vivid coloring. The observations of volcanoes on Io indicate that it has the most geologically active surface known in the Solar System.

What to do if you smell GAS

Natural gas has no odor of its own. We add one for your protection. Here's what you should do if you smell gas.

If the odor is slight, and it's near an appliance, it may simply mean a pilot light is out and needs relighting. But if there's any doubt, give us a call.

If the odor is strong, leave the building. Don't flip the light switches. Don't use any other electrical equipment. Don't light a match or candle or try to find the leak yourself. Be sure everyone is out, and call us from a neighbor's phone.

If the odor is outdoors, call us immediately. Don't wait for others to do it.

You can reach us anytime. If you smell gas, one of our servicemen will come right to your home and make a thorough inspection.

Natural gas is one of the safest energies you can use. And together we'll keep it that way.

Southern Highlander Band To Host Second Annual Tournament

The second annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, sponsored by the Southern Highlander Marching Band and the Southern High Band Boosters, will be held on Saturday, October 13, in conjunction with the Autumn Glory Festival. The field show competition will be held at the Southern High football field, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Richard D. Clever, Southern Band director, stated that at least six, and possibly as many as eight, high school bands are planning to compete this year.

Two of the bands slated to make an appearance are the Clear Spring Blazer Band, pictured above, and the Brunswick High School Railroader Band, pictured below.

The Clear Spring Blazer Band won the Kentucky Derby Cavalcade of Bands in 1973 and was the Maryland Honor Band at the Inaugural Parade of President Nixon. In 1974 the band participated in the Philadelphia Gimbles Parade, placed second in the Maryland State Field Show competition and was third in the Naval Academy field show competition. In 1976 the Blazer Band was chosen as the Bicentennial Band for the State of Maryland and participated in Maryland Day in Washington, D.C. It was also State Field Show Champion and performed in the Festival of States in St. Petersburg, Fla. In 1977, the band placed first in the Preakness Parade. In 1978 the band performed in San Antonio, Tex., Fiesta Flambeau and was awarded the silver cup for the overall finest performance in concert, parade and field competition.

In 1979, the Blazer Band won the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C. The director of the Blazer Band is H. Eugene Garrett.

The Brunswick High School Railroader Band, under the direction of Stephen D. Pearl, is composed of 41 musicians and a 14-member color guard. Among the accomplishments of the Brunswick Band are a second place finish in the 1978 Dapper Dan Parade in Cumberland, a second place in the 1976, '77 and '78 Fall Festival Parade in Frederick, and a third place award in the 1971 Firemen's Parade in Winchester, Va.

Other bands planning to attend the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands will be featured in future issues of The Republican.

Judge Sentences Man To Probation For Welfare Fraud

Judge Fred A. Thayer sentenced a Hyattsville man to three years of supervised probation during the Friday, September 21 session of Garrett County Circuit Court.

The man, Delwood A. Eichorn, had pleaded guilty to the charge of welfare fraud August 2. The judge committed Eichorn to the Commissioner of Corrections for three years but suspended the sentence. Besides probation, Eichorn was charged to pay a restitution of $7669.82 with a six percent interest to the Department of Social Services and to pay a $500 fine and court costs.

In other cases Friday, Judge Thayer sentenced Kay M. Eichorn, Grantsville, to the Commissioner of Corrections for three years and fined her $500 plus court costs. The sentence was suspended. Eichorn had pleaded guilty to the charge of false application August 13.

Leonard L. Beeman, Bradley Manor, was found guilty of the charges of breaking into a dwelling and larceny and committed to the Commissioner of Correction for one year. The judge suspended all but 90 days of the sentence which Beeman will spend in the Allegany County Jail. Beeman was also ordered to pay $75 in restitution for stolen goods upon release.

Safety Council Emphasizes Safety For Farm Children

The farm may be a good place to raise children but it is also a dangerous place for them if not taught safety measures around farm equipment says the National Safety Council.

The Council suggested some precautions to take to protect children from serious injury.

—Children should be kept off and away from all farm equipment.

—A young person should be trained then supervised when learning a new chore or job until he or she can perform it safely.

—Places such as grain bins, chemical storage places, livestock facilities, manure lagoons, and silos, should be made strictly off-limits to young children.

—Firearms and ammunition should be kept out of a child's reach.

—Children's play areas should be cleared and freed of hazards.

—A responsible person should always supervise children when they go swimming.

—A child should be taught the rules of the road before allowed to ride a bike on public roads. The child should also be able to handle the bicycle with no trouble.

—Children should be taught what to do and how to get help in an emergency such as fire, storm, injury, or illness.

More information on proper safety measures can be obtained by writing the National Safety Council, 444 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, 60611.

Dr. Alvin Friend To Show Slides Of Missions Work

Dr. Alvin P. Friend, a dental surgeon of Garrett County, will show a series of slides of medical missionary work in the country of Haiti at the Loch Lynn United Brethren Church on Monday evening, October 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Friend recently served a short term in Haiti with the Grace Mission of Madison, Georgia, doing dental work for the nationals and helping to arrange for equipping the new hospital which the Mission has built in that country. Most of the pictures which he will show were taken by Dr. Friend during that term of service.

At the end of the slide program he will answer questions concerning his work and the work of the mission.

Grace Mission is an interdenominational organization with a special interest in Haiti where it maintains churches, Christian schools, and mountain preaching stations, as well as the new hospital. Dr. Friend feels that the need in Haiti is very urgent, so he is helping with the development of the hospital facilities and plans to go for another short term of service there next March.

The slide presentations is open to the public. A free-will offering will be taken for those who wish to contribute toward the work of Grace Mission in Haiti.

Maryland Hunter Safety Course To Be Offered

Garrett Community College, Continuing Education Division, will offer the Maryland Hunter Safety course at the Farmers' Wildlife Association Club, Asher Glade, on Tuesday, October 16, 6:30-9:30 p.m. This is a five-week offering, one session per week, three hours per session, for a total of 15 hours.

The registration fee includes the Maryland Hunter Safety Handbook. An out of state fee will be charged.

After satisfactorily completing the course students will be issued a certificate of competency in Firearms and Hunter Safety.

Hunters leaving the state to hunt elsewhere should be holders of the certificate regardless if they are licensed in the state of Maryland, as many states require that out-of-state hunters have this certificate.

Highways Claim 13 More Lives

Thirteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by Maryland State Police. Ten of those killed were drivers, two were passengers and one was a pedestrian. Alcohol was a known contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed in seven and "driver error" in twelve. Of the total deaths, five were as the result of motorcycle accidents.

In the opinion of the investigating officer, five of last week's deaths could possibly have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

WHERE'S THE "SCRIVENER"?

Much of the tradition and ceremony has disappeared from the business of transferring real estate. You might enjoy learning how it used to be done in the old days.

The law has always regarded the transfer of real estate as one of the most solemn acts and thus a great deal of formality attended the transfer. In the early days of land tenure, transfer was accomplished by "livery of seizen" which literally, means transfer of possession.

The buyer and seller would go upon the land in question and there, in the presence of witnesses, the seller would take a clod of turf and a twig from a tree and hand it over to the buyer as a symbol or token of the transfer.

The transfer was then made a matter of record by having the "scrivener" (the person in the community who could write) do his thing and write out the transfer on a parchment and affix his seal.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

PARENTS INVOLVED IN COUNTY KINDERGARTEN PROGRAM — Kindergartens in Garrett County have begun a new program this year which will involve parents in their child's education. The program allows kindergarten teachers to meet with parents one afternoon a month, during school hours, to discuss what the students are learning and how they are being taught. Mary Ann Friend, kindergarten teacher at Loch Lynn, lower right, above and center, below, meets with parents for the first of the monthly meetings to discuss "handwriting readiness." During the meeting, held September 19, Ms. Friend explained to the parents that although the students are not taught the fundamentals of writing in kindergarten, they are taught certain skills to prepare them for later instruction. The students are taught such skills as knowing likenesses and differences between objects and knowing the difference between directions such as left and right. She suggested ways a parent could aid a child at home, such as forming letters with play dough or writing in the sand. She advised that a parent should not push a child. She told them a child will do his best in performing tasks, and comes under unnecessary pressure when a parent pushes him. After these parent-teacher meetings, the parents are welcomed to stay to observe the teacher instructing the students in the subject discussed during the meeting.

COMPLIMENTS OF METTIKI — George Kutchman, general superintendent of Mettiki Coal Corporation, presents a check to Doris Goldsborough, chairman of the Cystic Fibrosis 1979 Campaign in Garrett County, during the Cystic Fibrosis Dance September 15. The check from Mettiki was to finance the expenses of the dance.

Smile-A-Thon Drawing To Be Held October 1

Winners of the first annual BABY-SMILE-A-THON for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation will be selected from a random drawing at the Sears Catalog Store in Oakland at 1:30 p.m. on Monday, October 1.

The top prizes will be awarded to ten of the thirty-nine entries, with each of the remaining children receiving a small gift. These prizes are now on display in the Sears window.

Posters, bearing five or six of the BABY-SMILE-A-THON contestants, are on display in 22 businesses throughout Garrett County. The poster also includes a smaller poster of Gabriel Kaplon, National Cystic Fibrosis Chairman, who is shown with the poster child of the year who suffers from c/f, wearing a mask used to inhale medications to enable him to breathe. A coin container is attached to each poster. Three copies were made of each snapshot submitted, courtesy of Crabtree Photography.

"I am urging each individual, as they look at our happy, healthy poster children," said Mrs. Doris Goldsborough, Garrett County Chairman for Cystic Fibrosis, "to contribute as much as possible either in the coin container provided with each poster, or by sending their contribution to me at P. O. Box 309, Oakland, Maryland."

Mothers of the entries to the BABY-SMILE-A-THON, headed by Mrs. Richard DiSimone, are planning a bake sale to be held in front of Heck's on Saturday, September 29th at 10 a.m. in order to further benefit this campaign.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 102 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1979 PER COPY 25c

FOR THE FIRST TIME in 13 years, Leroy Murphy, Crellin, was able to get into the Garrett County Courthouse to conduct business. Mr. Murphy, who is handicapped, and his wife, Helen, toured the new courthouse building on Tuesday and met the county commissioners who signed a proclamation declaring the week of October 7-13 as "Garrett County Employ the Handicapped Week." The old courthouse entrance ways were not designed to accommodate those confined to wheelchairs. In the photo, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are guided by Truman Paugh, county commissioner. Commissioners Paugh, Hunter Propose Own Version Of County Budget

Garrett County Commissioners Truman Paugh and Lester Hunter are now waiting for responses from fellow commissioner Ernest Gregg, county department directors, and the public after presenting their proposed county budget in an early morning press conference Tuesday. As proposed, their budget would account for the $707,032 lopped out of the budget as a result of the recent constant yield tax suit brought against the county by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden.

The proposed budget, an apparent compromise with the budget proposed by Commissioner Gregg four weeks ago, would not rely on borrowed money to balance the operating budget and would not abolish the Development Corporation, Merit Board, and Child Abuse Program. It did propose eight areas for budget cuts, five coming directly from Commissioner Gregg's proposed budget.

To meet the $707,032 shortfall, the two commissioners proposed budget cuts totaling $473,032 and revealed an additional revenue source of $234,000. The new revenue source, they pointed out is not yet guaranteed but is a strong possibility. In a letter to Commissioner Gregg, they stated "Our delay in responding to your proposal came about in our effort to obtain additional confirmation of this figure last week."

The possible funds would be state-based and would be earmarked for completion of the county jail. The commissioners noted that an official from the Community Adult Rehabilitation Center (CARC) would visit the county later this week to inspect the jail to determine the county's eligibility for the funds.

If the revenue source does not materialize, the commissioners stated they would reconsider Mr. Gregg's proposal to borrow money through a bond issue "to complete the construction of the courthouse additions and to provide additional renovation in the original structure."

The commissioners emphasized they were not in favor of a bond issue because "to borrow money in this manner merely postpones until next year a portion of this year's actual county budget and adds interest costs." They further stated that any bond proposal "should be considered independently of the decisions that must be made to balance this year's budget, as we have no intention of falling into the fiscal trap of using bond money to balance an operating budget."

In outlining the specific budget cuts, the commissioners pointed out they were acting in compliance with the court order resulting from the tax suit and the cuts "Which we have been ordered to make will therefore result in a disruption of services to the county citizens and, directly or indirectly, the people of this county will be bearing the costs of this tax suit."

The biggest cut proposed in their budget would be a total of $230,000 from the Board of Education's operating and capital expenses. We are not

Drowned Man's Body Recovered From Deep Creek

The body of the Greensburg, Pa. man who was reported missing after a boat mishap on Deep Creek Lake Sunday, September 23, was located by divers Thursday afternoon in 15 feet of water.

State Police stated the body of Ibdawi I. Farraj was found at about 3:45 p.m. about 250 feet from the shore in the Holy Cross area near the Penn Point and Boy Scout Roads.

Farraj apparently drowned Sunday, September 23, when a fire aboard the boat, a 22-foot Crestliner, forced him to jump overboard. The man and his son, Michael, reportedly were fishing on the lake.

The boat is believed to have caught fire while Farraj was in the cabin preparing a meal. His son later reported his father suddenly ran on deck, his shirt on fire. The two jumped overboard before the boat exploded and burst into flames.

The son tried to hold his father who could not swim, up in the water but the man started struggling and escaped his son's grasp. The son was rescued by a passing boat, taken to shore and transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. There he was treated and released.

Divers from the Maryland State Police and Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department searched the area of the incident for Farraj's body from Sunday through Thursday. The body was recovered about ten feet beyond the search pattern of the divers. State Police pointed out they were uncertain where Farraj had disappeared and had to search a

Quick Action, Skill And Optimum Conditions Give Hope To Local Amputee

by Beverly J. Sincell

When Freda Rexroad of Swanton lost the lower part of her left leg in a farming accident on September 4, she did not expect the surgeons at Garrett County Memorial Hospital to decide to reattach the leg. But they did and, so far, the leg is surviving.

The two surgeons who performed the operation are hesitant to claim victory even now, 28 days later, although the leg is recuperating well. "It is not a success until some function is restored in the leg," stated one surgeon. "Putting the leg back on and getting it to survive is one big hurdle," he said, but he emphasized that the real success will come when the leg is functional.

If the leg had not been reattached—or replanted, in medical terms—in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, it would have been replanted in a replantation center. The surgeons recognized that the conditions were ideal for replantation of Mrs. Rexroad's leg and, if they decided not to replant it, they should send it to a replantation center. "Somebody had to replant it," said one surgeon.

The decision to perform the operation was difficult. They could have simply closed over the amputation stump which, for Mrs. Rexroad, would have meant a long convalescence and the expensive purchase of an artificial limb. To replant the leg was a more complicated procedure and was a risk to the patient's life. The operation would not have guaranteed a successful replant. But, because the conditions were right, they decided the operation should be done and because of their combined expertise, one skilled in vascular surgery and the other in trauma surgery, they decided the operation could be done in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The conditions were ideal because of the physical condition of Mrs. Rexroad, because of the type of injury, and because of proper procedures taken by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. "We would never had attempted it if we hadn't had such good support from the rescue squad," stated one surgeon.

The rescue squad was called to the accident at 2:00 p.m., Tuesday. They knew what type of injury to expect before they arrived; they did not know the specific circumstances until afterwards. Mrs. Rexroad and her husband, George E. Rexroad, had been working in their oats field in Swanton. He was operating the tractor which towed a grain combine; Mrs. Rexroad was standing on the combine, a habit which was unsafe, but something they had done for years. Her leg came too close to the power take-off shaft which caught her

Employ The Handicapped Week Is Proclaimed Tuesday

SIGN PROCLAMATION — County Commissioner Truman Paugh applies his signature to a document Tuesday proclaiming October 7-13 as "Garrett County Employ the Handicapped Week," as co-commissioners Ernie Gregg, left, and Lester Hunter look on. At right is Leroy Murphy, representing the Garrett County Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

The Garrett County Commissioners signed a proclamation on Tuesday declaring the week of October 7-13, 1979 as "Garrett County Employ the Handicap Week." The request was made by the Garrett County Committee on Employment of the Handicapped as part of the local "National Employ the Handicap Week" activities.

In addition to the proclamation, the Committee is also displaying posters and place mats that promote employment of the handicap throughout the county in store windows and restaurants. Newspaper articles and radio spots will also be featured during the month of October.

In the past, the Garrett County Committee on Employment of the Handicapped has conducted an Architectural Barrier Workshop; educated the public concerning misconceptions people may have about handicapped people and their capabilities to perform a job; conducted an architectural barrier survey of public buildings; and sponsored an employer luncheon on employing the handicapped. Presently, the Committee is developing a slide presentation concerning the abilities and problems handicapped people have in dealing with everyday living. This show will be made available to any groups or employers interested in learning more about how they can assist the handicapped people in being part of the mainstream of society. Committee members are also available to conduct architectural barrier surveys for persons interested in making their facilities more accessible for people with handicaps.

Two items stolen from the home of Raymond Spiker, Oakland, September 30 were recovered within the following week. Apparently thieves had entered his home fhrough a window and removed a .22 calibre rifle and a .22 revolver. Both items were later discovered in a wooded area close to the victim's home.

Blessed With Competence

We read on the front page of this paper today the story of a Swanton woman who, after suffering the amputation of her leg in a farm accident, has had that leg replanted. The first major hurdle has already been crossed — her leg is alive. Hopefully, after several months of healing and therapy, she will cross the second major hurdle and regain the function of the leg. If this happens, it will be only the sixth or seventh successful leg replant in U.S. history.

This story by itself is somewhat incredible. However, the fact that such surgery was performed at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital makes it even more fantastic. Normally this type of operation is not even attempted except at major metropolitan hospitals.

To have such capabilities and such competent physicians, surgeons and medical staff right here in Garrett County, is to say the least, a blessing to each and every one of us. The vast majority of rural hospitals in this country simply do not have this caliber of personnel.

Often the hospital and medical staff personnel are taken for granted. Too many people are quick to criticize for some isolated error or mixup which may have occurred in one of their own personal experiences. It's true, as with anything operated by human beings, errors are made. Unfortunately, when dealing with human life, the errors can occasionally have serious consequences. Yet, why is it that the unpleasant times and the errors, no matter how trivial, are always recalled so much quicker than the far more numerous good things that are accomplished?

Our health and general welfare when we are injured rests directly in the hands of the local hospital and physicians. It is truly comforting to know that those hands are so skilled and competent.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It is quite obvious that the proposed budget of Watson-Gregg is becoming more and more a political ploy just as the original Watson-Gregg-Bolden move to kill the original budget was designed to cause political confusion.

Let me evaluate the effect that the "great tax reduction" has on me!: My taxes for 1979-80 will be approximately $60 less under the Watson-Gregg-Bolden fiasco than the original proposal. If I smoke, this would represent approximately one carton of cigarettes per month. I also realize that $5 per month is very significant to some people but I doubt if too many property owners are affected significantly. Why? Because 17% of tax savings will go to County homeowners, 14% to agricultural landowners and the balance of 69% will go to recreational property owners who use very few services and deserve a tax break, utilities, commercial property owners and businesses. I don't see any reduction in my phone bill or my electric bill.

The large utilities, commercial enterprises and industries in Garrett County are overjoyed! For every $1 cut in taxes, they get $.61.

I hear rumors that Mr. Bolden will be seeking Congresswoman Beverly Byron's job and Mr. Gregg will be running for Mr. Bolden's spot and that this coalition created the present situation hoping there would be a great hue and cry for Gregg-Bolden. We need leadership and vision — not chaos and dissention.

After Mr. Bolden's "landslide victory" over George Edwards in the last primary, it is evident that Mr. Bolden needed some type of political action or smoke screen.

I hope the taxpayers in Garrett County who are residential and agricultural landowners evaluate their tax savings intelligently as related to real benefits lost. Remember, all residents are not property owners!

Donald H. Carstens

Sir:

The Letters to the Editor column is a valuable medium of communication for readers of The Republican. I do, however, feel this service has been abused by Mr. Donald Carstens of Deep Creek Realty, who has for the past few weeks been carrying out a personal vendetta against Commissioner Gregg and Delegate Bolden. I do not feel that the Letters to the Editor column should lend itself to this type of childish abuse. If you do, where will it stop?

Quick Action

slacks and tugged them off. What happened next took a matter of seconds. No one knows for sure, but Mr. Rexroad believes the shaft pulled and twisted the slacks quickly enough that the waistband, in a tourniquet effect, cut through Mrs. Rexroad's leg immediately below the knee. He had seen her motion that her leg had slipped, but by the time he had shut off the motor, the damage had been done.

Mr. Rexroad, after inspecting his wife's injury, spied workers for the power company. Because of his own background in emergency care he knew that the orange hard hat worn by one worker signified a trained emergency medical technician.

With their help, Mr. Rexroad secured a tourniquet around her leg before any major bleeding began. He then called for the rescue squad.

Since the squad knew before their arrival what type of injury to expect, they had time in the ten-mile trip to work out their procedure. "We really worked as a team," commented Fran Pope, crew chief for the Tuesday crew. They knew from their training that, in care for severed extremities, emphasis was to be placed on preventing contamination and cooling the amputated limb.

Crew member Clint Englander tended to the amputated leg while Mrs. Pope, Hazel Stewart and Naomi Swartzentruber cared for Mrs. Rexroad. They had not been sure in what condition the amputated part would be. Upon finding it whole, Mr. Englander proceeded to wrap it with a burn sheet, a specially processed cloth to prevent contamination. He then surrounded it with cold paks and enclosed it in an air splint, an inflatable splint used for broken legs. The splint was an improvisation in the absence of an ice chest. It helped to prevent further contamination, it acted as an insulator, and controlled loss of fluids from the limb.

The procedure for Mrs. Rexroad was to wrap the exposed stub with sterile dressing, to elevate the limb and to keep it cool. Before transporting Mrs. Rexroad to the hospital, Mrs. Pope, a cardiac rescue technician, applied an IV.

Mrs. Pope described the patient's behavior to be "very calm." Mrs. Rexroad did not become hysterical. When another woman appeared at the scene and became hysterical, Mrs. Rexroad requested that they "take her away." Nor did Mrs. Rexroad pass out. She later said she knew her leg was gone, but she tried to remain calm. "I kept praying to God, asking him to help me," she said.

While enroute to the hospital, the squad maintained regular communications through Garrett Central Alarm with the physician in the emergency room of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. During those communications they were advised to administer a pain reliever to the patient. They also informed emergency room personnel of the vital signs, the condition of the patient and of the severed limb. When they arrived at the hospital, the emergency room staff was ready for them.

For Fran Pope, it was one of few calls in which everything went smoothly.

Upon analyzing the condition of the leg and the patient, the surgeons decided to proceed with the operation.

It began in two separate operating rooms—the patient in one, her leg in the other. Both the stump and severed extremity had to be groomed before the actual replantation. The surgeon preparing the amputated part flushed the extremity with a salt water solution and a blood thinning solution in addition to removing badly damaged tissue and generally cleaning the part. To prepare Mrs. Rexroad, the injured limb was also cleaned and damaged tissue removed. The surgeon applied a regional anesthesia rather than a general one, so that Mrs. Rexroad was awake during the operation.

When the first phase was completed, the two surgeons and their staff began to replant the limb. The first step was the reattachment and stabilization of the bones. Second was the repair of the arteries, third, the fusion of the veins. At this point they had to begin blood transfusions to control blood loss. The fourth procedure was repair to the nerves, the muscles and, finally, the skin. The operation took over six hours.

Then began the recuperation process. The surgeons closely monitored the progress of the leg. They put a cast on the leg which they changed every two days. Two weeks after the operation they performed another operation for skin grafting. This week they hope to perform a final skin grafting.

Both surgeons pointed out that the techniques involved in the replantation operation did not involve spectacular advancements in surgical technology. One explained, "The operation was all basic surgery that any well-trained surgeon should be able to do." They had both had experience in all techniques used in the operation. The only difference was the operation was comprehensive, demanding them to pool all their skills. As one said, "It brought all the techniques together at the operating table."

The other surgeon stated that, because of the varied experience and training, the two complemented each other during the operation. "Without one or the other, Mrs. Rexroad would probably have been sent to a replantation center," he said.

Before Mrs. Rexroad's operation, only approximately half a dozen legs had been replanted successfully across the United States. The surgeons still caution Mrs. Rexroad's replantation is not yet a success. The limb must become functional.

To begin to achieve function in her leg, Mrs. Rexroad will undergo physical therapy while at Garrett County Memorial. She did not begin physical therapy at first for she was bedridden for 21 days after the operation. On the twenty-second day she was allowed to sit in a wheelcahir. Now, she is exercising her arms to strengthen them for use of crutches. In two to four weeks, she may be able to go home.

The degree of function that will return in the leg cannot be determined, but the surgeons do have a goal for Mrs. Rexroad's leg. "We are hoping to get feeling in the bottom of the foot," explained one surgeon. "That is the most important thing." Rejuvenation of the nerves to the foot could take from 18 months to two years. The surgeons also hope function will return to the knee. Return of function to the ankle is desirable, but if not, the surgeons say the deficiency can be managed.

Replantation is a relatively new field in medicine with many of its most important advances occurring within the last 20 years. The first successful replant was performed in 1962. Now approximately 500-1000 are performed each year with a 70-90 percent survival rate. Of course, survival is the first phase of replantation; function is the second. The bulk of the replantations performed are with fingers, thumbs and hands. These types of operations require microsurgery because of the size of the veins and nerves.

Microsurgery was not required for the operation on Mrs. Rexroad because the veins were no smaller than a lead pencil. If microsurgery would have been required, Mrs. Rexroad would have been sent to a replantation center, because the county hospital is not fully equipped for such surgery. The surgeons are trained and plan to take more training in microsurgery. They expect to be able to perform microsurgery upon completion of the new addition on the hospital.

The surgeons pointed out that, even with the capability to do microsurgery, the first-hand care of a patient is important. The rescue squads are trained to care for amputations, but at times the squads are not called to such an injury. They stressed in such instances, persons who do bring in the injured should find and bring any amputated tissue, whether it be limbs, hands, fingers, thumbs or even skin. They explained that often, amputated tissue is preferential in the reconstruction of the injured part.

During her stay in the hospital, Mrs. Rexroad has received much support from the community. On her bedside table are displayed 130 cards sent to her from throughout the county. "You wouldn't believe the people who have upheld us in prayer," said her husband.

Mrs. Rexroad says she appreciates the help of all those involved in aiding her on that day and she can appreciate the expertise exhibited by the emergency medical technicians, the nurses, the surgeons and their staff. But she does not credit them with all the success. "As I told the doctor," she said. "You may have put my leg back on, but the man up above healed it."

section of the lake 1,000 feet wide and a quarter mile wide. Other units assisting in the search were the Deep Creek Volunteer Firemen, Deer Park Volunteer Firemen, and Department of Natural Resources Police. During the two final days of the search an airplane, piloted by Paul Beitzel and Gene Smith, was used.

The boat, destroyed by fire, was pulled from the lake.

After recovery, the body was transported to the John Durst Funeral Home and a medical examiner was called to the scene. The family is presently making plans for funeral services and burial.

Commissioners Propose

pleased with this cut," said Commissioner Hunter. It is a step backwards for the young people of this county, but we have no alternative.

From the operating expenses the commissioners proposed a cut of $170,000. From the capital expenses they proposed $20,000 not be added to the Southern and Northern Athletic Departments as had been proposed in the original budget. Also from the capital budget they proposed to cut $40,000 from funds allotted for construction of the Accident School.

The proposed cut in the county roads department would be $50,000 less than Commissioner Gregg's proposal. He had proposed a cut of $181,432; they proposed a cut of $131,432. In explaining this cut, Commissioner Hunter called it a "severe cut." He also explained that they had not cut any monies from the contingency fund but felt sure they would have to dip into it for the roads department if this year's winter is severe.

The third of their cuts which differed from Mr. Gregg's was in the commissioners' office. They proposed to cut $16,000 from staff salaries and $3100 from commissioners salaries. The commissioner salary cut, they explained, was an option left open to Mr. Gregg. He had proposed a salary cut of $9300, a cut of $3100 from each commissioner. The two commissioners stated they felt they could not sustain such a cut and even if they could the cut would have to be a legislative action. They stated they would leave the decision to Mr. Gregg whether he would donate the money back to the county or keep it.

The $16,000 staff salary resulted in the decision not to refill a vacancy left by a finance clerk and to cut $4000 from the salary of the county administrator position which will become vacant this week. Commissioner Paugh later stated the position left vacant by Marshall Rickert, who resigned from the county office to accept a state position, will temporarily be left vacant.

Cuts included in the commissioner's proposed budget identical to those proposed by Mr. Gregg were $3000 from the Promotion Council, $10,000 from Solid Waste, $20,000 from the Health Department, $19,500 from the Animal Shelter Capital, and $40,000 from the County jail capital budget.

After presenting the budget, the commissioners announced they were still recommending to their attorney to continue procedures to appeal the decision of the county circuit court judge in the county tax suit. Commissioner Hunter stated the county citizens should not be denied present county services because of a procedural technicality involving three items — "day, time and place."

Within the next seven days, the commissioners will contact county department directors to determine their response to the proposed budget. Commissioner Gregg, who will also provide a response, initially reacted by saying the proposed budget "looks workable."

Baltimore Drama Group To Perform In County Schools

The Young People's Theater (YPT) of Center Stage, Baltimore, will be performing an original adaptation of Homer's ODYSSEY, tailored specifically for grades 4-6 by Center State Associate Artistic Director Jackson Phippin, at Kitzmiller Elementary School on Wednesday, October 3, and Loch Lynn School on Thursday, October 4. In addition to their assembly-length production of the ODYSSEY, the YPT Company of Center Stage will be conducting extensive workshops aimed at introducing children in kindergarten through grade 3 to the world of theater.

Center Stage's Young People's Company has taken Homer's classic and adapted it for children's theater. Directors Jackson Phippin and Lenore Blank have utilized masks, puppets, mime and dance to create the mood and color of the voyage. Through these forms, the six-member cast transforms into over 30 characters.

As a complement to the YPT's production, a study guide for teachers has been sent to the schools which includes pre and post performance activities. Included in the packet are several suggestions and resources for utilizing improvisational drama within the classroom.

In grades Kindergarten through 3 workshops for small groups of students will be conducted by the members of the company. These workshops include demonstrations by the actors and a series of participatory activities in the areas of movement, sound and language improvisation. The intention of the workshops is to provide the children with a viable means of creative expression.

This year's YPT company includes Peter Alexander, Judy Daniels, Harriet Lynn, (native Baltimoreans) and Kermit Frazier, Timothy Green, and Audrey Taylor. This year's resident YPT Company and Stage Manager will take the ODYSSEY on tour in both the Fall and the Spring.

The Young People's Theater is supported in part by the National Endowment for the Arts, the Maryland Arts Council, the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Art and Culture, the Baltimore County Commission on Art and Culture, and the Anne Arundel County Commission on Art and Culture.

Servant of Servants . . .

For the millions to whom he is the visible head of the church, the visit of Pope John Paul II to our nation is undoubtedly an experience to be long remembered. For others, believers and non-believers alike, the Catholic bishop from behind the iron curtain is a timely reminder of the present state of the world. He brings to these shores a message of peace, justice, and an invitation to join his quest for human rights.

John Paul is by conviction a dedicated foe of the communist state. The word he brings the western democracies is full of love for our freedoms and our long tradition of justice. But he is cautious. He does not endorse the system, but rather our ideals and convictions. As the head of the western church his love and devotion cannot overlook the flaws in any existing society. The kingdoms of this world, east or west, are not the kingdom of God.

This Pope eloquently defends the rights of man with the fervor of one who has seen his native Poland suffer decades of injustice and deprivation. He is a realist who knows that the needs of the world are not best served by maintaining the status quo. He is a champion of Catholic orthodoxy who can hold before the United Nations the needs of the Palestinian people. His vision for Jerusalem respects the rights of all faiths and political enclaves in that troubled part of the world.

Those who chafe at the imperial trappings of his office, mostly discarded by John Paul and his immediate predecessors, should remember that they are the vestigal remains of a long, bitter struggle to gain for the Catholic church the freedom from political slavery he now desires for all the people of the world. He stands in sharp contrast to the excesses of an Ayatollah Khomenhi.

For those of us not in his fold, the occupant of Peter's chair offers us a model of servanthood. His challenge to the youth of Boston was the invitation to choose "the option of love, which is the opposite of escape." When we consider the center of John Paul's beliefs, his alternative future seems most appealing.

GCC Shows Record Enrollment

Garrett Community College recently concluded fall registration and recorded its largest enrollment in its nine-year history. A total of 679 students registered for credit classes in the fall semester, according to Bill Ewing, Director of Admissions.

Garrett Community College held its first classes in the fall of 1971 with only 144 students. The number of students increased steadily each year and GCC enrolled 565 students in the Fall 1978 semester. The growth from last year to this year shows a 17% increase.

Particular growth was realized in full-time students. In the fall semester of 1978 there were 271 full-time students. This fall 332 students enrolled showing an increase in 61 students carrying 12 or more credit hours. This represents an increase of 22%. The number of new full-time students increased to 178 as compared to 150 last year.

The non-credit division of Garrett Community College also showed growth. Four hundred and sixty people have registered for non-credit courses compared to 390 a year ago.

Every full-time student must enroll in a program of study, Mr. Ewing said. The program can either be transfer or occupational. The two largest transfer programs are Business Administration and Wildlife/Fisheries.

A total of 113 new students enrolled in transfer curriculums. The transfer programs are designed to parallel the first two years of study at four-year colleges and universities so that students may transfer to such institutions without loss of time or credit.

The two largest occupational programs are Veterinary Science and Wildlife Management. The occupational programs are designed to provide job entry skills and knowledge in particular fields. A total of 65 new students enrolled in occupational programs.

Mr. Ewing said that the majority of full-time students are from Garrett County and the surrounding area. "However, two of the students have unique backgrounds," he said.

Pedro Felice is studying agriculture at GCC while here on a student visa from Venezuela. Florencia Gorden is studying sociology. "She has lived in the Virgin Islands all her life and had never experienced a temperature reading below 70° before arriving in Garrett County!" Mr. Ewing said.

"Many students stated that they enrolled at Garrett because of the quality education they would receive. Garrett graduates have done extremely well academically at four-year institutions. With all the positive achievements Garrett has shown in the last nine years, the future appears to be very bright for continued growth," Mr. Ewing concluded.

Forest Service Slates Meeting

The Maryland Forest Service invites all local residents to make their thoughts known concerning the future of our forest resource at a three-hour workshop Thursday, October 11 at 7 p.m. at the Southern Middle School Cafeteria, Broad Ford Road, Mt. Lake Park.

In an effort to establish firm direction in areas of forest protection, management and utilization, the Maryland Forest Service is attempting to define problems and management opportunities associated with public and private forest lands

In the past ten years, Maryland has lost 13 percent of the forest and woodland in the state because of rapidly changing land use patterns. That is approximately the size of Baltimore County, and represents the largest loss of forest land on the East Coast.

Huskies Back On Winning Trail, Stop Bruce 14-0

The Northern High Huskies rebounded from that disappointing 2-0 loss to the Valley Black Knights the previous week by shutting out the Bruce Bulldogs 14-0 Saturday afternoon on the Westernport field. The win upped the Huskies season ledger to 3-1.

Northern		Bruce
5	Total First Downs	5

4	Passes Completed	6
2	Passes Intercepted By	3
71	Yards On Passes	67

3-2	Fumbles-Fumbles Lost	2-1
2-30	Penalties	8-70
151	Total Yards Rushing	40
222	Total Offense	107

After a scoreless first half, five-foot-five, 135-pound Galen Kamp, one of the area's leading rushers, made a one-yard plunge in the third period to give the Huskies a 6-0 lead.

Northern quickly regained possession of the ball and quarterback Greg Carr connected on a 30-yard TD pass to Gary Bauman, also in the third stanza. Both extra points were booted by Bauman.

Kamp accounted for 136 of Northern's 222-yard total, as he carried the ball 37 times. The Bulldogs could manage only 107 yards in total offense, and were hampered by 70 yards lost in penalties. The Huskies were penalized only twice, for 30 yards.

The Northern defense was sparked by William (Pork) Wilt, who provided nine unassisted tackles.

In the passing department, Carr connected on four of nine, but was tagged for three interceptions. Bruce hit on only six of 20 attempts and threw two interceptions.

SCOUTING REPORT

The Huskies will take their 3-1 mark to Central City, Pa. Friday night to play Shade in a 7:30 contest. "Shade will show us multiple formations on offense and defense," said Northern Coach Jack Settle. "They feature a speedster who holds the Somerset County record in the 100 yard dash. They mix up the run and pass well on offense. They also pursue well on defense." Shade's record is 3-2.

HUSKIE HIGHLIGHTS

Settle said that Kamp's 37 carries against Bruce were the most carries by a back since he began coaching at Northern . . . Gary Bauman still has not missed an extra point this year. He has nailed eight in a row . . . After the heartbreaking loss to Valley the previous week, the Huskies showed great poise against Bruce. That win has to do a lot for their confidence . . . Carr's touchdown pass to Bauman was the first touchdown through the air this year for Northern . . . The Huskie defense continues to shine. In four games, they have yielded only 21 points.

Rams Pick Up Win No. 4, Squeeze Applemen, 14-7

In what was probably their toughest contest yet this season, the Southern High Rams ground out a 14-7 victory over the Musselman Applemen Friday evening to keep their season record unblemished. The Potomac Valley Conference decision marked the fourth win without a defeat for the Rams.

YARDSTICK

Southern		Musselman
7	Total First Downs	15
8	Passes Attempted	5
3	Passes Completed	1
2	Passes Intercepted By	0
69	Passing Yardage	12
167	Rushing Yardage	247
5-65	Penalties-Yards Lost	9-135
4-30	Punts Average	3-35
0	Fumbles Lost	3-2
236	Total Offense	259

The first half of action was primarily a defensive struggle. However, Musselman did put together several drives only to have them wiped out by penalties and some key defensive plays led by George Corliss, who finished the game with 18 unassisted tackles.

The Ram offense was unable to move the ball until late in the second half when quarterback Delbert Liller connected on a pass play to Doug Devlin which put the ball on the one-yard line. With just 14 seconds remaining in the first half, Liller plunged over for the score. The two-point conversion attempt failed and the Rams went to the locker room with a 6-0 lead.

Although the penalty flags contined to fly at the Applemen in the second half, they managed to sustain a drive early in the third quarter and score on an 11-yard run by Steve Boyd. The kick by Tom Lefevre was good and the Musselman was on top 7-6. Another score by Musselman, a 54-yard run, was called back due to a clipping violation.

Late in the third period the Rams came back with the big play again and Liller hit Wayne Scott with a 41-yard pass to paydirt, which put the game on ice for Southern. The two-pointer was good this time on a Liller pass to Devlin.

Paul Cornish returned to action, after being sidelined for a week with a knee injury, and rushed 27 times for 140 yards. The Applemen outgained the Rams 259-236 in total offense, however the Applemen were penalized nine times for 135 yards while the Rams lost 65 yards on five violations.

Liller also served as a defensive standout by accounting for nine unassisted tackles.

Coach Tom Woods, elated at the outcome, stated that it was "the best win in our school's history. Jeff Hinebaugh suffered a shoulder injury in the second quarter and when he came back out in the second half, it really gave our team a lift."

SCOUTING REPORT

Southern will be seeking to improve on its 4-0 record when they host the Hampshire Trojans Friday night at 8:00. The Trojans (3-2) are a relatively young team with a fine passing attack (over 100 yards per game). "In Joe Houchens, they have perhaps the top kicker in the area," said Ram Coach Tom Woods. "They have a new coach, and it has taken time for the players to adjust to the new system."

RAM RAMBLINGS

Paul Cornish's rushing total now reads 576 yards. If he continues at his present pace, he will gain over 1700 yards this year . . . As well as being rated the top team in District I, Class C last week, the Rams were also ranked second in the area by the Cumberland Times, trailing only Fort Hill . . . Through four games, Southern has committed only four turnovers . . . Musselman became the first opponent to outgain the Rams, gaining 23 more yards than Southern . . . Northern Girls' Volleyball Team Records Defeats

The Northern High Girl's Volleyball team was defeated in two matches last Wednesday in the second tri-match of the season giving them a 0-4 record to date.

The first tri-match of the season was held September 19 at which Northern girls fell to the Fort Hill and Flintstone teams.

The two matches last Wednesday were with Beall and Allegany. In the match with Beall, Northern lost the first two of three games with the scores 15-6 and 16-14. Likewise they lost to Allegany, 15-11 and 15-9.

The team's next tri-match is scheduled for October 10 on the Northern High's courts. Competing teams will be Southern High School and Bruce High School.

SHS Girls Win 1, Lose 1 In Volleyball Tri-Match Wednesday

The Southern High Girls' Volleyball team went into last Wednesday's tri-match with Beall and Allegany teams with a 0-1 record and came out with a 1-2 record, losing to Beall and defeating Allegany.

Neither match required play of the third game, as the winners emerged after the second game.

In the match against Beall, Southern's inability to adjust to the new court created serving and passing errors. They lost the match to Beall with respective scores of 15-8 and 15-7.

Southern seemed more ready for play in the second match against Allegany as they took the first two games, 13-15 and 9-15, respectively. Sophomore and returning letterman Susan Shaffer added to the score by serving eleven consecutive serves for points, including three ace serves, unreturnable serves. Returning senior Patty Harsh was successful in four spikes.

The team will face Mount Savage and Flintstone in a tri-match on Southern's court tonight at 7:00 p.m.

Junior Huskies Whip Turkeyfoot

Troy Margroff ran for two scores and Robbie Carr passed for a pair and ran for one as the Northern freshmen team upped their record to 2-0 with a 34-0 blanking of Turkeyfoot Thursday.

Bob Lipscomb ran for a pair of conversions for the Huskies.

Northern's next game is tomorrow when they travel to Uniontown to play A.J. McMullen. Kickoff is set for 7:00 p.m.

Friday Proclaimed Coaches Day

Dick Travis, Supervisor of Athletics for the Garrett County Board of Education announced this week that Friday, October 5 has been designated as National Coaches Day.

Travis explained that each county high school sponsors Varsity Football, Junior Varsity Football, Girls Volleyball, Varsity Basketball, Junior Varsity Basketball, Ninth Grade Basketball, Girls Varsity Basketball, Wrestling, Baseball, Softball, Cheerleading, Golf (at Southern only), and an Intramural program at each of the Middle Schools for both boys and girls.

"Many of the coaches," Travis explained, "are involved in more than one interscholastic sport. Their unlimited time, patience, and concerns for students, is the reasons that the true lesson learned, only by participation, can never be duplicated in any other way. These coaches deserve not only one day of recognition, but each day should throw praises to their efforts."

Travis himself has served the county school system in the capacity of either Coach, Athletic Director, or Supervisor for the past 28 years.

Area coaches are as follows:

Mathias Proposes Byron Memorial

A bill authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to provide for the commemoration of the efforts of former Congressman Goodloe Byron, was instituted this week by Senator Charles Mathias, who asked that a memorial monument be placed on the Appalachian Trail.

Mathias commented, "Since early childhood, Byron had been interested in the world of nature. As a Boy Scout growing up in Williamsport, he became acquainted with the Appalachian Trail. Later in life he hiked and camped on the trail with his wife Beverly and their three children."

Goodloe Byron is referred to as the "driving force behind the preservation of the Appalachian Trail." In 1969 he sponsored legislation in the Maryland State Senate which was designed to protect the entire length of the trail in Maryland, and with the passage of that bill, Maryland became the first state to provide such protection to the trail.

"I'm sure he would be pleased to know that his efforts have not been forgotten," Mathias said. "The erecting of a memorial to Goodloe Byron on the Appalachian Trail is a fitting way to remember that the man's tenacity and vision played a major role in the creation of the trail."

The Maryland House of Delegates must give final approval to the Senate's version of the bill.

Mrs. Martha Howard Believes In Living One Day At A Time; She's Been Doing It For 104 Years

by Beverly J. Sincell

Two weeks ago was one of the most important dates in the life of Martha Ellen (O'Neill) Howard of Bloomington. The date was September 17, 1979, her 104th birthday.

The day wasn't so important because she added one more year to her life, it was important because of the honors she received on that day. She received a letter of congratulation from President Carter and she received gifts, flowers, and cards. The local radio station played a song in her honor. But best of all, her friends and family had a party for her. She loved the company because it gave her the chance to talk.

"I love to talk," she said. "I can't quit talking. I even talk to myself sometimes." She often talks with someone she considers very special. "I talk to the good Lord. I ask him how much longer is he going to let me live."

She probably is the oldest citizen of Garrett County and she is in better health than many. Her hearing and eyesight are faltering but she is in good health. As her daughter, Alice, who lives with her says, "she feels good."

Not only is her health good, but her mind is clear and her memory does not often fail her. The story of her life is still very vivid to her.

She was born September 17, 1875 into a coalmining family in Shawnee, Ohio. She was the fourth of eleven children of John Thomas and Elizabeth (Whitehead) O'Neill. Only the youngest of her eight sisters is still living, Josephine Hughes of Westernport. She had three brothers, all deceased.

Her family moved from Ohio when she was nine years old. The mines had played out and her father was searching for another coal mining job. "We were moving all the time," she said.

The O'Neills lived in Pennsylvania for a time until "the mines got bad." They then moved to Cumberland, then to Mt. Savage. Then in 1892 "We moved to beautiful, beautiful, beautiful Bloomington," said Mrs. Howard. She fell in love with the town when she first moved there. At first just she and her father lived in Bloomington. She kept house until her mother, brothers and sisters were able to move there.

Keeping house was not the first of the services she performed for her father. While at Mt. Savage she would take dinner to him at his job. This innocent task became a test of character in which she proved herself a spirited young lady.

"My rugs have gone all over."

"I would take dinner to my father and those boys (her father's fellow workers) would hit me with clayballs. I warned them not to hit me anymore, but the next night they again hit me with clayballs. So, finally, we had a confrontation. I started throwing their clayballs back at them. An I hot some of 'em, too." After that, she no longer worried about being hit with clayballs.

Because of the migratory nature of her family, Mrs. Howard did not attend school regularly. But, as she described it, attendance requirements were not as strict then as they are now. "In those days, they didn't care much if you came or went."

Her erratic schooling did not hamper her from becoming a "Gay Nineties Career Girl." As a young woman she trained to be a seamstress under a Mrs. Hadley of Lonaconing. She set up her shop in a rented room and went into business. This was in the mid-1890's.

"Then," she said, "I guess I fell in love." She must have, because in 1899 she married James G. Howard, the son of the Bloomington minister. "His father had to sign papers for him because he wasn't old enough," she said. He was 22, she was 24. They were married at the Methodist parsonage in Piedmont, W. Va. by a Rev. West on July 2, 1899. Their honeymoon was a horse and buggy ride up, what is now, New Creek in West Virginia. After their excursion, they came home to their newly furnished home, an apartment over a grocery store.

"I talk to the good Lord. I ask him how much longer is he going to let me live."

That was the start of a relationship which lasted until Mr. Howard died in 1945.

Mr. Howard was a coal miner until 1922 when he opened a general store in Bloomington. He operated the store for 23 years. During this time he served as postmaster for eleven years. He also was a local minister. Although he never held a charge he served as a supply minister and conducted marriages, baptisms and funeral services.

In the early years of their marriage the Howard's changed residences many times. "I couldn't get a place to suit me," said Mrs. Howard. Once they moved five times in one summer. They even moved up to the Mt. Lake Park-Oakland area but didn't stay very long. "You couldn't get me to live there," she exclaimed. Finally they settled into a house in Bloomington that suited Mrs. Howard and which is still her home.

The Howards raised six children, three girls and three boys. Mrs. Howard has outlived all but two of them — Mrs. James (Babe) Maybury of Leesburg, New Jersey and Alice Howard, who resides with her mother.

Mrs. Howard has a few theories of why she has lived so long, some serious, some not so serious.

"During my younger days I used to drink coffee all the time. Then I started on tea. I'm a regular tea drinker now."

Actually though, Mrs. Howard doesn't dwell on the secrets to her longevity, she just lives for each day and tries to be useful as much as possible. "I never think much of dying, or living either," she said.

To keep herself busy, she crochets rugs. "I used to make one a day," she said. "Now I make just one a week." She would make more but, because of her failing eyesight, her doctor forbids it. She thinks he wants her to quit altogether.

"I don't want to quit," she said. "If I quit working I think they can go and dig my grave."

She nor her daughter, Alice, could venture a guess of how many rugs Mrs. Howard has crocheted in her lifetime. She hasn't sold many of them. She gives most of them away to her family and friends. "My rugs have gone all over," she said. One of her rugs is with a grandson in Alaska. As her family and friends have scattered, so have her rugs.

Her family can't provide material for her rugs fast enough for Mrs. Howard. As soon as she receives material she begins work to cut it in strips and roll it in balls to have it ready for her next rug. She has a trunkfull of cloth balls. "They always call me the rag woman," she said.

The town of Bloomington, which was the first community in Garrett County to be designated as an official American Revolution Bicentennial Community in 1975, named Mrs. Howard as "Our Centennial Lady." The town saluted her as "A fine lady and a beloved neighbor" in its history book, The Bloomington Story, written during the Bicentennial celebration.

Mrs. Howard has received many honors and much recognition in her lifetime, but she gives credit where she thinks it is due. As her daughter explained, "Every night she thanks the Lord for all the blessings he has bestowed on her."

If she were to give advice to people she would focus on a person's relationship with God. She says she "Can give plenty of good advice," but one bit of wisdom which is most important of all is one's attitude in prayer.

"When you pray," she advises, "Think of God. He won't hear your prayers if you aren't thinking of him. If you believe in God and believe he hears you, he will do what he has promised."

How does she know this to be true?

"It's proved by my life."

"They always call me the rag woman."

"If I quit working I think they can go and dig my grave."

AS A YOUNG LADY Martha Howard became a skilled seamstress. She made her entire outfit (above) except for the hat.

There is no name on this pew. But through the years some very devout people have thought of it as "theirs" and willingly — eagerly — shared it with friends and strangers. Right now it is waiting for somebody to claim it. Come a little early next Sunday and it's yours.

Next Sunday is World Communion Sunday. In every land those who believe in Jesus Christ will be joining together to partake of the Lord's Supper. It is a day for realizing our privileges and blessings, renewing our commitments and responsibilities.

Christians everywhere will come to worship their Lord . . . and go forth to serve Him.

Have you a pew to call your own? On Sunday you can have: it's first come . . . first served.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

COMMITTED TO JOY

Lesson for October 7, 1979

Background Scripture: Philippians 1
Devotional Reading: Luke 12:22-31

Many people believe that joy and happiness are something that happens to us. If we are happy, it is because something good has come our way. If we have no joy in our lives, it is because of the joyless circumstances in which we find ourselves. Lots of people seek feverishly after happiness, but the "right" circumstances seem always to elude them. It seems they are always behind the door when the goodies are passed out.

Rev. Althouse

According to that understanding, Paul was the last man we might expect to experience joy. When he wrote his letter to the Philippians, he was in jail, imprisoned unjustly on trumped-up charges by his enemies. His great mission had come to a grinding halt, his work was discredited by the authorities and his enemies were gloating.

I Thank My God!

The opening of his letter, then, comes with a bit of a jolt, for he begins with these words: "I thank my God in all remembrance of you, always in every prayer of mine for you all making my prayer with joy . . " (Philippians 1:3). That is hardly the testimony of a victimized, embittered man! In the midst of all his troubles, Paul was thankful!

What for? Well, for one thing, he was thankful for the love and concern of the Philippian church. They had shared in his missionary work and after he was imprisoned they apparently sent him some tangible expressions of their concern. The more cynical might wonder what good their concern was—after all, he was still in jail! But Paul did not see it that way.

I Shall Rejoice

In fact, that was the secret of his joy. He looked at the situation he was in and saw it differently than someone else might. True, he was in jail and unjustly at that, but he was reaching people with his preaching in jail that he couldn't have reached otherwise. Furthermore, some of his enemies were preaching the Gospel just to spite him. Yet, instead of seeing that as a "minus," Paul saw it as a "plus"—"What then? Only that in every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is proclaimed; and in that I rejoice" (1:18). Paul was looking at the same bad circumstances and he was seeing them in a different light.

And the reason for his different point of view was his commitment to joy. Happiness didn't "just happen" to him. He was not overwhelmed with wonderful events and circumstances. No, he experienced joy because he was determined to find joy in his life. Catch the determination in his "Yes and I shall rejoice!" (1:19). Because his joy was not dependent upon circumstances and good luck, they could put him in jail but they couldn't take away his joy.

Nor can anyone take away your joy—if you're committed to it.

ALL MEDICINES MUST BE POTENTLY FRESH
You know what happens to a delicious custard if you permit it to be exposed for some time in a warm place. It can turn into a dangerous killer. Therefore you refrigerate custards to prevent this. Many medicines must be protected against a similar change or they too can be harmful.
Pharmacists are taught at college how to store all medicines and to date those which lose potency after a certain time. Some of them must be kept away from heat or light. Others we keep refrigerated till ready for use. When dispensing such medicines which are subject to change we will always inform you if there are any precautions you must observe.

State Sees $89.7 Million Surplus

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said this week that preliminary figures show the state's unappropriated General Fund surplus at the close of Fiscal Year 1979 amounted to $89,673,294, less than a seven-day operating fund for the State at Fiscal Year 1980 budget levels. "Sales and income tax revenues were very good during Fiscal Year 1979 as a result of growth in employment and personal income," Mr. Goldstein said.

The Comptroller noted that the Board of Revenue Estimates had increased its estimates of Fiscal Year 1979 General Fund revenues several times during the last 22 months in an attempt to account for changes in the national and state economies. "We made increases in revenue estimates because of certain windfalls and unusual revenue receipts and because of economic growth not anticipated when the original estimate was made on November 30, 1977," Mr. Goldstein said.

Among the windfalls were settlements with the U.S. Department of Health, Education & Welfare ($14 million) and the Penn Central Railroad ($2.5 million) increases in Maryland's federal revenue sharing money ($1.3 million), and an accrual of state Lottery revenue ($5 million).

Unusually high interest rates led to higher estimates for revenue from interest on investments ($39.6 million increase). The popularity of the State Lottery's Daily Numbers Game led to increases in Lottery revenue estimates ($31.5 million increase) and the settlement of several large estates led to a $6 million increase in death tax revenue estimates.

In addition, revenue estimates for income, sales, franchise and insurance taxes were increased by a total of $134.9 million during the last 22 months to reflect changes in the economy.

The Comptroller stated that, at the March 1979 meeting of the Board of Revenue Estimates, the Fiscal Year 1979 General Fund surplus was projected to be $237.8 million. "At that time, we warned that legislation being considered by the General Assembly would substantially reduce the figure. When final figures came in, state departments and agencies returned to the treasury a total of $57.4 million in unspent funds, or $22.4 million more than had been expected. In addition, an unexpected $58.8 million in income tax revenues and revenue from interest on state investments was collected," Mr. Goldstein said.

Of the $318,997,067 that was therefore eventually available, the General Assembly appropriated $229,323,773 to fund various programs in Fiscal Year 1980, which began July 1, 1979. The programs included, but were not limited to, tripling the State income tax standard deduction at a cost of $49.5 million; eliminating the sales tax on heating oil and other energy sources used to heat residences at a cost of $29 million; eliminating the sales tax on manufacturing and farm machinery and equipment at a cost of $10.8 million; further extending the circuit breaker property tax program at a cost of $8.3 million and providing an additional $51 million for financing certain capital construction projects on a current basis.

The Comptroller noted that the unappropriated General Fund surplus for Fiscal Year 1978 was $79,421,000.

"The Fiscal Year 1979 General Fund surplus figure is preliminary because of Maryland's on-going, pioneering accounting project, in which an independent firm of certified public accountants is studying the state's accounting procedures. This is in response to nationwide concern about the financial condition of all cities and states in light of the problems of New York City and Cleveland. Maryland will be among the first states to have the opinion of an independent CPA firm on its financial reports, including bond disclosure statements and annual financial reports. This will further enhance Maryland's bond rating. In addition, the firm is performing the required outside audit for federal revenue sharing purposes, which is very important to Maryland's 24 subdivisions, 155 municipalities and the state. The final results of the study relating to Fiscal Year 1979 will not be ready until December," Mr. Goldstein said.

HARVEST MOON

The full moon occurring closest to the Autumnal Equinox is the Harvest Moon. At this time, the moon rises more quickly because its path is closer to being perpendicular to the horizon than at any other time of the year. Since the moon is opposite the sun, it rises just as the sun sets. This provides the farmer with moonlight to complete the harvest.

MOON

Full Moon, the Harvest Moon, will occur at 2:45 p.m. Friday. Moonrise will be at 5:52 this evening. Next Tuesday the moon will rise at 9:54 p.m. Most of the week, the moon will be waning.

Tomorrow at 11:00 a.m. the moon will pass through its perigee. Only 359,290 kilometers (223,300 miles) will separate the earth and the moon at this time.

VISIBLE PLANETS

Observable by the unaided eye will be Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn this week. Mars will rise shortly after midnight against the background stars of Cancer. Jupiter may be observed against the background of Leo. It will rise about 5 hours before the sun will rise. Saturn will rise about 3 hours before sunrise. This planet may be seen with the stars of Leo.

DAYLIGHT DECREASES

Fifteen minutes less daylight will be available next Tuesday. Sunrise was at 7:14 this morning. Sunset will be at 6:58 this evening. Next Tuesday, there will be 11 hours 29 minutes of daylight. Sunrise will be at 7:20 a.m. Sunset will be at 6:49 p.m.

Today is the 276th day of this year. The sun will be at the same place in the sky at noon today as it was last March 11th.

Major studios and big independent producers continue to churn out mini-series for the three major networks despite the fact that the minis are often impossible to sell in domestic syndication, reports Variety, the entertainment trade publication.

Distributors still haven't found a sure-fire way to package the mini-series. And stations, even ones that play movies in bulk, haven't licked the problem of how to schedule the minis in order to harvest the kinds of advertiser dollars that would justify the high prices syndicators are forced to ask because of bloated union residuals.

The sale of mini-series to networks in foreign countries usually allows production houses to get most of their money back, although whatever profits turn up are dependent on the marketability of the particular project.

Because, of course, there is always the chance of coming up with another "Roots" or a "Holocaust" and beating the odds that still make minis one of the riskiest ventures in television.

"Sometimes success can be very bittersweet," said an unusually serious John Belushi, whose speculated departure from "Saturday Night Live" recently became a reality.

Belushi, who left the show after four supersuccessful seasons, said there were so many demands on his time for films, records, etc., that he was forced to make the decision to leave.

"These years on 'Saturday Night Live' have been very, very happy years for me," Belushi said.

Citing bad ankles and a need to wear a mohawk haircut as reasons for his leaving, Dan Aykroyd says he will continue to maintain his 24-hour hotline to NBC's "Saturday Night Live" offices.

"If the boys write a great President Carter scene I guess they could talk me into coming on and playing him," Aykroyd assured us.

Production notes: Former football superstar Joe Namath and award-winning actors Judd Hirsch and Jack Albertson star in "Marriage is Alive and Well," a two-hour NBC comedy currently filming at MGM Studios in California.

Namath stars as Brian Fish, a wedding photographer whose regular assignments provide a riotous close-up view of the institution of marriage.

Hirsch portrays Herbert Rollie, an oft-married writer and poet who is desperately seeking to be reconciled with a woman he married and divorced twice, and Albertson appears as an aging comedian whose attempts to marry his shapely secretary — 60 years his junior — are being thwarted in the courts by his son.

Beau Bridges will star in the male lead of Larry Gelbart's new comedy series for NBC, "United States," which will begin production this month.

"United States" is described as taking a realistic look at a contemporary marriage as seen through the eyes of a couple with two young children.

A CONTROVERSIAL DRAMA about a controversial man: James Earl Jones ("Paris") stars in the two-hour drama, "Paul Robeson," Monday, Oct. 8, on PBS. The one-man tour-de-force is based on the life of the great black singer, actor, athlete and humanitarian whose promising career was abruptly cut off during the Red Scare of the early 1950s.

NEW YORK—Andy Warhol has got a book published recently on both sides of the Atlantic. It's titled "Exposures" and deals with his paintings, not his morals ... Isaac Singer's play, "Tybela and Her Demon," with a cast of unknowns but with a well-known producer, Joe Kipnes, is going for a tryout in Washington ... Dirk Bogarde's scratching out a new book, which is OK until you consider his last one sold only 20,000 copies.

Opera star Regina Resnick is already booked for the Met for 1983. It's their centenary. She'll do a Tchaikovsky opera, "Queen Of Spades."

Pocket Books just reissued "A Stone For Danny Fisher," which author Harold Robbins knocked off in 1951. This marks his 200 millionth paperback sale worldwide ... Lucie Arnaz gave one of her backstage guys a $50 tip ... The hottest thing in London is Bess Myerson. The papers did a whole page on her.

The Spanish city of San Sebastian held an International Film Festival, which was presided over by Jeanne Moreau and those other great Spaniards, Dana Andrews, Jean Pierre Aumont, Earl Holliman and George Hamilton.

Peter Sellers and Sid Caesar co-star in Orion Pictures' "The Fiendish Plot of Dr. Fu Manchu." ... Sammy Cahn is holed up writing the score for "Bojangles"

POW advises filming of his story

"I hadn't come up with a title yet for the book," said its author, newspaperman Ed Brandt. "I was watching TV and heard someone say, 'Well, there's the title ...' when I said it in session. I said, 'That, too, is the title of the book,' who was shot down over Vietnam, where he subsequently endured a half-dozen years as a POW, while experiencing a resistance movement among fellow prisoners in the drama, starring Hal Holbrook and Eva Marie Saint, it is 1965 and Cmdr. Denton is leading a bombing mission over Vietnam when his A6 Intruder is shot down. Though injured, he bails out and lands in the Ma River, where he is captured. As rank-ing senior officer, he assumes command of the other POWs, establishing a secret tap-code system of communication from cell to cell.

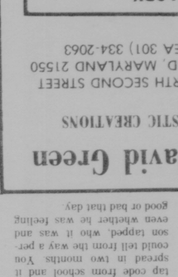
"They (the North Vietnamese captors) never discovered the code," said Denton. "It was a Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy, Retired. "One of the prisoners remembered the tap code from school and it could tell from the way a person tapped, who it was and even whether he was feeling good or bad that day.



Cmdr. Jeremiah Denton

"For instance, a prisoner might tap once on the wall for a dot and then thump with his fist for a dash. The same method with a nail or a broom, or even a fingernail.

"Getting the tap code to a new prisoner was a top-priority matter," Denton said.

Denton himself invented another version of the code, which he used by sceptring the "vocal tap code," which employed coughs, sniffs, backs and sneezes. Since so many prisoners had respiratory problems, this code was difficult for the Vietnamese to detect.

It was through Jane Denton that her husband and Brandt, then mete editor of the Nor-folk Virginian Pilot, first came together. Brandt had published a special section publicizing the plight of the POWs, and Mrs. Denton was active in a group protesting the treatment of captured Americans.

Brandt spent a year interviewing Denton for eight hours every Monday. He narrative to Denton for any necessary editing.

He was apprehensive at first at what might be done with his story, going from book to TV movie. But he says, "Everyone has been very reasonable."

After more than seven years as a POW, Denton's generous comment on the dramatization of his story was, "I didn't know acting was so much work."

Denton, who had never been on a TV or movie set before, found himself in the thick of things as technical adviser.

He was impressed with the way Holbrook captured him and the ordeal. "He expresses with his face exactly the emotions that I had at the time of these events. I'm amazed the way Holbrook captured my feelings at the various stages I felt as if I were looking at myself."

Though Denton has his own strong convictions, he detests movies a human statement rather than a political one. He feels. But he also feels that it is time — and necessary — to take a "Dispassionate, factual look back at Vietnam."

Dan Tanna (Robert Urich) delivers a relieved Sister Alicia Marie (Cassie Yates) from the hands of a gunman who sought a valuable cross belonging to her mission on "Vega$," Wednesday, Oct. 10, on ABC.

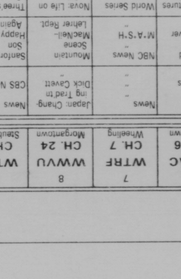
TV PEOPLE



David Wolper

"The three largest producers of documentary films for television are NBC, CBS and David Wolper," said Time magazine, labeling the producer "Mr. Documentary."

In the last 10 years, Wolper has developed an international reputation as the foremost producer of documentary films, while also establishing himself as one of the most astute businessmen in the industry.

Wolper, who has made over 500 films, which have won more than 150 awards (including Oscars, Emmys and Golden Globes), is one of the best-known filmmakers in the business.

Although his name isn't a household word, many of his projects are. They include "National Geographic Specials" (27), "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" (8), "Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory," "Chico and the Man" comedy series, "Welcome Back, Kotter" series, "Victory at Entebbe" and, of course, the "Roots" mini-series.

Born in New York City in 1928, Wolper first stood out among his classmates as a superb athlete, lettering in both baseball and swimming.

He also had a love of show business. He and a classmate assembled what they thought was the best group of high school musicians in the city. But one after another, their auditions flopped and the band never got its first job.

At the University of Southern California Wolper studied motion pictures. As business manager of the USC humor magazine, WAMPUS, he met a rousingly funny young ex-Marine, writer Art Buchwald. The two turned the magazine into an enterprising success and the association marked the start of a long friendship.

After college, Wolper spent time crisscrossing the country as a television film salesman. In 1958, he came across an extraordinary collection of official Soviet footage documenting the Russian space program, one of the most controversial news subjects of the day. Wolper took one look at the footage and bought the entire 6,000 feet.

When his "The Race For Space" first aired in April 1960, it won numerous international awards and was the first television program ever to be nominated for an Academy Award. It was also the birth of a new career.

A confirmed family man, athletic fan of the first order (he once owned the L.A. franchise of a professional league team) and a constant devotee of the film industry, Wolper and his wife, Gloria, live in a Bel-Air, Calif., home. The Wolpers save time to spend aboard their 80-foot power boat, "The Big G," named affectionately after the 6-foot tall Gloria Wolper. The couple has three children.

Mathias Announces Procedures For Academy Nominations

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) this week announced procedures for applicants seeking Congressional appointment to four United States service academies.

Maryland students interested in pursuing appointment to the Military, Naval, Air Force or Merchant Marine Academies should inform Senator Mathias' office before October 31, 1979, the deadline for applications for nominations to the class entering July, 1980.

Candidates applying for a nomination to any of the service academies must be U. S. citizens, Maryland residents, and have the equivalent of a high school education. They must be at least 17 years of age but not yet 22 by July 1 of their entering year.

The nominations are strictly competitive and are based on the recommendations of the Senator's Academy Review Board which evaluates the merits of applicants. College Entrance Examination Board (SAT) scores of 450 verbal and 600 math, or a composite total of 1050, are required to qualify for an interview.

After the board considers the student's academic record and interviews each applicant, a final decision is made. Ten nominations are then made for each vacancy. Final decision on appointments is made by each service academy.

Students interested in obtaining further information and application materials should contact Ms. Linda Strine in Senator Mathias' Baltimore Office, 1616 Federal Office Building, 31 Hopkins Plaza, Baltimore, Maryland 21201; (301) 962-4850.

Fatalities Increase Since Repeal Of State's Helmet Law

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Sixteen of the 25 people who have died in motorcycle accidents since the state's mandatory helmet law was repealed July 1 were not wearing helmets, state police said last week.

More than half of the state's motorcycle fatalities in 1979 have occurred in the four months since the law was repealed, police said.

A nationwide study last year indicated that 58 percent of motorcyclists who were not wearing helmets in accidents died.

The new law, approved by two sessions of the General Assembly before it was signed last spring by Gov. Harry Hughes, allows motorcyclists over 18 to ride without helmets. Those under 18 must still wear the protective device.

Two surgeons at the University of Maryland Hospital's Shock-Trauma Unit were asked to conduct a year-long study of motorcycle deaths and injuries after the repeal took effect. The study is funded by the Federal Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Dr. Alasdair K. Conn, one of the surgeons conducting the study, said many of the non-helmeted motorcyclists who survive accidents are left with serious brain damage.

"This may sound callous, but the ones who die are actually the lucky ones. The worst cases of all are the ones who survive with only half their brains," he said.

Real Estate

ADVANTAGES OF BUYING A HOUSE

The decision on whether to rent or buy a home is one that eventually confronts almost every family. If this is your case, here are a few thoughts to consider.

First, an equity (cash value) is built up as you pay for the home over the years. And, its resale value can increase greatly (as has been the case in recent times) with rising real estate prices.

Also, property taxes and mortgage interest can be deducted from income taxes. This can be a sizable tax deduction, especailly during the early years of the mortgage when about 90% of the monthly payment represents interest on the loan. Rent, on the other hand, cannot be deducted from anything but the checking account.

When you own your own home, there is no fear of a raise in rent; your monthly mortgage payments remain the same for the life of the mortgage. Finally, where else can you find an investment that you and your family can live in while its value increases?

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

Openings Exist In Canoe Building Course At GCC

Gordon Douglass

The Garrett Community College Continuing Education Division announces that there still are a few openings for the course in building the well-known Stripper canoe which was announced in the September 19 issue of The Republican. The course will begin on October 17, and will meet from 6:00-10:00 p.m. at the McHenry Campus.

Owing to space and time limitations the course will be open to a maximum of twelve persons, each of whom, working in teams of two, will become the owner of a new canoe.

The Stripper, as the name implies, is a wooden canoe built over a mold of strips of light ¼" thick cedar or redwood and then covered inside and out with fiberglass cloth which becomes transparent, exposing the color and grain of the wood. The cost of the course will be only a fraction of the value of the completed boat, according to Gordon (Sandy) Douglass, instructor.

Mr. Douglass is the nationally known builder of the Thistle, Highlander and Flying Scot sailboats. He is no stranger to wood construction, having first received national attention for his all-mahogany small boats, such as the International 14, which he built in the days before fiberglass was invented.

Those interested must register by October 5 with the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College, 334-8266.

Meal Program To Be Sponsored By Head Start

The Garrett County Head Start Program announced this week, a policy for free and reduced price meals for children enrolled in a Head Start center.

The Head Start Program receives funding for meals from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Receipt of this funding is dependent upon the economic level of the individual children in the program. Children from families whose income is at or below the eligibility guidelines are eligible for free or reduced price meal reimbursement. Also eligible are families not meeting these criteria, but with other unusual expenses due to high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30% of Gross Income, or special education expenses due to the physical or mental conditions of a child, may apply.

All eligible children will be served regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of the Child Care Food Program, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color or national origin.

A complete copy of the policy is available for examination at the Head Start Office, Oakland.

PET POINTERS

CATS & RABIES

Vaccination is one of the most effective ways of protecting your pet from various contagious animal diseases. And in the case of rabies, when you protect your pet, you also protect yourself.

Rabies is a virus-caused disease that can affect any warm-blooded animal, including man. The disease is generally transmitted when virus in the saliva of an infected animal enters a bite or other open wound. The virus has an affinity for nerve tissue and travels through the body toward the brain and spinal cord. Rabies in man or animals can be prevented by vaccination. However, once symptoms develop, the disease is generally fatal. The man or woman bitten by a rabid animal must risk a series of injections in a race to develop immunity before the disease symptoms become obvious.

Some pet owners have the mistaken impression that cats do not need rabies vaccination. They claim cats live mainly indoors and do not roam as far as dogs. Unfortunately, these people forget that a cat is a natural hunter and will stalk almost any small animal. While out of doors, the cat can be bitten by a rabid skunk, fox or bat. These seemingly wild animals are not uncommon in suburban areas. Even a brief visit outside may be long enough for such an encounter. Records show about the same number of feline and canine rabies cases reported each year.

When an animal is severely bitten on the head or body, and the virus reaches the spinal cord rapidly, symptoms may develop within 2 to 12 weeks. When the infection enters through a minor cut on paw or leg, as many as 9 to 12 months may pass before signs become obvious. Not all pets react in the same fashion to rabies infection. With "furious" rabies, animals become alert and aggressive. Cats that are normally gentle and shy will attack family members and strangers, clawing and biting. They lose all caution and fear of natural enemies. Kittens may seem friendly, but will bite viciously even during gentle play.

The classic case of animals "foaming at the mouth" occurs when the muscles of the throat become paralyzed and the animal cannot swallow. Saliva will then drip from the jaws. As the disease progresses, the animal may experience convulsions, go into a coma and finally die.

Some animals may develop a type of "dumb" rabies. Pets that are normally affectionate and outgoing become withdrawn and sullen. Those usually somewhat aloof may be unusually affectionate. Animals with the dumb variety of rabies also develop a paralysis of the throat muscles and appear to have a foreign body lodged in the throat. Unknowing pet owners may attempt to administer medicine or examine a pet's mouth and throat for a hidden bone fragment. Fortunately, animals with dumb rabies are not vicious and rarely attempt to bite.

If your pet's behavior changes, isolate it from other animals and people if possible. Call your veterinarian so that the animal can be tested for rabies. If the animal bites a human being, call a physician at once.

Pet owners can control the incidence of rabies by reducing the number of unvaccinated pets in the area. There are excellent vaccines available to protect both cats and dogs against the disease. Dogs may receive up to three years' protection with one injection; cats must be vaccinated annually. Talk with your veterinarian and arrange to have your pet protected against this dangerous disease.

New Department Of Ed. Founded

The U. S. House of Representatives passed by a margin of 215-201 legislation establishing a separate Cabinet-level Department of Education Friday.

Representatives of the Maryland State Teachers Association (MSTA), including MSTA's Executive Director, Harvey Zorbaugh, were in the House gallery when the final vote was taken.

"This is a great victory for education," said Zorbaugh, "and it will assure that the voices of children, teachers and parents will be heard at the highest levels of government."

The bill was passed over the strenuous objections of the AFL/CIO and the American Federation of Teachers.

The 1.8-million member National Education Association and its state and local affiliates, including MSTA, have supported the need for a Cabinet-level Department of Education for a long time.

The new Cabinet-level Department of Education had the full support of the Carter Administration and of a strong coalition of groups nationwide and in Maryland.

"This means," said Zorbaugh, "that there will be a Cabinet-level Secretary of Education whose name will be known as an advocate for education throughout the nation."

U.S. Export Total Continues Soaring

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) predicts that fiscal year 1979 will show the greatest agricultural export total ever achieved — at least $32 billion — nearly $5 billion more than last year's record.

With some 128 million tons of U. S. commodities scheduled for shipment to foreign customers, USDA also foresees a major breakthrough in the volume of farm exports.

"The increased export activity will be good for the economy and for farm income," Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said. Farmers depend on foreign markets as an outlet for much of their production, with more than one-fifth of all cash receipts from farm marketings coming from exports. Growth in U. S. Agriculture over the past 10 years has been largely based on exports.

The ASCS official said a high level of export trade helps to hold down costs of domestic farm programs by decreasing the need for production adjustments, and the extra income from exports increases the buying power of farmers in the domestic economy.

Farm exports have contributed a net surplus in the U. S. agricultural trade of more than $10 billion each year for the past five years, according to USDA. This contribution has come at a time when the price for imported oil has been rising and non-agricultural trade has been in deficit. The balance of payments has been supported in a major way through farm exports.

Retail Sales, Use Tax Revenues Up

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has announced that Retail Sales and Use Tax revenues for August 1979 totaled $56,051,781, up nearly 7% over the $52,420,345 collected during the same month last year.

"The boost came primarily in the Building & Contractors and Furniture, Fixtures & Appliances categories," Mr. Goldstein said, noting that these construction-related categories were up 16.8% and 16.5% respectively over last year.

Other large increases were posted by retail shoe stores, where the $563,518 in revenue exceeded collections from last August by nearly 19.7%. "The traditional back to school shoe sales seem to have been particularly strong this year," the Comptroller said, noting that the increased price of shoes is also important.

While department stores continue to be among the largest producers of sales tax revenue, the $4,502,723 collected in that category during August 1979 was an increase of approximately 3.6% over the same month last year.

"A bright spot in the general merchandise group are discount stores, where collections totaling $1,526,448 exceeded revenue for the same month last year by 30%," Comptroller Goldstein reported.

This regular column provides citizens the opportunity to ask Congresswoman Byron any questions that happen to be on their mind. Inquiries should be sent, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Room 1216 LHOB, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Please explain your bill which would encourage business growth and create a million new jobs by 1985?

The measure I have introduced will revamp the tax codes to provide businesses a streamlined and simplified system of rapid depreciation on buildings, equipment and motor vehicles. This bill will encourage business growth and expansion because the present depreciation laws are so complex that many small businessmen do not take advantage of them. As a result, they tie up their money in debt financing and have less funds available to purchase better and more efficient plant equipment. Ultimately, this bill will increase productivity and real wages, as well as establishing an estimated million new jobs over the next five years. Our nation's tax policies have discouraged new investments by American industry and this is one of the reasons we have sagging production rates, outdated production capacity and equipment, and have been unable to compete in many areas with other countries. In short, this measure will encourage increased production to meet demand, which will in turn create new employment opportunities.

Can farmers expect assistance from the government for the development of individual gasohol projects?

Legislation is pending before the House which would expand farm credit as demand grows and also specifically authorize the use of Farmers Home Administration loans to develop new energy sources — including gasohol.

What does the house committee on aging hope to find during its public hearings in Western Maryland?

The purpose of the hearing is to elicit opinions and suggestions from the elderly on such topics as the high cost of energy, winter heating needs, housing, food, medicine and hospitalization matters. The hearing is one of a series being planned throughout the country to give older Americans the opportunity to air their views and, in the process, help formulate a national legislative policy to ease the burden of inflation for those living on fixed incomes. The committee will not only focus on formal testimony provided by Western Maryland leaders and officials involved in programs affecting older Americans, but also average senior citizens who will be given a chance to discuss their own personal observations with the committee.

HIGHLANDS CONCERT SERIES

The first offering of the Highlands Concert Series, to be held in the Garrett Community College Auditorium, will be presented on Saturday, October 6 at 8 p.m. The series is co-sponsored by the college and the Garrett County Arts Council, Inc.

Appearing will be the Heyde Trio. Formerly the Lenox Trio, the group is led by violinist Stephen Heyde. Mr. Heyde was trained at Capital University, Columbus, OH, and Carnegie-Mellon University, Pittsburgh. He has been Assistant Professor of Violin at West Virginia University since 1975. He also conducts the Concert Orchestra and the Preparatory Department Orchestra.

Cheryl Priebe, on oboe, was educated at the New England Conservatory of Music. She was formerly first oboe in the Richmond Symphony, and currently plays in the Wheeling Symphony in addition to her teaching position at West Virginia University.

Pianist James Miltenberger, the third member of the Trio, also teaches at West Virginia University. The program will feature music of Bach and Ibert for the Trio, in addition to individual performances by all members of the Trio.

COMEDY FILM FESTIVAL

The Ruth Enlow Library's Classic Comedies Film Festival will present three early Charlie Chaplin comedies during its October 8 program, 7-8:30 p.m.

The Tramp, The Vagabond, and The Rink all feature Chaplin in the role that made him famous: the lonely little tramp whose gentlemanly manner and surprising agility see him through many hilarious situations.

Chaplin's roller skating skill in The Rink is unforgetable. Also on the program will be two short W. C. Fields Films, Hurry, Hurry, and The Great Chase.

EMS Advisory Council Meets

A meeting of the Region I Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council was held September 25 in the Lane Center of Frostburg State College. Duane Oswald, Council President, reported to the membership that Dr. John Stafford of the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Service Systems (MIEMSS) had expressed the state's desire that Region I (Allegany and Garrett Counties) and Region II (Washington and Frederick Counties) combine to form one comprehensive region. Council membership agreed to such a consolidation if several conditions could be met.

The first condition was that the Commissioners of the counties involved approve such a change. The second condition stated that the existing Region I and II Councils could maintain their autonomy for local planning and coordination functions and that MIEMSS staff support would continue. It was felt that should a new Council be formed each participating county would have equal representation. Final action on the matter will be dependent on the compliance of these conditions as well as an acceptance by Washington and Frederick EMS providers to the change.

Other business discussed included reports on the progress of a proposed area-wide trauma center for Cumberland.

Council members were advised that Dr. Fred W. Miltenberger was putting together a position paper on the trauma center issue. Once completed the paper will be presented to the Board of Governors at each of the Cumberland Hospitals.

Dave Ramsey, Region I MIEMSS Coordinator, reported to the membership that considerable training efforts would by conducted in the next year. In all, six 84-hour EMT-A classes are being conducted, six 21-hour EMT-A recert classes, nine Nursing Workshops, two Cardiac Rescue Technician courses (Paramedic) programs and several special training seminars for emergency medical care providers.

Mrs. Helen Michaels suffered a broken ankle in a fall while at work in Addison on September 22. She is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Flu Shot Schedule Announced

Influenza virus infections occur every year in the United States, but they vary greatly in incidence and geographic distribution. The viruses are unique in the ability to cause periodic widespread outbreaks of febrile respiratory disease in both adults and children. During the period from 1968 to 1979, more than 150,000 excess deaths are estimated to have occurred during epidemics of influenza A in the United States.

Observations during influenza epidemics have indicated that influenza-related deaths occur primarily among chronically ill adults and children and in older persons, especially those over age 65. Therefore, annual vaccination is strongly recommended for all individuals at increased risk of adverse consequences from infections of the lower respiratory tract.

In cooperation with the Preventive Medicine Administration of the Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, the Garrett County Health Department will offer influenza immunization. The vaccine (inactivated trivalent preparation of A/Brazil, A/Texas, and B/Hong Kong) will be available according to the following schedule:

Swanton Community Center — Monday, October 15, 11 a.m.

Jennings Community Center — Tuesday, October 16, 11 a.m.

Finzel Community Center — Thursday, October 18, 11 a.m.

Grantsville Commission on Aging — Thursday, October 18, 2-4 p.m.

Grantsville Health Center — Thursday, October 18, 5-7 p.m.

Friendsville Health Center — Friday, October 19, 9 a.m.-12 noon.

Center Street Commission on Aging — Friday, October 19, 1 p.m.

Oakland Health Department — Monday, October 22, 9 a.m.-12 noon and 1-4 p.m.

Deer Park Community Center — Tuesday, October 23, 11 a.m.

Crellin Community Center — Wednesday, October 24, 11 a.m.

Kitzmiller Health Center — Friday, October 26, 9 a.m.-12 noon.

Adult Activities Center — Monday, October 29, 10 a.m.-12 noon.

Oakland Health Department — Wednesday, October 31, 5-7 p.m.

Bloomington Fire Hall — Monday, November 5, 1 p.m.

Persons 26 years of age or older will require only one dose. However, due to the lack of contact with previous A/Brazil strains, those who are 25 years of age or younger will receive two doses one month apart; only one dose is needed if they were immunized in 1978.

DEER PARK

Nineteen members and two guests were present at the Deer Park Homemakers' September meeting.

Reports on College Days were given by Janet Browning. The demonstration on Citizenship was given by Ruth Calderwood and Mabel Hauser.

The club decided to do a decorative beehive as a project for November. Jane Miller, president, gave dates on the nine workshops to be held this month.

Mary Rollman and Nina Callis were hostesses for the evening and Margaret Ammann won the gift of the month.

The next meeting will be held on October 11 at the Deer Park Community building at 7:30 p.m.

Melvin Fazenbaker, Deer Park, and Helen Enlow, Accident, recently returned from a trip to the western states.

Energy Saving Tips for Your Automobile —

With the price of gasoline so unbelievably high, it is essential that we get the most from each gallon of gasoline that we use. Here are some tips that may help you stretch your gasoline dollar:

1. Plan your trips ahead of time and do several errands at once in order to get the most for the miles traveled.
2. Accelerate smoothly and gradually — don't gun your engine when you start.
3. Don't drive with your foot on the brake.
4. Don't drive faster than the speed limit. At 55 mph you get better gas mileage than at 70 mph, and you get much better mileage at 45 mph. In most cars, you lose 1 mpg for every 5 mph over 50 mph. Also, cars generally use more fuel below 35 mph.
5. Maintain a constant speed.
6. Anticipate stops by gradually slowing down and possibly coasting to a stop.
7. Don't let the engine idle for any period of time. When you have to be stopped in traffic, shut off the engine until the traffic moves again. One-half minute of idling normally consumes more gas than what is required for restarting.
8. Use the accessories on your car sparingly, especially the air conditioning.
9. Carry only what you need on a trip — avoid overloading the car when possible.
10. Driving into 20 mph headwinds can cause fuel economy losses of over 20 % compared to driving without the headwind on the same road. Wet pavement increases the power required to maintain a given speed. Also, a car is subject to wheel spin on snow and ice — this wastes gas, so drive carefully.
11. Don't let car warm up for an excessive amount of time. Instead of letting car idle to warm up the interior, just get in and start driving at a moderate speed.
12. Join a carpool. One-half of all private automobiles are used to travel to and from work. If people would carpool, for the nation, 140,000 barrels of gas would be saved a day — that's 3% of the total demand for passenger cars.
13. Vacation close to home and stay in one place instead of hopping around.

FOOD NOTES

Chicken is a meat which most people enjoy and a meat which is affordable in these days of inflation. Besides chicken being very nutritional, it can also be prepared in quite a variety of ways. Try this recipe which placed second in Virginia in the 1979 Delmarva Chicken Cooking Contest. It was entered by Mrs. Mary Jane Dubuc of Falls Church, Virginia:

SZECHUAN CHICKEN

2 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, halved, boned, skinned and cut in bite size pieces
½ cup diced bamboo shoots
½ cup diced green onion, green and white parts included
¼ teaspoon finely chopped fresh ginger root
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon toasted sesame seeds
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ cup catsup
3 tablespoons sherry wine
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3 tablespoons water
½ cup cooking oil

In bowl mix together bamboo shoots, green onion, and ginger. In another bowl, mix together sugar, sesame seeds, garlic powder, catsup, wine, soy sauce and hot pepper sauce. In a third bowl, mix cornstarch and water. In fry pan, heat oil to medium temperature. Add chicken and cook, stirring about 5 min. or until chicken is white and opaque and fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Remove chicken. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons of oil from fry pan. Place bamboo shoot mixture in fry pan; cook, stirring 1 minute. Add chicken and catsup mixture; cook, stirring, 2 minutes. Add cornstarch mixture and cook, stirring, about 5 minutes or until thick. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

House Of Hope To Celebrate 1st Anniversary

by Beverly J. Sincell

The House of Hope, on Fourth street in Oakland, will be celebrating its first anniversary Sunday, October 7 with an open house for the public.

Little over a year ago, the House of Hope in Oakland opened its doors to provide services to persons whose needs could not be met by agencies or their own families.

With an average of 55 volunteers, the House of Hope provided shelter, assistance, transportation and basic necessities to over 600 people in its first year of operation. "Without those volunteers the House of Hope could not have provided its services," said Sister Catherine, a nun at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland and one of the two originators of the home.

The House of Hope is financially sponsored by Saint Peter's Church and the Archdiocese of Baltimore, but is based on the idea of being ecumenical in spirit and of being a community based organization. To promote this idea, the House of Hope has become incorporated and now will be called House of Hope, Inc. It will further establish itself as a separate entity in 1980 when church funding will be terminated. It will then depend on the local community for support.

So far, the community has supported the House of Hope Inc. through donations of money, supplies and time. Because of the 55 volunteers the House is able to provide a 24-hour answering service almost every day of the week — a couple of hours on Sunday is the only time the answering service may not be available.

Because of the community support, the House has provided a week's supply of food for 89 families this year; has provided transportation to 110 people, and has provided furniture to 45 families. The House itself has given shelter to 70 people.

Donations from the community has also allowed the House of Hope Inc. to assist 32 families with their utility or rent bills. In all of its services, House of Hope Inc. is careful with its assistance says Sister Catherine. It assists when a real need exists and does not allow those it helps to become dependent on it. For instance, when financial assistance of over $25 is requested, members of the House of Hope, Inc. Committee will meet to analyze whether the particular situation constitutes a real emergency and whether other sources are available for which the person is eligible.

Sister Catherine is quick to point out that the House of Hope, Inc. is not meant to replace existent health and social service agencies. Instead it is meant to fill in the gaps, to aid people in ways the other agencies can't. Many of the people the House assists are referred to them through Social Services, the Health Department or the Sheriff's Department. People also seek their help after hearing about them through a friend.

If Sister Catherine were to state a goal or a direction for the House of Hope, Inc. it would be that it become totally a volunteer group who serves people in need. She and her colleague, Sister Susan, and the St. Peter's parish council were the main originators and coordinators of the House. Since then, volunteers have become more involved and taken over many of the coordinating responsibilities. There are also volunteers who act as a backup team for Sisters Catherine and Susan by living in the House when the two are called out of the county.

The year has taught the staff at the House of Hope, Inc. many lessons. "We have learned a lot in the past year," said Sister Catherine, "mainly about living on the faith and trusting in God." She says on many occasions, they have had requests for assistance which at the time of the request they were unable to meet but within 24 hours someone donated exactly what they needed. Sister Catherine calls them "Miracle Stories".

On one occasion, in October, the House of Hope, Inc. housed six children for ten days. Total expenditure on them was $160. During that time the House received a donation for exactly that amount.

Then there was the time, near the end of the winter, they received a call for blankets. They had none they told the caller but when they received some they would contact him. Within an hour after the call, a woman arrived at their doorstep with an armful of blankets she had made. She would have brought them sooner she had explained but she had been shut in by the winter weather.

They have received requests for stoves, refrigerators, money to help with bills at times when they could not meet the requests, but within 24 hours received the exact thing requested.

These experiences have convinced Sister Catherine that "God takes care of his poor" and he uses such organizations as the House of Hope, Inc. to do so.

The House of Hope, Inc. also serves as a "Center for Reflection and Prayer." Once a month the House tries to sponsor a session to discuss social justice and Gospel values. Last year they discussed such things as prayer in the lives of busy people, and exploitation of Third World nations by U.S. corporations. This year they have a series of six sessions planned during the months of October, November and December. The two sessions in October will be on the 13th and 27th.

Congressmen, Senators Take Fewer Trips

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Maryland's two U.S. senators and eight congressmen took a total of 10 overseas trips in the first half of 1979 — less than half the number they took in election year 1978.

Sens. Charles Mathias, R-Md., and Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., each took one trip in 1978. So far, Sarbanes has taken one trip to China and Japan at taxpayers' expense.

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., took the most trips of the Maryland congressional delegation in the last 18 months with four overseas trips as a member of the House Appropriations Committee for a total cost of about $6,200.

Others who took trips so far in 1979 are Rep. Gladys Noon Spellman, D-Md., two trips to Panama and to France and the Soviet Union; Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., two trips to Panama; Rep. Beverly Byron, D-Md., a visit to Japan, China and Korea; and Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md., also a visit to Japan, China and Korea.

Televised Autumn Glory Festival Will Be Shown

"Autumn Glory Fesival" is a two-part series which features the musical heritage of Garrett County. The shows were taped at last year's festival by the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting. On Wednesday, October 3, at 9:30 p.m. the Maryland State Five-String Banjo Championships will air and on Wednesday, October 10, at 7:30 p.m. the Maryland State Fiddlers Championship will air on TV 22, 28, 31 and 67 — stations of the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting.

Because Garrett County residents are unable to receive these stations, the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, after obtaining tapes of the shows, will present them to the public at a time and place to be announced.

The programs were produced by Adele Ennis and directed by Tom Barnett and Bob Dean.

Straight Talk About Aging

Dr. Matthew Tayback, State Director on Aging

LET THE FACTS GUIDE YOU

It is a common experience these days to read of school closings. To some the news is astonishing. Never heard of such 'goings on.' However, the facts were there for those who would pay attention to them — they were there since 1960, nineteen years ago.

For those concerned with affairs about the aging, here are some facts which should help guide wise public policy in the near and long range future.

America's elderly, those 65 years and over, now number 23 million — about 11 percent of the national population of 220 million. While the total population grows by an annual rate of 0.8 percent, the elderly grow at a rate of 1.6 percent each year. This difference when compounded for the remaining 21 years of this century will mean that among 250 million Americans who will welcome the 21st century on January 1, 2000, there will be more than 32 million elderly or 13 percent of the total.

But what is of significance as great as the simple aging of the population is a fact not widely understood but having enormous meaning. The number of elderly is growing at a phenomenal rate for those in the most advanced years — Americans 85 years of age and over. Believe it or not, the number of such persons will increase by 100 percent in the 25 year period 1975-2000 or at a rate of approximately 4 percent per year. Here is the manner in which a recently released report on the nation's health (HEW, 1978) interprets this development: "These changes could have profound implications for the nation's health care delivery system and its financing. Because of the growing elderly population, there will be an increasing need for long term care including nursing homes as well as alternatives to nursing homes." The report also predicts growing need for short term hospital facilities because of the high rate of hospital care used by the elderly.

What have been the trends concerning the economic status of the aged? Here the facts are surprisingly good. The most recent available data indicates that 15 percent of the elderly were below the poverty mark in 1976. This is a remarkable reduction from conditions prevailing in the early 1960's. Equally of interest is the growing proportion of elderly couples who are protected by income which ensures an adequate level of living. The forecast is optimistic. Poverty will decline further and the capacity for adequate housing, nutrition and social opportunity will increase.

In the area of educational background, further surprises are to be expected in the future. For example, in 1970, the median number of years of school completed by the elderly was 8.7 indicating completion of primary school. By 1990 the median number of years of school completed will approximate 12 years or completion of high school. In fact, we can anticipate that America's elderly in the future will constitute an enormous pool of intellect. Coincidentally, the elderly will be a powerful force for exercising the citizen power of participating in public policy.

In the matter of labor force participation, the future is unpredictable. It is said that in 1900, two out of three males 65 and over were working. By 1950 this had dropped to 50 percent. By 1980 we expect it to be 20 percent. Will the new Federal amendments of 1978 prohibiting mandatory retirement change the trend? It is difficult to say. Public policy on aging for the future should be based on the presumption of no remarkable changes in this respect.

With these facts, the wise individual and society in general will guide itself accordingly. Some of the signs are encouraging. The spectacular growth of the very old is a circumstance which is interesting to the keenest of minds. Failure to anticipate its consequences can only invite unpleasant surprises.

PUBLIC NOTICES

IN REMEMBRANCE

In loving memory of our sister and daughter, Barbara Schlosnagle, who passed away three years ago, October 1, 1976, at age 39.

All the days since you've been gone have been lonely, but today is the saddest, for on this day three years ago, you were taken away from us. We know God had a better life for you. What it meant to lose you at an age so young, no one will ever know, for time so far has only proven how much we miss and loved you. Your memory will always last.

Sadly missed by her sisters and mother

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our mother and grandmother, Cora Mae DeWitt, who passed away one year ago, September 18, 1978:

I had a dear mother who lived many years. Her eyes saw much beauty, shed many tears.
She taught her children clean living and God, and worked her poor fingers to the bone in the sod. A penny each day for candy we got — And I'll tell you something: It seemed a lot!
Peaches made cobblers, and gooseberries, pies; and I got a spanking if I told a lie. She fixed my hair in rags to make curls and, if I was good, let me try on her pearls. Her iron had no cord, her cookstove no plug, and she was up before dawn with a smile and a hug. For a cough I got kerosene on a sugar rock; for sore throats — grease on a worn-out sock. At least once a week I got castor oil, and Papa's tobacco was good for a boil. Each night before bed she gave me a snack while my nightie stove-warmed on a chair back. Then once in bed I had to recite my prayers before she'd blow out the light. The last time
I saw her she was finally at rest, her delicate hands folded over her breast. I thought of the song
"In the Sweet By and By" that she'd always sing to me when I'd cry. But now as I cry there's no one to sing — All I can hear is the chapel bell ring; I close my eyes and smile through the tears: How lucky I was to have had her all those years.

ALA Volume Probes Childrens' Lung Diseases

Most of the disability and death in children is the result of respiratory disease, according to a new book, "Lung Diseases of Children," just published by the American Lung Association, the Christmas Seal organization.

Episodes of lung disease account for more hospitalization, more time lost from school or play and more disruption of family activity than illness involving any other organ, says the book.

"Lung Diseases of Children" is available from the American Lung Association of Maryland. Written for the general public as well as health professionals and individuals working with children, the volume is published with funds contributed to Christmas Seals.

One of the diseases discussed in the book is respiratory distress syndrome, often found in premature babies. Infants born before their lungs are sufficiently developed frequently lack a substance that prevents collapse at the end of each exhalation of the small air sacs where oxygen and carbon dioxide are exchanged. Although the disease can be fatal, some progress is being made in understanding, treating and even preventing it.

Unexplained crib deaths, or "sudden infant death syndrome," also covered in the book, is one of the most tragic causes of death in early infancy. A child, seemingly well, can be found dead in the crib with no apparent reason. The child is almost always two to four months old. The condition seldom occurs after the age of six months. Affecting boys more than girls, seen less often in summer, sudden infant death syndrome is still mysterious, although it may be caused by some abnormality in breathing.

"Among children who escape these early dangers," says Dr. Richard Talamo, Chairman of the Pediatric Lung Disease Committee of the American Lung Association of Maryland, "there are about 183 million cases of respiratory disease annually in youngsters below the age of 17 years — about one and a half illnesses per child per year . . .

"Of the severe lung diseases in childhood, asthma is one of the most common . . . In this country there may be as many as 6 million asthmatics, one-third of them under 17 years of age," says Dr. Talamo. "All socio-economic classes are involved, but the severity of illness may be greater among the poor. Before adolescence, more boys than girls are afflicted."

The book covers a wide range of lung diseases and other diseases exhibiting lung complications that can affect children. Causes and treatment are also discussed.

Potomac Edison Assigns Linemen To Oakland Office

More Potomac Edison linemen are being assigned to the company's Oakland office to cope with increasing workloads and improve the quality of electric service in Garrett County.

The number of PE linemen living and working the Oakland area will be increased gradually from nine to 16, according to the utility's Western Division Manager R. A. Roschli. Until full strength is reached, PE personnel from Cumberland will continue to work in the Garrett County area. Contract crews hired by PE, according to Roschli, will also continue to work in Garrett County.

Heading the Oakland Line Department as Area Line Superintendent since August 1 is Gerald L. Kremer, who previously worked in the company's Frederick line department as a foreman, operating. Kremer has been with PE since 1963 when he joined the company in Winchester as a meter reader-collector. He has been in the PE line department since 1967 and served as a foreman in Frederick since 1976.

Two line department foremen, William Baker and Fred Husselbaugh, are also assigned to Oakland.

Planning Board Considers Brodak Rezoning Request

The Garrett County Planning Commission heard testimony for the request for rezoning by George Brodak, of Oakland, during its October 4 meeting held in the commission's meeting room at 323 East Oak Street in Oakland.

Leslie H. Graef, planning consultant of Baltimore, represented Mr. Brodak before the commission to defend Brodak's request to rezone eight acres of land southwest from Mayhew Inn Road, on U.S. 219, currently classified as lake residential, as lake commercial. Brodak's intention is to build a cocktail lounge on the property to serve both county residents and tourists.

Graef, in the beginning of his testimony, pointed out he believed the issue was not the plan for the site itself but rather whether commercial zoning is appropriate to the particular location.

He referred to the linear pattern of tourist business development along Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake. In his prepared statement, which he distributed among the commission members, Graef pointed out "There is a definite linearity of the developed area which should be the design basis for patterning the zoning for commercial land uses."

He saluted the commission's comprehensive plan for the Deep Creek Lake Watershed as a "model example of exercising workable municipal controls in an unusual growth area." But he stated the zoning ordinance was "almost too cautious" in the attempt to locate tourist business in a traditional village planning situation."

He stated that the linear pattern of development was partly due to the ease of access to businesses from the highway. Graef also referred to the lack of land available in the Deep Creek Lake Watershed Planning District for commercial development and noted what is available is not well suited to Brodak's plans. He stated "Since the opportunity is so limited, Mr. Brodak shouldn't be economically penalized by the County Commissioners 'forcing' this use into the existing zoning area. Far better for the use to be located where it has some breathing space, even though it may cause a modification of the existing zoning."

Graef further stated that "The need for extensive land uses is most appropriate outside of the town Center Districts as recognized in the approved planning and zoning documents."

He recommended to the commission to consider rezoning an area of sufficient size to allow space for expansive commercial land uses. A good location for the commercial development, he contended, would be south from Mayhew Inn Road along Rt. 219.

After hearing the presentation and raising points of clarification, the commission members asked to be allowed time to review Graef's presentation before further discussion.

In other business during the meeting, the commission received copies of letters written by Donald E. MacLauchlan, Director of the Maryland Forest and Park Service, which outlined the new policy for use of the Deep Creek State Park boat ramp. The new policy will open the boat ramp to all would-be users who would be required to pay the park's entrance fee and could use the area at will. The new policy will become effective for the 1980 season.

The Commission discussed various Department of Natural Resources matters including a report, by county planning director Tim Dugan, of a meeting with state DNR officials concerning development of state parks in Western Maryland. Dugan reported that the DNR officials committed themselves to the completion of plans and construction of concessionaire facilities at Herrington Manor State Park. The building design would be groomed to meet the needs of the state park and to provide year 'round service to include a winter cross-country ski and snowmobile season. Dugan stated that if all runs smoothly, construction could begin as early as next year.

EARLY ARRIVAL — Just one day before Garrett County's well-known "Autumn" Glory Festival, old man Winter dumped two inches of snow on his unsuspecting public. This scenic road near Oakland could put one in a festive mood. However, most expected to be singing "Autumn Leaves" this week, — not "Jingle Bells."

Crosco Trial In Session For Third Day In Allegany County Circuit Court

Attorneys for Robert Lee Crosco, 30, Mountain Lake Park, who is being tried in Allegany County Circuit on a charge of murdering his 19-year-old wife, Kotchie Ruth Crosco, over six years ago, planned to call three or four defense witnesses to testify Wednesday.

Thomas B. Dabney who with Robert E. Watson, is representing Crosco, stated late Tuesday that a decision had not yet been reached as to whether the defendant would testify. A defendant in a criminal case may elect not to testify in his own defense and jurors are cautioned that they are to disregard such action.

Daun R. Weiers, assistant state's attorney of Garrett County, called eight witnesses to testify Tuesday before resting his case at 3:20 p.m.

The case began Monday after a jury of seven women and five men was selected to hear evidence in the case moved from Garrett County Circuit Court.

Most of the testimony during the first day of the trial concerned the circumstance of the finding of the decomposed body of Crosco's wife in the Lost Lane Run area of Potomac State Forest four months after her disappearance on March 25, 1973.

A report of the disappearance of Mrs. Crosco, who was the mother of two children, had been filed at the time by her husband. He had reported her kidnapped. Three days later he was arrested on a charge of making a false report of a kidnapping.

Prosecuting attorney Daun Weiers called 11 witnesses to testify Monday before the trial recessed at 4:40 p.m.

It reconvened Tuesday at 9:15 a.m. After the state rested its case and after Associate Judge James S. Getty, who is presiding at the murder trial, denied a defense motion for acquittal, Dabney and Robert E. Watson, Crosco's attorneys, presented the first two defense witnesses.

The trial recessed shortly after 4:30 p.m. and reconvened Wednesday at 9:15 a.m. At the time of recess Tuesday, Judge Getty admonished the jury not to discuss the case with anyone, read any newspaper accounts or listen to any radio or television reports on the trial.

Crosco was indicted by the Garrett County Circuit Court May 4 of this year on a charge of murdering his wife. Late in May, Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer granted a motion to move the case to Allegany County for trial.

Three of the witnesses called by the state Tuesday recalled hearing Crosco make threatening statements sometime about the time his wife disappeared in 1973.

Lawrence E. Kent of Deer Park testified that he heard Crosco tell his wife that he would kill her if she didn't shut her mouth. Kent added that he didn't know what had led to the remark and he didn't take it seriously.

Roger Ashby, the defendant's brother-in-law, testified that Crosco made a strange comment while they were riding in a car about two weeks after Kotchie's disappearance. Crosco said "I hit her in the neck with a lug wrench." Nobody else was in the car at the time and the statement was not in context with any previous or subsequent conversation.

Ashby also testified that several days after Kotchie's body was found, he and his wife and Crosco went to the site. Ashby said that Crosco had no difficulty finding the site although there was no road or path directly to it.

The final state witness called by Weiers was Patsy Tasker, 25, of Swanton, daughter of Lawrence Kent. She testified that Crosco came to her mother's house in Deer Park about two weeks before his wife disappeared. Mrs. Kent frequently babysat with the two young Crosco children while Kotchie was working. "I'm going to get rid of her one way or another," Mrs. Tasker said she heard Crosco state. At the time another woman was outside in his car and she said Crosco gave no indication as to who was intended.

Other witnesses called by the state yesterday included Sandra Sue Hershman, Rebecca Sines Kelly, Clarence Eugene Crosco, the defendant's brother, George Kight and Dr. Irvin H. Sopher.

Ms. Hershman, who is em-

Trucks Overturn On U. S. 40

Heavy fog was a factor in the related accidents of two Cumberland men whose trucks overturned at the intersection of U. S. 40 and Foster Inn Road October 2.

Lloyd Matthew Hott, 24, is in satisfactory condition at Cumberland Memorial Hospital after sustaining leg and other injuries while Brian Keith Farris, 22, escaped the incident unscathed.

The two men were traveling northbound on Foster Inn Road in separate GMC 7500 series dump trucks. Due to the fog, neither was aware of their approach to the intersection with U. S. 40. When each learned they were at the intersection, neither was able to stop. Farris attempted a right turn onto the highway but his truck overturned in the attempt. Hott's truck skidded across Rt. 40, struck a light support pole and overturned.

Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the scene and transported Hott to the Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Maryland State Police, who investigated the incident, cited Farris for traveling at a speed greater than reasonable and prudent.

SOLITARY BLOOM — "Coldly, sadly descends, The Autumn evening. The Field strewn with its dank yellow drifts, Of withered leaves, and the elms, Fade into dimness apace." Rugby Chapel penned that sombre eulogy in 1867. Above, several field "daisies" suffer the beginning and the end simultaneously as snow slowly settles on the mountain top.

The Classic Comedies Film Festival will present Harold Lloyd's 1925 silent film hit The Freshman on Monday, October 15, beginning at 7 p.m. The entire film is a spoof of the enormous popularity which sophisticated college life and particularly college football enjoyed during the twenties.

Laurel and Hardy's Liberty will also be presented that evening. In this 1929 classic, Stan and Ollie escape from prison, and in their haste to change into civilian clothes, they find they are wearing each other's pants. Throughout the film they do their best to correct this mistake, much to the astonishment of passersby. The film ends with a comic chase atop a skyscraper under construction. Jean Harlow costars.

Several new books have recently been added to Ruth Enlow Library's young adult collection. Titles included are: The Undertaker's Gone Bananas by Paul Zindel; Deadly Game at Stony Creek by Peter Cohen; The Boy Who Drank Too Much by Shep Greene; and Dragondrums by Anne McCaffrey.

Due to Autumn Glory festivities, the library's regular program of Saturday movies for children has been cancelled for October 13.

Festive Escape . . .

Part of being human is the need for mental escape from the varied pressures of everyday living. An occasional break from tension, a time to put our woes aside for a while, is vital to our well being. There are thousands of ways to escape. Some are healthy, some are not. Some are expensive, some are free.

Many people escape by the use of tranquilizers, alcohol or some other drug. Some sit down and read a book, watch television or listen to music. Some go dancing, jogging or hiking. Others escape by taking a nap, going on a picnic or playing cards. Many engage in athletic activities.

The twelfth annual Autumn Glory Festival, which officially begins this evening, offers numerous means of fun, wholesome escape for the entire family. A number of new events and displays have been added to the festival this year and there is truly something for everyone to enjoy. In anticipation of the festivities, we have decided not to editorialize today on any of the pressing, current issues. Rather, we wish to escape from those pressures and look ahead with excitement towards the next four days of Autumn Glory.

Many people have worked hard to make Autumn Glory a reality. Everyone else can do his or her part in making it a success by participating in the festivities. Not only is it fun, but it is also a golden opportunity to promote our beautiful county and thus, bolster our economy.

Dear Editor:

My daughter Connie is a sophomore at Garrett Community College. She gets seven hours per week work study and received a scholarship from the Oakland Rotary Club.

Friday evening, October 5, she met a friend at Red Run and was going out for awhile so she left her car parked in the Red Run Lodge parking lot. About 9:00 o'clock two 16 year old boys came to my door and reported that they saw a man slit her two back tires. They recognized the culprit as a prominent (Chief) business man. I called the State Police to come investigate but they never showed up.

So Lions, Rotorians, Masons, et al, doesn't that make you feel proud to know you have a "Rat" like that in your club? However, "Vengenance is mine," thus saith the Lord, and one day that bird will answer to the High Chief who is no respecter of persons and does not accept graft money from anyone.

Sincerely,
Juanita R. Savage

Dear Editor Sincell:

I've learned recently that an effort is still being made to change the name of the village of McHenry to perhaps Deep Creek Lake. This does not fit the image Shakespeare had Juliet create when she advised Romeo "O, be some other name! What's in a name?" This situation is just the opposite.

The village at the north end of manmade Deep Creek Lake has much meaning to informed Marylanders. The name of McHenry in pioneer days marked one lone spot in these mountains and glades of far Western Maryland where a family had brought civilization. Eminent people once came over the rugged ways of Backbone Mountain from Baltimore and other places to visit with the McHenry family. It was about the only spot along mid-Appalachian mountains where social contacts were above average and McHenry should remain as it is and has been for so long.

The name McHenry also rings a bell for Marylanders on Defenders Day because that was the day when the British attacked Fort McHenry and failed to reduce it. And it caused our national anthem to be written by Francis Scott Key.

One of my friends, a former president of the Garrett County Historical Society, pointed out to me recently that to eliminate the name of McHenry for our historic little village would accomplish nothing good. He was correct in his conclusion that regular mail routes have been established around the 60-mile shoreline area of Deep Creek Lake and that McHenry post office now serves the people of its area and our community college as well.

What's in a name? There is certainly enough in "McHenry" to avoid confusing people more by changing it. It is a landmark of honor!

Walter W. Price

Dear Editor:

For the past six years the community has done a fine job in supporting the local Rescue Squad with their contributions. We appreciate what has been given in the past and thank all those who have contributed this year in our fund drive. BUT, our contributions from the local community have taken a big plunge this year! We know that inflation has hit everyone and there are other community events also soliciting funds, but we cannot continue to operate as we have in the past without everyone's continued yearly support.

Some may feel that we are now an established organization and no longer need their financial support. This is not true. Our entire source of income is from contributions from the community. We do not receive anything from the county budget.

Inflation has hit the Rescue Squad also with higher prices for gas, insurance, and medical supplies. We also need to replace one of the ambulances this year. Higher expenses with a lower income doesn't make it practical to continue in the same manner as we have been doing. Of course, there are some alternatives. We could start charging a membership fee or a fee-for-service. This could mean a fee of $40-100 or more each time someone needed the use of an ambulance if the membership fee was not paid. We don't want to put this plan into action and will not need to if the contributions are sufficient. Everyone has a part they can do. It should not be carried by only a small percentage of the community and we can't do it alone.

Dear Editor:

I'm just a housewife, as so many are, (and) I'd like to ask you a question, — why (are) the farmers getting (such) low prices on their meat, and (when) you go into a store, the cheapest beef you can buy is $2.79 a pound?

Can we just keep on letting the farmers get gypped (as well as) the consumer — if they are dumb enough (to) pay that outrageous price. I'd love to have some beef. Wouldn't everyone?

I'd like (someone to tell) me where the price jump is I've heard everything. Now let the housewives talk.

Thank you,
Mrs. Georgia Weimer

Dear Editor:

In the past few months I have read various letters to the editor from people that have called for cut back in taxes with the resultant reduction of services and from people that have expressed concern about the reduction in the services. As governmental services are reduced, it becomes the responsibility of the community to take up the slack in services for their own needy residents. Various organizations already exist that are striving to protect the rights of and provide services for Garrett County citizens who are victims of disabilities and economic hardships, with no additional cost to the taxpayer.

The Garrett Organization for Retarded Citizens is a local volunteer non-profit organization whose main function is to protect the welfare of and promote needed services for mentally disabled Garrett County citizens. This Sunday, October 14th, this organization is sponsoring a "Poker Road Rally" starting at Southern High School with registration from 10 AM to 1 PM. A nominal fee per car will be charged with registration limited to the first 52 cars. Contestants will receive playing cards at different checkpoints. The three contestants holding the best poker hands at the end of the Rally will win gift certificates for gasoline.

This is an opportunity for concerned Garrett Countians, no matter what their political idealogy may be, to support a local organization that is providing a service to our local mentally handicapped citizens. The reduction of taxes and the resultant reduction in services only works if the community voluntarily provided assistance to its fellow citizens who are genuinely in need.

Sincerely,
Dan Elmlinger

School Board Officials Respond To Paugh, Hunter Proposed Budget

Officials from the Garrett County Board of Education met with the county commissioners Tuesday morning to discuss school board budget cuts proposed last week by Commissioners Truman Paugh and Lester Hunter.

Dr. William Buser, county school superintendent, represented the county board of education in requesting the commissioners to further review the proposed budget and consider reinstating the $170,000 proposed cut from the board's operating expenses.

Dr. Buser listed the areas which would be affected by the $170,000 proposed cut. Among those areas were the maintenance program and the instructional supplies and materials. These two items would have to make up $120,000 of the total. Other areas to be affected would be pupil services and funding for field trips and band trips.

The commissioners made no definitive statement but indicated the board of education should adapt its budget to comply with the $170,000 figure. They did say they would take additional time to study the proposed budget before making an official response.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, assistant superintendent of administrative services asked the commissioners if they would be willing to obtain additional funds this winter if the electrical and heating costs rise above the school board's budgeted amount. The budget, he explained, did allow for a 15 percent inflation in the two costs. Commissioner Paugh stated he would not be unfavorable to that request.

Dr. Ryscavage also presented the Board of Education's long range building plan to the commissioners and reminding them they must take action on the program before it can be submitted to the state Board of Education for final approval. The six year building plan is developed regularly on an annual basis and projected over six years. The long range plan includes such items as providing equipment to Grantsville School, renovation to the Northern and Southern High Schools, and construction of a replacement to the Loch Lynn Elementary School.

Also during their Tuesday meeting, the commissioners held a public hearing to review a junkyard application by Ronald R. Guthrie for the automobile scrap facility on his property located on Rt. 135 near the Pysell Crosscut Road. Attending the hearing besides the commissioners were twenty residents near the junkyard and zoning administrator John Nelson. The commissioners asked the group of residents whether they were in favor of the junkyard. The group unanimously opposed the junkyard.

After the vote and hearing testimony, the commissioners agreed to wait a seven day period before making a decision. The seven days were left open to allow concerned persons to send comments to the commissioners for consideration.

Crosco Trial

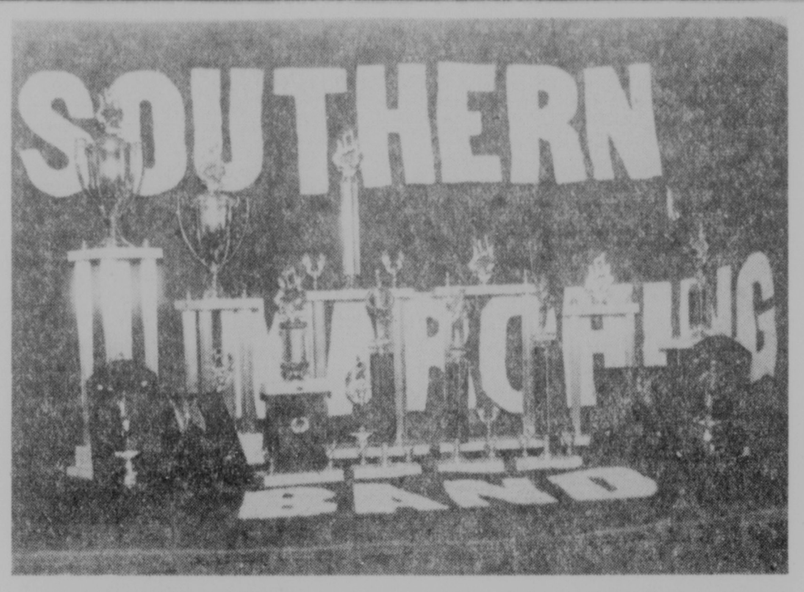
ployed in the District Court in Oakland, testified that Crosco pleaded guilty in District Court April 16, 1973, to making a false report that his wife had been kidnapped March 25, 1973.

Dr. Sopher, former Maryland medical examiner in Baltimore, testified concerning the examination of the bones of Mrs. Crosco. From the condition of the bones it was impossible to determine the cause of her death, he said. Earlier witnesses had testified that rocks and logs were found covering the bones but there was no way to establish that any of them had figured in her death. Dr. Sopher is now the chief medical examiner for West Virginia.

Dabney and Watson recalled two of the state witnesses as their first two witnesses yesterday afternoon.

Clarence Eugene Crosco, brother of the defendant, the first defense witness, said that he had heard Ashby say about a month after Kotchie's disappearance that he had seen her in a "white Mustang" in Oakland with another man. The witness said he left the house to look for such a car but did not find one.

Kent also was recalled to testify briefly as a defense witness.



TROPHIES TO BE AWARDED — A total of 15 trophies will be awarded at the second annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, to be held Saturday evening at 5:30, at the Southern High School football field. The Tip Top Trophies were donated by the First National Bank of Oakland, Beachy Lumber Co., A&A Realty and Construction Co., Bill's Marine Service, Garrettland Realty, Gregg's Pharmacy, Hawkinson Tread, Montgomery Ward, and Tableland Properties.

Vandals Damage Roads Department Trucks, Equipment

The Garrett County Roads Department was the victim of a destruction of property incident which occurred sometime between September 28 and October 2 according to the weekly report by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

The roads department reported that approximately $1500 worth of damage had been done to five trucks and some equipment. The damage to the trucks which were parked in the parking storage area behind the department garage on U. S. Rt. 219 N was primarily broken windshields.

Other incidents reported to the Sheriff's Department included a destruction of property at Ken Friend's bar in Friendsville on Tuesday, October 2. An unknown subject threw a beer bottle through the rear window of the bar. The loss value was estimated at $10.

A larceny of tires and mag wheels from a vehicle owned by Danny Cline, Oakland, occurred October 5. Apparently, the tires and wheels had been wrenched from the vehicle. The value of the stolen items was estimated at $212.

A breaking and entering and larceny case was filed by Harry McCracken, Mesa, Arizona. Reportedly, vandals had entered McCracken's summer home on Dry Run Road sometime between October 2-4 and stolen various household items. Total value of the stolen items has not yet been estimated.

Courthouse Move Delayed

The office of the Garrett County Clerk remains in the same office in the Courthouse one week after its scheduled move to new offices in the courthouse addition.

The reason says Gary Millich, courthouse project director, was the contractors were having problems in obtaining the supplies to finish the offices and consequently the rooms were not ready for the scheduled move.

He stated the contractor has located the supplies which are on their way. Even though the contractor could have the offices ready by the end of the week, the Clerk's office will not begin its move until the week of October 22. Mullich stated the move was set back three weeks as a precaution in case of further delays.

The Board of Election Supervisors will move before the Clerk's office on October 19. The Clerk's office and the Assessment office are scheduled to move during the week of October 22.

Opposition To Engineer's Plan Announced During Public Hearing

It has taken 15 years, but the process to obtain sewage treatment for Oakland and the Upper Youghiogheny area may be one step closer to completion. But the path to achieving this proved as rough as ever Tuesday night, October 9, during the public hearing to review the Upper Youghiogheny Area Sewage Facilities Plan at the Southern High School Cafetorium.

The Sewerage Facility Plan, prepared by the engineering company Pullman Swindell, proposes sewerage facilities for Crellin, Oakland and some areas adjacent to Oakland; modifications of the Trout Run sewage treatment facility which serves Loch Lynn and Mt. Lake Park; sewer extensions for Mountain Lake Park and adjacent areas of Shady Acres and Bausch and Lomb; abandonment of the existing Bausch and Lomb sewage treatment plant; and a survey of Hutton and Deer Park to determine the adequacy of existing private septic tank systems.

Approximately thirty persons, mainly representing state and county offices and organizations, attended the hearing to hear a review of the plan and group reactions.

After a brief summary of the plan, presented by Pullman Swindell representative Alfred Braunstein, the floor was opened to comments from those attending.

The first note of opposition came when William Minnick read a statement from Trout Unlimited and Maryland Cold Water Coalition, two groups concerned with conservation and preservation, requesting a rescheduling of the public hearing. The groups contended they had not been adequately informed of the hearing and wanted time to review the study and to make comments on it.

Dick Nace, administrator of the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., responded that he had not been aware the two groups wanted special notification, but he stated, "We are not going to postpone the meeting." He did mention that he would schedule a heairng before the Sanitary Commission for the two groups if they desired one. He also pointed out that the two groups had the prerogative to go to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Administrator for Region III to intercede in the proceedings.

The other statement of opposition came from the mayor and members of the town council for Mt. Lake Park. Mayor Russell Alexander read the first two pages of an eighteen page document which stated the town's rejection of the plan and outlined major problems with the plan in relation to Mt. Lake Park.

"The Pullman Swindell report," read Alexander, "contains serious errors and omissions rendering it unacceptable to Mountain Lake Park as a basis for reliable and intelligent decisions. We have come to this conclusion after careful examination of the report. We reject the report and believe it should be rejected by the Upper Youghiogheny Committee also."

The reading of the entire document was continued by Joseph Bowen, a Mt. Lake Park resident after a majority vote by the group to hear it. In the document was listed eleven comments about the plan and thirteen possible solutions to the reported errors. Included in the comments was a challenge to both the Sanitary Commissioners and Pullman Swindell to post bond against any excesses in cost to the Mt. Lake Park consumers; a call for declassification of the Little Youghiogheny as a native trout stream; a denunciation of Pullman Swindell's plans and cost analyses for laying new sewer lines in the town; a criticism of Pullman Swindell's restricting discussion of revenue sources for financing its recommended plans to user fees; a question of the quality of the sewage interceptors of the Sanitary District, Inc.; a criticism of Pullman Swindell's using the total annual flow figure in calculating the treatment plant's capacity; a question of why Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn were not allowed an option to the Trout Run Facility in the Plan; a question of the accuracy of the graphs in the plan; a statement emphasizing the autonomy of incorporated towns which included the comment "no change in an existing system or implementation of a new one can be made by the Sanitary Commission without contractural permission of any affected incorporated town."

Dick Nace questioned whether the document was an official statement of the town of Mt. Lake Park to which Alexander replied that it was not but could be if necessary. Nace said it was not necessary.

Nace further responded to the comments with a generally negative response concerning the issue of posting bonds. He fully supported the idea of the reclassification of the Little Youghiogheny River.

James R. "Smokey" Stanton, representing the Oakland Mayor and Town Council, also made a few statements concerning the plan. He stated that Oakland had no prepared statement but did agree with several recommendations made in the plan for a sewage treatment facility for Oakland. The recommendations the town agreed with were: there was excessive infiltration and inflow in the town's sewer system; the Bradley Manor treatment facility should be abandoned — Stanton pointed out that steps were already being taken to abandon the plant and the Sterling Processing Plant should continue to operate. Stanton further stated that the town conceptually agreed with the type of treatment facility, a lagoon, recommended for Oakland in the plan. He also pledged Oakland's aid towards expedient progress in the Project. Oakland is currently under a state imposed moratorium which, in effect, halts growth in the town by forbidding the addition of sewer taps until the town constructs a sewage treatment facility. It is violating environmental regulations by dumping raw sewage into the Little Youghiogheny River.

During preliminary comments about the plan, Dick Nace stressed that costs of the projects listed in the plan were not to be taken at face value but were to be used relatively. An allowance for inflation was not made in estimating the costs by Pullman Swindell.

Nace also reported that another part of the first phase in the project was the performance of a sewer system evaluation survey in the towns with sewer lines. The survey is to detect areas of unwanted leakage in the lines.

After the first phase of the project is completed, Nace explained to the group, there are two more phases: design of the sewage treatment facility and then construction. But before a town or the Sanitary District, Inc., can progress to Phase II, the engineering feasibility study of Phase I must be approved by the Environmental Health Agency and the Environmental Protection Agency.

Nace announced that the Sanitary Commission will accept comments about the plan during the next fifteen days. After that time, the commission will address all comments and respond to all who file comments. They will then submit the plan with any revisions to the EHA and EPA for approval.

Education Board Lists Agenda

The Garrett County Board of Education has announced its tentative agenda for the October 11 meeting, to be held at the Board offices at 1:30 p.m. Action will be taken that afternoon on the Garrett County Testing Sequence and the Comprehensive Arts Curriculum, which according to Robert Rodeheaver, Instructional Supervisor, will put the arts curriculum more in line with other types of basic curriculums now being used in the County school system.

A presentation on the Industrial Arts, Home Economics, and Vocational-Technical curriculums will follow as well as a Professional Day Report.

Beginning at 2:15 p.m. the Board will review such financial matters as the budget which is still dependent on the actions of the Garrett County Commissioners; an Insurance review covering buildings, liability, errors, and omissions; and the Dennett Road Elementary School furniture expenditure.

The Building Program discussion will begin at 3 p.m. and will cover the Broad Ford Elementary School roof, Grantsville, Dennett Road, and others.

A recommended revision in Professional Staff Travel Policy will follow at 3:30 p.m. and will lead into a Central Office Staff Functions study proposal.

Information items included in the School Board's agenda lists a School Visitation on October 22 to Friendsville school at 9 a.m. and Accident school at 1 p.m.

Mettiki Miner's Thumb Restored

A Mettiki miner is scheduled to be moved out of the intensive care unit of a Wheeling, W. Va., hospital this week after undergoing microsurgery on his left thumb.

Bill Gross, McHenry, was involved in a mining accident at a Mettiki mine on September 28 which degloved his left thumb. Reportedly, Gross will remain in the hospital for another week.

Consortium Forms Training Program

The Western Maryland Consortium announced this week the formation of a new business assistance program. The On-the-Job Training program is a federally funded program designed to assist employers in Western Maryland who are experiencing difficulty securing qualified workers for their businesses, and are forced to train new employees at additional business expense. The OJT program offers incentive funds for training new employees who meet certain eligibility standards. The payments for training costs are based on a percentage of the wage and the duration of training is based on the training occupation.

The OJT program allows the employer to decide who will be trained, and how to administer the training. Control of the program, for the most part, belongs to the employer.

The OJT program is a simple method to combine the labor needs of the employer with the needs of the unemployed in Garrett County into one package, according to the Western Maryland Consortium, which administers the program with funds from the Department of Labor.

Employers who are interested in finding out more about the OJT program may call the local Garrett County CETA Office.

TROJAN IN TROUBLE — A Hampshire High Trojan is pursued by a host of Southern High Rams in Saturday's contest which saw the Rams pick up their fifth win of the season without a defeat. The Rams shut out the Trojans 24-0 to make for an enjoyable Homecoming for Southern students. In the foreground, defensive back Doug Devlin prepares to make the stop on the Trojan rusher. Also identifiable in the photo from Southern are #62 George Corliss, who accounted for nine unassisted tackles; #72 Dave Goldsborough; #90 Jim Lyons; #60 Pat Rodeheaver; and #73 Rick Edwards. See story.

QUEEN CARRIE — Despite a steady downpour of cold rain Saturday afternoon, Southern homecoming coronation ceremonies were held during halftime of the Southern-Hampshire game. Crowned queen was senior Carrie Johnson, escorted by Rick Edwards. The remainder of the court included Beth Sanders, freshman princess, escorted by Mark Rodeheaver; Kim Beckman, sophomore princess, escorted by T. J. Thomas; Katie Ravenscroft, junior princess, escorted by Kevin Flanigan; Kelly Beard, senior princess, escorted by Jeff Umbel; and Becky Remley, senior princess, escorted by Ted Wolfe. The queen and her court were honored at the annual Homecoming Dance Saturday evening at the school.

Southern Blanks Hampshire To Up Record To 5-0

by Todd Liller

Junior Paul Cornish, the area's leading rusher, ran for 157 yards and two touchdowns, and Jeff Hinebaugh added another score as the Southern Rams rolled to their fifth consecutive win by blanking the Hampshire Trojans 24-0 Saturday afternoon. Southern (5-0) has now won 10 in a row over the past two seasons.

Cornish put the Rams on the board in the first period with a 12-yard run. Following a Hampshire punt, Southern drove 80 yards in 15 plays with Cornish culminating the drive. Delbert Liller threw to Doug Devlin for the conversion.

Possibly the key play of the half occurred on the first play of the second quarter. Hampshire had the ball deep in Southern territory after a first down off a fake punt. Jim Lyons quickly thwarted the rally by recovering a Trojan fumble. After that, Hampshire's offense never got untracked.

The Rams did not enjoy a comfortable lead until the fourth quarter. At 4:59, Cornish scored from three yards out. Liller again hit Devlin for the conversion. Southern regained possession one more time and made the best of it. On the last play of the game, Hinebaugh blasted over from the one and Liller connected to Jeff Umbel for the final tallies.

A stiff Ram defense limited Hampshire to only seven offensive plays in the second half. George Corliss had nine tackles, while Hinebaugh and Kevin Flanagan had eight each.

Ram Coach Tom Woods said, "We were pleased that we were able to beat such a good team in the adverse weather. Our defense was excellent in the second half. Doug Devlin also played very well in the secondary."

SCOUTING REPORT

Southern will be looking for win number six when they travel to Tucker County (1-5) Friday night. "Their record is not indicative of the kind of team they have," said Woods. "They have an excellent defense that has not given up more than 22 points in any game. We can't look at their record as an indicator of the kind of game we'll be in for. They're awfully tough, and we can't catch ourselves looking ahead."

RAM RAMBLINGS

Despite the treacherous conditions against Hampshire, Southern did not fumble and was not penalized . . . Former Ram mentor Leroy Bolding could not recall a Southern game ever being played in the afternoon . . . Hinebaugh continues to punish opposing defensive ends with crunching blocks on sweeps. His blocking, as well as that of the offensive line, has sprung Ram tailbacks to many a long run this year . . . The "Liller to Devlin Connection" has been good for eight two-point conversions . . . Southern's defense allowed Hampshire only 73 yards total offense, their best defensive effort yardage-wise this year . . . Woods contiunes to get outstanding offensive line play from John Sanders, Adam Wolfe, Rick Edwards, Wayne Scott, Flanagan and Corliss . . . Their convincing win over Hampshire should solidify Southern's top ranking the District I, Class C race.

Huskies Whip Shade In Defensive Struggle, 6-0

By Todd Liller

Darrell Schrock hit Gary Bauman with a 64 yard scoring strike and a staunch Northern defense made the score stand up as the Huskies defeated Shade 6-0 last Saturday for their fourth win in five outings.

YARDSTICK

Shade		Northern

3 28.2	Punts average	4 30

With 11 seconds left in the first half, Schrock took a pitch for an apparent sweep from quarterback Greg Carr. But Schrock threw instead and hit Bauman with a perfect aerial for the game's only score. Bauman's kick for the extra point was blocked, marking his first miss of the season.

Bauman also stood out defensively by intercepting two passes. He led a secondary that held Shade to -1 yards passing. Other standouts on defense included Schrock, William Wilt and Dan Ganoe. Coach Jack Settle said, "The whole defense did an excellent job. Mike Robinson did a fine job coming off the bench for us."

Galen Kamp led the Huskies with 52 yards, while Schrock added 50 yards on seven totes.

Settle said, "Shade was undoubtedly the quickest team we've faced this year. They were a good ball club. We were pleased with the way we played considering the horrible shape of the field.

"It was a game played between the 30's. It was more exciting than a 6-0 game. It was a spectators game because it had a little bit of everything."

SCOUTING REPORT

Northern will travel to Frostburg Friday night to do battle with the Beall Mountaineers. Kickoff is set for 8:00. Beall is coached by Jerry Calhoun, the dean of area football coaches. Settle said, "They are always a well prepared team. You never know what to expect from them. We have never beaten them, and we will need a super game to win. We're to the point now where we fear nobody, and Beall is no exception."

HUSKIE HIGHLIGHTS

Sophomore Greg Durst injured his knee last week and will probably be lost for the remainder of the season. Settle said that Durst had made tremendous progress and that the coaching staff had looked for him to see some action over the second half of the season . . . Kamp's 52 yards was his lowest output of the season . . . The Huskies were ranked sixth in the area in last week's Cumberland Times poll. They are also rated second in District 1, Class C . . . In five games, the Northern defense has allowed only 21 points. That total is good for second in the area, second only to Smithsburg . . . William Brenneman suffered a slight concussion against Shade, but he is expected to play against Beall.

Youth Football League Summary

The Friendsville Steelers edged the Grantsville Colts 14-12 and the Oakland Jets beat the Oakland Raiders 13-6 in last week's Mt. Top Youth Football League action. In this Sunday's playoffs, the Jets will face the winner of tonight's Colt-Dolphin match, and the Raiders will meet the Steelers. The Colts and Dolphins play tonight at Northern to determine the last team to qualify for post-season play.

GCC Girls Wind Down Season

Now nearing the end of the season, the Garrett Community College girls' volleyball team reviews the season's record of wins and losses.

During their first match, September 25, the girls were downed by Frostburg State by a three-to-two game margin. Sharon Lipscomb and Chris Shaffer battled bravely while serving for a total of 24 points.

In the second match against Potomac State College the following day, GCC lost 15-0, 15-10. Later the same day they challenged Alderson Broaddus and won by a two game margin, 15-7, 15-13.

On September 28 they took on Dundalk Community College and won 15-13, 15-12 with outstanding serving by Judy Kimmel and some power spiking at the net by Kim Trickett.

On October 2, the GCC women tangled with Chesapeake CC, one of the top teams in the JUCO tournament. They put on an impressive show, but lost by a two game margin, 15-10, 15-13.

They hit the courts again that day in a match with Frederick, and this time the Lakers took the match, 16-14, 15-10, and 15-9.

Coach Mike Friend attributes the win to the blocking and net play of Kim Trickett, the stellar offensive plays of Karen Lipscomb and Chris Shaffer, and the defensive plays of Judy Kimmel and Sue Rodeheaver.

The girls' next game will be played at GCC this coming Saturday at 2 p.m. against Potomac State.

State Foresters Fighting Fires In Washington

For the second time in four weeks, the Maryland Forest Service has sent crews to fight fires on the West Coast.

The Maryland crew consists of permanent employees of the state forest service from western, southern and central Maryland who are trained in forest fire suppression and have met U. S. Forest Service physical requirements.

Garrett County forest associates who went were Owen Handwerk, Grantsville; Raymond DeVone, Oakland; Robert Hershberger, Grantsville and Charles Thomas, McHenry. The two conservation aids were Harold McDonald, Jr., Cumberland and Richard Lewis, Sang Run.

The crew is expected to be there for a two week stay in the national forest, just north of Oregon and the Columbia River.

Ed Metz, project forestor in Garrett County, noted that because of their performance at both fires, the Maryland crew is being placed on top of the list to be on call for western fires.

Sanitary Board, Town Difference May Be Resolved

President of the Oakland Town Council, James R. "Smokey," Stanton presented a document to the Sanitary Commission chairman Charles Morris Tuesday which may end the round of talks concerning which of the two parties will pay for certain past bills if Oakland independently proceeds with constructing a town sewage treatment facility.

The talks began two and a half months ago when Oakland sent a letter to the commission requesting permission to contract a company to perform a sewer system evaluation survey (SSES) independently of the Sanitary District, Inc. and to form a separate sanitary district.

The Commission raised the question of past bills incurred on behalf of Oakland amounting to $150,000 - $100,000 for a design, now unusable, of a force main which would have pumped Oakland sewage to the treatment facility serving Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn and the other $50,000 for other expenses incurred in development of a sewerage system in Oakland.

Stanton appeared before the commission during their October 4 meeting as a concerned citizen, not representing the town council. At that time, the commission referred to an agreement, dated March 26, 1974, in which the city had agreed to pay its pro rata share of all costs, including capital costs incurred in the sewerage project. Charles Morris, chairman, stated the city could proceed with their own SSES as long as they recognized their obligation.

Dick Nace, administrator for the Sanitary District, Inc., indicated that while the Sanitary District had no chance of recovering these prior costs through the grant process at this stage, Oakland might be able to recover at least 75 percent of them in the design step. The design is the second part of a three step process necessary to obtain a sewerage treatment facility. The first step was the engineer's preliminary plan, the second the design and third the construction.

The exact figure in question is not known because the final form of a report on accounts receivable from the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., is not yet available. Nace told Stanton that the town would receive the exact figure one week after his office receives the final report.

Tuesday, Stanton presented a copy of an addendum to the 1974 agreement which shifted the burden of the expense upon the Sanitary District, Inc. The Oakland Town Council is now waiting for the Commission's response.

Standardized Test Results Presented

Albert Ringer, Assistant Superintendent in Curriculum and Instruction, presented the results of the standardized tests administered to Garrett County students for the past six years at a special meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education Wednesday, October 3, 1979, at 7:30 p.m., in the Southern High School Cafetorium.

Before a small audience, Mr. Ringer indicated how the test results are used to help parents, teachers, principals, and the Board of Education improve the instructional program for students.

Following discussion of the test results, Dorothy Leighton asked the Board how they would handle the school board budget cuts proposed by Commissioners Paugh and Hunter. The school board president, Herbert G. Harman, indicated his disappointment with the level of funding and the impact it would have on money to implement improvements in the curriculum as well as the effects it will have on the maintenance program in the schools. He also indicated funding probably will not increase much until the citizens of Garrett County exercise more influence in this direction with their elected officials.

The next evening meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education will be held the evening of December 5.

From Troy To Loch Lynn —

"The Odyssey" Brings Educational Theatre To Garrett County School Children

by Jim Willis

Little did the ancient epic-poet, Homer, realize that his best known character, Odysseus, would include two stops in Garrett County on his way home following the siege of Troy.

"The Odyssey," outlining the fanciful adventures of the Greek hero, Odysseus, was brought to Kitzmiller Elementary School and Loch Lynn Elementary School last Wednesday and Thursday via the Young People's Theatre troupe of Center Stage, Baltimore.

Performed before an attentive audience of fourth and fifth graders at both schools, the players later conducted workshops for younger students.

Center Stage has sponsored Young People's Theatre performances in Garrett County since 1973, through cooperation with the Garrett County Board of Education. Such performances are funded in part by the National Endowment for the Arts and the Maryland State Arts Council.

"The Odyssey," co-directed by Jackson Phippin, associate artistic director for Center Stage, and Lenore Blank, becomes an important teaching aid for elementary teachers. Not merely a performance for performance sake, the production is accompanied by a study-guide prepared by the cast members, — most of them being former educators. The end result is "educational theatre."

"The Odyssey's" troupe of performers has only been together since September, but for 35 weeks this year, they will spin the magic web of Homer's epic poem in every Maryland county. Upon retiring the property, over 50,000 school children in the state will have experienced "The Odyssey."

Interpretive acting not withstanding, part of the production's fascination is due to the imaginative scenery, props and costumes, all designed by Julie Taymore. By necessity, the props are utilitarian, and rather than encumber, they enhance the performance without benefit of special lighting. Each fiberglass mask was individually modeled to the performer's face, and combined with the actor's movements, lend a stylized kabuki atmosphere to the performance.

ABOUT THE PLAYERS

Audrey Taylor, 30, opens the performance as a hunched-over old woman, Odysseus' trusted housekeeper. Not a particularly glamourous role, Audrey is effective, and later charms Odysseus as the alluring Calypso.

Now a resident of Baltimore, she has been an actress, "all my life," and was working in New York when discovered by co-director, Lenore Blank.

Tolerating a life on the road, Audrey smiles and says, "another step; another move . . . something different."

"We're all committed to educational theatre," Judith Daniel, 26, explains. Once a drama major at Oberlin College, Ohio, and a former teacher, she left her native Cleveland to follow a trail of grease paint. Relocated to Baltimore, she plays Odysseus' son in the production as well as cameo appearances.

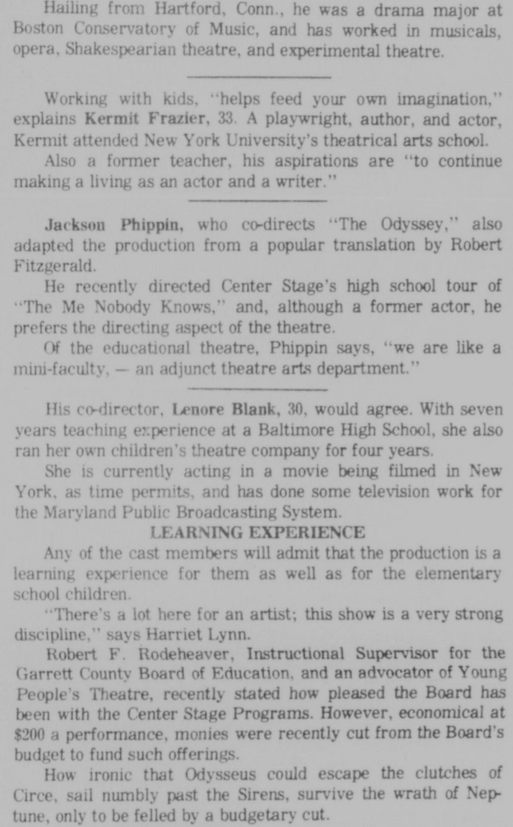
At 6'3" and broad-shouldered, one would hardly guess that Peter Alexander, 29, once auditioned for the part of a leprechaun. He wasn't cast, but now is happy playing the title role of Odysseus.

From Kent, Ohio, he also attended Oberlin College, first as a physics major, then moving to drama. After stints as a teacher, used-car salesman, and advertiser, he migrated to the theatre on a full-time basis and says, "I still get very, very nervous."

After playing Circe, a sailor, Penelope, a siren and Athena, Harriet Lynn, 34, says of her Odyssey participation, "it's a variety." A veteran of the theatre, she has worked in musical comedy, Night club productions, film, television, and radio.

Harriet has also worked with the deaf and cerebal palsied adults. She relates the fluid communication of the theatre to children, and likes what she does. "I like turning people on to their own creativity."

Timothy Green, 23, wants to "experience every form of theatre, — everywhere." The children love his Cyclops portrayal in "The Odyssey."



TRANSFORMATION — Masks, costumes, and props designed by Julie Taymore transform a bare auditorium into an eighth century setting after the fall of Troy. Above, attractive actress, Audrey Taylor, is metamorphosized into an aged crone, Odysseus' nurse and housekeeper.

Hailing from Hartford, Conn., he was a drama major at Boston Conservatory of Music, and has worked in musicals, opera, Shakespearian theatre, and experimental theatre.

Working with kids, "helps feed your own imagination," explains Kermit Frazier, 33. A playwright, author, and actor, Kermit attended New York University's theatrical arts school.

Also a former teacher, his aspirations are "to continue making a living as an actor and a writer."

Jackson Phippin, who co-directs "The Odyssey," also adapted the production from a popular translation by Robert Fitzgerald.

He recently directed Center Stage's high school tour of "The Me Nobody Knows," and, although a former actor, he prefers the directing aspect of the theatre.

Of the educational theatre, Phippin says, "we are like a mini-faculty, — an adjunct theatre arts department."

His co-director, Lenore Blank, 30, would agree. With seven years teaching experience at a Baltimore High School, she also ran her own children's theatre company for four years.

She is currently acting in a movie being filmed in New York, as time permits, and has done some television work for the Maryland Public Broadcasting System.

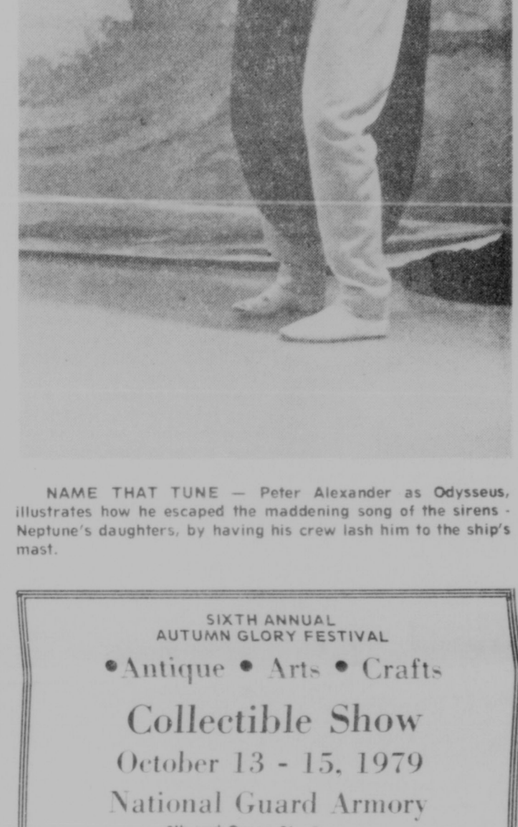
LEARNING EXPERIENCE

Any of the cast members will admit that the production is a learning experience for them as well as for the elementary school children.

"There's a lot here for an artist; this show is a very strong discipline," says Harriet Lynn.

Robert F. Rodeheaver, Instructional Supervisor for the Garrett County Board of Education, and an advocator of Young People's Theatre, recently stated how pleased the Board has been with the Center Stage Programs. However, economical at $200 a performance, monies were recently cut from the Board's budget to fund such offerings.

How ironic that Odysseus could escape the clutches of Circe, sail numbly past the Sirens, survive the wrath of Neptune, only to be felled by a budgetary cut.



NAME THAT TUNE — Peter Alexander as Odysseus, illustrates how he escaped the maddening song of the sirens - Neptune's daughters, by having his crew lash him to the ship's mast.

THAT'S THE SPIRIT — Jackson Phippin, associate artistic director for Center Stage, and co-director of "The Odyssey," manipulates a resident of Hades, one of the spirits that serves as a "tour guide" for Odysseus during his journey to the netherworld.

STAGE SIREN — Odysseus withstands the black magic of Circe and persuades her to break the spell that changed his crew to pigs. Harriet Lynn excels in her portrayal of the aging goddess, - a cross between Mae West and "Miss Piggy."

Southern Speaks

Lottie Shirer

The Southern Varsity Cheerleaders sponsored the 1979 Homecoming "Spirit Week" October 1-5. Each day designated a crazy day for the Rams: Monday, crazy-hat day; Tuesday, tie-up-the-Trojan's day; Wednesday, cone-head day; Thursday, overalls day; and Friday, Red and White day.

Thursday was hall decoration day. Each grade was assigned a hall to decorate by Friday morning. The halls were judged before school Friday and this year's winner, the Junior Class, was awarded $20.

A pep assembly was held Friday at 2:30 to excite the team for the Homecoming game. A parade of floats, fire trucks, rescue squad vehicles, and bands was held at 6 o'clock in downtown Oakland. The best club float, Journalism, and the best class float, the Junior Class, were each awarded prize money.

The Homecoming Game and Dance were held October 6. The game, played at 2 o'clock against Hampshire, was a victory, Southern 24-Hampshire 0. After all-day decorating by the GAA, the dance was held at 8 o'clock featuring the band "Summit" from Baltimore.

The Homecoming Queen and her Court, who were voted on by the student body, are as follows: freshman princess, Beth Sanders escorted by Mark Rodeheaver; sophomore princess, Kim Beckman escorted by T.J. Thomas; junior princess, Katie Ravenscroft escorted by Kevin Flanigan; senior princesses Kelly Beard and Becky Remley escorted by Jeff Umbel and Ted Wolfe, respectively; and the 1979-80 Homecoming Queen, Carrie Johnson escorted by Rick Edwards.

Two seniors were recently announced as Commended Students in the twenty-fifth annual National Merit Scholarship Program. A letter of Commendation was presented to Steven A. Friend and James A. Beard, who now attends Allegany High School in Cumberland, in recognition of outstanding performance on the PSAT/NMSQT test. Steve and Jim are two of more than one million students entering the competition and approximately 35,000 throughout the United States who are being commended for their test performance.

The date for this year's PSAT/NMSQT test is October 23, at Southern High School. This test measurer verbal and mathematical aptitude and gives the student a chance to find out what the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) will be like. Sophomores and juniors are invited to take the test, and are asked to sign up in the guidance office.

Holsinger, NRTA Director for Maryland, and assisted by Dr. Kenneth Horvath, Assistant Director of Maryland; Merle R. Funk, Western Regional Coordinator for Maryland and Raymond W. Preston County Group Planning Fund Campaign

The County Improvement Project of Preston County is planning a donation campaign to be held this weekend in the various communities of Preston County.

More than 30 organizations throughout Preston County have joined the County Improvement Project team to create an awareness of the need for cardio pulmonary resuscitation, CPR, to be taught in county high schools, and further to raise funds to purchase CPR equipment to be placed in each of the high schools in Preston County. The team has worked together during the Buckwheat Festival activities and will continue working for C.I.P. until the goal of $15,000.00 is reached.

The C.I.P. donation campaign is being sponsored by local clubs and organizations in each of the communities of Preston County, and all donations collected during this weekend will be used towards the C.I.P. goal.

The House of Delegates of the State of West Virginia passed a Resolution during the 1979 Legislative Term requiring the State Board of Education to implement the teaching of CPR within all state high schools. However, the Resolution did not include funding to provide the necessary materials and models.

All donations by businesses and individuals are tax deductable.

Census Survey To Be Conducted

A sample of households in this area will be included in an annual survey on education to be taken the week of October 15-19 by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Porter S. Rickley, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Philadelphia, says that interviewers will visit homes to obtain information about current school enrollment from nursery school through college. This information helps measure current trends in education and helps determine the need for additional or expanded educational facilities. The questions on education will supplement those asked regularly in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly employment survey provide data on conditions in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, in August the survey indicated that of the 103.0 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 96.9 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 6.0 percent, up from 5.7 percent in July.

Personal information supplied in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Parks, DeWitt Have Lawn Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Parks, Keyser, W. Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Diane, to Patrick DeWitt, son of Hazel Nazelrod of Newport News, Va., and Jack DeWitt of Oakland, on July 7 in Keyser, W. Va.

The wedding ceremony was performed on the lawn at the bride's home on Stony Run Road, under a rose-covered trellis against a background decorated with flowers. The lawn was further decorated with bouquets of flowers.

The bride was escorted by her father to the rose-covered trellis. A traditional wedding march was played on the organ by Naomi Barr of Rawlings. Taped wedding music, also performed by Mrs. Barr, was played the day of the wedding.

Rev. G. Frank Plybon performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a gown of white poly-organza and silk Venise lace. The gown's fitted bodice was made of Venise lace. The A-line skirt was accented with Venise lace motifs going down the front of the dress and extending down the back to form a chapel train. A deep flounce finished the hemline and train.

A picture hat of organza served as the base of the bride's veil of imported bridal illusion. She carried a cascade of daisies, sweetheart roses, and baby's breath, with ribbons tied in love knots.

Robin and Amy Landon of Mountain Lake Park, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. They wore dresses of white eyelet trimmed in lime and pink. They carried rose petals in white satin-covered baskets trimmed in yellow.

Best man was Kenny Hunt of Newport News, Va. Ushers were Danny Parks, Chuck Dean, and Ben Grubbs. Ring bearer was Dougie Landon of Mountain Lake Park, cousin of the bride.

The ring bearer carried a white satin and lace pillow with rings attached to small ribbons.

A reception followed the wedding in the home of the bride. Frederick Landon, uncle of the bride, designed and baked the wedding cake. Alice Bell and daughter, Mindy, of Morgantown, W. Va. cut and served the cake.

Assisting with the reception were Betty Sherwood and daughter, Barbara. Serving punch were Barbara Mangold and Bonnie Likin.

For the honeymoon trip to Virginia Beach, the bride wore a white eyelet and print ensemble.

The couple resides in Newport News, Va.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Landon, Mountain Lake Park and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parks, Vindex.

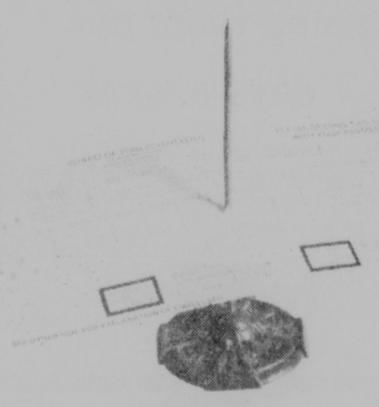
Here's a monthly reminder to make your next building an energy saver:



The energy crises has made us realize some things about energy: It's no longer cheap. And it isn't going to last forever.

That's why you need to make your next building a true energy saver. And that's where we can help.

We'll show you how we use special insulation methods on your building to keep the heating and cooling inside where it belongs. We offer the lowest "U" factor in the industry (a low "U" factor is a measure of good insulation effectiveness). The combination of Butler Systems and superior insulation can give you the best available protection against the weather and a high energy bill.

And we can handle your entire building project from start to finish. That saves your energy.

CERES

The largest asteroid, Ceres, 1000 Kilometers (622 miles) in diameter, was opposite the sun as viewed from earth on Saturday, October 6th. This object may be observed with binoculars near Eta Cetus, which may be located on a star chart. Ceres takes 4.6 years to make one trip around the sun. Earth and this small planet were 292 kilometers (181 miles) apart on the 6th of October when Ceres was at opposition.

MOON

Last Quarter Phase of the moon will be on Friday at 5:24 PM. The moon will be waning all week. Moonrise will be at 10:42 PM tonight. Next Tuesday moonrise will be at 3:10 AM.

Next Tuesday the moon will be 405,600 kilometers (252,080 miles) from earth. This apogee will be the farthest the moon will be from earth this month.

VISIBLE PLANETS

Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn continue to be the visible planets during the coming week. Mars will rise at midnight with the stars of Leo. Jupiter, among the stars of Leo, will rise about 5 hours before sunrise. The stars of Virgo will be the background for Saturn, which will rise about 3 hours before sunrise.

Pluto is now the eighth planet from the sun because its orbit has crossed that of Neptune. This planet will be on the other side of the sun at 10:00 PM Friday.

DAYLIGHT DECREASES

Sunrise was at 7:21 AM this morning. Eleven hours 26 minutes later sunset will occur at 6:47 PM. Tuesday the sun will rise at 7:28 AM. It will set at 6:39 PM, 11 hours 11 minutes later.

Today is the 283rd day of 1979. The sun's path is moving lower in the sky each day. Today the sun will follow the same path that it followed last March 4th.

PET POINTERS

by jim willis

The only foolproof method of preventing unwanted puppies or kittens is to have your pet spayed. An alternate method is to recognize the signs of a pet "in season" or "in heat" so you can keep the cat or dog safely confined until the mating period is past.

Female dogs coming into heat signal their condition in several ways. They are friskier and want to spend more time out of doors. Their eating habits and elimination patterns may change, and the vulva (the external genital organ) will swell slightly. As the estrous or heat cycle continues, the female releases a bloody discharge for approximately one week. During this period, you might consider confining the dog in a room where it will not stain furniture or carpeting.

As the discharge lessens, the female dog becomes highly receptive to breeding. This is the most critical time for confinement. If you do not want puppies, the female should be kept in the house or firmly leashed when walked outside. A female in heat should not be left alone in a fenced yard, as she may dig out, or a determined male may jump in. You can relax your guard during the third week of heat, as the female's sexual inclinations fade away.

Dogs become sexually mature between six and twelve months of age, with the smaller breeds maturing earliest. Many animals are fertile during the first heat period and will conceive if mated, although it is not recommended. Dogs bred during their first estrous cycle may be physically immature and encounter problems during pregnancy or delivery.

Cat owners must be more vigilant than dog owners since cats will pass into heat several times during the year, especially during the spring and fall months. There are few physical signs of estrus in the cat, so most cat fanciers watch for changes in the pet's behavior.

Like dogs, cats in heat want to roam outdoors. They become very vocal, and call in a peculiar tone to other cats in the neighborhood. Siamese and some other breeds will yowl almost continually. While in season, female cats will repeatedly roll and squirm on carpeting, tile or bare ground. You can expect your cat to enter her first heat period by the time she is six months old.

If you are successful in confining your cat and preventing a mating, the pet will resume its normal behavior in a week or two, but enter a new heat period a few weeks later.

Male cats and dogs do not have the equivalent of the female's heat period; however, they roam great distances searching for females in heat. During their travels, males are often injured or scarred as they battle over receptive females. If you wish to curtail a roaming male cat or dog, neutering will remove the pet's interest in sexual matters and center his attention on home and family members.

If you have specific questions about mating your pet — or preventing its mating — talk with your veterinarian for clear-cut answers.

Who are the Lutherans?

Lutherans trust in Jesus Christ as God and Savior. The name comes from a great leader, scholar, and theologian, Martin Luther.

Through years of spiritual struggle, after long hours of prayer and searching Bible study, Luther concluded that the truth spoken by Christ had been tragically distorted during the centuries.

Luther's concern that pure New Testament truth should again be known gained wide attention when he nailed 95 theses or statements for debate to a church door in the university town of Wittenberg, Germany, on October 31, 1517.

Within twenty years Luther's rediscovery of New Testament Christianity had set hearts aflame throughout the western world. His unveiling of long forgotten Christian truth was accepted across most of northern Europe.

Today around the world Lutherans number millions of people of every race and language on every continent and island.

Largest of all Protestant churches with over seventy million adherents, the Lutheran Church continues to proclaim to all persons that Christ is the Way, the Truth and the Life.

Would you like to know more of this confessional and ecumenical church? A cordial welcome will be yours.

PUBLIC NOTICES

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our mother, Wilda Tasker, and brother Kenneth, who was killed in Viet Nam in August of 1966. Our mother was buried on his birthday, Oct. 13, 1978. PARADISE — Over in the far, far North and South Viet Nam is the spot; We're doomed to serve our country in the land that God forgot. Down with the rats and mosquitoes, down where men will moan; Right in the heart of nowhere, ten thousand miles from home. We sweat, then freeze and shiver; there's things a man can't stand. We're not to live the lives of convicts, but as defenders of our land. We're men in all the services earning our measley pay; guarding the people of millions for two-fifty a day. Nobody knows we're living and nobody gives a damn, soon we'll be forgotten while serving Uncle Sam. The time we stay in the service; the time of our lives we've missed. Don't ever let them draft you and for God's sake, don't enlist. But when we pass those pearly gates you'll hear St. Peter's yell, "Fall out you guys from Viet Nam, you served your time in Hell."

Sadly missed by the family

Graduates of the course study leadership, management, supervision, and increase their perspective of the military as an instrument of national power.

Students To Take Functional Reading Test This Month

During the month of October all students of grades seven and nine of Garrett County Schools will be given the Maryland Functional Reading Test.

This test is designed to assess the student's skills in functional reading in five basic functional reading categories. These categories are: Following directions, locating references from reference sources, gaining information, understanding forms, and using reading for attaining personal development. To show they have reached a level of acceptable mastery, the student must answer correctly 80% of the tested items.

This year the seventh grade students will be given Form A of the test and the ninth grade students will be given Form D. The results of the tests will be used to help with the instruction of the individual student.

Students are required by state law to meet the minimal competencies in the area of reading on the ninth grade test before graduation. Students who do not meet the 80% minimal requirement in reading given in grade nine will have the opportunity to retake the test in grades 10, 11, and 12. Once the score of 80% is reached, the student does not have to take the test again. The student has then met one of the requirements for graduation from the Garrett County High Schools.

The Maryland Functional Reading Test is a criterion-referenced test, based on instructional objectives of the Maryland Functional Reading Program. The test was designed to measure a student's individual ability to score 80% or more of the items. The results of the test are not to be used to compare one student with another, but identify individual strengths and weaknesses in functional reading skills so that relevant individualized instructional programs can be planned, according to the Board of Education.

ASCS Explains Wheat Program

Wheat producers will be eligible for farm program benefits in 1980 without setting aside or diverting acreage, according to Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. However, only those who plant no more wheat than was planted and set-aside in 1979 will have the full target price protection.

"We do not want to see fragile or marginal lands brought into wheat production." Crowl said. "The no set-aside decision was not intended to encourage all-out production. Farmers are urged to follow good farming practices in planting their 1980 wheat acreage." He pointed out that acreage not traditionally used for crop production will not be added into a producer's normal crop acreage (NCA) for subsequent years.

The 1979 planted acreage includes credit for set-aside, haying and grazing acreage for payment, prevented planting, and voluntary acreage reductions. Crowl said, the 1980 wheat loan rate will be up 15 cents a bushel to $2.50, and the target price is expected to range between $2.95 and $3.20 per bushel. "The 1979 target price was $2.98 but because of the 20 percent required set-aside, it was adjusted to $3.40," the ASCS official explained. The final target price will be announced by March 15.

The national program acreage for wheat for 1980 will be 70 million acres, up from 67.6 million last year. The national acreage is the estimated number of harvested acres that Secretary Bergland determines will produce enough wheat for domestic use, for export, and to maintain an adequate level of carryover stocks.

Planetarium Offers New Program

By James Hart, Planetarium Director

The Garrett County Planetarium is presenting a new program for county students and teachers during the 1979-80 school year which marks the tenth anniversary of man's first step on the Moon.

The program, entitled Footsteps: A Planetarium Star Program in Honor of the Apollo Moonflights, takes students back in time to witness the formation of the solar system and to explore why the Earth and Moon, which receive the same amount of sunlight, are such radically different worlds: The Earth teeming with life, while the Moon remains an almost unchanged museum in testimony of the early days of our solar system.

The students learn that approximately four and a half billion years ago the Earth and Moon settled in their places among billions of other planets and stars. Both had common origins forming from the gas and dust left over from the birth of the sun. Debris left over from the formation of the Solar System, rocks miles across, bombarded the Earth and Moon, blasting out craters and opening fissures in the brittle crust. Radioactive materials trapped beneath the surface of the Earth and Moon decayed steadily becoming hot enough to melt the interiors of these two objects. Volcanoes spewing hot lava and gases enveloped the Earth and Moon.

The students are told that at this point, the Earth and Moon, which shared a common origin, the bombardment of meteorites, and the same violent volcanic lava flow changed to become two very different planets. The Earth's gravity, strong enough to hold these gases, was able to form a dense new atmosphere. From this dense new atmosphere on Earth came the rains.

Falling in torrents for millions of years, this rain accumulated on the surface of the Earth forming seas. From these seas came reproducible life and finally human life. The Moon never shared this pattern of development as its smaller size and insufficient gravitational pull were unable to retain light volcanic gases. As these gases drifted farther away from the Moon so did its chances for rainfall and ocean formation, and, of course, its chances for producing life.

The Moon remains a silent lifeless world today. Its only changes since formation are the scars formed by meteorites blasting out craters, and dark markings upon its surface, evidence of ancient lava flows.

This dead celestial satellite inspired many ancient beliefs, and confused many with its changing shapes. The students watch man through centuries learn about the Moon and try to guess what he might find there: A world like the earth, or a world of fantastic animals, plants, and rocks?

The moon stood silent in the sky for billions of years while the Earth teemed with life. It stood silent while Goddard experimented with his first feeble rockets in Massachusetts and later in New Mexico.

It remained void of life, but finally the time had come . . .

EAGLE

". . . forward. Drifting right . . . contact light. Okay, engine stop. ACA out detente. Modes control auto, descent engine command override, off. Engines are off. 413 is in."

HOUSTON

"We copy you down, Eagle."

"Houston, Tranquility Base here. The Eagle has landed."

Those were the words recorded ten years ago on July 20, 1969 in the conversation between the astronauts and mission control just a few seconds before any human being landed on the Moon. Since that day a total of twelve Americans have either walked or drove on lunar surface, collected and brought back to Earth over 800 pounds of lunar and soil.

The final portion of the Footsteps program takes students on that historic journey to the Moon, a trip most of them did not experience ten years ago. Finally, the program allows the students a look into the future to see man become a true citizen of the universe.

National School Lunch Week Set

National School Lunch Week will again be presented across the nation October 14, through October 20, 1979.

Parents of school children and interested citizens of Garrett County are invited to have lunch with the children at the school of their choice, according to the Board of Education.

Since there are only three days of school during the week of October 14-20 due to the M.S.T.A. meeting, parents should plan to have lunch with their children on either the 15th, 16th, or 17th of October.

The Food Service Department of the Board of Education requests that parents contact the school to receive details of National School Lunch Week.

The theme for this year's National School Lunch Week is "Eat to Learn - Learn to Eat." This theme, part of a five-year program developed by the American School Food Service Association, is designed to focus attention on the importance and benefits of good nutrition, the Board stated.

Menus for the three days are as follows:

October 15: Hot Dog on Bun, Apple Juice, Hash Browns, Baked Beans, Ice Cream, and Milk.

October 16: Oven Fried Chicken, Corn, Whipped Potatoes, Bread, Jello with Fruit, and Milk.

October 17: Taco or Sloppy Joe, Green Beans, Browned Potato Rounds, Cookie, and Milk.

The charge for meals will be the same as is charged for adults and children at all schools.

NOTICE

As of November 1, 1979, The Mighty Distributing System located at 515 D Street, Mt. Lake Park, Maryland will no longer sell products retail. We will continue to supply our dealer customers as in the past at this same location. We sincerely thank the public for their patronage.

Linda Hollada Becomes Bride Of Randy Robinson June 23

Linda Sue Hollada, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hollada, Grantsville, became the bride of Randy Paul Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Robinson, Friendsville, on June 23.

The Rev. Brian Schofield performed the double ring ceremony before an altar area decorated with floor and table candelabra surrounded by palms, white star mums, carnations, and greens. In the center of the altar a grouping of greens held two single candles and the wedding candle which was lit by the couple at the end of the ceremony.

Organist Mrs. Lucile Sines, Friendsville, played selections chosen by the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pula, Grantsville, provided special music accompanying themselves by guitar. Songs performed by them were, "Sunrise, Sunset", "The Wedding Song", and "For Babe".

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal floor length gown made of Chiffonette and Alencon lace, with a Sabrina neckline, short capelet sleeves, and a natural waistline. The pleated skirt swept to a full chapel train finished on the hemline with scalloped Alencon lace. The bride wore a large picture hat made of horse hair, and Venise lace and a long illusion veil extending the length of the chapel train. She wore white wrist length gloves and carried a cascade bouquet of miniature carnations, stephanotis, and baby's breath with a lavender lipped orchid in the center.

Maid of honor was Mary Ann Mastello, Somerset, Pa. Mrs. Teresa White, Kitzmiller, Miss Lee Ann Mastello, Baltimore, and Miss Terry Robinson, Friendsville, were bridesmaids. Maid of honor wore a floor length gown in aubergine color, with a scoop neckline and a loose crochet lace overlay on bodice of the gown, with long crochet lace bell sleeves. Bridesmaids wore identical gowns in a wild rose color. All girls wore a head piece that was a half moon of flowers matching her gown. They carried bouquets of miniature mums, dried purple statice, baby's breath and miniature carnations tinted in wild rose, and aubergine.

Glowing Years

It was their Golden Anniversary. And, as Granddad placed his arm around Grandmother he said, "The years have been good to us."

"You have been good to the years," someone replied.

What a perfect description of their marriage. They cherished each day and filled it with love. They faced every week as a new adventure in useful living. They counted the months with patience and crowned them with firm commitment. They made the years glow with their confident trust in God.

Thus they lighted the hearth-fires of faith in the lives of their children and grandchildren.

Long after our grandparents are gone, the years will still glow with the faith they kindled in a dozen other hearts.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

YOUR OWN THING

Background Scripture: Philippians 2.
Devotional Reading: Mark 10:35-45.

This is the day of "doing your own thing." Everyone, it seems, is either proclaiming it or doing it.

And, essentially, it is a sound idea. People need to look within themselves and discover their God-given identities and potential. Self-discovery and self-fulfillment are not only exciting, but quite necessary to Christian maturity. Far too many people never even glimpse the wonders that God has placed within them.

Rev. Althouse

Have This Mind

At the same time, there is always the danger that, as with most good things in life, we will go overboard with "doing our own thing." The problem arises when in our pursuit of our own self-discovery and fulfillment we forget about other people. We are may be like the person in that old nursery rhyme:

I had a little tea party
This afternoon at three.
'Twas very small,
Three guests in all—
Just I, myself, and me.

Myself ate all the sandwiches,
While I drank up the tea,
'Twas also I who ate the pie
And passed the cake to me.

There is a lot more to life than just "I, myself, and me"!

No one was ever more fulfilled in his own potential than Jesus Christ. Yet that self-discovery that was part of his lifelong consciousness included a continuing sense of discovery about other people. And, although he was the completely fulfilled self of all humanity, his self-fulfillment never found expression except in his love and service to others. Thus, Paul points to this example and says: "Have this mind among yourselves which you have in Christ Jesus, who, though he was in the form of God . . . emptied himself, taking the form of a servant" (2:5-7).

He Humbled Himself

Jesus did "his own thing," we may say, but he did it in obedience to God's will. That divine will, not his own self-fulfillment, reigned supreme in his life. Furthermore, in his obedience he did the one thing that would seem to deny self-fulfillment: "he humbled himself" and accepted the ignominy of a cross.

Yet it was in this humble obedience that Jesus fulfilled his Christ potential and demonstrated what human nature could really be. Thus, says Paul, "God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name . . ." (2:9)

That is the example we need to keep before us as we do our thing.

WHY SHOULD YOU CONSULT A PHYSICIAN?

Because you know a physician has to spend so many years at a medical school and internship in a hospital that he has knowledge about diseases and their treatment that you could not know. Because, when everyone but a physician selects a medicine to take, they usually do not treat the cause of the trouble but only try to stop the pain or discomfort.

Similar symptoms are often present in differing medical problems. A physician, aided by new diagnostic techniques, x-rays, urinalysis, etc., can find out what is causing your trouble and prescribe the one particular medicine he decides is best for you. That is why, if self-treatments do not help immediately, it is wise to go to a physician before a possible serious disease can develop.

Boy Scouts Plan Camping Weekend

Nearly 500 Boy Scouts from two of Potomac Council's three districts have been invited to attend a weekend Fall Camporee at Big Run State Park, October 19-21. Fall Camporee is an annual event usually planned and held in each of the three districts in the area. This year two of the districts, Tri-Valley and Deep Creek, have planned a combined camporee.

The program for the weekend has been designed to allow each scout the chance to learn and practive the outdoor skills of scouting. Older scouts will be teaching skills to younger scouts and building log towers.

Special programs have been planned for the weekend including a Park Naturalist, Fire Control Demonstration, a Forester to talk about forest management, a First-Aid Instructor, a five-mile hike and compass course, and a performance by the Indian dance team of the Order of the Arrow.

Another special feature of the weekend will be the opportunity for all Cub Scout Packs to visit the activities on Saturday, October 20. Although the Cub Scouts will not be camping, it is hoped that the Cub Scout leaders will use this opportunity to expose their Cubs to the Boy Scout program.

For more information about this or any program of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, persons should contact headquarters at 1-301-729-1300.

The Potomac Council serves youth in Allegany and Garrett Counties in Maryland; and Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral, and Grant Counties in West Virginia.

Grant Awarded To Assist Small Mine Operators

Secretary of the Interior, Cecil D. Andrus, announced recently the U. S. Office of Surface Mining (OSM) has allocated $171,000 in grants to Maryland to start a Small Coal Operators Assistance Program (SOAP).

SOAP is designed to aid qualified operators producing between 250 and 100,000 tons of coal per year. The program will pay consulting firms to collect and analyze data on the geology and water associated with mining operations. These studies will be required as part of future State mining permit applications. A new State permitting system, expected to start on or before June 3, 1980, is being developed to comply with the Federal Surface Mining and Control Act of 1977. Andrus said SOAP was established to lessen the financial burden the Act placed on small operators. There are about 25 qualified small operators in Maryland, primarily in Garrett and Allegany County.

There are two grants being given to the Maryland Energy Administration, Bureau of Mines directed by Paul Massicot. One grant is for $26,000 to administer SOAP and the other is for $145,000 to pay consultants to do the studies. The $26,000 Administrative grant is a onetime grant to assist the State in establishing SOAP. The other will cover the period to July 2, 1980. After that date, further grant money is expected to be made available to continue the program. The sources of the money are fees collected on a per ton of production basis from all coal mining.

Further information regarding application for assistance under this program is available from the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Md. 21401, (301) 359-3057.

TRI-STATE PRESENTATION

Linda Zoghby will present a concert at Fort Hill Auditorium on Tuesday evening, October 16, marking the opening of the 21st season of the Tri-State Community Concert Association.

Miss Zoghby is a young American soprano who has been lauded for her appearances in opera, in oratorio, and in concert. Born in Mobile, Ala., she earned bachelor's and master's degrees in music at Florida State University. In addition she won first prize in the Young Artists Awards sponsored by the National Association of Teachers of Singing (1972) and in Chicago's WGN "Audition of the Air" (1973). She has been heard at Wolf Trap and at the Glyndebourne Festival, and has sung major roles with opera companies in many American cities.

Miss Zoghby's appearance will be the first of five concerts in the 1979-80 season. The Harvey Pittel Trio is scheduled for November 1; the Saar Philharmonic Orchestra from Germany, and the Richard Thomas Theatre Ballet are set for March; and Bob Greenes' "The World of Jelly Roll Morton" will close the season on May 6. All concerts are held in Fort Hill Auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m., and admission is by subscription only.

ART EXHIBIT

A special showing of paintings by Linda Smouse Ropka of Chehalis, Washington, will be held at the home of Mrs. Marjorie R. Hamill, 705 East Alder Street, Oakland, on Sunday, October 14 from 12 noon until 6 p.m.

The exhibition will include approximately 65 watercolors and several oil paintings. Numerous minatures will also be available.

A demonstration of water color technique will be presented by the artist at 3 p.m. on the day of the show, and purchase information will be available from the artist at that time.

DICKENS CLASSIC

The Drama Department of Allegany Community College and Up-Front Community Theatre are currently planning the production of "The Stingiest Man In Town." This holiday play is a full musical adaptation of the Charles Dickens Classic, "A Christmas Carol."

This musical version, replete with Scrooge, Tiny Tim, Bob Cratchitt, and ghosts of past, present and future Christmases, features fifteen solo and choral numbers. At least forty actors and singers, including children, teens, and adults, are needed for the production. Also, a number of people are needed for various production aspects, such as costumes, set construction, and advertising.

Auditions for "The Stingiest Man in Town," will be held Saturday, October 28 from 2:30 until 5:30 p.m., and Monday, October 29, from 7 until 9 p.m. at the college. The play will be presented December 12, 13, 14, 15, 16.

"PIPPIN" MUSICAL

The first production of the 1979-80 theatre season at Frostburg State College will be the popular musical "Pippin," written by Roger O. Hirson and Stephen Schwartz.

Four performances of "Pippin" are scheduled for Compton Auditorium on Thursday, October 11; Friday, October 12; Saturday, October 13; and Sunday, October 14. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

The show is directed by Dr. Jack W. Vrieze. The designer and technical director is Edward J. Thompson.

Reservations may be made by telephoning 689-4145 between the hours of 1 and 4:30 p.m., daily.

As a special attraction on opening night, the Lane College Center is offering a European dinner at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for the dinner and show on October 11 may be purchased from the Director of Lane College Center, 689-4151.

"Pippin," a modern musical morality, is loosely based on the story of Charlemagne's son. As summarized by a critic for Newsweek, "Pippin doesn't want to follow in his father's imperial footsteps; he feels there must be something beyond all that war-making and tax-collecting, and cheesy panoply of glory. So he sets out to look for it." The plot of "Pippin" reveals his search for freedom and destiny, with music and lyrics supplied by the composer of "Godspell."

STANTON EXHIBIT

Garrett Community College, McHenry, will host the art exhibit of Aza C. Stanton, Deep Creek Lake, in the college library now through Friday, October 19.

The exhibit will be open to the public during regular library hours: Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon; and Sunday, 2 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Aza Stanton's work has been exhibited throughout the state as one of "Maryland Artists Today." The artist paints almost entirely in oils, usually on canvas. He has created a number of pen and ink drawings, reproductions of which are on sale throughout the county. A series of his "direct plate" limited edition lithographs was issued during Garrett County's Centennial Celebration in 1972.

Aza Stanton is a native Garrett Countian, born and raised in Grantsville. He and his wife, Louise, reside at Deep Creek Lake.

Surface Mining Area Tour Set

Public inspections of revegetated surface mining areas in Western Maryland will be held October 15.

The Bureau of Mines of the Department of Natural Resources is conducting the tour in order to consider release of vegetation bonds posted by operators who received permits to mine areas in Western Maryland. Before the bond is released, areas must be revegetated to standards approved by the Bureau of Mines.

In addition, the tour will include a visit to the Savage River strip mine area where revegetation bonds were released in 1977.

On the tour, participants will be given the opportunity to observe and comment on the revegetation being done on strip mined areas in Western Maryland.

Any Maryland citizen wishing to attend the tour should contact the Bureau of Mines office in Westernport, Maryland 21562, or call (301) 359-3057, before October 9, 1979, for further details.

Milk Producers To Hold District Meeting Thursday

Area members of Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers will have a chance to exercise their voting powers at the District 11 Annual District Membership Meeting Thursday, October 11, at the Grantsville Fire Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The 100 member-producers will nominate a director to be ratified by the total membership at the cooperative's annual meeting in March, for a three-year term March 1980 - February 1983. Raymond J. Tice of Grantsville is the incumbent director whose term expires in February 1980.

The program, to be kicked off with a dinner, will consist of reports to members on national and local milk production, sales and price trends, and the current status of the Holly Milk Plant in Carlisle, Pa. In addition, members will review the financial condition of the Cooperative, including its operating divisions.

District 11 includes Fayette and Somerset Counties in Pennsylvania, Garrett County, and Preston County, W. Va. Directors are H. Bailey Herring of Farmington, Pa. and Raymond J. Tice. Field representative for the area is James L. Fitzwater, Swanton.

Ralph L. Strock, business manager of the cooperative, said, "The Annual District Membership Meetings are extremely important as an information source for members and all are urged to attend."

Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., the largest Maryland-based dairy cooperative, represents more than 1,000 dairy farmers in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia.

Fair Board Meets, Sponsors Dinner

The Board of Directors for the Garrett County Agricultural Fair met for its regular meeting on October 2.

It was reported that premium prize money totaled approximately $8,000 and the demolition Derby took in $2,919. A planning committee was appointed to consider the need for bleachers.

The board also held its annual appreciation dinner on September 28 to recognize all those volunteers and their guests who assist with the fair each year.

The dinner was held at the McHenry Room, Wisp Ski Area. Entertainment was presented by the Hooker Holler Boys, Pat Shields and Jim Roberts.

Conversations on Carpeting

Who say
"A Floor without a Rug is like a Kiss without a Hug."
WHAT LOOK IS YOU?
"But that's just not me," you've probably said when looking at some patterns, whether wearing apparel or a floor covering. And, to be happy with your new floors, that look does need to be you.
The lovely no-wax vinyl that's so easy to care for comes in such a variety of patterns now that it's easy to find the look to match your lifestyle. Do you like a dramatic look that just "floors" your guests with ooh's and aah's? Then, you'll like the drama found in highly colored and patterned styles.
Or, do you prefer the relaxing, quiet look that forms a background for other decorating accessories? The timeless beauty of marble, swirl or small patterns in soft colors would be something you'd enjoy living with.
There's the natural look with all the earthtones in wood or stone for a rustic decor or the streamlined geometrics for the contemporary scene.
It's also a matter of color - your color. What colors do you wear most? What is your favorite color? What colors will be used with this floor? All of these elements need to be combined to create a "floor that's you." Let our experienced decorating experts show you the many choices in style and color that "are you."
Each week we will tell you more about vinyl for your home. Watch for these columns.

STARVIEW

Actresses are bitten by directing bug

By RUTH THOMPSON

Twenty-five years ago Ida Lupino was a rarity: a successful actress who wanted to direct ... and did. She had range, too, from somber movies to light television comedy, including most episodes of the "Mr. Adams and Eve" series in which she starred. Few of her peers, however, emulated her.

But times have changed. And the list of actresses who endorse the Lupino credo lengthens daily.

Already a veteran at directing is Elaine May, whose first fame was as an improvisational comedienne teamed with Mike Nichols. One of her early successes was the film, "The Heartbreak Kid." Her leading man was Charles Grodin, whom she coaxed back to acting after he had settled into a behind-the-scenes career as a director. And look what that did to his life. Currently, he's the one the critics praise in "Sunburn," the newest Farrah Fawcett movie.

Joan Darling, the sassy secretary on the old "Owen Marshall" series, is now in the acclaimed category as a director, with multiple Emmy nominations to her credit. No more acting for her.

Not exactly a newcomer to directing is Nancy Walker who has called the shots on occasion for television episodes. What is new is her first venture into a big budget theater-release vehicle, for which she's been on location in Manhattan discos. "Not my scene," she has said. But it seems her fresh view is just what Allan Carr wanted for "Can't Stop the Music."

Anne Bancroft, who finished directing her first film ("Fatso" for Fox) is reported delighted with her second career and wants to continue.

Oscar-winning Joanne Woodward, who has said repeatedly that she likes challenges, is reported ready to direct Henry Fonda in "Family."

Another fine, serious actress, currently directing is Lee Grant, and with a sense of mission, in her case. She was recruited for the job by her friend, Mary Beth McCarthy Yarrow, the wife of singer-composer Peter Yarrow. Mrs. Yarrow is the producer of "The Wilma B," the true story of women bank employees who lost their jobs when they pressured for equal pay and promotions with men.

Dyan Cannon, already an Oscar winner, told us directing big films is a goal she has set for herself.

Somebody who wants to do it all is Jennifer O'Neill who early this year announced she was writing the script, plus some songs for a movie, "Fanny and the White Knight," which she will produce, direct and star in. Oh yes, one thing more: The locale is her own Westchester estate.

Penny Marshall isn't that ambitious. But she, too, has been bitten by the "I want to direct" bug and used part of her hiatus from "Laverne and Shirley" to direct a television pilot.

The list keeps growing and growing. The newest hopeful? Diana Ross. She doesn't have a property in mind yet, apparently, but the gleam is in her eye. The actress-singer is quoted, however, as saying directing will be a career addition for her. She has no intention of phasing out her career as a performer.

CINDY SAYS

NEW YORK — Richard Crenna copped the award of honorary cop, bestowed upon his law-abiding bones as a result of playing a detective in Dimension Pictures' "Stone Cold Dead," which was filmed in Toronto. It was the Toronto police who honored him.

Ingrid Bergman will be immortalized in hot wax. Spoony Singh is sticking her in his Hollywood Wax Museum alongside Humphrey Bogart ... Dean Paul Martin is flying from the coast for a fundraiser for Ronald Reagan in New Jersey ... Since friz is out and the classy head in, Barbra Streisand just ordered a hat from milliner Cesar Rubio ... That little Malibu shack Sylvester Stallone recently made a down payment on set him back a million dollars.

Ida Lupino on Broadway? Maybe. David Black shipped her a drama which she's reading ... Maureen O'Hara, who lost her husband this year as well as her best friend, John Wayne, made it to Ireland to commune with where it all began for her ... "The Human Fly," George Willig, whom you'll recall crept the length of the World Trade Center, is now tiptoeing in softer places. Willig announced happily that he is currently being romanced and adored by loads of females and is, right now, "deciding upon my many offers of marriage."

George Burns is busier than ever. He had to turn down Her Majesty's invitation to head the Royal Variety One Nighter in London next month. Couldn't spare the time ... Streisand's fella, Jon Peters, is filming a country club comedy, "Caddyshack" with Chevy Chase, Rodney Dangerfield and Ted Knight at Rolling Hills Country Club in Fort Lauderdale.

Raquel Welch's gorgeous nostrils will flare heavily when she does a shot of real drama on a "Rockford Files" segment soon ... Peter Falk's looking to put back on that old raincoat again for a few more "Columbo" specials. Telly Savalas is also itchy to do another "Kojak" or two.

Author Gore Vidal is going to immortalize Abraham Lincoln's personal life -- the wife and kiddies and all that -- for an NBC mini-series. ... John Wayne's son is writing daddy's bio ... Singer Crystal Gayle was incognito at the China Bowl. Nobody noticed the pretty brunette.

Margaret Truman's mystery, which is set in the White House, will be published next year by Arbor House.

urban story, the tale of a young tough, Bobby Fallon (Tom Berenger), who struggles to become a heavyweight contender while dealing with volatile family problems. In Pete Hamill's best-seller, Fallon is from Brooklyn and does most of his training in Manhattan. For the TV film, the setting is transposed to the Windy City.

There were a number of reasons," producer Gerald W. Abrams explained. "This is a film that required extensive locations, not only on the city streets, but in a prison, a major fight arena, small-town Chicago and suburbia. In order for the major threat to his safety to be credible, Fallon is a former champion who has had to go on to some shooting in Las Vegas. We had a long schedule for a television project, but also a series of complicated moves and set ups, and a large cast and crew to transport and house."

Abrams said that they were able to find much of what they were looking for in Illinois. Not only did they have Chicago, from its rundown neighborhoods to its luxury high-rises and busy commercial districts, but they also had two prisons they could use — Cook County Jail and Joliet State Penitentiary — open farmland, and a major arena in Champaign that could be set up to double for both Madison Square Garden and the Las Vegas Convention Center.

"There was an artistic reason for the choice as well," Abrams added. "Chicago is a city that has not been seen that often on television. There was a lot we could explore visually that was new."

Fallon is a brawler in the bars of Chicago who lands in jail with Kirk (Denzel Washington) after taking on two city cops. Al Kirk's organ, he joins the prison boxing team and perhaps an early release as a con to land "easy time" for the dashing barroom king. Kirk still carries a torch for Fallon, who deserted him when Jack Fallon returned to his family. Jack's 6 years old when Bobby was 5 years old. Since the relationship has been with her son, When Jack Fallon returns, Bobby's mother, Kate (Suzanne Pleshette), has to choose between her husband and her lover.

Kate's extra duty shot in a four-day and a television station, a Legion Hall and neighborhood bars.

In all, a month was spent in Illinois before the production company moved on to Las Vegas and then a wind-up in Los Angeles studios.

Crosco Found Guilty Of First Degree Murder, Seeks New Trial

An Allegany County Circuit Court Judge is deliberating a motion for a new trial made by attorneys for Robert Lee Crosco, 30, of Mountain Lake Park who was found guilty last Wednesday of first degree murder in the death six-and-one-half years ago of his 19-year-old wife, Kotchie Ruth Crosco.

The jury took about 90 minutes Wednesday evening, the third day of the trial, to find Crosco guilty. Associate Judge James S. Getty, who had presided at the trial, then ordered Crosco committed to jail.

Attorneys for Crosco, Thomas Dabney and Robert Watson, filed a motion for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict reached by the jury was not supported by the evidence.

Crosco has the right to appeal the case but no action will be taken towards that until Judge James S. Getty, who presided at the trial, makes a decision on the new trial motion. Results of a presentence investigation and the final sentence will also be settled before the decision to appeal is made.

Robert Watson, who along with Thomas Dabney, served as public defenders for Crosco will not be the ones to appeal the case. Watson pointed out that the case would be handled by the Public Defendant Appellant Division in Baltimore. If Crosco decides to appeal the case the Public Defendants office will represent him in the appeal. Watson mentioned he and Dabney plan to notify the division of his and Dabney's willingness to represent Crosco as contracted public defendants.

Watson stated there are certain issues in the Crosco trial which should be addressed through an appeal. He pointed out that rights to a speedy trial and due process were two important issues.

Watson and Dabney had filed a motion for acquittal early in Crosco's trial because it violated the defendant's rights to a speedy trial. The case they stated was over six years old.

Kotchie Ruth Crosco, the 19-year-old mother of two small children, disappeared Sunday, March 25, 1973. According to a deposition from Mrs. Bertha Kent of Deer Park, she was last seen alive about 3:45 p.m. that day. Thirty minutes later her husband reported her kidnapped.

Subsequently, Crosco was fined in Garrett County District Court on a charge of falsely reporting the kidnapping of his wife.

Her decomposed body was found July 26, 1973, in the Lost Land Run area of Potomac State Forest. Crosco was not indicted for murder in the case until May 4 of this year, more than six years after his wife disappeared. Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer, late in May, granted a motion to move the case to Allegany County for trial.

William L. Clements was foreman of the jury which deliberated from about 5:30 until 7 p.m. Wednesday. Other members were Martha J. Mayhew, Emily S. Durst, Charles M. Herboldsheimer, Beulah E. Shuck, Frances L. Ferguson, Emma Lemmert, Charles F. Hutcheson, Edward K. McAlpine, Betty Alkire, Harold D. Barber and Katherine L. Carlomany. The alternate juror, Evelyn L. Crowe, was excused by Judge Getty after the closing argument ended at 5:30 p.m.

He stated that he also likes the way the hospital is looking into the future needs of medical care in Garrett County.

Woman Injured In August Mishap Dies Sunday

A 73-year-old Pittsburgh woman involved in a two car collision August 9 on U. S. 219, near Kings Run Road, which killed John E. Lilley of Newaygo, Michigan, died Sunday, October 14 at Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Alice Benkart was one of the four passengers in a car traveling southbound on U. S. 219, operated by Wilbert W. Benkart, Pittsburgh, which was struck by a northbound car operated by Mr. Lilley. Mr. Lilley, who was driving a Datsun 210, had failed to stay right of center and crossed over into the southbound lane and struck Benkart's car, a Plymouth Volare.

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the scene and transported Alice Benkart, who suffered head injuries, to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She was transferred to Mercy Hospital the following day where she remained until her death at 5:15 p.m. Sunday.

Besides Ms. Benkart and Lilley, who apparently died upon impact, three others were injured. All three, Wilbert W. Benkart, 55, Hilda M. Benkart, 51, and Barbara J. Sutton, 31, Corapolis, Pa., were also transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released.

Both cars were destroyed on impact, according to the police report filed by Tfc. L. N. Smith.

County School Board Approves Revised Budget

With a "very heavy heart", chairman Herbert Harman confirmed the Garrett County Board of Education's approval of its fiscal year 1979-80 budget revised in accordance with the recommended cuts of commissioners Truman Paugh and Lester Hunter. The budget will become effective contingent upon final action by the county commissioners to approve a county budget.

The budget in its approved form Thursday is approximately $668,000 less than the Board's original request in June. The Board had requested $4,386,000 in June but were told to pare $438,000 out of the budget then. In its most recent cut, a result of a recent court order forcing the commissioners to cut the county budget by $707,032, the Board was to further pare the budget by $179,000 in current expense portion and $60,000 from the capital outlay portion.

The areas which were most affected by the recent cut were the instructional supplies and materials, cut by $99,450, and maintenance, cut by $23,000.

Al Ringer, assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction, reported that of the $168,282 left for instructional supplies and materials, all but $29,000 had either been spent on the "absolute necessities" or were necessarily earmarked for certain areas. In order to stretch the remaining funds, Ringer told the Board that all purchase requests would be personally reviewed by him.

Ringer reported other cuts in his department included $20,000 from substitute payment and $14,000 from supporting services and instructional aides. He pointed out that in the area of teachers' salaries "we kept negotiated agreements intact."

Jerome Ryscavage, assistant superintendent of administrative services, went over the remainder of the budget pointing out other areas receiving cuts. Those areas were pupil services, cut $4,000; and pupil transportation, $8,000.

Under the capital outlay portion of the budget, the two areas which would be affected by the $60,000 cut were the Accident School Construction, $40,000; and School Site Improvements, $20,000.

During discussion of the budget, chairman Herbert Harman, warned the Board to be prepared for budget problems in the following years. In speaking of this year's budget,

Revisions Of Water Quality Standards To Be Discussed

The State Water Resources Administration will give a presentation on the State's proposed revisions to Maryland Water Quality Standards at the regular meeting of the Youghiogheny River Basin Public Advisory Committee for the 208 water quality management program.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held on October 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the Auditorium of Garrett Community College, McHenry.

Some of the proposed revisions to the standards include: 1. broadening the definition of water use classes to allow upgraded classification of a stream due to anticipated improvements; 2. consolidating all items related to standards, including water quality criteria, policies and stream classifications into one regulation; 3. revising bacteriological criteria to allow use of a better indicator organism for Class II waters (fecal coliform instead of total coliform) and to reflect current measurement techniques; 4. proposing additional criteria for total residual chlorine and seven toxic materials — reflecting EPA recommended limits.

These and other revisions will be the topic of discussion at the meetings.

Public hearings on these revisions will be held at three locations around the State in November: November 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the County Commissioners Hearing Room, Second Floor, Courthouse Annex, Summit Avenue entrance, Hagerstown; November 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Joint Committee Hearing Room, Legislative Services Building, 90 State Circle, Annapolis; and, November 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the City/County Office Building, Room 106, corner of 50 and N. Division Street, Salisbury.

Written testimony may be submitted either before or after the hearings and should be sent to Catherine B. Pieper, Standards Coordinator, Water Resources Administration, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401. The hearing record will close on November 15, 1979.

Copies of the full proposal will be available for review at 32 depositories throughout the State. For information on the nearest State depository or to obtain copies of the proposed amendments, persons should contact Water Resources Information, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401 (Phone: 269-2269).

Material vs. Spiritual

An individual from the Washington, D.C. area stated last week that the visit by Pope John Paul II provided a fantastic and unique uplifting of spirits throughout the entire city. A warm cloud of hope and optimism seemed to surround all those who saw him and listened to him speak. A similar reaction was noted in all of the cities in which he visited.

The Pope confronted a great variety of worldwide, controversial issues, ranging from nuclear power to female priesthood to abortion. However, the words that touched most persons' inner consciences were those that dealt with peace, hope and his desire for persons of the world to strive for spiritual, rather than material, values. He told the United Nations General Assembly that there is too much emphasis on material values, and when this happens, spiritual values diminish. An increased pursuit of material values automatically leads to selfishness, divisions and strife, while the pursuit of spiritual values leads only to communication, association and the recognition of the dignity and worth of each human person. Material values, the things of this world, are limited. Spiritual values, the things not of this world, are unlimited.

If these words of the Pope were heeded by all people, if a strict adherence to spiritual values were a goal of all people, there would be no more conflict in the world.

The pursuit of what is material and neglect of what is spiritual is the main source of trouble not only between nations, but also among families and between individuals. Yet, amid all of the critical problems facing our nation, church rolls continue to suffer more and more. Once again, it is the striving for material goods that has caused people to feel that the church and its teachings of spiritual fulfillment are not needed.

Dear Editor:

This concerns all Christians in the Garrett County area. The proposed referendum on the legalization of alcohol sales on Sunday is a matter that concerns all who profess to know God in their lives. As Christians we had better fast, pray, and vote against it.

The article tried to tell us that the Sunday sale of liquor won't make that much difference, but it will. It will be another day for the drunk leaving the bar to go home or maybe to another bar to run into someone's car, maybe killing or crippling someone; another day for someone's home to be broken up by a drinking problem; another day for someone's loved one to destroy his body by alcohol.

The article said something about they didn't want to make everyone buy liquor on Sunday, just make it legal for those who do. Is the next argument we hear to be "We don't want to make everyone buy speed or heroin, just make it legal for those who do?"

If this referendum becomes a law we will only have ourselves to blame because we sat back and did nothing to stop it. People blame God for such tragedies, but it is not God who is to blame, but the people who sit back allowing such laws to pass.

One woman is blamed for taking prayer out of schools, but she didn't do it. It was the millions of Christians who stood back and did nothing to stop her.

Dear Editor:

A lot of blame has been laid at the disgruntled taxpayer's doorstep blaming them that needful projects suffer due to lack of funds.

No amount of funds will ever get the necessary jobs done under the present system. For instance the Weber bridge has been under construction all summer, and I wonder if we will still have one-way traffic this winter. I travel this road and I notice a man or two slowly working while several are talking. Half the amount could accomplish more. I have noticed the same thing on the street in Oakland. Other tax paid projects suffer as well, such as the health department, the empty bus system, the education department, the welfare system, etc.

Regardless of whether these people are paid out of city, county, state, or federal funds, we must still remember that the burden all hangs on the weary taxpayers' shoulders.

Then, too, every little while a holiday comes up for state or federal employees with pay, but no work. If we paid more taxes they could hire more employees, get higher salaries, more holidays, less work, and more votes next election. So the ball rolls on and on into utter oblivion for the U.S.A.

A taxpayer

Dear Sir:

I read the paper last week that both hurt and disgusted me. It said some people suggested they call McHenry Deep Creek Lake. McHenry has been there for a hundred years and I sure hope they don't succeed in changing the name. I was born on a small farm on the Pysell Road and my mother donated the ground for that small church at the fork of the road. I'll be waiting to see what happens.

Sincerely,
Edyth (Durst) Reichert

Dear Editor:

A letter to the editor in the September 12 issue of The Republican criticized the District Court for dropping charges against the individual who allegedly abandoned a one-year-old child on the Rock Lodge Road on August 11, simply because it could not be proven that harm was done to the child.

In the October 3 issue, I read that another individual, who pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a can of cigarette tobacco valued at 43 cents, was fined $50.00.

It seems to me that in too many cases, our courts have the wrong priorities. I have read about cases where an individual accused of larceny was forced to post bail as high as $25,000.00, and others, accused of murder, were required to post bail as low as $5,000.00. There is something very wrong with a legal system that seems to be more concerned with the value of property than with the lives and well being of the citizens it is supposed to protect.

Yours truly,
Jerry Stewart

Board Approves

Harman told the board, "This is not the worst problem faced yet." He further commented that the Board should try to inform the public of the conditions of the schools and how the money is used.

Harman recommended that the Board approve the budget so that teachers and staff members have a clear idea of their resources for the year. "I recommend facing it so everyone knows where we are going," he stated.

Board member Bob Diehl made the motion to approve the budget saying, "I so move reluctantly. If they (county commissioners) can give us any more money, we need it."

Jerome Ryscavage reported that in last Tuesday's meeting with the county commissioners, the commissioners indicated they would be willing to help the Board of Education find funds for payment of energy bills if the costs rise above the budgeted monies.

In other Board business Thursday, Al Ringer submitted a new county schedule for testing school children in order to correspond with changes in the statewide assessment program. He pointed out that the new program would test achievement and intelligence in grades, 3, 5, 8 and achievement only in grade 11. Maryland testing for the Project Basic, will be given in grades 6, 7, and 9 with failures being retested in grades 10, 11 and 12.

Ringer noted that the county would be testing more than what the state requires. He also stated that the Iowa Basic Skills testing program used in the past would be replaced by the California Achievement Tests.

James Trickett, instructional supervisor for vocational education presented the Board members copies of newly developed comprehensive curriculums for Home Economics and Industrial Arts. He explained that this year is a pilot year for the two curriculums, which are competency based.

William H. Buser, county school superintendent, stressed the importance of implementation of the developed curricula. He stated the lack of funds had slowed some implementation.

Board members discussed the condition of equipment in the Industrial Arts Program. Trickett commented that much of the equipment was over 20 years old and needed to be replaced. Because of the cuts in the Board's budget, Trickett said available money was being used this year "to meet the crying needs."

Jerome Ryscavage reported that the renovation on Dennett Road School was near completion and that the equipment approved for funding two years ago was being purchased. Two years ago $700,000 had been granted for renovation and purchase of equipment for the school through the Maryland Public School Construction Program. Money specifically allotted for purchase of equipment for the school amounted to $27,000. Equipment approved for purchase was to meet certain program requirements, which were mainly that the equipment have a life of 15 years, that it be moveable, and that it be for classroom use. Equipment already purchased included storage cabinets for materials, equipment for the kitchen-cafetorium addition, music and art equipment and equipment for the special education department. During the Thursday meeting, the Board members agreed to go ahead with one of the final purchases which was an organ for the music room.

Dr. Buser presented a proposal on a study of central office staff functions to the Board which then took action to invite other Maryland county school systems similar to Garrett County in student population to participate in a self-study process to be designed and modeled after the Middle States evaluation process.

Dr. Buser indicated that while he believes the functions performed by the central office staff are vital, necessary, and serving the schools well, he also believes that a school system in today's complex society must re-examine the programs and services being provided based on the premise that improvement can always take place.

The Board chairman, Herbert Harman, and the superintendent will solicit responses from six county school systems in Maryland nearest to Garrett County in student population to determine their interest in such a study process. If these school systems decline to participate in such a model, the Garrett County Board of Education will conduct some form of self-study of its own during the months ahead.

Page Shanklin of Beall, Garner, Screen, and Geare, reviewed in detail the Garrett County Board of Education building and liability policies along with the school board's policy regarding wrongful acts.

Al Ringer announced that the first of four days in the work calendar of Garrett County teachers to be used for in-service activities will be Friday, November 9. Middle and secondary teachers and aides in the county will meet at the Northern Middle School, with the exception of vocational/technical education and industrial arts teachers who will meet at the Southern High School, in workshop sessions designed to improve the curricular offerings for students in their content areas. Ringer presented to the Board the plan designed to develop and/or update the school curricula in the middle and high schools in the county. All elementary personnel, he stated, will be in their respective schools for parental conferences.

Man Killed In Truck Wreck At Bloomington

A Baltimore man was killed Wednesday, October 10, when his truck, loaded with bottles of liquor, crashed at the bottom of Backbone Mountain on Route 135 in Bloomington.

State Police reported that Charles Hayes Jenkins, 28, was descending Backbone Mountain when the brakes of his truck apparently failed. Losing control of his truck, Jenkins was unable to make the sharp right angle turn at the bottom of the mountain and was killed when his truck crashed into the side of the mountain.

The truck hit on its left side and overturned. The truck's cargo was thrown 40 feet up the mountain as well as scattered over the surrounding road and grounds.

Tri-Towns Rescue responded to the scene and transported the body to the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport. Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, medical examiner for Allegany County, was called.

Others responding to the scene were the Potomac Fire Department of Westernport, Bloomington Fire Department, and the Maryland State Police. Communications were handled by Allegany County Civil Defense and Garrett County Central Alarm. Crews were still working three-and-one-half hours after the accident to clean glass and debris from the area.

Commissioners Reject Junkyard Application

The Garrett County Commissioners unanimously rejected a junkyard application during their Tuesday, October 16, meeting.

The application had been made by Ronald R. Guthrie for an automobile scrap facility on his property located on Rt. 135 near the Pysell Crosscut Road.

Last week, the commissioners held a public hearing in which the 20 attendants, all residents near the junkyard, unanimously opposed the junkyard. The commissioners had agreed to wait a seven day period before making a decision on the application to allow concerned persons to send in comments.

During the seven days, the commissioners received eleven letters objecting to the junkyard referring to the resulting smell, smoke, noise and rat infestation from such a facility.

Also during their Tuesday meeting, the commissioners appointed Cindy Hanks, Promotion Council Director, as the coordinator of the information center to be constructed on Rt. 48 near Friendsville. The information center is part of a state program to promote tourism.

The commissioners also met with Herb McCrobie, county roads administrator, to discuss routine roads matters. McCrobie informed the commissioners that the Round Glade landfill, which serves the entire county, can be used only one more year. The commissioners discussed possibilities of locating two sites for a county landfill, one in the northern part of the county and one to replace the present landfill. McCrobie stated they must begin now to locate new sites because of the length of time necessary to obtain permits to start landfills.

Darl Kolb Leads Expedition As Part Of Youth Counseling Program

Darl Kolb, Boulder, Colo., recently assisted in leading a 17-day mountain expedition with seven youths from a school for juvenile offenders located near Albuquerque, New Mexico. The "Wilderness Experience" program conducted by the Santa Fe Mountain Center in Santa Fe, N. M. is designed to increase self-esteem in prison inmates and juveniles, as well as provide observation and counseling in an outdoor setting.

From Aug. 20 - Sept. 7, Mr. Kolb was hired to facilitate teaching all aspects of route finding, camping skills, basic outdoor survival and safety, technical rock climbing and rappelling techniques. He also led group discussions to help solve immediate problems and relate the mountain adventure to other life situations.

The mountain course took place in the Collegiate Peaks of central Colorado. The course included hiking over 85 miles of arduous terrain with heavy packs, ascents of two 14,000' peaks, rock-climbing and rappelling, a 24-hour period of fasting and solitude, a six-mile cross-country run and a final expedition, unescorted by staff.

"The group had remarkable strength and unity," says Kolb. "They learned to work together and to trust one another. We were like a family. The experience may help their lives in some way that is beneficial."

Parole and treatment recommendations were written after the course and the program is considered a valuable asset to prisoner and juvenile programs, according to Kolb. Kolb and other instructors met with the head of the New Mexico parole board to discuss each young man's behavior on the trip to recommend specific parole plans for each youth. "An emphasis is placed on keeping the youths from further trouble and adult penitentiaries," Kolb said.

Kolb is currently a graduate student at the University of Colorado, at Boulder. His degree area is experimental education, a program designed to provide expertise and leadership for alternative and non-traditional educational programs. Graduate students are brought into contact with a wide variety of innovative educational processes, such as special and outdoor education programs, camping programs for the handicapped, the Outward Bound process of high-challenge wilderness training, religious camping, holistic health, international education, etc. Theories and philosophies of education are combined with practical experiences.

Darl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Kolb, Accident. He is a 1974 graduate of Northern High School and a 1977 graduate of Illinois State University.

Cheap, it's not.

But when you begin to add to your collection, you might call it inexpensive.

The first place setting includes a dinner plate, cup and saucer. Additional place settings are available for only $5.95 when you make each additional $25 deposit. Buy as many as four additional place settings and you'll be entitled to another free place setting with your next $25 deposit.

Other pieces in matching "White Designs" pattern are also available, with qualifying deposits, at the low prices shown here.

So while you're building yourself a beautiful program of savings, you can be building a beautiful collection—with more and more settings, bowls, platters, covered casseroles—everything you need.
